The fielding of the Peterborough team was good, with the exception of the missed chances mentioned above; Stuart, the Peterborough veteran, being brilliant at mid-off. In fact, after the match he was personally congratulated by the Toronto captain. Wade bowled wonderfully well, taking five wickets for 33. Jefferson and Dyer also deserved more wickets than they got. For Toronto, Biggar and Demack bowled well; the former claiming five for 16, and the latter four for 22. After the game a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Toronto club for their hospitality. The return game will be played in Peterborough on July 21, and will be eagerly looked forward to.

DRAWN GAME IN FATHER PHELAN SOCCER TROPHY

Mitchell Scored After Two Minutes' Play—Both Goals Went Under Bombardment.

ONE GOAL EACH.

From the Kick-off Buchan Equalized—Both Teams Gave a Superb Display.

A large crowd of soccer fans witnessed a real cup-tie on Saturday afternoon between the Canadian General and the Quaker Oats in the Final of the Phelan Charity Cup. After two minutes play Mitchell scored the goal for the C.G.E.; while Buchan headed the equaliser in the early minutes of the second moiety which ended in one goal each, after an excellent display of the soccer code. The contestants deserve to be congratulated for the sportsmanship shown in an exciting envounter.

Goal in Two Minutes.

Some keen play marked the opening, and after two minutes' play Burgess broke away down the wing to evade the defence on a close tackle, then centred to Mitchell who picked the corner of the upright to put his team ahead. This sudden shock to the Quakers caused them to reply with repeated attacks that never materialized in anything tangible.

Two Narrow Escapes.

In the last attack Strudeley drew the defense upon him, passed back to James who set himself to score, but Westwood nipped the ball away from his foot while in the act. The C.G.E. defense replied with strategic movements that spoiled the attacking forward line, Robb being the mainstay in tactics to offset their intentions when in proximity of goal, he headed the ball out of goal twice in succession and punted up field to his forwards. They grasped the openings quickly to keep W. Curtis busy in goal. At this point Burgess retired for minor repairs, but continued more effectively when he returned.

Quakers Lost a Great Chance.

Play continued in the Quakers territory with the C.G.E. forwards battling against an excellent defence that compelled them to shoot far out from goal and missing the vital spot by inches. A few minutes later, the Quaker forwards broke away in a line, harassed the C.G.E. defense to gain a dangerous position that Strudeley cultivated nicely to cross the ball in front of goal. Foster picked up the pass and shot for the far corner but the C.G.E. custodian kicked clear.

C.G.E. Combination Told.

The halves of the electric boys then altered their style of play to ground combination, instead of lifting the ball in the air, their attitude disorganized the opponents for a while until they noticed the change. Time and again, the C.G.E. forwards showed nice combination that should have brought results to them, but Craig was the stumbling block to them, no matter what they tried, he tackled fearlessly, passed the ball judiciously to his teammates in spite of the blustering wind blowing down the field. Soon after the C.G.E. worked their way down again and Hutton almost caught the Quaker custodian napping with an oblique shot. Keeping around in Quakers area the forwards from the electric plant failed to make use of the openings from their half-backs, who placed the ball perfectly, so that they would increase the lead before the interval. Canadian General 1, Quaker Oats 0.

Half Time.

The Quakers came into the picture on resuming and from the kick-off Buchan dribbled the sphere in between the full-backs. James then took possession to go further ahead inside, but Wade, C.G.E. custodian prevented an account mark until the former headed into the net a few seconds later. Keeping it up the Quakers forced two corners which were well cleared. The game was contested in real cup-tie style, yet the respective backs saw to it that the goal-keepers were well protected, albeit neither set of forwards caught the eye with their shooting.

Curtis' Lucky Save.

It was touch and go for a while until Robb initiated a movement to carry his front rank in near goal. He was successful in his achievement because Hutton dribbled his way through the defence, then sent Clark away on the wing, hesitating not, he centred accurately, Mitchell trapping and controlling the ball cleverly when hard pressed, but the C.G.E. centre-forwards shot about brought success. Curtis made a faulty clearance in front of goal. The C.G.E. tried to force the issue, but the Quaker custodian followed his play up to make amends. Two minutes later he enacted the same performance.

Going Hard and Fast.

Exchanges continued on an even basis until a free-kick was awarded against C.G.E. From the resulting kick, Strudeley made tracks for the opposing goals and finished with a lightning drive that sailed over the bar. Very keen tactics were introduced to gain the ascendency, but the players took the legitimate shoulder and close tackling in sportsmanlike manner. Both half-back lines worked like trojans the full ninety minutes and there was no choice between them. From a throw-in Burgess worked his way inside the defence, their swinging the ball across to his extreme wing man made a great opening. Hutton and Clarke combination caused more excitement near Quaker goal when the former went for goal, then passed back to his mate who shot hard and fast for goal, Curtis making a spectacular save. At the other end James did likewise. With only four minutes to go the Quakers put up a final rally in which they paid Wade's citadel a visit and had to save two hard shots from close range. The C.G.E. were attacking when the final whistle blew. Canadian General 1, Quaker Oats 1.

Around the City

Two alarms reached the Fire Department on Sunday, but the reasons for both of them were not of particularly serious consequence. At 10.27 a.m., 554 Chamberlain Street summoned assistance to extinguish a chimney fire, chemicals being equal to the occasion, while a partly blocked chimney caused a lot of smoke but no fire at 372 Rubidge Street. This occurred at 9.58 p.m.

NO MORE PILES

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Wheat Prices Go Down As Weather Improves

CHICAGO, June 11. Canadian Press. — With favorable weather prevailing for spring wheat, and with Liverpool quotations lower, wheat values here underwent an early setback to-day, imultaneously field advices from North Dakota and Montana reported wheat prospects as brightening. Chicago wheat started at 7-8 to 1 1-8c decline but later rallied to a material extent. Corn, oats and provisions were relatively firm with corn opening unchanged to ⅝c off and subsequently scoring a moderate general advance.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 141 7-8; September 143; corn, July 102 7-8; September 101¾, oats, July 55½; September 46.

Weakness Continues In Mining Exchange

TORONTO, June 11.— (Canadian Press.)— Saturday's weakness continued on the Toronto stock and mining exchange this morning. Most of the leaders dropped during the morning trading, Noranda recording a drop of 1.15 and Amulet being off 15 at 1.25. Sudbury Basin dropped from 10.50 to 9.80 and Teck Hughes was 33 under at 9.80. The majority of the issues sold off but Newbec and Thompson Cadillac closed a little higher, gaining four points each over Saturday's closing price.

IN POLICE COURT

The Crown was unable to go on with the preliminary hearing in the manslaughter charge against Wesley Devall, and a further remand until Monday, June 18th, was granted this morning.

WINGS

"Wings" the epic picture based on aircrafts part in the great war returned to the Grand for two showings on Saturday and the stirring film amazed those who saw it for the first time and supplied fresh thrills for members of the audience who had viewed the picture before.

Any picture featuring aviation could not be dull in view of the possibilities for spectacular action that are offered in the use of aircraft for film purposes. "Wings", however is more than a ordinary picture. It is a masterpiece of its type and was only made possible because the United States government placed at the disposal of the producers almost unlimited resources in the way of aeroplanes, balloons, artillery, soldiers, tanks and everything else needed to build up a convincing war picture. With these facilities available and worked into a story full of interest and splendidly acted by a fine cast there could only be one result—a super picture. And "Wings" is just that. Its aerial scenes are among the most thrilling the screen has yet brought us, wonderful in their realism and gripping in their spectacular effect.

The picture was reviewed at length in its first appearance here earlier in the season. It is sufficient to say now perhaps, that "Wings" is one of those rare films that is even more intriguing when seen for the second time. An augumented orchestra added to the success of Saturday's presentation. —F. D. C.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE GARDEN OF EDEN."

A comedy drama that's different, with Corinne Griffith, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Ray, in the leading roles, will be the feature attraction at the Capitol, commencing to-day.

The original Garden of Eden was a place where sin, sorrow and repining were unknown. But quite possibly humor was also unknown, since so much of laughter is based on the misfortunes of others. Certainly comedy is far from unknown in Corinne Griffith's production of "The Garden of Eden," which will be shown here for the first time to-day when it opens at the Capitol Theatre.

This comedy drama, originally a German stage success by Rudolph Bernauer and Rudolph Osterreicher, was adapted for the star by Hans Kraly, whose adroit handling of fresh situations in Ernst Lubitsch and Constance Talmadge films made his reputation. The story is one of up-to-date society in Monte Carlo, and the experiences of a little unknown singer in "crashing" the social gates. Charles Ray and Louise Dresser head the supporting cast. Lewis Milestone, directed.

REGENT— Now Playing

The Greatest Comedy Hit that ever came to Town!

WILLIAM HAINES

"SPRING FEVER"
—with—
Joan Crawford and Geo. K. Arthur

He was a Champ at Golf—but a Duffer at Love!

COMEDY : REVIEW : NEWS

AT THE REGENT.

STAR DOES BEST WORK OF HIS CAREER.

Wm. Haines in golf tricks plus a series of hilarious troubles, Joan Crawford as a golfing debutante, and a love story that's told in the mazes of golf club etiquette and the game itself — these are high-lights of "Spring Fever," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's comedy of the links, now playing at the Regent Theatre.

The new picture is a decided novelty in production; in the first place, almost all of it was made outdoors, on the links of a famous country club, and many unique expedients were necessary in filming, in a technically correct manner, trick golf shots, the technical details of different moves in the game ,and other material that was worked out by cameramen and golf experts to make this phase of the picture authentic.

Primarily, however, the picture is broad comedy. Haines plays a young shipping clerk whose prowess attracts the attention of his boss who happens to be a golfer. He's taken to a country club as a young millionaire, whereuuon his trials and tribuations begin with a comical intensity. He has more troubles to the square inch than Lindbergh has medals. Every fresh complication is a gale of laughter.

The cast it a notable one. Joan Crawford, heroine of "The Taxi Dancer,' 'and other recent features, plays the principal feminine role, and George Fawcett, Edward Earle, Geo. K. Arthur, Lee Moran, Bert Woodruff, Eileen Percy ,and others of note are in the supporting cast.

The following information in reference to J. C. Eno Limited is contained in a letter written us by Mr. Harold F. Ritchie, who will be President of International Proprietaries Limited:

J. C. ENO LIMITED AND ITS BUSINESS—International Proprietaries Limited, to be incorporated under laws of the Dominion of Canada, will acquire all the share capital of J. C. Eno Limited (Great Britain), which company is the proprietor and manufacturer of Eno's "Fruit Salt". J. C. Eno Limited owns the formulae, has the exclusive right to manufacture, and through its own organization and selling agencies established throughout the world, and those of its predecessors, it has distributed this product in increasing amounts for more than fifty years. During a quarter century the Company has never had an unprofitable year.

Eno's "Fruit Salt", which is the company's principal product, is a well-known effervescent saline, the name of which is a household word in practically every home in the civilized countries of the world. The purity of its ingredients, the scientific method of its preparation, and the acknowledged medicinal and therapeutic qualities which it possesses, have all combined to enhance the business' increasing goodwill, which the company has consistently and conservatively maintained since 1868. The recommendations by members of the medical profession, and the prominence given Eno's "Fruit Salt" by judicious advertising in the press and other suitable publicity, have contributed to enlarge the company's output substantially. Illustrating the comprehensive selling methods adopted is the fact that at the present time advertising campaigns in some form or another are running in practically every country in the world.

Five manufacturing plants are maintained,—in London, England, Toronto, Canada, Berlin, Germany, Paris, France, and Barcelona, Spain. With the exception of those countries in which factories are located, the world demand for the company's product is supplied wholly from London, England. Distribution in Canada, Newfoundland, United States of America, Mexico, Central America, South America, West Indies, Phillippine Islands, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, Pacific Islands and the China Coast, is made through Harold F. Ritchie & Company Limited, Toronto, Harold F. Ritchie & Company, Incorporated, New York, and The British Harold F. Ritchie & Company Limited, London, England, through which well-known agencies approximately one-half of the total output is sold. Elsewhere, including the British Isles, France, Germany, Spain, Austria, Hungary, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Portugal, Africa and India the Company conducts its own sales activities direct or through selling agencies.

TRADE MARK—The words "Eno" and "Fruit Salt" are registered trade marks in the United Kingdom, British Dominions and Colonies, the Irish Free State, the United States of America, and other foreign countries of any importance throughout the world.

MANAGEMENT AND POLICY—The Directors and Executives responsible for the growth of the business in the past will continue actively in the management. The successful direction of the company will not be altered by reason of the change in ownership and control.

EARNINGS—Based on the certificate of Messrs. Fidgeon, Jackson & Company, Chartered Accountants, London, England, earnings of J. C. Eno Limited, available for taxation and dividends on the shares now being acquired by International Proprietaries Limited, for the five years ended December 31st, 1927, have averaged $769,527

Earnings on the above basis for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1928, are estimated at $825,000

The manufacture in Canada of Eno's "Fruit Salt" was commenced in 1927, and it is now proposed to start production also in United States and elsewhere. Giving effect to known savings to be effected by these changes, based on present operations, it is estimated that earnings on the above basis for the twelve months ending December 31st, 1929, will exceed $900,000

Preferential dividend requirements on this issue $504,000

PRICE: $40 per Share and Accrued Dividend

These shares are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the organization of and issue of shares by International Proprietaries Limited, being passed upon by Messrs. McLaughlin, Johnston, Moorhead & Macaulay for the Company, and by Messrs. Blake, Lash, Anglin & Cassels, for the Bankers. The right is reserved to reject any or all subscriptions, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for, and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Dividends on the Class "A" Stock will accrue from June 16th, 1928.

Delivery of temporary Stock Certificates will be made on or about June 25, 1928. Application will be made in due course to list these Class "A" shares on one or more of the recognized Canadian Stock Exchanges.

Uncle Wiggily — To-day's Bedtime Story — By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LIVELY LIZARD.

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Bob Cat, with his funny little tail, who had come to the woodland lot where Uncle Wiggily sat with the animal boys ready to play ball,—the Bob Cat looked all around for the ball and bat which he said he had come to get.

"I'm sure he's after your ears," whispered the white poodle to the bunny uncle, for the poodle, a new dog, had also come to play ball.

"You never can tell what the Bob Cat wants," said the rabbit gentleman. And just then the Bad Chap snarled again:

"I want that ball and bat!"

"They're right here!" chuckled Jackie

He started to run as fast as he could

Bow Wow, who had hid the playthings when the Bob Cat came slinking through the bushes. "They're in plain sight but he can't see them."

"It's like a puzzle picture," whispered Uncle Wiggily.

And pretty soon the Bob Cat got tired of looking for the hidden ball and bat, though I am sure you found them in the picture last night, where they were hidden. The bat was on the ground near the tree roots and the ball hung in the branches on the left side.

The Bad Chap slunk off by himself, grilling and growling between his teeth and then, when Jackie took the ball and bat out of the places where he had hidden them, the animal boys had a fine game and Uncle Wiggily sat on the toadstool and twinkled his pink nose and laughed as he thought of how Jackie had fooled the Bob Cat with the puzzle.

"As cleverly as I could have done it myself," said the rabbit gentleman.

For a long time the animal boys, who had made friends with the white, fluffy poodle dog, played ball. Then, all of a sudden, Billie Wagtail, the goat boy, hit the ball a terrible bang.

"A home run! A home run!" crowed Charlie Chick, the rooster.

"I'm not going to run home! I came here to play ball!" bleated Billie.

"Silly!" barked Jackie Bow Wow.

"He means for you to run all around the three bases from home plate and come back here again before the other side gets the ball. That's a home run!"

"Oh!" exclaimed the goat. "Then I'm glad I made it!" and he started to run as fast as he could.

Meanwhile Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, with Sammie Littletail, the rabbit, were looking for the ball which Billie the goat had knocked so far. It had fallen in the grass. But before it could be found Billie Wagtail had made his home run.

"We can't find the ball. It's lost truly this time, and not make believe like in Jackie's puzzle," said Sammie the rabbit.

"Come on help us find it," begged Toodle Flat Tail.

So all the animal boys went over in the high grass to look for the lost ball. All of a sudden a voice cried:

"Here I am!"

"Oh, it's the ball talking—telling us where it is!" bleated the goat boy, turning in the direction of the voice. But before his chums reached him to help him look, on the other side of the high grass the voice called again:

"Here I am, over here!" And then the animal boys began rushing to and fro, here and there as the voice called: "Here I am! Look under this stone! Look behind the stump!" But they couldn't find the ball.

"Boys, some one is playing a joke on you!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily as he listened to the voice. "That isn't a ball talking."

"I'm the one who did it!" said a laughing voice, and out of the grass crawled a lively little red lizard. The boys were going to ask the lively lizard if he knew where the lost ball was, when, all at once, out from behind a stump jumped the Woozie Wolf.

"Now I've got Uncle Wiggily!" cried the Wolf. But the lively lizard, with his sharp tail, drew on the ground such a queer puzzle picture, sort of cut up like that when the Wolf saw it he ran away.

Now see if you can make of this cut out puzzle a picture to scare a wolf.

CARDINALS STUDY MEXICAN REPORT

Will Debate Several Weeks On Matters Concerning Church.

ROME, June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Plans for a possible settlement of the Mexican religious controversy are to be considered by the congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, a body of twenty-two cardinals.

The report on the Mexican situation which Archbishop Ruiz Y. Flores of Michoacan gave to Pope Pius was referred to the congregation. The Cardinals will consider the document and appoint one of their number to draw up conclusions from it. These will be debated by the entire body, a procedure likely to last several weeks.

How Thin Men and Women Gain In Weight

McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, sugar-coated and rich in weight building agents, are easy to take and will not upset or even disturb the most delicate stomach.

These wonderful health building, strength creating, weight producing tablets are now sold in every drug store in North America and millions of them are used every month.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or two one dollar boxes any thin underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Ask McDermid & Jury, Bond's, Lynch's, Giles' Drug Stores, or any good druggist.

VOCATIONAL WORK IS DESCRIBED

The real effect of the war was to check the rising tendency to attend Secondary Schools. When the damming back of the movement towards more education was removed by the termination of the war, we have the sudden great rise in the attendance of 1920, 1921 and 1922.

Nor can it be claimed that this sudden increase was due in any great degree to the passing of the Adolescent School Attendance Act. This act was simply the crystallized or formal expression of the trend towards continued education. It could not have been passed with the unanimous approval of the House, as it was, and it would not have been accepted with so little opposition as it has been, were not the people ready for it. The author of the act was one of the first of our political or educational leaders to sense this great movement towards more schooling.

Not Peculiar to Ontario.

This twentieth century movement is not a local thing peculiar to Ontario. It is world-wide, found in all civilized countries. In the United States Secondary School attendance has increased 1,000 per cent. in 25 years. In the United States in 1840 the average child spent 280 days of his life in school; in 1870, 582; in 1900, 850 days, and in 1920, 1,200 days. The increased attendance since 1900 has been because the children were continuing on into the secondary schools. The same story is heard from South America, from England and the Dominions over the Seas, and from the countries of Europe.

The demand for continued education has compelled Secondary School administrators to re-consider and restate the aims of the Secondary School. One of the results of this study of the purpose of secondary education is a tendency to extend the period of secondary education both downwards and upwards.

That pupils should enter on their secondary school training at an earlier age has long been held by some, and is now generally accepted by those having to do secondary school work. Psychologists tell us that primary methods of discipline and of teaching should give way at the beginning of adolescence, to secondary school treatment. The recognition of this principle has been followed in the United States by the establishment and development of a great number of Junior High Schools. In these schools the work of the last two years of the ordinary elementary school and of the first year of the High School is organized into a unit of education. High School methods of teaching and organization are used. Languages are begun, and laboratory methods are used two years earlier than under the traditional scheme.

The tendency towards the extension downward of the secondary school period has been retarded in Ontario because of certain constitutional difficulties in our school system. I refer, of course, to the Separate School problem.

The tendency towards extending the secondary school period upward is strongly felt in the United States, where a great number of Junior Colleges are being established, sometimes in connection with large High schools, sometimes as separate organizations. In an effort to bring within the reach of a large number of people an opportunity for continued education. Twenty-five years ago a high school education represented the climax of a continued education for all who were not definitely looking forward to a University education. In these days of secondary schooling for everybody it is no longer a climax. The provision of such opportunities as the Junior College affords is a necessary consequence of the world-wide movement towards more education. The proposal by Premier Ferguson to extend the period upward by having some of the Collegiate Institutes do the first two years' work of the Universities is simply the recognition of the feeling vague, undefined, and unexpressed though it may be, on the part of the people for more widely distributed and more accessible opportunities for advanced education.

Individual Differences.

Another result of the study of the aims of secondary education is the recognition of individual differences, of differences in the interests, aptitudes and capacities of the pupils. When all the adolescent youth of the country are going to school, as is the case in urban centres, or soon will be, we have a cross-section of the whole people. We have in the schools children from all classes of society, children with widely varied backgrounds, abilities, interests and outlooks, and hence the need for wide and varied opportunities. The pupils are no longer selected as they were formerly by social standards or by a desire to prepare for college or professional life. Great numbers of pupils are now entering secondary schools who have no intention of going to college. The chief purpose of the school is no longer that of a preparatory school for Universities. Statistics show that small as was the proportion of high school pupils that went to the Universities, it is steadily becoming smaller and smaller. The tendency is away from college preparation. It is time this was recognized and the real purposes of secondary schools defined and permitted to determine their organization.

The secondary school is a terminal school, and not a preparatory school, for the great majority of its pupils. This means the provision of a much wider range of studies, and so there is found in the secondary school field the establishment of new types of work such as agricultural, technical, industrial, commercial and Household Arts schools or departments, types of work with a vocational bias. The introduction of vocational curricula is perhaps the most notable trend within the secondary school organization.

The Purpose of Vocational Schools.

The purpose of vocational schools is to provide young people with a good education and in addition to prepare them to enter employment with sufficient initial training for success, and increase their earning capacity, efficiency and productive power.

The training given is very varied and prepares young people to earn a living whether at a lathe or bench in a machine shop, at a switchboard in a power plant, in a repair department of a garage, in an alteration or sales department of a dressmaking shop, in office work with financial companies, and in many other fields where vocational training and skill are required.

E. Bruce Fowler, chairman of the Board of Education, and E. R. Wilson and W. Ford Turner, members of the building committee of the Board, were guests to-day, and in a brief address Mr. Fowler expressed his appreciation of the co-operation given in connection with the new school, and declared that no civic venture with which he had been connected had been so generously endorsed or so little criticized. The Board had endeavored to provide every facility as economically as possible and he was sure the result would be a great credit to the community.

Rotarian Dr. A. Moir expressed the thanks of the Rotarians to Rotarian Kenner for his address and discussed the changes that had taken place in the public attitude toward education in recent years.

Kamp Skookum

Rotarian J. H. Seels urged Rotarians to devote every attention to securing two boys each to attend Kamp Skookum this Summer.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy, discussing the camp question, said that it was hoped to take care of 200 boys at the camp this year.

Rotarian Claud Rogers reported that the camp was ready and that he had been successful in securing five boys. His own son would attend the camp, he declared.

President Killaly urged other Rotarians with sons of age to attend camp to see to it that these boys were registered.

Rotarian James Juby brought before the club a request from the City League for a donation of baseballs, and the matter will be taken care of at next Monday's meeting.

ENGINEERS VISIT CEMENT WORKS

got ten runs in the second frame, making the score 13 to 1. However, after many shifts and pinch hitters, and fifth inning rally, the Petes scored seven runs with two out. Another last minute rally in the first of the seventh tied the score, and forced Lakefield to play their half of the seventh. Errors, many of them, allowed Lakefield to come through with the winning run. The score was 15 to 14, the Cement men being on top. The game was really interesting, each side deriving all the fun possible from the contest. The numerous errors and strange antics of the players all made everything right for a good time. The boys from the Cement Works also joined in the fun.

On another part of the field there was a rival game for the less lively fellows. Someone procured several horseshoes and a lively game of barnyard golf followed.

The sporting events were finished and the Engineers proceeded to the hotel for dinner. This was held in the pavilion, where a long table was set. For the first few minutes everyone was quiet. The long trip and the sports all had given everyone a hearty appetite.

William M. Cruthers, chairman of the association, then opened an informal program. He extended the appreciation of the society to the Canada Cement plant for allowing the association to spend such a pleasant afternoon. He then thanked the club for electing him to the office of chairman. The membership committee is working after new members, he said, and will welcome all eligible members to join the Peterborough branch. He then thanked Mr. Bailey for the pleasant afternoon afforded to the Institute and the privilege of a trip through the factory, which many had not experienced before.

Mr. Bailey replied that it was a pleasure to have the members of the Engineering Institute pay a visit to the plant, and see something instructive. He stated the plant was open any time, and if the members would let him know a few days in advance they would be taken through. "There are a good bunch connected with the plant who will co-operate with you in every way. If there are any of the members who haven't seen the plant we would be glad to show them through. On behalf of The Canada Cement Plant I thank you, and extend to you a hearty welcome," he said.

B. L. Barns, of the C.G.E., extended the appreciation of the committee to Mr. Strickland on providing such an excellent meal under the difficulty of serving it in the pavilion. He said the committee was stuck when the dining room was found to be too small at the Inn, but he thanked Mr. Strickland for a meal in such pleasant surroundings. "I am sure he has made many friends to-night, and they will not forget him."

A. L. Killaly of the Trent Valley Canal, then spoke a word of praise for Mr. Creasor of the Canada Cement plant, saying that in all his experience with contractors, every contractor thought his job was the hardest and had the most difficulties to contend with, but no one had a harder task than Mr. Creasor, who never said a word about his difficulties, but completed the job.

Mr. Strickland thanked Mr. Barns for the appreciation of the committee and was sorry that the accommodation was not large enough in the Inn, but in the future a larger dining room was anticipated and then he could accommodate the Engineering Institute some other time.

Mr. Bailey again thanked the Engineers' Institute, and after three hearty cheers for the guests, representatives of the Canada Cement Co., the party broke up, and the Institute concluded its activities for the Summer.

USE MUFFLERS IN MOTOR TEST

Johnson Motors Employees Will Cut Down Noise During Tryouts.

The Johnson Motor Company, which has been testing motors lately on Little Lake, will in future use on the motors their standard muffler and the noise which has caused some annoyance to residents in the city will be entirely eliminated. The only occasion when testing the motors when the muffler will not be used is when a speed test is being made, and this will be very occasionally.

REV. J. L. HUGHES NEW PRESIDENT

Succeeds Rev. W. S. Edgar as Head of Ministerial Association.

The Peterborough Ministerial Association held its closing meeting for the year in the Y.M.C.A. parlor, the president, Rev. W. S. Edgar, in the chair. The following were appointed officers for the ensuing year:

President, Rev. J. L. Hughes; Vice-President, Rev. W. McDonald, B.D., secretary Rev. J. L. Harton, B.Th., treasurer, Ensign Green.

The Rev. W. McDonald gave a paper on the Problem of Job, which was described as a masterly analysis of that book, and was greatly appreciated by all present.

TWO MEN HURT ON DIRIGIBLE

Injured When Gondola Fell From Italia to Ice.

RADIO GROWS WEAKER.

ROME, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Two of the crew of the dirigible Italia were injured slightly when the dirigible landed on the ice off North-East Land after the gondola had snapped from its beam.

General Umberto Nobile, with eight companions, was in the gondola when it broke away, leaving the other men of the crew still in the engine cabins or within the bag itself as it came to earth almost twenty miles away.

Reporting by wireless to the Italian Government, General Nobile said that both groups were in sight of land and that the ice upon which they were stranded was now drifting north-west. This would carry the ship near Foyne Island, north of Cape Leigh. The group remaining with the bag was made up of two meterologists Dr. Finn Mamgren and Prof. F. Dehounex, three motormen, a carpenter, and a newspaperman, Dr. Ugo Lago.

General Nobile believes that there must be part of the food supplies and extra clothing with the dirigible's bag.

Every effort is being made to bring help to the stranded men. The Italian Government has been notified that the Hobby and the Braganza have been directed to rush their aid and that two airplanes sent by the Norwegian Government will be used as quickly as possible.

Bowling

The Men's Bowling Club held their Friday night tournament with a large number of enthusiastic players and many spectators of the game. Twelve rinks were drawn, the Fallon rink carrying home the silverware. This was composed of Fallon, Wood, R. East, R. Coleman and had a plus of sixteen. Harold Freeman's rink, composed of Freeman, Sexsmith, A. Brown and Kay was a close second with a plus of 14, and Martin's rink composed of Martin, Taylor, Sloan and Wood came in third place with a plus of 10.

The following were the rinks:

Fallon, Wood, G. East, R. Coleman, plus 16.

Freeman, Sexsmith, A. Brown, Kay, plus 14.

Martin, Taylor, Sloan, Wood, plus 10.

Fox, Ringer, D. H. Moore, Fletcher, plus 7.

Routley, Breden, E. Coleman, McLeish, plus 6.

Gimblett, G. Coleman, F. Seymour, G. Watson.

Donaldson, J. Wise, G. Lowe, F. E. Wise.

Allen, McDonald, J. Harrison.

Sedgwick, F. Wise, T. Gemmell.

Oke, C. Taylor, B. Chesler, A. Watson.

Fitzpatrick, R. Dawson, Thornton, C. Seymour, R. Dyer, Cullen.

The regular schedule games will be played this evening.

The executive is trying to arrange a mixed tournament for Wednesday afternoon, June 20.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Harry Kinney who passed away on the 11th of June, 1925.

God is good, He gives us strength to bear our heavy cross.
He is the only one who knows how bitter is our loss.
We miss you at every turn along life's weary way,
For life is not the same to us since you were called away.

Three little words, "forget-me-not,"
They don't say much, but they mean a lot:
Just a memory fond and true,
To show, dear Harry, we think of you.
—Remembered by his Wife, Betty and Alex.

Obituary

JAMES THOMSON.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11.— At the age of 91 years, 7 months, James Thomson, Palliser street, Campbellford, died at his residence in that town on Friday morning, June 8, after an illness of only one week. In his passing, St. John's United church loses a member of its congregation who has taken an active interest in its affairs, holding several offices during his membership.

The late Mr. Thomson was born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, the son of Mr and Mrs. William Thomson, and for his first eighteen years lived in the country of his birth. He was educated in Grammar school and on coming to Canada, settled in Seymour East, where he lived a useful Christian life as a farmer for forty-nine years. On retirement he moved to Campbellford, where he has spent his last twenty-five years. In his nature was a love of home life and a trait of charity which won for him a high place in the esteem of those who knew him.

Three daughters and two sons mourn the death of the late Mr. Thomson, namely, Mrs. John Simpson of Seymour; Mrs. Sam Johnston of Campbellford; and Miss Ethel Thomson, R.N., at home; the sons, W. J. Thomson of Toronto, and John, on the homestead in Seymour East. A brother, William, also of Seymour East predeceased him thirty-one years ago.

The funeral took place on Sunday, June 10, from the family residence, Palliser street, at 2.30 p.m., service at the home being conducted by the Rev. Ernest Harston, of St. John's United church, a half hour earlier. The pallbearers in attendance at the graveside in Burnbrae cemetery were W. J. Armstrong, Neil Thomson, William Stanbury, George Duncan, J. A. Frederick and G. A. Payne, while the flower bearers were D. A. Owen, S. A. Maguire, Alex Donald and Sam J. Abernethy. Service was also held in the church at Burnbrae following interment, the church choir being in attendance.

IN MEMORIAM.

WARD. — In loving memory of our dear father, William George Ward, who departed this life June 8th, 1927.
Farewell, dear father, thy work is o'er,
Thy willing hands will toil no more;
A loving father, kind and true,
No one on earth we'll find like you.
—Inserted by his loving Son and Daughter, Eldin and Ethel.

CANADIAN WOOLLENS ENTERS MERGER OF TEXTILE FIRMS; ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETE

Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd., Name of New Company.

A. O. DAWSON PRESIDENT.

Economies of Manufacture and Merchandising Expected as Result of Union.

MONTREAL, June 12 (Special to The Examiner). — Shareholders of Canadian Woollens Limited met in special session at noon yesterday and approved a plan of reorganization whereby the company and its subsidiaries will be consolidated with R. Forbes Company Limited of Hespeler, Ont., and its subsidiaries, the Orillia Worsted Company Limited, by the formation of a new company under the name of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited.

The negotiations leading to the successful consummation of the reorganization were conducted by Montreal Securities Corporation, Limited. Financing in connection with the new company is expected to be announced in the near future, and it is understood that W. A. Mackenzie and Company Limited, investment bankers, of Toronto, will be interested in the financing.

The new company will own or control the following companies: Canadian Woollens, R. Forbes Company, Orillia Worsted Company, Milton Spinners, Limited, of Milton, Ont., and Otonabee Mills, Limited, of Peterborough, Ont. The latter two are subsidiaries of Canadian Woollens.

The board of directors of the new company will be as follows: A. O. Dawson, Montreal, president of Canadian Woollens, president; W. K. George, Toronto; F. Barry Hayes, Toronto; William Hanson, Montreal; Isaac Bonner, Toronto; W. K. Tromer, Montreal; George D. Perry, Toronto; C. M. Heddle, Peterborough, and W. A. Mackenzie, Toronto.

Associated with him in the management of the company, A. O. Dawson, the president, will have men who have spent their entire business careers in the woollen industry and who are at present identified with the companies now being consolidated. Of these, C. M. Heedle has been connected with the woollen and knitting industry for nearly 37 years, during 17 of which he was associated with Penmans Limited, in important executive position. I. Bonner was also associated for many years with the Penmans Company in the capacity of general manager before becoming identified with Canadian Woollens Limited. Mr. Panamaker, general manager of R. Forbes Company, has been associated with the company during his entire business career. It is expected that all the practical and executive men who have been associated with the Forbes Company for many years will continue in the service of the new company.

Largest in Canada

Dominion Woollens and Worsteds will operate more woollen and worsted cards, spindles and looms than any other company in Canada. Its properties comprise modern mills, manufacturing a broad range of goods, said to be equal in quality and appearance to similar goods produced in any part of the world.

Capital structure of the company will consist of $2,250,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, out of an authorized $5,000,000; $1,500,000 cumulative 6 per cent. preferred stock, out of an authorized $4,000,000; and 60,000 shares of no-par-value common stock, out of an authorized 200,000 shares.

Fixed assets of the company, less depreciation, amount to $4,299,397, and after giving effect to proposed financing the net current assets amount to $1,755,084, making a total of $6,054,475 of net tangible assets.

It is interesting to note that these assets are equivalent to over $2,680 for each $1,000 bond that will be outstanding and that the net liquid assets alone will be equal to approximately eighty per cent of the outstanding bonds.

Net earnings of the constituent companies available for bond interest, depreciation, and federal taxes, after deducting all operating charges, maintenance and repairs, amount to $468,632 in 1927, and averaged $415,446 for the past four years. The 1927 earnings were equivalent to appoximately three and a half times the bond interest requirements of the new company.

Economies Expected

Many economies are anitcipated as a result of the consolidation and these are expected to result in higher earnings. The economies will be affected in the management and overhead expenses of manufacturing and merchandising of the products, economy in designing and styling, and elimination of competition as between the constituent companies in both yarns and fabrics.

The R. Forbes Company has had a remarkable record. It is nearly one hundred years old and has consequently had a long record of successful operations. Its earnings in 1927 amounted to $274,000, these alone being equal to twice the bond interest requirements of the new parent company. It is interesting to note that one-third of the Forbes Company output consists of worsted and serges that are regarded as equal in every respect to imported materials. The company also makes yarns for manufacturing purposes and all kinds of knitted goods, such as sweaters, shawls, etc.

The new company, Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, will be a large employer of Canada. The employees in all plants to aggregate over 1,600 people.

Flying Student Is Injured In Crash

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12 (Canadian Press). — Hiram Crowder, of Montreal, a flying student here, was injured in a crash yesterday when a plane piloted by Melvin S. Anderson, of Old Orchard, Maine, and carrying James W. Tudhope, as well as Crowder, fell into a spin at 1,500 feet.

Crowder was reported to have suffered a fracture of the skull. Tudhope was similarly injured, while Anderson sustained cuts and possible concussion. Anderson was attempting a loop when the plane fell.

TINY TRUSTEES LOSE APPEAL

Privy Council Upholds Decisions of Canadian Courts About Grants.

FOR SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

LONDON, June 12 (Canadian Press Cable).—Though the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today dismissed the appeal of the separate school trustees of Tiny Township, Ontario, Their Lordships near the end of the lengthy judgment say: "It may be that new laws will hamper the freedom of Roman Catholics in their denominational schools. They may conceivably be or have been subjected to injustice of a kind that they can submit to the Governor-General-in-Council and through him to the Parliament of Canada."

Representing all the Ontario Separate Schools, the appellants had contended that certain sections of the Ontario Educational Act were ultra vires, that Roman Catholics had a right to establish Separate High Schools and Collegiates, that Roman Catholic school supporters were not bound to contribute to the upkeep of undenominational High Schools and Collegiates, and that they were entitled to share on a basis of the average of attendance in the public grants to the schools.

The dismissal of these claims is the culmination of a dispute beginning in 1920, when the Provincial Government began to put back into the consolidated revenue unearned grants in connection with education in the Province. The sum involved amounted to almost $500,000, which was paid into Court by the Attorney-General. The case arose when the trustees prepared a petition of rights in which they made a number of claims.

This petition was dismissed by Mr. Justice Rose, of the Ontario Court at Toronto. His judgment was confirmed by the Appellate Division of the Ontario Supreme Court and a further appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada also was dismissed. The appellants last December were granted special leave to appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and argument was heard for and against at intervals from February 21 to March 8 last, when judgment was reserved.

ELEVEN NURSES GRADUATE FROM TRAINING CLASS

Nicholls Hospital Exercises Held in St. Paul's Church, Which is Crowded.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

Addresses Made By Members of Board and Hospital Staff.

Eleven members of Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses graduated last night at a very impressive and colorful ceremony conducted at St Paul's Presbyterian Church in the presence of hundreds of the friends of the graduates. The big church, with a seating capacity of between eleven and twelve hundred, was filled to overflowing for the occasion. The program was brief and interesting and the graduates, crisp in their spotless white uniforms and caps, wearing corsage bouquets of mauve sweet peas and carrying arm bouquets of pink roses tied with Hospital colors of purple and gold, had a lovely background in the masses of roses and lilacs, with palms and ferns, which banked the choir loft.

Members of this years class who saw last night the completion of three years' training in the nursing profession are: Miss Bessie Vera Reynolds of Hampton, Miss Florence Eliza Haw ,of Orono, Miss Margaret May Davidson, of Lindsay, Miss Vera May Bruce of Nestleton, Miss Doreen McPherson Johnston, of Port Hope, Miss Inez Geraldine Wynne of Smiths Falls, Miss Alta Sophia Moncrief of Omemee, Miss Sara Lang Armstrong of Otonabee, Miss Mary Thelma Martyn of Orono, Miss Bertha Ann Suffel of Smith Falls and Miss Agnes Edna Sheppard of Cobourg.

Prizes for Proficiency presented by the Trustee Board and consisting of $25 for the first prize and $15 for the second, were won respectively by Miss Bessie V. Reynolds and Miss Florence E. Haw ,and were presented by R. J. Kidd of Trinity church. In the Intermediate Class, prizes for Proficiency, presented by the Medical Staff, were awarded to Miss Edna Johnston of Locust Hill and Miss Helen Durant of Smiths Falls, and were presented by Dr. A. W. McPherson and prizes for Bandaging, presented by the Trustee Board to the Junior Class were won by Miss Stella Wood of Snow Road, Ontario, and Miss Thelma Armstrong of Millbrook. These were presented by Dr. J. M. McCulloch. The three gentlemen made brief, appropriate speeches of congratulation.

An entertaining musical program formed part of the evening's program, also several addresses, including an outline of the proposed extension to Nicholls Hospital, presented in the main address of the evening by E B. Fowler, the chairman's opening address by V Eastwood and the address to the graduates by Dr. G. Murray Fraser.

Mr. Eastwood.

Mr. Eastwood opened the proceedings with the following remarks:

"Since our last graduation exercises Mr. Richard Hall, chairman of this Board since its inception in 1885, passed away .His services to the Nicholls Hospital are to be written in letter of gold and rank in some degree with its founder, Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls.

"Mr. Ackerman our present chairman, is unfortunately unable to be present here to-night.

"The Board of Trustees, Supt. and Staff of the Nicholls Hospital are again gratified to have such a fine response to their invitation for this evening to do honor to the Graduation Class of this year. This fine class numbers eleven young women who three years ago qualified for our training school. Since that time there have doubtless been often times when they wondered what it was all about, with tired bodies and frayed nerves night came with such thoughts. However, that is all behind them and they now stand on the threshohld of their great adventure.

Members of Church Board Oppose Recommendations Offered In Report

REGINA, Sask., June 12. Canadian Press. — Recommendations involving radical changes in the administrative structure of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, as contained in the draft report presented by Rev. Dr. D R. Drummond of Hamilton, Ont., to the General Assembly of the church here yesterday, resulted in the dramatic tabling of the resignation of members of the present board of administration attending the meeting.

The resignations were tabled by C. S. McDonald Toronto, who explained that the members took such a course in order that they could enter into the discussion of the issues involved freely and without prejudice.

No action was taken on the matter, pending full consideration of the reports submitted by the special committee on organization and co-ordination, and the administrative board.

Recommendations in both reports were heard, but action was deferred until to-day when the subject will be placed at the top of the agenda.

WALTER TOWNSEND BADLY HURT WHEN CAR CRASHES INTO TREE

Sixteen Year Old Boy in Nicholls Hospital Injured About Head.

CAR BADLY SMASHED.

Accident Occurs When Boy Goes For Drive With Friend This Morning.

Walter Townsend, aged sixteen, of 587 Chamberlain street, is in the Nicholls Hospital, in a serious condition, the result of a motor car accident which occurred near Crawford's Grove at 10.30 this morning.

Irving, with his chum, Roy Tranter, of 607 Chamberlain street, in a closed car, owned by the latter's older brother, young Townsend, was seriously injured about the head and legs, while Tranter escaped injury when the car, getting out of control, crashed into a tree and turned over.

Rushed to the Hospital.

An ambulance was immediately summoned and young Tranter went to his home, riding part way with his injured chum. A close examination in the operating room of the hospital revealed severe injury to Townsend's head, though no concussion.

The car brought in from the scene of the accident by Magee's garage mechanics, Hunter street, was badly damaged, the windshield being broken, as well as windows, fenders, etc., on the right side.

Firemen Have Run When Valve Opens

When a safety air valve blew out at the Canadian General Electric plant at 1.20 this afternoon, pumper, ladder truck and Chief George Gimblett's car of the city fire department made a fast run, only to find that their services were not required. As the alarm came in previous to the calling in of classes, school children along the route enjoyed more than the usual amount of thrill.

A single hose line of the C.G.E. equipment was brought into action for a brief period.

HOOVER SURE OF NOMINATION SAY MANAGERS

Pennsylvania Delegation Promises Him Votes in Place of Coolidge.

OTHERS FOLLOW.

Supporters Predict Secretary of Commerce Will Be Chosen on First Ballot.

KANSAS CITY, June 12 (Canadian Press).—Herbert Hoover's nomination on an early ballot was virtually assured to-day when Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, formally announced Pennsylvania's support.

The decision of the Pennsylvania delegation was made after Mellon had announced that "it now becomes clear that Coolidge will not become a candidate." The Idaho delegates also decided to cast their 11 votes for Hoover.

New Jersey added its 31 votes to the Hoover column by a decision of the delegation in caucus this morning. The Hoover people had claimed 25 of the votes.

Confident that their man cannot be headed off now, the commerce secretary's managers flatly predicted today his nomination on the first ballot on Thursday. His foes, a determined lot, clung to the hope, however, that a deadlock would develop to throw the convention out of kilter and bring about the selection of a dark horse.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2.30.

Fort William Paper Company Closes Doors

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 12 (Canadian Press). — The entire plant of the Fort William Paper Company closed down yesterday, and the whole site is silent. D. G. Calvert, manager of the local plant, has nothing to say, beyond the fact that he received orders from headquarters to close down the plant, and could giv no information as to how long it would be closed. The closing puts 300 men out of work.

SPARKS' CIRCUS COMING TO CITY

Will Show in the Exhibition Grounds On Thursday, June 28.

HAS TWENTY CARS.

Peterborough will have its circus again this year. Sparks Brothers show will be in this city on June 28th. Arrangements already have been made for the Exhibition Grounds.

This year the circus is carrying twenty cars, which means a larger show. For the past few years Peterborough has watched Sparks Brothers grow into a first rate show and will welcome again this circus to the city. It's visit will be a chance for the old to be young, and the young to get their fill of pink lemonade and red bananas Likely as in previous years there will be a street parade, but as yet this is not definite. Many will lose hours of sleep watching the circus unload, set up, perform, and pack up the large amount of equipment it carries, all inside twenty-four hours.

Ocean Fliers Await Favorable Weather

CURTISS FIELD, N.Y., June 12 (Canadian Press). — With their monoplane Columbia fuelled for the long flight to Europe, Miss Mabel Boll and her pilots, Captain Arthur Argles and Captain Oliver C. Leboutillier rested all day in anticipation of favorable weather reports late last night.

A lone mechanic appeared at the airdrome, following a last-minute postponement of the take-off early yesterday morning, and worked on the motor. The immediate destination of the plane has not yet been made public.

The general expectation among the personnel of the field is that the start, when it comes, will be on a moment's notice.

A report, calculated to spur the Columbia's departure, arrived from Trepassey, Nfld., yesterday, saying that the trans-Atlantic flight of the Friendship, with Miss Amelia Earhart of Boston as one of the pilots, is due to start this morning unless storms prevent.

COUNTY COURT SESSION SHORT THIS AFTERNOON

One Jury Case Has Been Settled Out of Court and the Other Made Non-Jury.

HEARING DATES FIXED.

His Honor Judge Huycke Addresses Grand Jury, Remarking On Small Docket.

The four cases scheduled to come before His Honor Judge Huycke at the June Session of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, commencing this afternoon, three were put over to later dates and the fourth had been settled out of court.

His Honor, when the court opened, addressed the grand jury, after which they went on a tour of inspection of the county buildings, offices, and all institutions being supported entirely, or in part, from the public treasury. The petit jury was dismissed as in Bothwell-Sarginson case the jury had been struck out, and in the Smith-Poolman case a settlement of the claim and counter-claims has been reached by the defendant paying $700.

The other two cases on the docket were non-jury. Hansman vs. Moore was adjourned until June 20, and Henry vs. the City of Peterborough, until Friday June 15.

Dangel Antonio, through his lawyer V. J. McElderry, K. C., applied for naturalization. Mr. Antonio has been a resident of Canada for 11 years, a great part of which time he has lived in this city. Martin Holland, who was born in Poland, and has lived in Canada for a number of years, also applied for naturalization through his lawyer, G. W. Hatton, K. C.

Of the twelve grand jury men summoned to appear L. Brooks and Mayor Denne failed to made an appearance at the scheduled hour and His Honor instructed Sheriff Hall to choose two fro the petit jurors.

The grand jurors are Fred Hooper, foreman; Maurice Allen, A. B. Greenbank, James Kylie, Earl McMullen, Thomas Pitchford, James Robertson, Simon Seabrook, R. G. Sedgwick, Andrew Young, Milton Clark and Victor Wood.

Jury Duties Light

"I am very pleased to be able to tell you," said His Honor in his address to the grand jury," that your duties promise to be light at this session. The learned Crown Attorney, Mr. Hatton, has just told me that he has no cases to present to you; that is, there are no criminal cases to come before this court. The sheriff has given me a list of the prisoners in jail; and there are none waiting trial. It is also with pleasure that I note that of the six in jail all are men serving for the most part trivial charges—two are for vagrancy, two for breaches of the liquor act, one for theft, and one for reckless driving. Sometimes it has been found that women were confined in the jail and sometimes old men, but this is not the case at present. Speaking of the jail, I pay tribute to an old and faithful servant of the county for many years, Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, who has served for over sixty years, first as turnkey and later as a gaoler. He is a very fine old gentleman indeed; he has served faithfully and his welcome voice will be missed around the court house.

"The position of gaoler has fallen upon very able shoulders with the appointment of Lt.-Col. Dalton Johnston.

"From what has been said, you would think there is no crime in Peterborough or County and to some extent this is true. We had a very unfortunate thing happen in this city some few weeks ago when two lives were lost, so we cannot say we are without crime. Some may say that the absence of criminal cases at this session is due to a very active police force, which I might say is active, but far too few in numbers. The administration of justice goes on day by day and although you have no criminal cases coming before you, there are some which have been dealt with by the police magistrate. There is not as much civil litigation as in previous years, which I trace to the fact that people are respecting the rights of others.

Lawyers Honored

"A signal honor has been conferred recently upon three members of the Peterborough Bar who have been selected as King's Councillors, a very ancient order for the lawyers in England which has been extended to the Dominions. One of them is Mr V J. McElderry, a comparatively young man. Another is S. T. Medd, a careful and conscientious solicitor and counsel, who served his country during the war and almost gave his life. The country has not forgotten its soldier heroes and to-day the best sentiment honors those who gave their lives for their country. E. H D. Hall, the third recipient, is a veteran of the Bar and the oldest member in Peterborough. He is a gentleman whom everybody loves and admires, and he is a most trusted and highly respected lawyer. I must say if I had the selection to make, I think one gentleman of Peterborough should have been on the list. I refer to E. A. Peck.

"Your chief duty is to investigate criminal cases and the other is to inspect the institutions and see that everything is being conducted efficiently but not too economically," concluded His Honor.

CITY COUNCIL PASSES BY-LAW PUTTING INTO EFFECT SIGNS RECENTLY PUT UP ON STREETS

Parking Rules Are Amended and New Through Streets Created.

GAS PUMP RULE STANDS.

Council Hears Deputation Asking Reconsideration—Sewer Connection Price is Cut.

All the signs which have been placed on the streets in the past few weeks, giving such orders as "No parking on this side," "Angle parking for one hour," etc., become effective as soon as the Department of Highways sets its approval on the city's parking by-law, which last night, at a special meeting of the city council, was passed, signed, sealed, and numbered. The new through streets, Hunter, Rubidge, and Water, were formally given that status, while Chambers and Louis streets became one-way streets.

It was also decided, at last night's meeting, that the price for sewer connections for private houses in North Monaghan will be $16 a connection. A strong deputation, headed by Reeve Rye, waited on the council to ask that it be reduced from $20. Their request for a revision of the rate of $100 charged Confederation School was not considered, as the agreement was made for one year. In the fall the price will be reconsidered.

Legislation obtained at the last session of the Ontario House makes it possible for a township situated as North Monaghan is to collect from its ratepayers the charges levied by a city for sewer connections, and an agreement will be drawn between the two municipalities to put this into effect. Another amendment to the Municipal Act makes it possible for a township to set up a special area for fire protection from an adjacent municipality, and the present agreement between the city and township will be re-affirmed by by-law so that the township council can collect for this service from the area served instead of having to levy on the whole township, as it has been doing.

Protest Unavailing.

A protest from one barber did not avail to prevent the passing of a by-law compelling all barber shops in the city to close at 12.30 every Wednesday in June, July and August, coming into effect June 19. Three quarters of the barbers had signed the petition and the council was obliged, under the Act, to pass the by-law.

The aldermen want to know approximately what price they will have to pay for the gas plant before they will go any further into the purchase of it. They do not wish to submit to the people any proposition which does not seem to be a paying one. Consequently the clerk will correspond with the commission to see what can be done.

Three men waited on the council to oppose the order for the removal of gasoline pumps from the curbs in the centre of the city, but no action was taken, the by-law passed last Monday being allowed to stand.

By-Laws Passed.

By-laws were passed as follows:

2782—For the issue of debentures for the erection of a monument. The by-law was issued for $5000, the city's contribution to the war memorial.

2783—To provide for the closing of barber shops in the city on Wednesday afternoons during June, July, August.

2784—Authorizing the construction of asphalt pavements on Belmont avenue, Walton street, Homewood avenue, Leslie avenue, St. Joseph street Gilmour street, Park street and Reid street to Lansdowne, London street, Dublin street, Reid street north of McDonnel to London and Monaghan road from Charlotte street to Elm street.

2785—To authorize the construction of concrete pavements on Reid street from 50 feet north of London street to the city limits and Water street on the street railway strip.

2786—To authorize the construction of concrete curbs on Boswell, Pearl, Maitland, Margaret and Frederick avenues.

The Traffic By-law.

2787—To amend by-law 2662. The traffic by-law.

This establishes a special parking area between Brock street and Sherbrooke street and between Water and Aylmer streets, all inclusive and on Hunter street from Water street to Sheridan street. On these streets parking is allowed on the east or south side only, on George street for not longer than 20 minutes, and on the other streets for not more than one hour. No parking whatever is allowe on Aylmer street between Charlotte and Simcoe streets (the fire hall block, and on the sharp angle at the corner of Park and Downie streets.) The hours when these time limits apply are from eight a.m. to six p.m., except on Saturdays.

A second clause establishes Rubidge street below Charlotte street, Hunter street from Rubidge to Bethune and from Sheridan street to Armour road, and Water street from McDonnell street to Smith street as through streets.

A third clause makes it obligatory that all vehicles obey the traffic lights wherever established and makes them supersede the through street rule at the same corners, while clause four makes Chambers and Louis streets one way streets.

Ald. Hamilton asked, and was assured that cars may be left on the "no parking" side of the street for "a reasonable time" as long as there is someone in charge, or alone for a few minutes for the driver to go into a store to make a purchase. These must be parked parallel.

Ald. Phelan opposed this by-law, charging that it is more drastic than

CHANG TSO-LIN DIES IN MUKDEN

Former Dictator Succumbs to Injuries Caused By Bomb Explosion.

RULED FOR TWO YEARS.

TOKIO, June 12. — (Canadian Press.)— The Japanese War Office to-day received word of the death of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian War Lord and former Northern dictator, who was a victim at Mukden after he abdicated.

The bomb outrage occurred as Chan and members of his staff from Peking entered the suburbs of Mukden on June 4. Several members of his staff were killed, including Wu Chun Sheng, military governor of the Province of Heilungkiang.

Reports of his death have appeared several times since, but have been denied. Chang withdrew from Peking on June 3, after a rule of nearly two years as dictator of Northern China, when his troops failed to halt the drive of the Nationalist troops toward the Northern capital.

POLICE SEARCH FOR BROTHER

Comb St. Raphael District for Brother of Murdered Farmer.

HAD QUARRELLED

ALEXANDRA Ont., June 12. Canadian Press. — Police searching the St. Raphael district, Glengarry County for Raoul Laflamme, brother of Alberta Laflamme, farmer, who was shot to death in his yard early on Sunday morning, stated last night that they had not yet found trace of the man who it is thought may be able to throw some light on the murder.

The search for Raoul started immediately following the receipt by the police of information that there had been considerable friction between the brothers.

Albert Laflamme was found lying dead in his yard close to the barn by his son Eugene at 6.30 a.m. on Sunday, and as a result of enquiries made by the police it was ascertained that Raoul had left the nearby farm where he had been employed at 3 o'clock on Sunday morning, and had not returned or been seen since.

In view of the friction which had existed between the brothers for some time the police sought Raoul for questioning and when it was found that he had disappeared a search of the district was immediately started.

All day police officers moved from sugar camp to sugar camp but as yet have been unsuccessful in finding any trace of the man .

S. S. WORKERS HOLD MEETING

Teachers and Officers of Schools in Two Townships Discuss Work.

FINE ADDRESSES GIVEN.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — St. John's United Church was the headquarters for the convention of the Seymour and Belmont branch of the Ontario Religious Education Council yesterday. Thte afternoon session was mainly for the transaction of business and receiving reports from the various churches and departments. In the evening, the program embraced several more numbers of an entertaining character as well as the instructive and helpful address on the work of the council. Both sessions were opened with devotional exercises.

The officers for the present year were elected at the afternoon session and installed at the evening session. This years, G. A. Kingston retires as president, and his office will be filled by A. C. Denike, Havelock. Mrs. G. A. Kingston, secretary-treasurer, was elected for another term of office. The council embraces twelve Sunday Schools in the Townships of Seymour and Belmont, the village of Havelock and the town of Campbellford. The denominations represented are the Church of England, Baptist, and United. The Rev. W. B. Murrell, director of religious education, of Walmer Road, Toronto, addressed both the afternoon and evening sessions. The Rev. A. C. Hie, Hastings, addressed the evening session.

The afternoon session was held in the Sunday School rooms of the United Church, with G. A. Kingston, president, in the chair. After the opening devotional exercises, and a brief address by the president, the reports of the various committees were read and received. Mrs. F. deF. Free's solo, "Cast Thy Bread Upon the Waters" (Roeckel) was well received. The roll call by the Rev. C. D. Daniel, disclosed the fact that only six of the twelve Sunday schools were represented. The others, however, had made arrangements to have their reports read.

All Reports In

In discussing the chart showing the work of each school, Mr. Daniel mentioned the fact that this was the first convention at which he had been present where all the reports called for had been read. He requested that the various officers concerned assist the secretary by filling out and returning reports without loss of time. All the reports, he said, showed a decided increase over those of last year. St. John's Church, Campbellford, was leading with a perfect chart, and Mr. Daniel understood that not only was the organization in St. John's perfect, but that the school was doing very effective work.

The Rev. Mr. Merrill, in reply to the president's remark that this was perhaps his first visit to Campbellford, said that he had been here twenty-two years ago as general superintendent of Baptist Sunday Schools for Ontario and Quebec. He noticed considerable change in the town in that time. He, too, was unable to recall ever having been at a convention where all the reports were presented. He wished to compiment the people of St. John's for their excellent showing and for the large number of representatives present. He would speak, he said, on the merits of week-day religious education, Bible study in the public schools. He had been informed, he said ,that there was nothing being done along that line in these townships.

Few Children Reached

Records showed, he declared, that only fifty-seven per cent of the children are in Sunday Schools, and the other forty-three are not being reached at all. These children are in the public and high schools of the province during the week, and some are being reached through the C.S.E.T. and the C.G.I.T. This contact is maintained through the mid-week activities. The actual religious education is being carried out in a very few hours each year. Statistics from the United States show that Jewish children received 250 hours of religious instruction each year; Roman Catholics, 200 hours, and that the others receive about twenty-six hours.

The opening devotional exercises are not the same as religious education. Just as pupils were not compelled to attend these exercises against the wish of their parents, neither would they be compelled to attend the religious instruction periods. But community school boards had the power to permit this instruction in the schools. It could be obtained here if requested in the proper manner. Wiarton has been carrying on the work for several years, he said, and has developed a very efficient system in which the ministers of the town take part. Mr. Merrill did not think the ministers were the best people to carry on the instruction, but rather perferred the matter to be left in the hands of the teachers of the schools. For this service, they would be properly paid, he said.

The afternoon session was concluded with a round table discussion of the business of the convention and the appointing of officers for the present year.

The evening program included two addresses. After the installation of the officers, and music by the Sunday School choir and the orchestra, the Rev. A. C. Hie, Hastings, spoke on how to create and sustain a missionary interest in the Sunday School. The one great reason for this, he said, was for the salvation of our own souls. First, there must be a system, and in

"EYES OF LOVE" AT LAKEFIELD

Entertainment Presented By Committee of Ladies' Aid— Other Village News.

LAKEFIELD, June 12.—A dramatic entertainment was given on Thursday evening in the school room of the Regent Street United Church, under the auspices of the candy committee of the Ladies' Aid. The play, "The Eyes of Love," was given by Seventh Line Dramatic Club of Smith, who scored a success last year with their play, and repeated their success this season with their new play. The young people deserve a great deal of credit for their enterprise and their excellent work. The play was a drama of life in the South, and while it had decided humor, it was not in any sense a comedy. The moral was, "He who leaves God out of his reckoning has not learned how to count." The play was in three acts and was staged an dacted very well, the actors playing their parts in nearly every case as if really living the parts. Clarke, the butler, who was really not a butler; Lora, the maid with ambitions toward the movies, and the incomparable Carolina, the colored mammy, were among the best, playing with a lack of stiffness which gave the touch of realism. Judge Barry's, too, was a well taken part. dignity, combined with enignity, making him always alikeable character. Another excellent characterization was that of "Trusty Jim," a part which called for greater versatility than any other and one which was a really good part, well played. The other parts were well taken also and a pleasant evening's entertainment was given. The cast of characters is as follows:

Judge Barry, a Southern gentleman —Mr. J. E. Milburn.

Mrs. Barry, his wife—Miss Dorothy Tully.

Gailya, adopted daughter of the judge and Mrs. Barry—Miss Victoria Robinson.

Reta Wade, the judge's niece—Miss Irene Wade.

Bert Wade, her brother—Mr. Earl Tully.

Royal Manton, Gailya's lover—Mr. Earl Roseborough.

Jim Rankin, "Trusty Jim," the exconvict and victim of an unjust sentence—Mr. Fred Anderson.

Lora, the servant parformaid—Miss Valeta Deck.

Clark, the butler, in love with Lora —Mr. Bruce Heard.

Carolina, a "before the war" type of mammy—Miss M. Milburn.

Between the acts, Miss Mildred Purdy and Mr. Earl Roseborough played piano solos which were pleasingly rendered and Mrs. H. E. Moore played the Wedding March for the closing act of the play, where all is well and ends well with everyone happy, the bad experiencing a change of heart, wrong righted, and as a final good omen, Caroline walking about with clasped hands muttering over and over, "Good luck, Good luck."

Mrs. A. E. Higgins and Mrs. Harry Dunford are convenors of the candy committee, which had the affair in hand. Mrs. Dunford, who is in poor health, was in Toronto for medical attention and was unfortunately unable to be present. Mrs. Higgins, however, was a host in herself and carried on nobly.

Arrives in Africa

Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison have received a cable from the Mission Board of the United Church stating that Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Harrison had arrived safely in Angola, Africa, on June 6th. This will be of deep interest to many friends and relatives in Lakefield and the vicinity, where Mr. Harrison was well known and where he brought his bride a year ago for a brief visit before leaving for the mission field.

Explosion Burns Face

Mr. George A. Charlton was the victim of painful accident at the Lakefield plant of the Canada Cement Company last week, when his face was badly burned in an explosion. Prompt attention from the first aid department helped to relieve his suffering. Mr. Charlton is doing very well, but had a narrow escape.

Excursion on Thursday

The annual Business Men's Excursion will be held on Thursday afternoon and evening per steamer "Stoney Lake." The boat leaves at 1.15 p.m. sharp proceeding to Buckhorn for a sports program, ball game and dinner. TRINITY SERMON MARMORA CHURCH

Rev. A. B. Caldwell Gives Stirring Address in St. Paul's on Sunday.

MARMORA, June 12.—Words of Archbishop Davidson to the effect that the church came first and its membership afterwards formed one of the reminders given to the congregation at St. Paul's on Sunday by the rector, Rev. A. B. Caldwell, in the course of a very forcible sermon based on "His body's sake, which is the church," Col. 1:24.

"The commencement of the Trinity season," he remarked, "has brought us to the conclusion of the rounds of fasts and festivals in which we have commemorated the great outstanding events in Christ's life. We now turn from the life itself to that which it left behind. Our Lord left no writings as far as we know. He built no monuments. He formed no earthly monarchy. What then did He leave? The greatest monument of all—the church. God so loved the world that He gave His Son. The world did not understand the Son of God. It misrepsented Him and ascribed His power to an evil agency. The Son in His turn so loved the world that He gave His church, but the world did not understand the church. It misrepresented His teaching, misapplied its doctrine and mistook its objective. So we find that the Son of God, after long years of waiting, still knocks at the door of men's hearts and the church still calls them to adoration.

"The New Testament," it was further stated, "knows only the universal church, of which the Church of Corinth and the Church of Rome were only parts, and of which every Christian is a member through baptism. The Spirit gave birth to the church. The Spirit gave the Apostles utterance. The Spirit moved among them producing coherence and order. Thus the church was shown to be divine and no mere invention of men. The Apostles were led by the Spirit. Thus we see there is a mind of Christ with regard to the church which is sacred and divine, and if we tamper with that it is at our peril. 'We are sometimes asked to think,' says 'the present Archbishop of Canterbury, 'that the church only exists in the union of believers and has not a reality of its own.' It is perfectly clear that the idea of the church in the New Testament is not that men talk sometimes as if a church could be constituted simply by Christians coming together and uniting themselves in one body for the purpose. They speak as if Christians came first and the church afterwards, as if the origin of the church was in the wills of the individual Christians who composed it. But on the contrary, we see that it is the church which comes first and the members of it afterwards. In the New Testament we read of the Kingdom of Heaven already being in existence, and that men were invited into it. The church takes its origin not in the will of man, but in the will of Christ. He sent forth His Apostles who received their commission from Him. They were not organs of the congregation. They were ministers of the Lord Himself. He sent them forth to gather all the thousands they could reach into His fold, but they came first and the members afterwards. The church in all its dignity and glory was quite independent of the members brought within it."

Concluding, Rev. Caldwell said: "It is this church, Catholic and Apostolic, in which we are members and in which we can appropriate the redemption achieved by Christ and appreciate His mediatorial work."

IN POLICE COURT

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

Campbellford, June 12.

As a result of a difference of opinion at Community Hall on Wednesday, June 6th, Robert McArthur yesterday morning paid a fine of five dollars and costs, $10.85 in all, for common assault on A. E. Atcheson. Atcheson and McArthur are partners in the dance hall business and there was a difference of opinion as to the amount of money which was turned in from the sale of tickets on Saturday, June 2nd. McArthur, who was in charge of the cash, turned over the amounts which he calculated to be due the orchestra and his partner and Atcheson was not satisfied. He thought that there was an error, and said so. McArthur stated to Magistrate Payne that he did not strike Atcheson, but merely seized him by the neck and pushed him down. T. B. Horkins, law student, appeared for the plaintiff, and after judgment had been given, asked to have the defendant bound over to the peace. His request was not granted. N. Alec McColl appeared for the defense. In his address to the magistrate, he claimed that while there may not have been any justifiable cause for assault, there was provocation. Considering it a trivial affair, McColl suggested that the fine be the minimum, one dollar. Magistrate Payne did not so rule, and the fine was set at five dollars and costs or ten days. McArthur paid the fine.

FLOWER SUNDAY GILMOUR CHURCH

Children Take Part in Special Service—Church Decorated.

Flower Sunday, June 10, was very fittingly observed at Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, the church being prettily decorated with tulips, lilacs, and lily of the valley. Rev. W. Edgar preached a special sermon to the children. The centre pews of the church were reserved for the Sunday School scholars, who sang two special choruses.

The following pupils took part in the service: Two violin solos by Lloyd Stinson; recitation by Phyllis Moore; trio by Freddie, Harry and little Jean Metcalfe; trio by Lillian McGregor, Marion Blewett, and Eunice Hammond.

WEDDING BELLS

BAXTER-MORAN.

(Examiner Staff Correspondent.)

CAMPBELLORD, June 12. — A very pretty wedding took place at the United Church parsonage on Saturday evening when Jessie Mae, second daughter of Mrs. George MacKenzie and the late Samuel Moran, became the bride of Warden Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Baxter, Havelock. The Rev. Ernest Harston was the officiating clergyman. The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue flat crepe with sand trimmings and navy blue hat and coat. Her shoes were of black satin, with sand colored hose. The bride and groom were unattended. Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left for a brief honeymoon by motor. On their return they will reside in Havelock.

McKIRDY—GOODWIN.

A pretty wedding was solemnized by the pastor, the Rev. J. L. Harton, B.Th., at the Park street Baptist church, at 2.30 Saturday afternoon, June 9th, when Doris Mary Goodwin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodwin, became the bride of David D. McKirdy, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKirdy, of Dalmuir, Scotland.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father looked very dainty in her lovely gown of grey crepe-de-chene embroidered in blue and silver, with gray hat, shoes and hose to match, and bouquet of pink Ophelia roses and maiden-hair fern.

Her sister Marjorie (Mrs. Walter Townsend) was maid of honor, wearing a very pretty dress of Swiss rose crepe and large picture hat, and corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. McKirdy left on the afternoon C.P.R. train for their honeymoon. A large number of friends assembled at the station gave the young couple a hearty send off amid showers of confetti and good wishes for their future.

Mr. and Mrs. McKirdy will reside for a time at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. Walter Townsend, brother-in-law of the bride, acted as best man.

The wedding music was played by Walter Townsend, Junior, nephew of the bride.

JUNIOR WORKERS DISPLAY GOODS

St. John's W. A. Girls Exhibit Things Made For Bale—Pins Presented.

A delighful tea was held on Saturday afternoon in the Parish Hall of St. John's church under the auspices of the Junior W.A. when they exhibited the goods for the bale. This work, consisting of quilts, dressed dolls, scrap-books and Christmas cards, has been done by the girls during the winter and was much admired.

An attracive table of home-made cooking and candy, decorated in green and white, was in charge of Margaret Scott and Margaret Rogers.

During the afternoon Barbara, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Stewart, was presented with a silver spoon. Mrs. Stewart was a former assistant in the work.

During the winter the members of the Junior W.A. have been looking up the Mission Study on India. They recently wrote on an examination, nineteen being successful. Nine who have taken a three years' course were presented on Sunday with silver pins, in the shape of a maltese cross, bearing this inscription: "The love of Christ contraineth."

The following received the pins: Kathleen Lacey, Rose Scates, Ray Jackson, Louise Wesley, Eileen Mahood, Dorothy Lacey, Margaret Scott, Dorothy Boorman. Other students passing their examinations were: Sophie Yeotes and Helen Mahood, first year work; Evelyn Brooks, Jacqueline Graham, Darcy Castle, second year work; Ida Sage, fourth year work; Dorothy Pitchford, Phyllis Pitchford and Kathleen Ford, fifth year students.

Mrs. L. H. Deyman is superintendent of the Junior W.A. work assisted by Mrs. W. G. Howden and Mrs. F. G. Mann.

ECZEMA AND PIMPLES.

Cannot Be Relieved By Salves and Ointments—Must Be Treated Through the Blood.

Irritating sores, pimples, eczema, salt rheum and other skin disorders are all signals of distress, telling that your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they purify and build up the impoverished blood. This has been proved over and over again. Among those who have thus benefitted is Mrs. Chris F. Hummel, Castor, Alta., who says:—"I was troubled with eczema for years and although I tried many remedies I did not find permanent relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I did a little work my hands pained me greatly, especially my fingers and joints which were swollen and cracked, so that I could scarcely move them. Finally as the result of a statement I read, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them very long when I found they were helping me. I then got a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone every trace of the trouble had disappeared. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I might have been spared the suffering I endured and saved the money spent for other treatments that did not relieve me. I hope some other sufferer will benefit by my experience."

If your blood is out of order begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and note their speedy beneficial results. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FORMER RESIDENT SEES GREAT CHANGE

Howard L. Solmes, Now Business Man in Winnipeg, Visiting City.

Howard L. Solmes, a prominent Winnipeg business man, paid a flying visit to Peterborough during the past few days. Mr. Solmes is a former Peterborough man who left this city eight years ago for the west. On his return to Peterborough he noticed a great change in the city and remarked on its progress in eight years. While here before Mr. Solmes was connected with the Prudential Insurance Company. In Winnipeg he is affiliated with the Winnipeg Board of Trade, and the Winnipeg Industrial Development Committee, he is chairman of the Manitoba Aviation Corps, a member of the Southwood, Carlton and Cosmopolitan clubs. The firm with which he is at present connected is Cameron and Solmes Limited, investment bankers. Mr. Solmes is vice president of this house.

He motored here through the States and is returning by motor by way of Port McNicholl, where he will go by boat to Port Arthur and then by highway to Winnipeg.

COUNCIL PASSES PARKING BY-LAW

Toronto's. He felt that there should be some place left for people who came down to their shops and offices.

"Let them put them on the market," said Ald. Huffman.

"They might as well leave them at home," retorted Ald. Phelan.

"The idea is get them off the streets," was the response.

2788—To authorize the construction of sidewalks on a number of streets.

2789—To authorize the construction of sewers on several streets.

2790—To authorize the execution of a lease with the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board, covering the south eight feet of Lansdowne street, from Park street to Lock street for a period of one year and until cancelled, at a rental of $1.00 a year.

The Monaghan Deputation.

Reeve H. B. Rye and the council of the Township of North Monaghan, appeared as a deputation to ask that the rate for sewer connections be reduced. It was set some months ago at $20.

Mayor Denne remarked that the cost for the average household in the city for sewer connections is $13.

Ald Stocker countered that in Toronto the charge to outsiders is three times the charge to a city resident.

Reeve Rye declared that the township had never asked that the city provide service at the same price or objected to paying for connections. He suggested an extra charge of ten per cent., making the total $14.35.

Ald. Hamilton asked if something had been allowed for increased cost of maintenance. City Engineer Parsons stated that it would be less than one dollar.

Mayor Denne proposed that the figure be set at $16.00 and this seemed to be satisfactory to both sides.

Reeve Rye also brought up the question of the connection to the Confederation School. The fee charged on an agreement for one year is $100, and he thought it excessive, suggesting $60.

A jocular statement by the Reeve that the township would not try to collect ground rent for the city's use of the streets for its outfall sewer brought a fiery question from Ald. Stocker—"What about the connections you stole?"

The Reeve objected to being included in this and argued hotly with Ald. Stocker for a few moments until Mayor Denne insisted on order. A few minutes later when Mayor Denne asked if the Reeve could tell him about any connections already made, the Reeve replied, "They were stolen."

Ald. McIntyre felt that this was a wrong answer to a civil question, but the Reeve explained that the township had no official knowledge of these connections, but would co-operate in finding out who had them.

Alderman Phelan and Cotton moved that an agreement be made at $16, subject to re-adjustment at the end of five years.

Ald. McIntyre objected to this. The council, he said, must have had data to fix this price at $20 and he felt that the engineer should check the cost. Mr. Parsons stated that this was the only time he had prepared such figures, and that the total was about right. This satisfied Ald. McIntyre and all the aldermen voted for the motion.

Want to Keep Pumps.

G. A. Gillespie appeared to ask why there had been discrimination against gasoline pumps in a certain area, which council last week ordered removed. He said that the pump did not cause any congestion in front of his garage. It would not take any more time to fill a car than it would for a man to go in and buy a part.

The notice was not long enough, he added, and meant that the pumps would have to be moved during his busy season. He intends within two years to alter his building to move the pump inside. When he bought his garage it was paying $5 in taxes and now he pays $300, besides giving employment to thirteen men.

On the other side of the street he pays $1100 in taxes and gives employment to more than 40 persons, with no concessions from the city. He stated that the wear and tear on the sidewalk caused by cars entering his garage was more than the trouble caused by his pump.

J. W. Watson supported Mr. Gillespie's argument, adding that he would lose his investment in his pump and would have no place to put his off the street.

T. Shields expressed his agreement with the two previous speakers and he added that the garagemen, whom he called the legitimate sellers of gasoline, are being forced out by the service stations, while the loss of the pump would rob them of an attraction to people who might buy other parts.

No action was taken.

No Money for Soldiers.

Ald. Ackerman reported on his efforts in the line of arranging for a visit to the city from the Toronto Regiment which had been suggested by that regiment.

He had discussed the matter with Peterborough militiamen and had decided that the city could, by good publicity through a sham attack, collect a good gate from a military tattoo on Saturday evening, towards an expense of $1,000.

On Sunday there would be a drumhead church parade and a sacred concert, and on Monday morning, Dominion Day, there would be a garrison parade.

Ald. Ackerman declared that the regiment is anxious to come, and meet a unit which served in the same brigade overseas in an attack, and he predicted that the local garrison would enter enthusiastically into the scheme.

Lt.-Col. W. G. Hall, V.D., O.C., Peterborough Rangers, promised the support of the local units in what he said would be of great benefit to them.

Major G. G., Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., of the Peterborough Rangers, stated that he had favored inviting some regiment which would invite the Rangers back. This would help in recruiting, as it would restore the annual trip which was a great incentive to the militia before the war. This had been promised.

Ald. Greene asked if it is customary for this unit to invite others to come to Toronto.

Major Winterbottom replied that it had been unable to do so, lacking an armoury, but was willing to have them if they went under canvas.

Ald. Ackerman and Col. Hall explained the changed circumstances of militia units since the war, which makes it necessary for them to ask help.

Mayor Denne declared he would be delighted to have the unit come but feared that the time is too short to allow for proper advertising, and that the gate would be very small. He assured the aldermen that the exhibition grounds would be at the units' disposal.

Ald. McIntyre asked one pointed question: "Where are we going to get the money?" and it was echoed by Ald. Huffman.

Ald. Greene proposed that the date be set at Civic Holiday, which would give more time for arrangements than Dominion Day, and in the meantime the finance committee could consider the matter.

Ald. McIntyre argued that the city hasn't the $1,000 and thought that the regiment should be told at once instead of deferring the matter.

The mayor believed that the money could be raised by a civic holiday program. Ald. Hamilton was suggested as a member of the committee to go into the matter, but refused, declaring that he was opposed to paying anything. "I have a lot of other ways in mind to spend the money," he added.

The Gas Plant Again.

Columns of figures relating to the purchase of the gas plant at various prices and rates of interest were read by City Clerk Armstrong, showing the surplus that there would be at the recently reduced rate.

"If we don't buy it someone else will," remarked Ald. McIntyre, while Ald. Green was still of the opinion that an independent appraisal should be obtained. The aldermen are, he said, responsible to the ratepayers and should know just what they are purchasing. He moved that this be done and Ald. Stocker seconded the motion.

Ald. McIntyre advocated finding what price will have to be paid before going any further in the matter. If it could be bought at a reasonable figure the appraiser could then be hired and the information submitted to the people.

The Mayor and Clerk were appointed a committee to interview or with the Hydro and find out what can be done in the matter of price.

Extensions to Storm Drains.

Ald. Cotton exhibited a set of plans showing extensions to be made by the Canadian General Electric Company at once and proposed changes for the future, and asked for the construction of storm drains on Townsend and Albert streets to help drain their property. This work cannot be done this year, the storm drain appropriation being marked for Sherbrooke and Bolivar streets, but will be done next year, in the winter, possibly, to cope with any unemployment.

The oiling of the roads will be started this week, the mayor assured Ald. McIntyre, citing the cold weather as the cause for delay.

"It will be welcome," was Ald. McIntyre's comment.

The application of Sidney Whatley for an eating house license was granted.

A petition from a number of residents of Aylmer street for pavement from the C.P.R. track to Lansdowne street was referred to the Board of Works.

The city employees will build walks at the Collegiate extension.

The annual oiling of the roads in Little Lake Cemetery will be done by the city at the expense of the cemetery.

Finance Committee Meets.

Debentures totalling $131,700 were sold by the Finance Committee to the City Trust. Others amounting to $55,000 will be offered the citizens.

Springville

SPRINGVILLE, June 12. — Fairmount United church anniversary was well attended, the church being filled for both services. Among those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ball and Miss Thelma Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Fallis and Mrs. H. Seaton from Millbrook, Mr. and Mrs. H. Tinnie, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Duglas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duglas, Mrs. R. S. Staples and son Ralph, Mr. H. Seymore and Mr. Duncan Seymore, Mrs. J. Staples, Mr. Reg. Sutton, Miss N. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sutton from Cavan; Mrs. Howden, Miss Stonehamer and Miss F. Blanchard from Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gardener, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gardener and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lowes and son Hubert, and Mr. and Mrs. N. Fee from Mount Pleasant; Mr and Mrs. Joshua Eggleston from Ida; Miss Irene Elliot from Elizabethville; Miss Mildred Brown of Campbellcroft; Mr. Russel Beatty of Hamilton.

Among those who attended Fairmount anniversary services from Springville were the following: Mrs J. Johnston, Mr. Harvey Johnston, Mr. Elwood Johnston, Mrs. McConnachie, Miss C. McConnachie, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitfield, Miss A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Kelk and family, Mrs. Gibson, Court Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Grandy and Clarmount Morgan, Messrs. Fred and Bruce Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fairbairn and family, Miss Sibyl Robertson, Miss Mabel Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. R. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fraserville SPRINGVILLE, June 12.—Mrs. W. Tully has returned home from Keene, where she was visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Bidgood.

Mr. Robert Thorndyke is visiting friends at Millbrook.

Miss I. Armstrong was the guest on Wednesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. S. Staples.

Mr. and Mrs. Finnie of South Monaghan were the guests on Wednesday of the latter's parents, Rev. A. H. and Mrs. McConnachie.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Johnston left on Friday by motor for Cape Town (near Hamilton), where Mrs. Johnston will attend a china wedding anniversary of her sister, Mrs. G. Shaver. This will be a joint celebration with her mother, Mrs. Rispin, of Brantford, who on the same day celebrates her eighty-first birthday.

Springville-Fairmount Literary Society met on Friday evening on Springville Church grounds for sports and a social time. Softball was played for the greater part of the evening, after which choir practice was held in the basement.

Mr. George Whitfield was in Millbrook on Friday.

Miss Mildred Brown of Campbellcroft is home for the week-end, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cathcart.

Miss A. Brown and Mr. Walter Brown motored to Millbrook during the week.

Among those who attended the garden party at Ida were Mrs. H. Cathcart, Misses Mildred Brown, Jean Fairbairn, Mary Southam and Rosella Wood, R.N.; also Messrs. Harvey and Elwood Johnston.

Miss F. Blanchard of Peterboro is the guest at the home of her niece, Mrs. George Whitfield.

ENTER SEA MASKS

NEW YORK, June 12.—Gas masks now are provided for seasick passengers on the North German Lloyd liner Stuttgart and she came into harbor the other day with the report that 80 per cent of the usual sickness was relieved on this trip by a device perfected by the ship's surgeons. It is nothing but a mask that supplies good, fresh oxygen with the tang of solid earth in it.

BY APPOINTMENT TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING

The HIGH COMPRESSION Motor is no "new problem" for CASTROL

Castrol solved the lubrication problems of high-speed, high-compression motors over ten years ago

AMERICA has adopted, finally, the principles of motor design that have been so popular in Europe for many, many years.

America must now adopt the principle of lubrication which is part and parcel of the problem of the high-speed, high-compression motor.

That principle is CASTROL.

The speed and stress of the high-compression engine called for a quality of oil that taxed the scientific resources of the engineers of Europe to the utmost. The Research Department of C. C. Wakefield & Co. Limited, however, once more solved a problem when they perfected the grades of Castrol which were already famous throughout Europe.

For that reason a great many leading manufacturers of famous high-compression engines today specifically recommend CASTROL—including such famous names as the British-made Rolls-Royce, Sunbeam, Vauxhall, Bentley; also Bugatti, Hispano Suiza, Isotta Fraschini, Mercedes.

You have used CASTROL in the older model motors. You have observed its astonishing silky durability. You have experienced its marvelous heat resisting qualities.

That was because you were using a super-oil, perfected to meet the exacting demands of the high-compression engine.

With your new car, you cannot risk experiment. The experiments were made for you many years ago. CASTROL has been tested and proved by years of experience and is the frankly specified oil of many of the world's leading manufacturers of high speed motors.

Sold by leading garages and independent service stations everywhere.

THE NEW REGULATIONS.

While there are features in the new parking regulations that will not be pleasing to every one—it would be impossible to draft a plan that would have that happy result—it is evident that these rules will do much to avoid congestion and confusion in the business areas, and they should be accepted cheerfully as necessary in the general interest.

The conditions that have existed at certain hours under the old system were such as to invite accidents, and we must regard ourselves as especially fortunate that the angle parking on both sides of the street did not result in more mishaps.

Certainly on Saturday nights the congestion was serious enough to make driving in the business section a nerve strain to motorists, while pedestrians had their own troubles in preserving life and limb.

The new regulations must be given a fair chance, and the co-operation of the public should be loyally accorded the authorities in their endeavor to improve conditions.

Everybody has a responsibility in this work of making the streets safe, and should accept that duty as good citizens.

ONTARIO'S SKILFUL FLYERS.

In the midst of the acclaims that are being accorded trans-oceanic flyers for their spectacular feats, it might not be amiss to call attention to an astonishing record that has been set up by the flying men of the Provincial Air Service.

These skilful aviators are not greeted by mobs wherever they move, nor do they receive front page space on the newspapers of the world, but nevertheless they are establishing a reputation for skill and efficiency that would be difficult to duplicate anywhere.

In one week last month members of the Provincial Air Service, who are engaged in forest fire prevention work, flew 422 hours, representing a total distance of 31,650 miles, over Ontario's forests.

There is nothing spectacular in that record, nothing that appeals to the imagination like a hop over the Atlantic, and yet when a flyer does 40 hours in the air in a week he is piling up a record of achievement upon which he deserves credit.

And these men are doing useful flying, flying that means something, preventing as it does serious fires developing in the Provincial forests.

Ontario is admirably served by these capable and business-like airmen of the forest patrol service, and we should not forget them in the excitement of more thrilling but not more useful aviation feats.

MORE OPPORTUNITIES.

Principal Kenner's address to the Rotary Club yesterday and his talks to the entrance classes of the various Public Schools serves to call attention to the increased opportunities in secondary education that will be offered the boys and girls of Peterborough when the Vocational School is opened next September.

To parents to whom the question of the future of their children is a cause of worry the new courses will be of the greatest benefit.

Only a small proportion of those receiving secondary education expect or desire to go on into the university and enter one of the professions.

The vocational courses that will be available here with the opening of the new school will be combined with a sufficient amount of academic training to give those pupils to whom the Collegiate is a terminal or general education of value.

Various industrial courses will be open to boys, while girls will be offered a course in household arts that should be of the greatest assistance for them.

In addition, for those who want to enter upon a business career there will be a commercial course open to pupils of both sexes.

Peterborough should reap splendid results from the investment that is being made in this splendid school plant.

ANOTHER HEAVY TOLL.

Once again the newspapers have been called upon to record a shocking list of week-end fatalities as a result of traffic accidents.

Over the last two Sundays a score of people have been killed and double that number seriously injured, while the record of other accidents, fortunately not followed by serious consequences, would be a lengthy one.

An accident toll of such proportions should surely awaken the public to an earnest effort to improve driving conditions and substitute care and caution for the take-a-chance tendency that is at the bottom of the majority of motor mishaps.

Several of the worst accidents recorded over the last week-end were due to drivers attempting to leave the line of traffic and pass cars in front of them.

This is probably the most fruitful cause of traffic accidents, and is the most unnecessary as a rule.

On main highways the stream of traffic is usually moving at the legal speed limit, and that should be fast enough for anybody.

It is the individual who finds thirty-five miles an hour too slow even with the highways crowded that most often brings about an accident in his haste to get ahead.

And almost invariably there is no particular reason except his our desire for speed why he should want to pass other cars that are travelling at the speed limit.

"There is no use speeding if you don't get there," should be inscribed on the windshield of all such impetuous motorists.

MANUFACTURERS READY TO CO-OPERATE.

The interest shown in agricultural matters at the opening sessions of the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is a most encouraging development, pointing to closer co-operations between two great branches of the national activity. During the discussion on Monday, T. R. Deacon, of Winnipeg, suggested that something spectacular should be done to call world-wide attention to the menace of rust in wheat and indicated that it would be well worth a reward of $1,000,000 if some means could thus be found of overcoming the pest.

Those who spoke on the subject evidently realize that the good of each section of the community is bound up with the good of the whole. The manufacturers undoubtedly realize that their own well being depends in a large measure on the prosperity of the farmers, and by the same token the farmers will profit by the prosperity of the manufacturers. The grain grower would profit by the elimination of the rust pest which would mean that his buying power would increase. This would require greater production of manufactured goods and mean more employment, which in turn would mean a better market at home for farm products.

The readiness of the association to discuss farm problems indicates a healthy condition of affairs, and points to greater co-operation in the future between the two sets of interests than in the past provided that the agricultural interests will meet the manufacturers half way. Co-operation cannot be one-sided.

In a country such as Canada the need for tolerance and co-operation is perhaps greater than in some others. Different sections of the country have tended sometimes in the past to see only their own side of a question. There has been sectionalism and division among the various interests in the Dominion. From the sentiments expressed at the manufacturers' annual meeting, however, it would appear that they are ready to meet other bodies at least half way in the effort to bring about a closer working arrangement for the good of the whole.—Monetary Times.

THE GREAT PACIFIC FLIGHT.

The chief value of the flight of the Southern Cross from California to Queensland is the promise that the way has been blazed for a regular commercial service. It no longer seems visionary. The Pacific has been flown from America to Australia: once more 2,400 miles of sea to Hawaii, the long stretch of 3,130 miles to Suva, Fiji Islands, and the last cast of 1,700 miles to the Australian coast, an incomparable achievement of its kind. Men have flown further over land and sea. Every continent has been traversed, and both the North and South Atlantic, also East Indian seas. Lieutenant Smith and his fellow-officers of the United States Army made the circuit of the globe, but to reach Asia from North America they laid their course through the Aleutian Islands to the Kuriles in order to gain Japan. The day may come when that route to Asia is used for a commercial service, but it is far off. A shorter course, a quicker linking of America and Asia, was the requirement. When flights had been made to Hawaii the world could "sense" what was coming. Hawaii was to be the first stop for air voyages to the Philippines and Japan, and to Australia. The Pacific would provide landing stations.

It was in keeping with the fitness of things that Australians and Americans should combine to fly the great ocean from coast to coast. But the enterprise must be more than a sporting event. Praise too high cannot be given to the men who provided the means and the men who essayed the venture, staking their lives against failure. It might have been possible to cross the Pacific in a plane with one motor. The performance would doubtless have been an inspiration, for pioneers who show the way are always to be honored. But it was known that a single-motored plane could be flown nearly 4,000 miles without a stop. It was also known that a long ocean flight with only one motor operating would always be a hazard. Practical engineers and experienced pilots had declared for the three-motor plane for overseas work. Such a machine was provided for the first trans-Pacific flight, and it was equipped with a radio set so that the pilots could always get their bearings from ships and shore stations.

The Southern Cross was tested in one endurance flight after another until it was demonstrated that she could keep the air long enough to reach Suva from Hawaii. She was tested for load-carrying. The experiments with her left no room for doubt that she qualified for the crossing of the Pacific. Captain Kingsford-Smith handled her so long as the chief pilot that he knew her as a seafaring man knows the moods of his ship. As a co-pilot Captain Ulm could not have been improved upon. In Lieutenant Lyon a very capable navigator was selected, and as a radio operator a better man could not have been found that James Warner.

All the way over from Oakland to Brisbane the Southern Cross talked to a waiting world, sending out bulletins of progress from hour to hour. Owing to storms there were lapses, but not for long. Never has there been such a demonstration of the availability of the airplane for commercial uses. It is felt for the first time that a stoutly built tri-motored plane can go anywhere and never be out of touch with civilization. The Pacific has been "conquered."—New York Times.

? ? The Question Box ? ?

(Address Inquiries to "The Question Box.")

A.L.: Q.—(1) Are there brakes on the landing gear of an airplane (2) What kind of engine did the Bremen have?

A.—(1) Yes. The development of the braking systems for airplanes has been rapid, and they are fast nearing the stage of absolute perfection. (2) Junkers L-5. It is a water-cooled six-cylinder engine, developing 310 horse-power at 1500 r.p.m. It weighs 605 lbs.

S.A.: Q.—When half a dozen cars are lined up at a stop street, does every one have to stop as it comes to the sign?

A.—Yes. Every car should stop at the sign, or before touching the space enclosed by the white lines.

T.T.: Q.—What do you charge for the insertion of personals and other items?

A.—There is no charge for personals or other news items. The Examiner is glad to receive news reports of any kind from its readers.

W.B.: Q.—Why, in a city paper, do you print more Campbellford articles than news of the city?

A.—The Examiner doesn't. In the month of May The Examiner carried nearly 47 columns of Campbellford news and nearly 350 columns (44 pages) of purely Peterborough news.

D.O.: Q.—(1) Who started the first secret service? (2) Are there any secret service men in Peterborough?

A.—(1) It is generally agreed that Joseph Fouche, Napoleon's Minister of Police, was the originator of organized Government secret service. (2) It would be injudicious to tell, even if we knew, would it not? Probably it is better to assume that there are agents of all countries (including our own) here.

GOD'S MINUTE

Bless the Lord, O my soul.—Ps. 103:2.

Oh God, our Heavenly Father, through Thy mercy we have been brought to the saving knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ; and by Thy goodness we are permitted to enter upon the duties of another day. We thank Thee for Thy loving kindness, and humbly beseech Thee that we may this day show forth Thy praise with our lips and in our lives. Banish all doubt from our minds, and drive away all shadows from our souls and enable us to realize Thy presence in our going out and our coming in, in our down-sitting and uprising. May we have grace to think those things that are right, and courage to speak the word that may set forward Thy Kingdom.

We pray that our dear ones may be kept both outwardly in their bodies, and inwardly in their souls, and be defended from all adversities which may happen to the body, and from all evil thoughts which may assault and hurt the soul. Keep Thy Church in continual godliness; and grant that through the consecrated work of Christian people everywhere, the whole world may be brought to Jesus Christ, and be saved. And oh, blessed Lord, when the busy day of our little life on earth is over, may we with all our loved ones, enter the service of eternal praise in Thy Heavenly Home, through the sole merits of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Held Under Auspices of Madoc Women's Institute—Musical Program.

MADOC, June 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Madoc Woman's Institute held a most successful social evening at the Armouries on Thursday of last week. The music was provided by local talent, the Sills Orchestra supplemented by drum and traps, and all enjoyed the splendid program of popular music put on.

Owing to the busy season for farmers and also for students, the crowd was not as large as at other times, but those present enjoyed to the full the excellent floor, the splendid music, and the sumptuous refreshments provided as usual by the ladies of the Institute.

Lunch was served buffet style, and all were quickly and efficiently waited on, and many were the commendations received as to both service and refreshments. Proceeds of the evening were $90.00.

Miss Minnie Ferguson, manager of the Bell Telephone office in Madoc, was the successful winner of the wrist watch, in the contest put on by Mr. George F. Maybee jeweller, during May.

The contest open to everyone over 16, was to guess the serial number of a beautiful wrist watch on display, whose number was between 10,000 and 20,000. Miss Ferguson's guess was the nearest to the correct number.

On Friday evening last a very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Broadworth when about a hundred of their friends and neighbors gathered to present Mr. and Mrs. Charles Derry (nee Miss Myrtle Smith) with a miscellaneous shower in honor of their recent marriage. Many beautiful and useful presents, including cheques, were received by the bride and bridegroom, testifying to the high esteem in which the happy couple are held in the community.

On Sunday morning, June 3, after the regular Sunday School service, Mr. James Keene, superintendent, presented Mrs. Derry, on behalf of the Sunday school, with silver teaspoons, and an address which was read by Miss Helen Caskey, and was signed on behalf of the Sunday School by James C. Keene, superintendent, Rev. G. W. Rivers, minister, and Mrs. Huffman, secretary.

Mrs. Derry replied in a few words, thanking the school for the beautiful and useful gift.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 12 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for Canadian grain here yesterday was of a limited character, and the volume of business was small. The only business of importance in the local market was a sale of a cargo of shipment from Chicago. The car lot trade in oats was quiet and the prices nearby were unchanged.

The trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet, but values were firm.

The millfeed market was without any new feature to note, prices being steady under a quiet inquiry, from all sources. A small business was done in standard grades of rolled oats and the undertone to the market was firm.

A moderate amount of business was done in eggs and prices for all grades were firmly maintained. The receipts were 3,434 cases.

There was no marked improvement in the demand for potatoes, and the market on the whole was rather quiet, but the undertone was about steady owing to the smaller offerings on spot. Sales of car lots of Quebec varieties were made at 65c per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, New Brunswick Green Mountains at 70c to 75c. per bag of 90 pounds.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Wheat prices went lower yesterday and corn higher. Better crop reports from the spring wheat belt, lower quotations at Liverpool and nearness of a large movement of new winter wheat in the south all tended to ease down the wheat mark. Corn responded to a big decrease of the corn visible supply.

Wheat closed nervous ⅞c to 1⅛c net lower; corn showing ⅛c to ⅜c advance; oats ranging from ⅛c off to ⅜c up, and provisions at 12 cents decline to a gain of 2 cents.

Despite good rallies at times, the general course of the wheat market was downgrade. Rather favorable weather prevailed throughout spring wheat territory and field advices from the northern half of North Dakota said crop prospects were brightening.

Word was also received that prospects in Montana were better than is the case further east, evidence of sub-soil moisture being apparent westward. In addition, the amount of wheat afloat for Europe showed an increase, and export demand for wheat from North America was only moderate.

Unsettling influences on the wheat market during the late transactions included general expectance that the Canadian Government crop report yesterday afternoon would prove bearish. It was also announced that new winter wheat was loading at southern Oklahoma points, the first cars of the season in that state. Under such circumstances buying power lessened as the day drew to an end, whereas selling became liberal.

Receipts at Winnipeg yesterday were 891 cars compared to 131 a year ago, and stocks at Port Arthur and Fort William showed but little decrease for the week, with the total now 51,731,000 bushels against 22,461,000 bushels the corresponding time in 1927.

Corn prices moved up after announcement of 2,250,000 bushels decrease of the corn visible supply and of 1,317,000 bushels reduction of Chicago stocks. In the oats market, July delivery was easier on account of scattered selling, whereas deferred months showed little change.

Provisions ruled irregular, with July lard tending to decline, but October held firmer.

CHAPTER RECEIVES SEVERAL DONATIONS

57th Ladies Also Make Donations—Reports Are Read.

The last meeting before September of the 57th Chapter of I.O.D.E. was held on Thursday afternoon in the Officers' Mess of the Armouries, with the president, Mrs. R. Cottrell in the chair.

A donation of twenty-five dollars was voted from the Chapter to the Well Babies Clinic.

A donation of fifteen dollars was received from the Otonabee Chapter in appreciation of the help given by the fifty seventh chapter in connection with the Federation Quilt.

Mrs. N. McNabb's offer of a pieced top for a quilt on which the chapter might sell tickets, was gratefully accepted.

A letter was read from Col. W. G. Hall thanking the members for the donation of ten dollars toward prizes in the Shooting Competition.

Mrs. G. Helson gave a splendid report of visiting, having made 103 visits at Hospital distributing fruit, and reading matter.

Mrs. J. Gillespie reported on the recent bridge party, held under the auspices of the Chapter, of which she and Miss Laura Belleghem were convenors.

Mrs. R. Cottrell delegate to the National Chapter in Toronto, gave a very interesting and comprehensive outline of the proceedings and will report more fully at the September meeting. Mrs. Cottrell was voted a hearty vote of thanks.

A Thought

YOUR MOTHER

Never forget your mother. She is the one person in all the world who never forgets you. Write to her every few days. Tell her of your plans and work. Visit her as often as possible. Let her know that you think of her every day. This will fill her life with joy and will be more beneficial to you than nearly anything else you can do.

SMART, graceful, luxurious—the New Canadian Oakland Six bears eloquent witness to the beauty and the comfort built into every Body by Fisher. It strikingly illustrates, too, the unmatched ability of Fisher to build supreme value into a motor car body. You will not find a greater motor car value in Canada than the New Canadian Oakland Six. Part of that value is in its chassis, with its big motor, its bull-dog sturdiness and strength—and part in the attractive, comfortable and extremely durable Body by Fisher. That General Motors is able to offer such a car at such a price is still further proof of the beneficent result of Fisher resources, Fisher efficiency and Fisher craftsmanship

THE LESSER EVIL - By FANNIE HURST

There was no mistaking the sympathy of the Court for this silent, humiliated figure of the husband of Matisse. If in the largesse of his heart he could find it in him to take back this erring young girl, well and good in the eyes of the Court.

And as he sat with his sick eyes fixed on his wife, there crept into his face decision.

SOMETHING so shocking and incredible had happened that it seemed to Matisse as she sat there in the solemn, dusty, ugly courtroom that she must be walking through a dream, darkly.

There was simply no reality to the horror of this situation. Yet, when she looked to the right of her, to the left of her, to the fore of her, there was every evidence of actuality. The woman judge pounding an ivory gavel. The court attendants moving as through a dream. Out somewhere in the audience, the lantern-shaped face of her husband, which seemed to her, as always, to be hung on a pole. His neck was so long and lean. Beside him, her square, little fleshy face covered with blotches from tears, sat her mother, and, over all, the voice of the woman judge.

In Matisse there was no desire to evade the truth. Even though as she talked, she had the sense of sitting drenched with bilge-water. Had she done this incredible thing? Matisse, the fastidious? There had never been a time when she had not somehow continued to keep her little mind as dainty as her little body. And now here she was in the courtroom on the charge of something soiled and horrid.

PERHAPS her marriage had been the first step away from that nice integrity of mind and body. And yet in a way that was the beginning of creature-comfort for Matisse. The big brown house that she shared with that lantern-faced man out there, her husband, had fourteen rooms.

All her life, previous to marriage with him, Matisse had shared two meagre ones with her mother.

There were long pier glasses in the fourteen-room house and plush furniture and bisque ornaments and carpets that ran clear to the baseboards of the rooms and chenille portieres and oval tables with marble tops and oval fireplaces cut into marble mantelpieces.

But the fireplaces were never lighted and most of the sombre rooms of this home which Matisse had inherited by marriage were kept closed and darkened.

The big, dark rooms might have glowed with firelight and lamplight. The big, quiet rooms might have resounded with music and laughter and the soft, gay voices of many people. Matisse sometimes dreamed of light and laughter in the still, dark house—her house, her husband's house. Dreamed of them and woke cold and numb with longing for something that she had missed.

There had been another wife. Matisse was second. Not that this in any way justified, even in the troubled morass of the girl's own brain, the outrageous condition into which she had plunged her husband and mother.

John had been a good man. If there was any indictment that she might fairly hurl against him, it was that of joylessness.

He was kind enough, if somewhat conservative, about money. He allowed her a certain amount of freedom for matinees and visits to her mother, and every Saturday afternoon they drove into the country in a hired automobile. It was the loneliness and the joylessness that first began to make inroads.

Loneliness for youth, for fun, for romance. An unsatisfied feeling that she was living without capturing the secret of living. Pursuing a beautiful, elusive butterfly of desire without ever gaining on it. Listening to a singing invitation to find the heart of love—a song of invitation that drifted away into the distance as the weeks and months passed, until she could hardly hear it.

What was she doing with her life? Matisse was troubled, sometimes vaguely, sometimes consciously, by this persistent question. Was she throwing away her youth, her loveliness on a marriage that, though kindly, was hardly loving?

Lonely and joyless was Matisse in her struggle to find an answer to the questions that troubled her. Starved and hungry for youth, for fun, for romance.

AND then the unmentionable, the unthinkable, the incredible had happened that had brought her into the shameful light of this courtroom scene.

They met one afternoon, finding themselves side by side at the soda fountain of a candy store. He was a young Greek and even though it took Matisse some time to pronounce his name, Aristedes, there was something about it that had smote her heart as if it had been a lyre and made it sing. Aristedes had youth, beauty and a certain Mediterranean something that was balm to the chilled heart of Matisse.

There had been secret walks and furtive meetings and then, one terrible day, one unbelievable day, Matisse had accompanied him to a back room in a lodging-house near a water-front. They had been raided there, Matisse and Aristedes, by one of the plain-clothes men who scrape the byways of the city in the name of morality.

Then it was that she had first felt that awful sensation of being dredged with bilge water. A feeling of being soiled and horrid—Matisse, who had until then kept her little mind as dainty as her little body.

AND now, while Aristedes was being tried in the Men's Court, here sat Matisse in the Women's Court, the curious, horrid eyes of the public sliding over her body which she was charged with having offered up for sale. Strange, that in all her misery, her loathing for Aristedes seemed uppermost. It was as if she had suddenly been jerked to her senses by a dash of cold water in her face.

Aristedes was no longer an Hellenic poet. He was a rather greasy Greek boy with heavy, moist lips and oily hands that were always hovering close to her body. She hated him as if he had been a foul sickness. She hated herself because of her exposure to his horridness.

To the rather starved heart of Matisse this young Greek, with his vigorous, youthful beauty, had brought much that she had missed in her husband. Something of the romance and age-old glory of love that she had longed for and hardly found in her fourteen-roomed house.

But now as Matisse thought of him, she thought of him with loathing. Loathing, as she would have thought of a plague, a sickness that had overtaken her, but from which, mercifully, she had escaped without harm except the memory of its horridness and unpleasantness.

And yet as John, her husband, took the witness-stand and his face became the color of lard, and the pallor of shame swept him like a tide, it seemed no relief to Matisse to turn to him. He was so cold and so righteous and so just.

She was like a petal on some current. Life was too swift for her. Sitting there, she prayed that it might envelop her, drown her, carry her away.

It was all a matter, said the Judge, for her husband to decide. Either he would take her back and forget and forgive and begin their lives over again, or Matisse must be committed for a long period to the paternal arms of the law.

The Judge spoke wisely and kindly and sympathetically to John; reprovingly and censoriously, but withal gently, to Matisse.

THERE was no mistaking the sympathy of the Court for this silent, humiliated figure of the husband of Matisse. If in the largesse of his heart, he could find it in him to take back this erring young girl, well and good in the eyes of the Court.

It was a matter that rested within the dispensation of John, and as he sat with his sick eyes fixed on his wife and the voice of the Judge intoning, there crept into his face decision.

He would take her back.

The sympathy of the Court for this forgiving husband was more than ever apparent after this magnanimous decision. A good husband, kind, generous, who would not only forgive, but forget, the erring of his frail wife.

The kind, wise Judge looked on Matisse with sympathetic eyes. She felt that the man before her had made the right choice. She had given him a way out of his difficulty—a way, to be sure, that meant the swallowing of pride, the burying of a troublesome bit of past, a past that only patience and generosity and understanding could make a dead past.

The Judge beamed on Matisse's husband, and looked expectantly on Matisse.

Her husband had said that he would take her back.

AND as she heard, with her heart feeling as if it had stopped its beat while she awaited the verdict, there crept over Matisse not the relief in the joy she had anticipated, only the coldness, the deadness. Memories of the joyless home assailed her. Memories of the dead, dry kisses of this man. Memories of his languid generosities. His innate frugalities. His unconscious selfishness. His coldness. It was as if, to go back, meant to return to the tomb of dead plush and silent rooms and embalmed hopes.

It was then that Matisse made her choice. Matisse willed not to go back. Matisse turned to the paternal arms of the law.

She is working out her term now. The world outside is beginning again to seem bright and fair and worthwhile. She yearns for the day of her return to it—and to her freedom.

SHIELD PUT UP FOR BOY SCOUTS

Dollar Returned at Convention Used For Good Turn Trophy.

EXECUTIVE MEETS.

The dollar found by Scoutmaster Wheeler of Galt at the Provincial Convention here in February and turned in to the local Boy Scout Association, has been used to pay for a shield on which is inscribed:

"Wheeler Scout Trophy
Annual Competition
For Most Meritorious Act Or Worthiest Good Turn

The shield bears crossed flags. It was made by A. Hope and painted at Turner's. This was displayed at a meeting of the Association yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber.

The application of the St. Luke's Troop for a charter was endorsed.

A representative will be sent to the Gilwell training camp at Ebor Park, near Brantford, July 3-13.

The Association will send letters of appeciation to the membes of the Kiwanis Club who addressed various troops on various phases of business.

J. E. Sullivan advanced the suggestion that a field day be held at Chemong and offered to look after the arrangments at Chemong, where he spends the evenings of summer. The matter will be discussed among the troops.

There were present: President J. John, Commissioner J. J. Turner, Vice-President W. Harry Dickin, the Rev. J. D. Paterson, J. E. Sullivan, Frank Taylor, A. Hope, D. McKinnon, Groombridge and H. Wilks.

ENTIRELY NEW ROAD TO HEALTH

John F. Class Health Fume System Being Established in the City.

A new system of healing and feeding the body through the pores of the skin, is being started in Peterborough. It differs entirely from the Turkish bath, although a closed cabinet is used to contain the vapor which envelopes the body. A sweat is induced by the action of the vapor on the pores, but not by heat, as the vapor is cold before entering the cabinet.

John F. Class, the discoverer of the system, has spent practically his entire life in research work, and the Class Health Fume System is the result. Health parlors have been established from coast to coast, border to border, and are now being opened up in Canada. Toronto, London and Hamilton now have parlors and Peterborough is the next to be served. The equipment which is quite elaborate, is now being set up at 220 Brock street, and the opening announcement will be given in a day or two. The Examiner was given quite an insight into the system, and the number of ailments that the fumes are claimed to relieve or safeguard against, is astonishing. The fumes are pleasant and mild to inhale by anyone—even children and people in very weak physical condition. The application being direct, results are immediate. Entering the blood stream by inhalation the fumes act as germe cides, and killing off the impurities of the system.

Weakness Continues On Mining Exchange

TORONTO, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Yesterdays weakness on the Toronto standard stock and mining exchange continued this morning. The market grew firmer as trading advanced. Noranda was up 1.10 at 33.60; Teck Hughes forged ahead, advancing 40 to 11.45; Sudbury Basin lost 35 at 9.75; Amulet also recorded a loss of 10 at 4.00. Hollinger dropped five points to 14.85, Newbec was easier at 46, taking a half point drop. Sherritt Gordon was off three at 5.97; Pend Oreille down 40 at 15.75, and Hudson Bay down 45 at 17.30. Central Manitoba, with a large turnover, was down four at 1.26. Coast Copper remained unchanged at 32.50.

Rain In Wheat Belt Result In Sharp Drop

CHICAGO, June 12 (Canadian Press).—Soaking rains in the domestic Spring crop territory, with Liverpool quotations lower than due, led to a sharp early setback to-day for wheat values here. Chicago July delivery of wheat dropped to below $1.40 a bushel, the first time since March. Opening ⅞ to 2¼ cents off, wheat prices here later showed some additional losses. Corn developed comparative firmness, starting ⅝ cent down to ¼ cent up and subsequently averaging higher. Oats were easy.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 140⅝, September 142. Corn, July 103⅜, September 102⅛. Oats, July 55, September 46.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

"SPRING FEVER"

Probably every golfer has a different way of playing golf.

Certainly every comedian has a different way of making laughs—but the finest example of "different" entertainment—and golf is concerned in it—is at the Regent Theatre now, in "Spring Fever." William Haines' new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle.

"Spring Fever" is one long, loud laugh. It starts when Haines, as the shipping clerk, is discovered by the boss to be a golf expert. It runs through his trials and tribulations when the boss takes him to the country club, introduces him as a young millionaire, and proceeds to boost him as a coming champion. Cupid takes a hand and so does a rival for the lady of his choice. Then things happen—and how!

Star's Best Film

The plot is startingly original, and time-honored methods of gaining laughs are conspicuous by their absence. They don't seem to be needed with Haines. The things he did in "Brown of Harvard" and "Slide, Kelly, Slide," indicate this—but in the new picture he goes them all one better.

There are a few thrills in the picture, too—and a great deal of clever golf stuff, all the way from exposition of trick shots to straight playing, and in between there are some hilarious parodies on the grand old Scotch game that would make even the austere inventor of golf roar with hilarity were he here to-day.

Joan Crawford makes a charming heroine in the new picture, and the cast is a remarkably chosen one. George Fawcett appears as the golfing boss, and Edward Earle as Haines' rival, the golf champion. George K. Arthur and Lee Moran contribute the character comedy roles and both give good account of themselves in hilarious bits. Eileen Percy, Bert Woodruff and others of note are seen in adequately enacted parts. Edward Sadgwick, who directed Haines in "Slide, Kelly, Slide," is responsible for the megaphone work.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE GARDEN OF EDEN"

"A comedy drama that's different," describes very accurately the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre, "The Garden of Eden." It is one of those refreshing pictures that have sudden, inexplicable, but always interesting, twists and turns and it has a very likeable cast. The beautiful Corinne Griffith poses every minute but does it so well that she is attractive every minute also. While Charles Ray, the rather flat-faced young man with the ingenuous, intriguing manner of action, doesn't pose at all, and makes another hit in a different way. Then there is Lowell Sherman, one of the real master showmen of the screen, who made such a wonderful impresario in "Camille." He is just as smooth and suave and interesting in "The Garden of Eden," while Louise Dresser, with her constantly uncombed coiffure and tragic face, is as real as ever in the role of Rosa, the cabaret seamstress, who is also Rose, the impoverished Baroness de Garcher.

It is the wish of Rosa to live for fifty weeks of the year, obscured and unknown, working as a seamstress in cheap cabarets. And then, for two weeks, to splurge at Monte Carlo, at the "Hotel Eden." She takes with her the impecunious Toni LeBrun, the little girl from Vienna who comes to Budapest with ambitions as a grand opera singer and ends up by pleasing the bald-headed row at the Palais de Paris." After Henry d'Avril, one of the patrons of the place, has had a bad half hour with Toni, she and Rosa are both fired by the infuriated proprietress, Madam Bauer, and proceed gaily to Mont Carlo, on Rosa's annual junket. There they have some vivacious adventures.

There is an atmosphere of opera bouffe to the picture, but it is cleverly and constantly sustained. Not in the least section of the farcical and entertaining atmosphere is provided by the diverting Charles Ray, as suitor to the supposed Baroness Antoinette de Garcher (Toni LeBrun). His courtship is unusual and humorous. Oddly enough, the music chosen by the orchestra for one of the loves scenes between these lively young things is the rather pathetic melody of "The Old Refrain."—Jeanette.

FRONTIER COLLEGE WORK DESCRIBED

Ian Munro Addresses Peter Robinson Chapter, Which Makes Donation.

A talk on the work of the Frontier College featured the regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday afternoon, the Regent, Miss Olga Johnston, in the chair. Ian Munro explained the workings of this educational campaign conducted every summer by University students among the miners and lumberjacks of the northern portion of the Province.

It was decided to contribute the sum of $50.00 towards the work, this to be used to equip an instructor and provide a phonograph with records.

A committee was also formed to collect magazines for the Northern Ontario camps, composed of Mrs. R. Cummings, the Misses Doris Burgess Ethel Richardson, and Evelyn Tudhope.

The June group of the Chapter have decided to hold a dance at Rye's Pavilion on June 20.

Mrs. R. C. Cummings reported on the recent convention of the National Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in Toronto.

The refreshment committee was asked to look after arrangements for the Chapter's annual picnic.

At the conclusion of the business session, tea was served.

Few Days' Use of Uratabs Stops Annoying Bladder Irritations Getting-Up Nights

Those who know the trials and discomforts of Bladder Weakness should be interested in this letter: "I have been bothered with Bladder Trouble for more than 3 years. A burning irritation was almost constant—and I was obliged to get out of bed perhaps five or six times during a night. Then I heard of Dr. Southworth's Uratabs and, without much hope of help, tried them. Wonderful relief came within a few days and I now feel my trouble is practically ended. Am very grateful for what this grand medicine has done for me, and will always use Uratabs whenever I feel it necessary."

No mater what you are may be, if you want to end days of troublesome annoyance and nights of restless misery due to Bladder Weakness and Irritations—you should try the amazing value of Dr. Southworth's "URATABS" at once.

Dr. Southworth is a well-known practicing physician of nearly 50 years' successful experience. URATABS are made from his own special private formula and Bond's and all druggists are authorized to supply them on guarantee of money back, if not satisfactory.

The management announces that to the first twenty people to enter H. Le Brun and Co. doors Wednesday morning, coupons good for 50c. each on anything in the store will be given.

The store will close as usual at 12.30 o'clock and the liquidator intends to bring a crowd that will mean a whole day's business before noon. Join the crowds. —Advt.

COMPLAINT PUZZLES COURTS

Connecticut authorities are poring over law books to see if they can find a solution for a problem which has arisen in Bridgeport where Edward Cromwell was taken into custody at the request of his wife, Edith During the course of her five marriages Mrs Cromwell has had sixteen children and fears that any further enlargement of her family would undermine her health .The husband, who is a teamster earning $26 a week, has decuined to give any assurance that he will respect her wishes in the matter .The district attorney has as yet been unable to find any statute which would empower him to take action against Cromwell .Discussing the case, Mrs. F. Robinson Jones of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the Birth Control League of America, announced that her organization would sponsor a remedial measure in the Connecticut legislature. "The bill," she said, "will remove all penalties for the distribution of birth control information. As the law stands now, this is rigidly forbidden. As a result, Connecticut, an industrial state with many foreign people, has been particularly burdened with tragic cases like this." It is pointed out that ten of Mrs. Cromwell's children died in infancy and that an eleventh is in a hospital for incurables. The illustration shows Mrs. Cromwell and three of her children, Harold, Eddie and Eleanor.

CIRCLE CLOSES UNTIL AUTUMN

George Street Girls Realized Fine Sum From Recent Play.

PLANNING FAIR.

The last supper meeting of the Twilight Mission Circle of George Street United Church until September was held on Thursday evening in the Sunday school hall.

At 6 o'clock about forty sat down to a very prettily decorated table with mauve and yellow fluted runners, yellow candles and vases of mauve lilacs. A delicious supper was served by Group D under the convenorship of Miss Vera Squire.

The meeting was in charge of Group B with Miss Evelyn Routley as leader, and opened with a hymn, followed by prayer led by Mrs. W. McMillan. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Grace Burns. The routine business was then conducted with the president, Miss Helen Burns in the chair. The returns from the play "Eyes of Love" were very satisfactory. It was decided to hold an executive meeting the first week in July to discuss the Produced in Canada Fair which the circle are planning for in the Autumn. Two new members were enrolled.

Miss Margaret Walker, herald for Canada, read an interesting letter from a missionary in Regina, which minutely described the new settlement house there.

A mandolin solo by Miss Aileen Clarke, accompanied by Miss Helen Burns was much appreciated.

Mrs. E. W. Coon gave a splendid address on missionaries of Canada and their work.

The meeting closed with prayer in unison.

APPEALS HEARD.

Judge Huycke Hears James Doran's Appeals From Ennismore Court of Revision.

His Honor Judge Huycke held an appeal from the Court of Revision of the Township of Ennismore, at the Court House Saturday.

W. F. Huycke appeared for the Township of Ennismore and resisted the appeals made from the decisions of the Court of Revision of the Township.

The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the appellant, James Doran, who had several appeals.

Judgment was reserved by His Honor Judge Huycke.

Daily Massaging with Forhan's

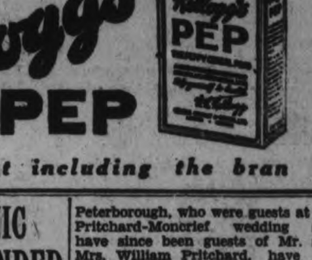
keeps gums healthy and teeth alive



NEGLECTED gums pull away from the teeth. They soften and soon become a favorite breeding ground for such insidious troubles as Pyorrhea, Gingivitis, and Trench Mouth—enemies of good health. As your dentist will tell you, to keep gums firm and free from infection, you must brush and massage them.

First thing in the morning and the last thing at night, massage your gums with Forhan's for the Gums. Just apply Forhan's to the index finger and thumb. Rub upper and lower gums both inside and out, rub the roof of the mouth until you feel the exhilarating glow that comes with increased circulation. Directions are in booklet that comes with each tube.

Don't Be Among The Unlucky 4 out of 5

Protect health against the grim foe that strikes 4 out of 5 after forty and thousands younger, dread Pyorrhea. Use Forhan's as a massage, as a dentifrice.

It cleans teeth and restores their natural whiteness. It protects them against acids which cause decay.

And in addition, it helps to firm gums and keep them youthful and sound. This dentifrice, the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., is compounded with Forhan's Astringent used by dentists in the treatment of Pyorrhea.

Don't wait for warning signs, for gums to bleed and recede from teeth, for teeth to loosen in their sockets. Begin using Forhan's for the Gums, today. At all druggists, 35c and 60c.

LAKEFIELD INN VERY HOMELIKE

Little Things Not Found in Average Hotel Enhance Its Charm.

RECENTLY RENOVATED.

LAKEFIELD, June 12.— "Lakefield Inn" is open for business and is the last word in comfort. It is a long step ahead of the average village hostelry, in fact, equipped with all city conveniences combined with the home-like touches of a refined home, it may be said to be the hotel de luxe. The door opens into the spacious rotunda where a trim maid is on duty and various individual touches are noticed which mark a distinction between the average hotel and this inn of a new era. At the end of the rotunda a cosy fire burns in the grate, for eve though the month is June, the air has suggested April, and the low table with a group of chairs which are arranged about the fir add to the homelike air of the place.

The room to the left of the rotunda and separated from it by a colonial arch is furnished as a sitting room, has blue covered furniture, soft rugs on the floor, a piano, and a cabinet radio of first class make. Writing tables are conveniently placed in rotunda and sitting room. Both rooms are papered in soft-toned taupe paper which blends well with the dark woodwork and the blue madras hangings. The room formerly used as a bar, has been converted into a tea room with all the equipment necessary to supply the wants of tired motorists, who welcome the swinging sign which hangs at the outside entrance as the indication of an oasis in a desert of dust. Miss Mary Mackenzie is in charge of this department, which has already justified its existence by its popularity.

The dining room, which accommodates twenty-four at one sitting is decorated n a deep cream shade with chintz curtains, six tables are set, each for four persons, the china is of English pattern and all the table appointments are dainty and designed for individual service. A competent chef reigns in the kitchen and the meals have been compared favorably with the highest class city hotels. Meal hours are as follows: breakfast, 7.30 to 9.30 a.m.; dinner, 12.30 to 2.00 p.m.; supper, 6 to 7.30. Excellent service is given by a good staff of waitresses. Miss Florence Hewitt, who received her diploma from MacDonald College, Guelph, is the dietician.

On the first floor up the bed rooms are equipped with running water, both hot and cold. A writing desk in each room is fully provided with the hotel stationery. The rooms are carpeted in dark grey as also are the corridors. The plumbing is the last word and absolutely sanitary. The walls of the corridors are papered in soft taupe, while the bedrooms are done in a variety of bright chintz designs, cheery but never monotonous. The floors of the rooms and corridors on the second floor are covered in a linoleum of brown and tan shades, the design being attractive. The curtains on all the bed rooms are of dotted Swiss muslin, snowy white and dainty to a degree.

Several of the rooms are arranged with twin beds and all the rooms have ample provision for hanging clothing away. All the bedrooms are outside rooms with large windows to admit plenty of fresh air.

Outside there are two excellent tennis courts, also a bowling green, while the river is within a hundred yards of the hotel and offers ample scope for boating, bathing or fishing. The view of the river and park with two small islands to enhance the beauty of the scene and the narrows which is the gateway to Lake Katchewanooka is unsurpassed and the artist would find ample material for his brush or pencil in the immediate neighborhood of the Inn.

There is plenty of garage accommodation for motor cars and special provision is made for this branch of the business. The plumbing was done by E. J. Millage and the decorating by Milford Dever, both of Lakefield. The carpets and furnishings were supplied by the T. Eaton Co. As far as was possible the work of renovating was done by Lakefield workmen and the vast amount accomplished during the two months set apart for the work is a tribute to their industry.

J. C. Strickland, who has leased the hotel from A. G. Lawless, is no stranger to Lakefield and vicinity. He was born at the "Homestead," the Strickland ancestral home, built by his grandfather, Colonel Strickland, the first settler of the village, and which was unfortunately totally destroyed by fire about fifteen years ago. Coming back to Lakefield to make his home after years of absence, Mr. Strickland took a keen interest in village affairs, and was for seven years the Reeve, well liked and always ready to seize any opportunity to further Lakefield's interests. During his regime as Reeve, the Memorial Hall was opened and the bronze tablet dedicated, the new bridge was built, streets were oiled for the first time and the new rink was built after a brisk campaign with "Jack" as chief booster. After sixteen months absence he is welcomed back with his wife and family as a citizen who loves his town and wishes to see it prosper, and also as proprietor of the Village Inn

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Death strikes GARRETT FOLSOM while swimming at Ocean Town, N.J. Investigation shows he has been stabbed to death under the water.

Folsom's companions were ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is also learned that one CROYDON SEARS, who was in Barron's party, is a faucier of curious knives. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room.

He believes his uncle had been blackmailing several people and he and Riggs discover suspicious documents in Folsom's effects, bearing the initials of Croydon Sears.

Carmelita Valdon admits that she is anxious to recover some letters that were in Folsom's possession. A remark from Riggs nettles her and she leaves.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI.

Carmelita evinced no anger, made no quick or peevish motion, but as she went off the Duchess observed:

"She's mad clear through. See it sticking out of her back!"

"She'll get over it," said Neville, carelessly. "Now, Riggs, cards on the table. Want the Duchess to stay?"

"As she wishes."

"I'll go then," and Mrs. Barnaby rose, with an air of relief. "Had you wanted me to go, I should have stayed, and I know I'd be bored to death."

With her wide, seemingly vapid, but really wise smile, she followed the direction Carmelita had taken.

"Great little old woman," and Neville looked at Riggs.

"Does she know anything?"

"Everything."

"I don't mean generally speaking. mean about the Folsom murder."

"Good Lord, no! How should she?"

"I don't know how she should, but that doesn't argue that she doesn't."

"She may for all I can say—I've really not talked to her about it."

Tite Riggs watched his man, for in a sense Neville was his man, for the moment. Riggs didn't actually suspect him, but a number of vague vapors had begun to crystallize suddenly and all at once, and Tite wanted to be sure.

"Have you talked much about it, Neville?" he said. "I mean, have you heard or gathered anything that would help me in my search? For you must be interested in getting at the truth—"

"I daresay I ought to be," the other cut in. "But I'm not. I don't look at these things as some people do. I'd rather let poor old Garry lie. To dig into that man's past would not only mean a lot of reproach to his memory but trouble and annoyance for other people who, whatever they may be, are innocent of any complicity in his death."

"Complicity? How can you think more than one person acted? Even the coroner's jury said 'at the hand of a person unknown,' omitting the alternative plural."

"I used the word carelessly, but even so there may have been complicity of intent with an individual action. I don't suggest this at all; I'm only defending my English."

He smiled. Neville was a man of charm, and the more Riggs looked at him the more he felt certain that the charm was of a sort that could expand into tact, even policy, even deception.

"Well," he said, after a moment's pause, "I believe 'cards on the table' was your phrase. Spread your hand."

"Why, my dear fellow, I meant your cards. I haven't any. I'm not in this, as I told you. What I meant was, spread your cards, so I may know what you're after from me."

"I've practically asked you all I am trying to learn from you; that's as to Garrett Folsom's sidelines. Straight goods, now, do you know of his being conversant with details of other people's lives, that said people would give almost anything not to have known?"

"Yes."

"And did give almost anything?"

"Yes."

"Yourself among them?"

"Yes."

"You know of others?"

"If I do, I don't propose to tell of it."

"Very well, and thank you for your frankness. This is not news to me, of course. But I will not ask you for any more than you want to tell."

"You've reached your limit, then."

Tite Riggs smiled. He began to like the man, though against his better judgment.

"What became of that valet of Folsom's, that Ross?" Neville asked.

Again Riggs smiled. He could so often read silent connective thought.

"You mean he knew about his master's business?"

"Gee, Riggs, you're uncanny! That's early Doyle work."

"Only to a mild degree. Why the nephew, Dan Pelton, one of your co-heirs, accumulated Ross as part of his inheritance. I suppose he had a right to."

"Oh, hardly a question of right. Yes, I do rather think that Ross knows a lot about Garry's doings under the rose, as well as out in the moonlight."

"But faithful and loyal, as I see it."

"All of that. Old Ross is salt of the earth, if you ask me. And I don't believe you could get him to squeal on Folsom to the extent of one single sentence."

"That's the conclusion I've come to, after several attempts. Now, for a parting shot. What do you know of Croydon R. Sears?"

"Nothing but good."

"I hate that expression, 'nothing but good.' There's no man of whom that can truthfully be said."

"No, I suppose not. But Sears is, then, the average—or above average, as you like—honorable, upright citizen. The square businessman, the courteous gentleman, and the man of intellect—with a hobby."

"The hobby is of no interest save as it impinges upon the case we have in hand. Could he have done in Garry Folsom?"

"Not for a minute! He didn't buy that wicked old knife."

"How do you know he didn't?"

"He said so."

"Wouldn't you have said so if you had been the murderer?"

"Like a shot! But Sears? Why, he had no motive."

"Look here, Neville, if these things we've just spoken of are true bills, about 'other people's secrets,' any man may have a motive."

"Y—yes, I suppose so."

"Or Carmelita Valdon."

"Oh, don't take that too seriously. Carmy's notes were—just what you called them."

"To come back to Sears, then. Doesn't the mere fact that the weapon used was an antique curio seem to have a bearing?"

"Not a definite one—at least, not to me. Besides, as I understand it, Sears was a hundred feet or more away from Folsom."

"We've only Sears' word for that."

"By the Lord Harry, Riggs, you make me darned uncomfortable! You may like this sort of probing, but I don't! If you suspect Croydon Sears go and tell him so, but let me alone!"

Neville was on the verge of being angry, so, being a diplomatic man, Tite Riggs made some laughing retort and sauntered away.

Seeing Sears and Ned Barron, who had returned together, he went to speak to them.

"Might as well put it through," he told himself.

"Been in?" he asked, noting the vigorous glow that seems to follow as an aftermath the salt-water dip.

"Rather!" answered Barron. "None of the timider sex along, and we swam—how far did we swim, Croy?"

"A million miles, at a rough guess. And uphill all the way."

"You look it! You two ought to pose for an advertisement picture of Somebody's—"

"Soap?" laughed Barron.

"No, salt, I guess."

"I suppose we look like a pair of Lot's wives. And there's my own wife," and Barron left them abruptly to go toward Madeline, who had just come in sight.

Riggs snatched his chance.

"Great old swimmers, you chaps," he said, heartily. "Can you give me a bit of help in my work, Mr. Sears? That young hopeful of yours has lain down on the job."

"Why—that is, I don't see how I can, Mr. Riggs. I know nothing about it, you see. I was 'way off; I didn't see the thing at all."

"Yes, I know, but—I'm only checking up facts—who was the man in the green bathing suit who stood near you?"

"I haven't an idea, and—excuse me, sir—I shouldn't tell you if I had." And Croydon Rochester Sears, with a slight, formal bow, turned and walked away to where the Barrons were standing.

Tite Riggs looked critically at Mr. Sears' back and said, "Whew!"

SALT RHEUM All Over Her Hands and Between Fingers

Mrs. Walter Misner, Midville Branch, N.S., writes:—"I had salt rheum all over my hands, and especially between my fingers. It was impossible for me to put them in water, or do my house work.

"After trying medicines and salves, which did me no good, I heard of being so wonderful, and after taking two bottles I am entirely relieved of my trouble."

GREAT DEAL DONE DURING CONVENTION

Local Delegates Return From Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

On his return from the third annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which was held in Quebec City June 7-9 and which was preceded by a three-day cruise in the St. Lawrence and Saguenay river districts, F. G. Stinson, secretary of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, expressed satisfaction at the progress made by the convention.

The cruise was in the nature of an educational tour and was attended by some three hundred Canadians from various parts of the Dominion. In addition to viewing, under most favorable conditions, the unusually beautiful scenery, the delegates were conducted through the enormous Duke-Price power plant in the Lake St. John area; also the pulp development at River Bend and the Canadian Aluminum plant at Arvida, Que. At the latter places, River Bend and Arvida, the companies operating have built and are enlarging complete modern towns on a modern basis, there being branches of various banks, post offices, recreational facilities and other features.

The sessions of the third annual conference were held in the Chateau Frontenac. Resolutions on economic and Dominion subjects were considered by the 198 registered delegates and a full report of the business transacted will be given members of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, as well as The Examiner by the secretary when he, with A. J. Reynolds, vice-president who was also in attendance, will have had opportunity to complete data required from the Canadian Chamber.

Entertainment provided for the delegates and their wives included a tour of Quebec Harbor as far as the famous Quebec bridge. This was arranged by and through the courtesy of the Quebec Harbor Commission which provided a boat and served tea on board during the afternoon.

W. M. Birks, of Montreal, chairman last year of the executive of the Canadian Chamber, was elected president for the coming year, succeeding A. M. Dollar of Vancouver, B.C., both of whom, with Dominion Secretary Clarke visited the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at the annual banquet held here in April last.

Resolutions presented by the Peterborough delegates received the consideration of the committee on resolutions though the brevity of the convention precluded the possibility of discussion on the resolution on Daylight saving in a Dominion way.

The Peterbroough men, together with delegates from other municipalities whose resolutions were not presented to the session, were assured that their resolutions would be accorded hearings at the next annual convention.

Catchacoma News

CATCHACOMA, June 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — Why aren't you out catching trout to-day?" asked one man of another at The Westlake Inn. "Because I'm waiting to catch some of Mrs. Lehner's home-made bread hot from the oven."

"The Mississauga Lodge," with its huge stone fire-place and big living room with hardwood floor is pretty nearly ready for the reception of guests. One cottage, 40 feet by 30 feet, is finished and four more are under way.

The yield of wild strawberries promises to be enormous. There are at least 75 acres of them here, and as it is a late Spring they are unusually large.

The Examiner is looked for in this whole north country as more sacred writings used to be. It is no uncommon thing for a man to come several miles out of the bush to know if the Inn will lend him a copy of it.

Cigarettes in the mouths of old men used to excite ridicule but they are quite common now.

The government is about to take up road improvement in these parts, as promised, and though the road is good enough to make it in less than two hours from Peterborough to Catchacoma, the rest of it north to the boundary needs attention. Mr. Hugh Cochrane is road-master.

Mr. Cole and family were up yesterday at his lodge.

Norham

NORHAM, June 11. — Mr. and Mrs. O. Newton of Trenton visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gummer on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Doige and daughter, and Miss Thompson, of Trenton, visited Mrs. E. Dove this week.

Mr. F. Brintnell of Colborne, called on friends in the village on Thursday.

CORPUS CHRISTI FEAST IS KEPT

Processions at Cathedral and at Sacred Heart Churches Mark Day.

BENEDICTION SOLEMNIZED.

A beautiful setting for the procession which commemorated the Feast of Corpus Christi at the Church of the Sacred Heart on Sunday afternoon was afforded by the smooth green lawn of the church grounds, dotted with evergreen trees and with a long line of Canadian flags spreading their folds to a mild breeze. Against the grey stone wall at the northern end of the grounds stoods an improvised altar of white with red carpet for the steps and a back formed of purple lilacs, with a green cross surmounting the whole. Attended by a procession of nearly three hundred men from the Roman Catholic parishes of the city and district, the Sacred Host was borne aloft from the church, under a canopy of white and gold, with vested priests in gold dalmatics, preceded by altar boys with censers, acolytes in black and purple cassocks and members of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, dressed in white with white veils and bearing aloft the standards of their heavenly patron. A group of twenty-five little girls carried baskets of flowers which were strewn before the Blessed Sacrament.

Benediction was pronounced from the outdoor altar by Rev. J. J. O'Brien, assisted by Rev. J. Finn and Rev. K. Corkery, the people, numbering between seven and eight hundred, kneeling on the greensward and repeating the responses to the devotions. Later, in the church, Benediction was once more solemnized. Before the procession, Rev. P. Costello preached in the church, outlining briefly the beginnings of the Feast of Corpus Christi, or Body of Christ, and speaking mainly of the Real Presence of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament.

Taking part in the procession were Rev. M. McGuire of Douro, Rev. C. Carroll, Rev. C. Moloney, Rev. J. McAuley, Rev. P. Costello and Rev. E. Welsh. Marshals were Messrs. J. McCarney, S. Shaughnessy, E. LaPlante and E. Desautel and gentlemen supporting the canopy were Messrs. L. D. Letellier, J. Grady, P. Milloy and L. Christopher.

At St. Peter's Cathedral in the morning, a procession in honor of the Feast of Corpus Christi was made around the interior of the church, following the High Mass. Under a white and gold canopy, the Host in the gold monstrance was carried by Rev. E. Welsh, accompanied by Rev. P. Costello and Rev. K. Corkery, in gold vestments. A choir of fifty small boys wearing black and purple cassocks sang the "Pange Lingua Gloriosi", the "O Salutaris Hostia", the "Tantum Ergo Sacamentum" and a hymn to the Sacred Heart, the fifty little girls accompanied the procession in white dresses and white veils. Six acolytes bearing the large crucifix, lighted candles and lighted globe lamps, preceded the Sacred Host and six little girls, with white dresses and wreaths of bleeding hearts, strewed bleeding heart petals in the path of the procession.

KNIGHTS SEE FILMS OF CELEBRATION

F. L. Roy's Pictures Show Principal Incidents of Anniversary Observance.

The Knights of Columbus concluded their season on Thursday night with a meeting, the entertainment feature of which was three reels of motion pictures shown by Fred L. Roy. Two of them were local subjects, one covering the main incidents of the Knights of Columbus' 25th anniversary celebration on May 24, and the other comprising a complete Canadian scene in the cutting down of the giant elms in Tully's woods, Smith Township, and their preparation for shipment to England as material for airplanes. These films were exceedingly interesting and effective. They are new exhibits of Mr. Roy's acute and highly developed artistic taste and judgment, and of his capability as a "camera man." His "stills" and studio work are well known and his reels are of the same high standard. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Roy by the Knights of Columbus on J. E. Sullivan's motion, seconded by W. S. Merrell.

slightly over eighty per cent. of the Sunday Schools, there was already a system established. It was proving very effective from an educational and financial point of view and was also bringing forth mission workers. This latter was the real objective. Just as a hunter of big game has that game as his objective, so the church had big game for its objective, he claimed.

In support of his claim that every organization should have its objective, he related how a Sunday School had, one year, donated eight dollars to missions. The next year, one organized class had set and reached an objective of thirty dollars for a hospital cot in China. This was in a country school. A Sunday School should have a missionary program and objective. The program should be informative and should show to what the uses the money was being put. Prayer was also a necessary item in the work. A missionary Sunday School to-day means a missionary church to-morrow, he concluded.

In his evening remarks, Mr. Merrill spoke on the relation of the home to the Sunday School and the Sunday School to the home. His remarks may be put in tabular form. The parents are under three obligations to the Sunday School. In the first place, every parent should be in the Sunday School for his own sake, for the children's sake and for the school's sake. It had become a difficult matter to retain the membership of the older people. Seventy-five per cent. of the members drop out before they are eighteen years of age. So far there had been no generally effective means devised for retaining their membership.

In the second place, the parents are under an obligation to co-operate with the Sunday School in getting the regular attendance of the children, in maintaining discipline in the Sunday Schools, in bringing about the home study of the lesson, in the spirit of giving and in the securing of the conversion and church membership of the children. He did not think that the parents should just give money to their children to be given as collection, but that the children should be shown some means of earning the money themselves.

The third obligation of the parents is to express appreciation of the work of the Sunday Schools. This might be done by being present on special occasions when it was impossible for them to be in regular attendance. It would also be of some assistance if the parents would speak a word of appreciation to the teachers for the work they are doing. Although parents consider their children to be angels at home, they are not always so at Sunday School, and the work of the teacher is not always easy. Finally, it would be a good idea, he said, if more of the parents took up the work of teachers and officers of the Sunday School. The Sunday School is also under an obligation to the parents. It is obliged to bring about the conversion of children in the home. There are three kinds of evangelism: mass, church and educational. The latter was the kind carried on in the Sunday Schools, and was the most satisfactory kind. One great preacher had said that the Sunday School was the most flexible, adaptable and far-reaching institution devised for the conversion of souls to the Christian faith. There is also a personal evangelism, he said.

Secondly, the Sunday School is obliged to build up a child in the belief and knowledge of the Christian faith. Canada needs Christian citizens, said Mr. Murrell, regardless of their nationality. In the third place, the school is obliged to assist in strengthening home ties and to teach children to honor their parents and appreciate their homes. Finally, the Sunday School helps the home by helping the parents train their children from the beginning. It is not simply a place for teaching lessons, said Mr. Murrell in conclusion, but an institution where character is moulded.

The remainder of the program consisted of music by the Sunday School choir and orchestra, announcements, and the closing devotions.

Advertisements bring you useful news

Only yesterday, it seems, we read of balloon tires, radio, electric ranges. To-day they count as necessities and magic newcomers are knocking at our doorways... electric refrigeration...the oil-burning furnace...a phonograph that changes its own records.

Even as you read these lines, men in London and Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal, are patiently putting together strange devices that, to-morrow, will save labor, cut costs, or give pleasure.

When these inventions become practical, advertisements will be the first to tell you about them: What they will do; how much they cost; where you can get them.

Advertisements bring you personal news, information about the material things that increase your health, comfort and happiness. They tell you the latest practical news phrased in words that are brief, understandable and honest. They help you save money and enjoy the best things in life.

Spend a few minutes each day reading the advertisements—they'll bring you much valuable news

Norham

NORHAM, June 12. — Miss Mildred Curtis visited her aunt, Mrs. Van Blaricombe, of Picton, over the week end.

Among those from Norham who attended the wedding of Miss Hazel Everson of Dunsford were Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Evans, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mitchell, Miss Lulu Mitchell, Mr. Gordon Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell went on to visit friends of Woodville, before returning home.

There is a fresh outbreak of mumps in the vicinity. This is very unfortunate for those expecting to try final exams in the near future.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Macdonald and three children, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Macdonald, all of Dundonald, visited at the home of Mrs. M. J. MacLelland.

HERDITY

"So Mildred's father is a bookkeeper, is he?"

"Yes, haven't you noticed the way she carries her lipstick behind her ear?"—Answers.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1928

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology which finds the planetary government most auspicious for many human ambitions.

Women are subject to the best possible direction of the stars, which encourages their public work.

Success for a woman who enters the political arena again is forecast, but she will be one of the few who attain election.

In the coming national campaign women are to exercise a tremendous mass influence, it is prognosticated, but they will meet with much bitter opposition.

This is read as a happy wedding day in which women will attain to the right domestic partnership.

Lovers may take heart today which seems to presage for them joy and prosperity. Quarrels are vaguely discernible, but they will not be serious.

Theatres should benefit from this rule of the stars which promises the presentation of better dramas than have been produced recently.

Once more the seers predict success from community efforts of all sorts toward public entertainment.

The best conditions for musicians will prevail in the coming summer, when many outdoor concerts will educate the people.

The afternoon of this day should be an auspicious time to seek employment of counsel.

This day is most favorable to the ambitions of men who have occupied positions in the government.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of prosperity to which elderly relatives may contribute.

Children born on this day probably will reach unusual success in their lives. The subjects of this sign often attain supreme heights.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE LIKE ROMANCE

By Mehran K. Thomson, Ph.D.

(Author, The Springs of Human Action)

We like romance because it feeds a fundamental human appetite for the impossible. Romance is the magic carpet which lifts us up from the rough, damp ground of actuality into the blue, velvety sky of make-believe where we ride through billowy clouds and breathe the air of enchantment.

The everyday would is too practical. It is like the ungracious photographer who pictures us as we are. Romance is like an oil painting by an artist who has great imagination and greater generosity.

The flight from reality is one of the most fundamental drives in human life. It operates more strongly in those who are temperamental or who have missed their goal in life. There are several expressions of this urge that are prominent in the psychology of the Freudians. The emigrants from the land of reality use various conveyances for their exit into the promised land of fancy. They ride on mental complexes, neuroses and psychoses, reveries, dreams and daydreams.

A distinction should be made among these pilgrims. There are those who leave the land of reality never to return while others merely go on occasional excursions and week-end trips. The former are classed as pathological, abnormal, sick. The latter includes all normal people who have had some disappointment or have fallen short of a cherished ambition or idea. And this includes just about all of us. Hence we all travel the road to romance. We week romance in novels, plays, moving pictures and all forms of diversion. We like romance because it is highly imaginative, exciting, idealistic, impossible. It is pleasant because it ignores the cold ugly facts of life. Romance exercises those portions of our being which are half starved. We like romance because it is wish-fulfilling.

LYRICS OF LIFE

SOMETHING MORE?

There may be something more than this,
I haven't found it yet:
A happy wife, a waiting kiss,
A little table set,
Around the board a babe or two,
A son like her, a girl like you—
It has a rather humble sound,
And yet no greater thing I've found.

There may be something more to life,
So some will even say,
Than waiting kiss, and happy wife,
And silver in array,
Around the table two or three,
A boy like her, a girl like me—
It sounds old fashion, and it is,
For so man finds most joys of his.

There may be something more than that
In life, a whole lot more
Than wife and kids, and house or flat,
For men to struggle for.
There may be fortunes to be won,
More splendid labors to be done,
And richer fellows to be met—
But I have never found them yet.

(Copyright, 1928, Douglas Malloch.)

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

This is the pattern diagram that comes each week with the Mary Marshall fashion service.

Wool Scarfs for Cool Days

TO make a scarf like the one illustrated you will need a strip about a yard and a half long and five-eighths of a yard wide of wool jersey. That means that from a yard and a half of jersey tubing you can make two by cutting it in half lengthwise.

Turn under the long side edges in a hem half an inch wide. Baste the hem, and then buttonhole it with worsted — shetland floss, in a shade a little darker than the wool jersey, or a contrasting color. You can do this buttonholing with a sharp-pointed worsted needle or with a steel crochet needle. Take the stitches about a quarter of an inch apart.

Now gather the two ends into about six inches, with two or three threads. Then crochet with double crochet stitches, one close against the last one, over this edge, taking the stitches about a half inch deep, and using a fairly sharp-pointed steel crochet needle.

This gives you a base. On this base work the end. Make one double crochet stitch, chain two, then another double crochet, chain two, and so on, until you have thirteen double crochets, with one at each end. To space them, put a pin every inch. Make one double crochet at each pin, and one in between. When you have made the thirteenth double crochet turn, chain two, make a double crochet, between the second and third of the first row, chain two and double crochet until you have twelve double crochets, the next to last one between the eleventh and twelfth of the first row. Repeat, narrowing each row, until you have ten rows, the last with four double crochet stitches.

Make a fringe four inches long by cutting lengths of yarn eight inches long, looping two together, pulling the loop end through the last row of crochet with a crochet needle, drawing the four ends of the double loop through the loop, and pulling snug and smooth.

Now make the roses. To make each, chain four, and make a circle by fastening the last stitch to the first. In this circle make three scallops. Each scallop is made by crocheting one single, four double, and one single into one stitch of the circle. On the under side of the center of the rose thus formed make four chains, three stitches in each, one row in from the edge, fastening the end of each chain securely. In these chains repeat the scallops, thus making four scallops fastened on the under side of the three. On the under side of each of the four make five chains and in each of the five chains a scallop, thus making five scallops, which completes the rose. Fasten the roses on as indicated.

If you use beige jersey you can use light brown worsted for edging and ends with beige and orange flowers. On gray jersey you can use black for the edge and ends with green and gray flowers.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The slits on the vamps and over the heels of the strap pump shown above combine the pleasure of producing attractive decoration with the business of providing adequate ventilation for warm weather. Navy-blue kid and light blue lizard are used. The slipper below is of printed foulard with white kid—with an ample open space between the foulard and kid.

One thing apparently the fashionable woman of today won't give up—that is the high heel. And unless you are rather unusual you don't blame her. You probably wear high heels yourself on some occasions and wish that you might find it comfortable and convenient to wear them more frequently.

High heels, especially narrow high heels, have a way of wearing down very quickly, and worn down high heels of all bedraggled things are the most bedraggled. That is why some women very wisely wear high heels only for occasions of leisure. For street wear, hours at home, and business—lower heels are often to be preferred.

Really low heels one seldom sees now save for sports wear. It is hard to wear a very low-heeled shoe with a garden party afternoon frock or an evening gown and get away with it. Something about the present silhouette demands a fairly high heel and something about the tempo of the present mode seems to demand the gait of women tripping by with heels on stilts.

No one can truthfully say that high heels are extremely comfortable in warm weather. But the discomfort may at least be offset by the scantness of the shoe. And there are shoes now that are scarcely more extensive above the sole than the sandals of ancient Greece. Vamps have been cut off until they are a mere pocket in which to slip the toes. The sides have been cut down so that there is nothing there at all. And the back of some of the new shoes shows slits and other openings through which air can freely circulate.

These new, lightweight airy shoes don't really look sensible at all—but of course they are, because one of the most important things to do in providing comfort for the feet in warm weather is to give them plenty of air and to reduce the weight they have to carry to a minimum.

YOUR HEALTH

DECEPTIVE BLADDER PAINS

Many people, who think they are suffering from kidney disease, are really feeling the effects of a disorder of the bladder. The symptoms of this trouble are varied, but usually include pain in the back or groin, painful or frequent passing of urine, gravel-like sediment, blood, and sometimes pains that are mistaken for rheumatism. These disorders are found in both sexes, at any age, from the cradle to the wheel chair.

Some form of inflammation is practically always present in bladder trouble. This is usually slow in developing, but may form suddenly from an unusual irritant or infection.

The bladder walls are adapted to contain a slightly acid fluid. A permanent tendency toward either excessive alkalinity or acidity will produce enough irritation to inflame the delicate lining. Some foods and medicines are particularly irritating to the bladder and kidneys. This is true of onions, garlic, turpentine, wintergreen, and wrong combinations of food.

The pressure of abdominal organs upon the bladder itself is a cause of weakness that is not often recognized. The intestines, and sometimes actually the stomach itself may slip down out of their natural positions and weigh upon the bladder. Children often have mild cases of bladder inflammation that become acute at the age of puberty from the pressure of developing organs. In women, there is often a pressure from the womb during pregnancy, and sometimes forms an antroversion (falling forward). A shyness or carelessness, causing one not to obey the natural calls, will often be the beginning of a bladder irritation.

Stones in the bladder, or renal calculi, produce a tenderness in the bladder, and severe, sharp pains upon passing water. There is a tendency to frequent urination, and usually only a small amount can be passed at a time, which may be tinged with blood. The calculi or gravel may vary in size from a dusty sediment to that of a fair sized marble.

Oxalic acid, found in many common foods, is the basis of most calculi. This acid should be oxidized and rendered entirely harmless just as are the citric acids, but in a few individuals, suffering from acidosis, the oxalic acid is passed through without being consumed. As long as the individual has this tendency, he should avoid those foods containing oxalic acid. The commonly used foods that contain sufficient oxalic acid to be avoided are cocoa, tea, pepper, sorrell, spinach, and rhubarb. Contrary to the opinions of many, tomatoes do not contain enough of this acid to have any detrimental effect.

In some diseases there is an inability to retain fluid in the bladder. This is true in many diseases of the spinal cord and in some nervous disorders, or in affections of the circular muscle which acts as a closing valve to the bladder.

Growths inside the bladder usually do not produce any distress until they are well developed. Ulcers of the bladder sometimes form in cases of chronic inflammation or gonorrhea, the latter disease being not uncommon, even among those who are entirely ignorant of the fact that they have contracted it.

I advise a urinalysis as soon as one notices any discomfort in this region; in fact, it is a good policy for one to have this done at intervals simply as a means of being forwarned against the development of serious disease.

Questions and Answers.

Question: Mrs. H. V. writes: "I have had stomach trouble for nearly two years and very often I have distressing pains below the stomach. The doctor thinks I will have to have an operation and have the gall bladder taken out before I shall be better. Do you think I shall be obliged to have this operation?"

Answer: It is unwise for me to attempt to diagnose your case through this column or to estimate whether or not you should have the gall bladder operation. I find only a small percentage of gall bladder cases require operation, as a diet treatment will usually effect a complete cure. The diet should be tried first, and if this fails it is time enough to try surgery.

Question: J. G. R. writes: "I use two tablespoons of bran along with clabber every morning for my breakfast. This acts as a laxative. Is this combination all right?"

Answer: The combination of bran and clabbered milk is all right for you if you are getting results with it. I suggest that you use pulverized bran, and only the curd of the clabber, discarding the whey.

Question: Embarrassed writes: "I am a young girl and have a heavy growth of hair on limbs and arms. In fact, there is a visible hair in practically every pore on my entire body. Will you please tell me the cause and how to overcome this condition?"

Answer: It is perfectly natural for some persons more than others to have a growth of hair on their limbs. It is foolish to try to do anything to remove it as long as it covers such a large area, as in your particular case.

ROYALS GAIN EASY VICTORY FROM KIWANIS

CRARY GIVEN POOR SUPPORT BY TEAMMATES

Has Thirteen Strikeouts and Allows Five Well Scattered Hits.

ERRORS PLAY BIG PART

Losers Unable to Overcome Early Lead Obtained by Royals.

To have thirteen strike outs and then be beaten by eight runs to nothing was the fate that overtook Crary, the young pitcher of the Kiwanis City League Juniors, last night. The Kiwanis infield was terrible, making eight errors in a seven-inning game, and if ever a team were presented with eight easy runs the Royals were at the Exhibition Park.

Crary pitched a wonderful game. He had a very fast ball that had the Royals reaching and was only touched for five well scattered hits. Kitchen had a little more control and although he failed to have the speed of Crary he struck out eleven Kiwanis batters and allowed five hits. The Royals backed him to a man and it was no fault of their playing in the field that the score was not much larger.

Take Early Lead.

Crary was wild in the first frame and although he retired the side by the strike out route he walked two men, hit a third, the Royals crossing the plate three times. Each pitcher walked three men during the game. The winners last night showed the result of practice only making two errors while the losers' play was open, appearing as if they had had no practice and they made ten errors in the evening's play.

The Kiwanis got off to a poor start when the Royals scored three times in the first and came back with three more in the second getting the six runs on two hits. In the third they scored again when Jones and Kitchen singled and in the fifth they scored their last run.

Make Double Play.

The finest two base play of the season was pulled off by the winners in the fourth inning when Kitchen took Deannard's drive to catch Starr on third base and Deannard on first. Jones was the hitting star of the game receiving two singles and a walk and making first a fourth time when Walton muffed the ball. Cotton got the only two base hit of the game.

HASTINGS WINS GAME IN KEENE

Errors On Part of Home Team Play Large Part in Scoring.

PROTEST ENTERED.

KEENE, June 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—In a game replete with arguments, good and bad baseball, Hastings defeated Keene here last night 12 to 10. The Keene deefnsive play at times was very bad and they literally presented the game to Hastings by errors and bad baseball. After the fourth inning, the game was finished under protest, as the Hastings catcher returned to the game after being spiked in the hand by J. Fletcher on a close play at the plate. Ibey took his place behind the bat for more than an inning, when Cowell returned and took his place again.

Apart from this, Keene should have won handily as Ibey had difficulty in finding the plate, and the Keene team hit when hits meant runs

On the other hand, Robertson, pitching for Keene, was also hit hard but most of the hits came when the side should have been retired. The game was finished in semi-darkness.

Hastings, with the pick of the players from Warkworth, Campbellford and Hastings, has a good team and plenty of substitutes, while Keene has to depend on ten men, there being no others available, but they will make it interesting yet for the other teams. The score:

Hastings .. ..030432—12 10 4
Keene .. ..405100—10 5 4

Ibey, Zufelt and Cowell.

Robertson and McCarthy.

Keene Wins Opener

Keene opened the local baseball season here in the E.P.B.L. on Friday evening, with a win over Lock Works of Peterborough, 4 to 1.

It was a good ball game all the way through, with the Keene infield playing steadier ball than their opponents who, although they made seven errors, these did not figure much in the scoring.

McCarthy, pitching for Keene, was inclined to be wild, but steadied down with men on bases.

Green, playing centrefield for Lock Works, made a nice running catch in the sixth inning.

Kiwanis Juveniles will meet the Moose on Thursday night in a league fixture at Riverside Park. Game will be called at 6 p.m.

Last night's junior city league tilt at the Exhibition grounds was a crime pure and simple. The Kiwanis through lack of fielding practice (both infield and outfield) practically giving the game away to the Royals.

* * * * * * *

Crary and Keannelly were the mainstay of Deannard's crew, Crary on the mound for the Juniors, pitching a wonderful game. He registered 13 strikeouts, and allowed five well-scattered hits.

* * * * * * *

Errors on the part of the Kiwanis' infield were by far too numerous to mention, and if the Juniors ever intend to keep up the form they have shown in former years, they had better get around to attending the practice matches called by the manager between the schedule games.

* * * * * * *

Leading the group by one game the Kiwanis will meet the Lockworks Juniors to-morrow night in a league fixture, and unless they show better form than they displayed last night they are doomed for another defeat.

* * * * * * *

Kitchen did good work on the mound for the Royals, his teammates backing their pitcher to a man, and it was through no fault of theirs that the score was not much larger.

* * * * * * *

The winners made the finest double play seen here this season in the fourth inning when Kitchen took Deannard's drive to catch Starr on third base and Deannard on first.

* * * * * * *

A keen race for league honors is seen in the bantam group. The Canucks tied Reilley and Hickey for first place last night by defeating them 6-5 in a fixture played at Sacred Heart grounds. If Grafton's defeat the East City Beavers on Friday night a three-cornered tie for the honors will be the feature of the bantam

The Clothiers staged a batting rally in the seventh but were held in check by Hynes, who had a record for 17 strikeouts for a seven-frame game.

* * * * * * *

Frost has stepped into the breach and saved two games for Crescents, both in the final frame. He did the necessary against the Cogs, and last night at Bethany had a much harder assignment with third and first occupied and none out. Half the battle was getting rid of Ryley the first man to face him, and he stopped the Bethany fence-buster, who swung hard.

* * * * * * *

The Bethany club have a fine playing field with good grandstand accommodation. A little more headwork in the pinches and Doc Hamilton's team will be the gang to beat for the championship.

* * * * * * *

Raybestos may spring the unexpected and send Maudsley back at the Cogs at Exhibition Park this evening. It will be a great game, and a big crowd is promised after Friday's well-played contest.

* * * * * * *

Baseball has come back into its own in Peterborough and district, and is providing keen entertainment for the fans. Games were played last night at the James Stevenson Park, Exhibition Park, Sacred Heart Grounds, the Crescents were at Bethany and Hastings at Keene, while the initial game of the City Softball League was the big attraction at Confederation Square. We often wonder if the people of Peterborough ever stop to think of the opportunities they have to witneess some fast games. Last night was a gala night as far as amateur baseball was concerned, but still only small crowds of fans were out to support the different teams.

OUTLAWS WIN SHORT HANDED Defeat Mill Team Though Playing Eight Men Against Nine.

REACH SECOND PLACE.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—With only eight men on their line-up last night, the Outlaws proved the better team when matched against the Mill in the Town League schedule, winning 11-6. The game was only seven innings and was the shortest so far played this season. The playing time was fifty-five minutes. In the second innings, Ingram knocked out a homer, and when he tried it again in the fourth, it looked as if his intentions were good but the bat was weak. It parted company with half of itself and Ingram barely managed to make first base. T. B. Horkins broke into the home-run circle in the fifth innings and his hit brought in two runs. Cochrane for the Mill walked three men, while Maybee, for the Outlaws, walked five. In the line of strike-outs, however, Maybee won the honors by striking out three men while Cochrane did not fan any.

At the outset, the game had every appearance of being a tight issue, but the Outlaws gradually forged into the lead. By their victory, they arrive at second place in the standing and are tied with St. Andrew's and the Electrics. The Legionaires are the ones who benefit by the ill wind which blew defeat to the Mill. The Mill is now at the bottom of the list and the Legionaires are in fifth place.

The line-up:

Mill—V. Cochrane, p; E. Wilkes, c; M. Booth, 1b; C. Montgomery, 2b; W. Reynolds, 3b; W. Blake, ss; F. Blake, cf; G. Anderson, rf; J. H. Bell, lf.

FROST RETIRES SIDE IN THE 7TH TO END RALLY

Replaces Mein on Mound for Crescents to Stop Batting Rally.

INTERESTING CONTEST

Homesters Fail to Take Advantage of Opportunities to Score.

Bethany failed to take advantage of opportunities to score in their home game last evening, and Crescents held them to a 3 to 3 count, in an interesting contest, featured by the seventh inning relief role played by "Bun" Frost, who, with runners on third and first, and none gone, retired the side to snatch victory from the Bethany camp.

Neither starting pitcher managed to weather the storm. Daw went along nicely for Bethany until the sixth, when, after a pass to F. Jones and a single by Ross, he gave way to Russell in an effort to hold a one-run lead. A long sacrifice fly by L. LeBarr, however, scored F. Jones with the tieing counter after which Crescents did no further damage.

Mein's wildness had him in trouble most of the time and with the score tied in the seventh and two runners on he was replaced by Frost, who stopped the rally.

Crescents started off well by getting a brace of runs in the first. J. Jones got a cheap double into short left and Jack LeBarr walked. F. Jones struck out and Jones who had made third on a passed ball, scored on an infield out on Ross. L. LeBarr singled to left to score his brother and Kane hit over second. With Cameron at bat, a throw to Ryley and over to Philp caught L. LeBarr at third.

Bethany got one back in the second which Ryley started with a single. McBride fanned and Lancashire walked. On Johnston's grounder which Mein fielded, the play failed to get Ryley going into third. Daw tapped to Mein who nailed Ryley at the plate. A bad peg by the catcher allowed Lancashire to score. McGill fanned.

Bethany sent two runners across in the fifth to take the lead from Crescents. McGill swung at a wild pitch for the third strike and made the bag. Reynolds walked. A wild throw by the pitcher and a single through second went for a pair of runs. Staples grounded to Kane who touched Philp and doubled Staples at first. Ryley singled to right and McBride to left only to be stranded when Lancashire was struck out.

In the sixth, Crescents put over another tally that brought them on equal terms with Bethany. A pass to F. Jones, a single into centre by Ross and L. LeBarr's sacrifice fly did the trick. Russell was pitching to LeBarr. He then fanned Kane and Cameron grounded out.

The game was warming up, and when Johnston tripled to left in Bethany's half, a rally was in prospect. But Russell's best was a tap to the pitcher. Johnston tried to score on a roller down first that Mein fielded, the runner being caught at the plate. Reynolds also tapped to Mein and was thrown out.

The seventh saw Russell get into trouble when with two gone, he and Staples allowed J. Jones' pop to fall to earth. Jones promptly stole second and J. LeBarr's hit sent him to third. F. Jones struck out swinging.

Bethany opened up again strong in their last frame, Philp getting the ball over F. Jones for two bases. Staples ripped one at Kane who was lucky to partially block the ball and hold the runner at third. Frost came in to pitch and he fanned Ryley. McBride's grounder was handled well by Williams who threw out Philp at the plate, and Lancashire fanned.

Talk Of Montreal As Likely Site For Third Dempsey-Tunney Heavyweight Bout

NEW YORK, June 12, Canadian Press. — The New York American said yesterday that "confidential resources" report the intention of Tex Rickard to stage a third Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight, and that the engagement is likely to take place in Montreal in September.

The story persists, the American says, that Rickard and Dempsey have been holding long distance conversations nightly relative to a come-back attempt on the part of the former champion, although Rickard continues to deny the allegation.

The promoter would escape a government tax of 25 per cent. on proceeds by holding the fight across the border.

LEAFS HAVE EVEN BREAK IN READING

Prudhomme Beats Keys in the First Game With Timely Hitting.

GETS A HOMER.

Leverenz and Doyle Fail in Second Game, Losing 9 to 4.

READING, Penn., June 12.— Toronto broke even with Reading in the bargain matinee here yesterday, the Leafs taking the first engagement, 3-1, while the Keystones hammered Leverenz and Doyle hard to win, 9-4, in the seven inning nightcap.

Bill O'Hara trotted out Johnny Prudhomme, always an enigma against Reading, to oppose "Slicker" Parks in the first game, and the "Knowing ones," all set for a real pitching duel, were not disappointed.

Hurling cleverly, Prudhomme held Harry Hinchman's Keys to five hits, while the league leaders tallied nine of which Cote clicked off three, including a slashing two bagger.

The elongated Toronto moundsman had two hits, a circuit drive over the left field wall, and a two-base crash in the seventh, when three successive doubles brought victory to the invaders' camp.

Leverenz No Puzzle.

Seeking revenge in the second game, the Hinchmanites took a liking to Walter Leverenz's offerings, and merged from their recent four-game losing slump by driving the southpaw to the showers in the fourth. Two home runs by George Quellich seemed to unnerve Leverenz, who gave way to Jess Doyle, but who, like his predecessor, was hit hard and far.

Although the Leafs made a strong rally in their half of the seventh, tallying three runs "Shocks" Seibold bearing down fanned Joe Rabbitt to end hostilities. Sensational catches were made by Rabbit Whitman who backed up against the concrete wall in right centre and leaping into the air, speared two drives off the bats of Dale Alexander and Lena Styles, robbing the Leafs of at least four runs in the second game. There were two men on bases on each occasion.

Joe Rabbitt also made a nifty circus catch when he plucked Chickey Hawk's drive out of the bleachers.

Prudy's Honor.

In the first game Prudhomme started the scoring in the fifth inning when he poled the first ball pitched to him over the left field wall for a home run.

MONTREAL BEAT.

Jersey City, June 12.—"Borneo" Beall's wild hurling cost Montreal a game here yesterday, the Jersey City Cats romping off with a close 3 to 2 victory.

Montreal accounted for a run in the first and another in the fifth, but Beall became very liberal in the last half of the sixth inning and issued four bases on balls that enabled the Jerseys to tie the score.

"Chick" Fewster and Joe Fowler were both banished from the game in the seventh when they protested a decision on the part of Umpire Fyfe.

NEWARK LOSES.

NEWARK, June 12. — Rochester Red Wings, although outhit 14 to 8, won yesterday's contest from the Bears by a score of 8 to 5.

The Red Wings hit Jack Bentley hard in the first three innings for most of their runs. An error by Kingdon also helped to bring the downfall.

In the last six rounds Bentley allowed but one hit. The Bruins made fourteen singles.

Vic Keen started for Rochester, but when he showed no signs of weakening he was yanked out in favor of Berley, who kept the Bruins in check. Southworth and Monahan both hit home runs.

RALLY IN NINTH WINS FOR REDS

Score Five Runs To Defeat New York 7-5—Phillies Win at Home.

BOSTON BADLY BEATEN.

NEW YORK, June 12.—After the Giants broke a 2—2 tie with a three-run drive in the eighth yesterday, the onrushing Cincinnati Reds refused to be denied, and put on a five-run rally in the ninth to defeat the New Yorkers by 7 to 5. The hitting of Picinich featured the game. He drove out two home runs, one of which brought in the two winning runs, a double and a sacrifice fly, and walked once in five times up. Picinich also drove in four runs.

Kolp started off in a sensational fashion in the box for the Reds, allowing only one Giant to reach first in five innings. However, he weakened, and was replaced by Rixey in the eighth.

The Phillies scored their first victory since they returned home by winning the opening game of the series from Pittsburg, 6 to 4. The tail-enders bunched their hits in three innings for their runs. The seventh, in which four runs were scored, featured. Don Hurst got a homer over the right-field fence with one man on base in the seventh. The Pirates had a bad fielding day, making five errors.

Alexander pitched tight ball for St. Louis, and the Cards took the first game of the Boston series, 8 to 1. Three home runs figured in the game. Holm drove out one in the fifth with one on, and Alexander in the ninth directed the ball into the new left-field bleachers. Boston's only run came in the second inning, when Bell lofted one into the same bleachers for the circuit. The veteran Alexander was never in trouble.

Guy Bush allowed the Robins six hits and the Cubs handily won the first game of the Brooklyn series, 3 to 1. Stevenson's timely hitting was the leading feature of the Chicago attack. He drove in two runs with a single in the third, and scored the other run on McMillan's grounder in the sixth. McWeeny and Erhardt pitched effectively for Brooklyn, but Bush kept the attack of the Robins well under control.

LOCKWORKS WIN 8-1 DECISION

Defeat Curve Lake in Opening Game of E. P. L. Here.

COUNTY SECTION

A hard-hit ball that landed Johnson on third, and a wild pitch over first after the following batter had struck out banished Lefty Conners' chances for a shut-out and proved the only marker against Lockworks when they took on the Curve Lake entry in an East Peterborough County section League game at James Stevenson Park last night and dragged home the weighty end of an 8-1 count in this, their first start of the season. The Curve Lake team, enjoying a fair amount of the verbal support from a non-too-well-filled gallery, turned in a creditable fielding performance and save for the first and third innings when factory hitters were making their total two and then four, had plenty of chances. M. Taylor, who replaced Beaver on the mound in the fourth showed plenty but got into difficulties in the sixth and the ultimate winners tallied four more.

Weak Fielding.

Last night's game, for the first of the season was interesting and, if taken as an indication of what may be expected as the summer goes on with resultant improvement, it's a safe bet supporters of this section of the league will enjoy smart entertainment. There was plenty of punctuation in the form of weak fielding by both outfits but the visitors provided that factor which kept up the interest—they tried hard from start to finish. Lockworks deserved their win but the losers will bear watching. "Scotty" Maudsley of Peterborough called the balls and strikes while Jacobs of Curve Lake watched the paths.

The invaders took to the war path first but struck a snag in Connors who faced but four batters, the first two taking the count, and the third being left lonely at first when the following batter failed to register. Griffin and Westbrook, second and third respectively on the opposing line-up scored in their half because, after striking out Greene, Beaver issued a free ticket to the one and allowed a hit to Westbrook and Black. Hunt also got on but he was forced at third when Baird's hit was collected and sent to the red light corner.

The second inning was brief, Connors striking out C. McCue and Knotte after H. Taylor had been thrown out by Miller to Black, while only three of the Locksmiths faced Beaver. Miller was thrown out at first while Connors and Greene flied out. Thus the game went on particularly after M. Taylor took the hill-top in place of Beaver. Ash replaced Griffin and Swanger took up Jobbitt's burden in the sixth. For the local team Black provided a big-time catch of Beaver's foul fly in the sixth and Jobbitt poled out a two sacker to centre field in the third. A. Johnson's triple was the tid-bit of the visitors' hitting.

The same teams will meet again in Curve Lake next Saturday and should provide a real argument. They lined up last night as follows:

Curve Lake—Beaver, p; L. McCue, cf; A. Johnson, c; G. McCue, 1b; H. Taylor, 2b; C. McCue, rf; M. Taylor, p; P. Knotte, lf; R. Muskrat, ss; J. Taylor, 3b.

Lockworks—Greene, cf; Ash, lf; Griffin, lf; Westbrook, 3b; Jobbitt, rf; Swanger, rf; Black, 1b; Hunt, ss; Baird, 2b; Miller, c; Connors, p.

Score by innings:

Curve Lake .... 00000100—1
Lockworks .... 20200ox—5

Umpires—Maudsley and Jacobs.

OUTSTANDING SLUGGERS

Babe Ruth and Dale "Big Boy" Alexander, the outstanding sluggers of the majors and minors. Ruth is piling up an impressive home-run record for the New York Yankees this year. Alexander, first baseman of the Toronto International League Club, on his record, cannot be kept out of the majors much longer. He leads the league in practically everything. The Maple Leaf's slugger, as will be noticed, towers over Ruth by inches. In a recent exhibition game Alexander made a slashing two bagger, but Ruth wenth itless.

ORGANIZED SPORT IN C.G.E. HAS MADE GREAT HEADWAY

Formed With Object of Providing Sport For Employees of Company.

MANY LEAGUES.

Will Hold Annual Picnic at Orillia on June 23.

OFFICERS.

President—E. G. Hardie.
Vice-President—H. A. Cranfield.
General Secretary—H. Foster.
Treasurer—F. A. Shannon.

In a little over a year the Canadian General Electric Social and Athletic Association has steped into the ranks of the best industrial organizations of its kind in Ontario.

About a year ago the employees held organization meetings for the purpose of forming an Athletic Club. A committee in charge gathered information from several firms having such organizations which were making great headway with the result that the Social and Athletic Club was formed with the object of providing any sport at a nominal fee for the employees of the company.

The factory has been divided off into twenty zones, 16 for the men and 4 for the ladies. Each zone elected a representative and these representatives with the officers formed the executive of the organization. Each zone represents approximately one hundred people. The Executive committee meets twice a month to transact any business on hand.

If a number of persons are interested in a particular line of sport they send a petition to the executive who, if they find that there are enough interested will immediately form a little club to promote that particular line of sport as much as possible. During the year hockey, baseball and bowling leagues have been organized, as well as a track and field club, cricket club and football club.

Each separate club has its own executive and once elected carry on the work of promoting that particular sport. Books are kept and audited separately and a report filed with the main executive at the end of each season. In such sports, where equipment is needed, the different clubs sent a budget to the main executive. The clubs buy their own equipment when their budget is passed and their bills are paid by the main executive. In such sports as bowling, where no equipment is needed, prizes are provided by the main executive and if at the end of the first year the playing equipment of such sports as baseball, etc., is still in good condition, prizes will be given to that line of sport also.

Although a men's baseball league was in operation last summer the first big undertaking of the organization was the picnic held at Cobourg on June 21. About three thousand people attended which required two special trains and many private cars for the conveyances. The organizing of the affair was perfect, with everything being run smoothly and in perfect harmony, which helped to make it the great success that it was. Although the weather conditions were not ideal for the picnic the program was carried out.

In August the organization, fostered the community dance on the pavement at the intersection of Rubidge and Park streets. Hundreds of people attended and danced to the music provided by the Rangers Band. It turned out to be the best communtiy social event in town in recent years.

During the winter ladies' and men's bowling leagues were organized and approximately 600 people enjoyed the popular sport by bowling on the 70 teams which participated in the schedule.

Hold Card Parties.

Also card parties and dances were held in the Legion Hall, which were absolutely free to club members. These events were well patronized and do much to brighten the factory worker's life.

The hockey league comprised of twelve teams, provided plenty of excitement and amusement. The Industrial Control proved to be keen rivals of the Tool Room team and were only defeated in the finals after playing two tie games. The Tool Room also won the City League championship.

At the request of the organization the company have fixed up the grounds north of the factory. The grounds are now level and there are two baseball diamonds and a football pitch.

Softball League

This season sixteen men's softball teams are playing in the league and four ladies' teams are competing in the schedule. The games are played after five o'clock, with practices after six o'clock. The ladies of the C.G.E. have always been prominent in softball circles, and there is a possibility of seeing them in action against some out-of-town teams this season.

The cricket team, which is strongly backed by Old Country enthusiasts, has played only one game, in which they defeated the Peterborough C C They practise on Tuesdays and Thursday at the Oval.

The plant is also well represented by a first class football team in the City League and have yet to loose their first game.

The track and field club first represented the factory when some of the local boys competed in the five-mile handicap running race in Toronto last Fall. They also had two teams entered in the local 10-mile relay on Thanksgiving Day, and made a very creditable showing.

This club, with J. Pilling, A. Mitchell, J. O'Brien as officers, is giving track and field sports a boost by endeavoring to provide strong competition for those already into the sport. In Lindsay, on May 24, the runners were successful in bringing home three out of four prizes in one event.

Picnic at Orillia

The big picnic will be held in Orillia this year on June 23, when the plant will close from Friday night to Monday morning. The committee in charge have been to Orillia to look over the grounds and find that there is ample shelter in the form of a pavilion both on the grounds and over the water. The bathing facilities are excellent with dressing room accommodation for 100 men and 100 ladies. Football and softball can be played simultaneously and no motor cars will be allowed on the grounds, which will insure safety for the younger children. The children are provided with free ice cream on the trains, and will also be given novelties for souvenirs on the homeward journey.

The object of the picnic is giving a good time to the younger members of the employees' families, while at the same time the older ones can enjoy a good day's outing. In the races for smaller children every entrant will be given a prize.

Abundance of drinking water from sanitary fountains is available, while supplies of hot water will also be provided.

The trains will stop quite close to the grounds and the picnickers who want to go to the centre of the town have only a few block to walk.

The dancing pavilion will be open in the afternoon while there will also be a good program of other sports.

Other industrial concerns may follow the example set by this club in the near future, and all sports would be more keenly contested if an all-round industrial competition was started. After a year of smooth working and with no lack of help in its different undertakings the organization is in a good position and clearly able to pay its debts.

CANUCKS TIE WITH CLOTHIERS

Defeat Riley & Hickey to Even Lead in Bantam Group.

BY SCORE 6 TO 5

The Canucks tied Riley & Hickey's for first place in the first half of the Bantam League when they nosed out Ernie Wolfe's aggregation in a 6-5 tussel at Sacred Heart grounds last night. Riley & Hickey's staged a batting rally in the seventh frame, and with two singles and assisted by two free passes were able to score three runs. But two players were caught off third and Hynes retired the side with a strike-out, completely wrecking the rally.

Until the last innings Hynes, for the Canucks, had held the losers to only four hits, but was quite free with the walks, altogether issuing 7 free passes. Both teams had the bases loaded in the early stages of the game, but were unable to get the hits to score the runs.

Price Relieved.

Price was relieved by Gatfield half way through the fourth after three counters were registered, and the bases filled. Gatfield pulled out of the hole by striking out three of the next four batters. For three innings Hynes struck out the opposing team, but in the fourth he was credited with two walks and fanning two.

In the fifth Scollard was sent in as a pinch hitter for Kay, and singled to right. He was left at third when Hynes fanned three in a row. Another run was scored in the sixth by the Canucks, while three of the Riley & Hickey crew fanned.

The seventh was a real rally for the losers. Davern drew a walk, stole to third and scored on Reynolds' single. Reynolds caught off third. Levine walked and repeated the performance by scoring on Cadd's single. Cadd scored on Price's hit to left, but the latter was caught off third while Scollard was at bat. Lasure was the heavy hitter of the game, securing a single, two doubles, and a triple in five times at bat.

TRAINING FOR OLYMPICS

Don Carrick, Canadian intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion, is in training for the Canadian Olympic finals at Montreal, the end of this month, and seems to be a certainty for the team. Carrick, who was Canadian amateur golfing champion last year, abandoned golf this season in order to try for the Canadian Olympic boxing team. He has been winning boxing championships ever since he was a ten-year-old at St. Andrew's College. He has yet to be beaten in a light-heavyweight or heavyweight bout and he has met the champions of all eastern Canadian universities and the champions of West Point and Annapolis. He is shown boxing with Harry Hills, the Toronto Varsity light-heavyweight champion. In the rear is Frank Carroll, well-known ex-professional boxer, who has been bringing him along.

SPORT CHATTER

(By F. D. C.)

A number of Peterborough fans will take advantage of the opportunity offered by the half holiday tomorrow to journey down to Deloro for the double header. Deloro is just a nice run from Peterborough and in addition to the two ball games offers other features of interest for visitors. It will be unusual for the Petes to have much support on the road and the present of Peterborough fans at Deloro tomorrow will be appreciated.

Belleville and Kingston battle it out in the Limeston City tomorrow night and it will be a real fight. The Railroaders will likely send "Hoot" Gibson in against the Ponies and Joe Daley's crew will have to be at their best to grab the verdict. The Kingston gang have won two games in a row and are full of fight, however.

It should be remembered the Central Ontario League teams are playing twenty-four games this season and therefore every team in the League is still very much in the running. A couple of wins for the Petes would put them right up with the leaders and the gang can put over those wins if they go to work in real earnest to turn the trick.

• • •

The extension of the Central Ontario League season by two weeks practically means that the winner of this League will clash with the Toronto winners in the Senior O.B.A.A. semi-finals. The Petes last year knocked the Queen City champs out of the running and the team that comes out on top in the long Central Ontario race this season is likely to turn the trick again. They play as good ball in the Central as anywhere in the O.B.A.A. ranks.

Too Tricky For Mr. Morden.

H. M. Morden is a gentleman who writes most interestingly on many subjects for the Border Cities Star.

His articles are always brightly written and usually well informed but evidently Mr. Morden has his limitations.

When he attempts to discuss the intricacies of baseball as per the sample given below he is going off the deep end with ut a life belt in sight.

Says Mr. Morden:

Baseball is a tricky game. It is the tricks and the dodges of quick-thinking players that have made the game what it is. The plaint of many an ardent fan to-day is that the game has become too mechanical, that the tricksters of the old days, who played as hard with their heads as with their hands, have no rightful successors.

This is not entirely true. There are still the geniuses of rapid thought, as is being proven occasionally.

One proof came this season in Toronto. The Toronto team was playing Rochester. Burke, former Detroit second baseman, got a pass to first base. Warren Cote, the smart little French shortstop, followed him at bat.

Cote tried to bunt for a sacrifice, but the bunt was badly placed. It rolled down the first base line, just inside the chalk mark. Burke was forced to hold first, but as Kelley, the Rochester first-baseman ran up the line to field the bunt, Cote raced for first in an evident attempt to "beat it out." There was not a chance. Kelley had scooped up the ball, and stood directly in Cote's path about three feet from the base.

Cote almost reached him. Then he stopped suddenly, turned, and raced toward the plate. Kelley, taken off his guard, chased him up the line soon as the ball was bunted. Cote's out. Burke immediately raced to second.

Kelley had but to step backward about two paces to the base in order to put Cote out and hold Burke on first. Cote's quick thinking, however, turned a useless bunt into a sacrifice, and incidentally made Mr. Kelley look rather silly.

Now that's fine. The writer saw that particular play and it was about as Mr. Morden described it except for the trifling difference that Burke was not, as every ball fans knows, forced to hold first on the bunt—he was, of course, forced off first by the batter becoming a baserunner and and naturally dusted for second as soon as the ball was bunted. Cote's actions did nothing but give the crowd a laugh. His bunt was a perfect sacrifice and there wasn't a chance in the world to head Burke off at second. When the Border Cities Star writer says that Keller had nothing to do but step backward to the bag to retire Cote and hold Burke on first he tells all and sundry that he knows nothing about baseball. As a matter of fact any ball player who lingered on first base on such a play as that would be looking for a new berth immediately afterward.

DE LAVAL WIN INITIAL GAME

Defeat Teco Stores 15-10 in Opening Tilt of City Softball League.

FRICK GETS 2 HOMERS

Teco and De Laval opened the softball season for the summer in Central Park, De Laval winning by a 15-10 score. There were numerous errors on both sides in the opening fixture. There was only one strike-out and that was credited to Scates of Teco. The De Laval were a harder hitting team making four home runs and four two base hits and two triples. The weak fielding of the Teco stores was the chief factor in their defeat. De Laval started the fireworks in the first innings with six runs that put them in a lead that the Eaton boys failed to overcome.

Fielding features for the winners were supplied by Cooper in centre field and Killenbeck on third. Frick was the heavy hitter for the De Laval, getting two home runs and a double. For the losers Board at first and Saunders in left field were the fielding stars, the former turning in a sensational game at the initial sack. Williams did the heavy clouting for the Teco crew.

Score by innings:
Teco Stores ..... 10330003O—10
De Laval ..... 6O0414000—15

Strike outs—By Scates 1, by Dyer 0.

Line ups:
Teco—White, c; Williams, 3b; Sexsmith, 2b; Edgar, ss; Scates, p; Board, 1b; Reids, cf; Sanders, lf; Nesbitt, rf.

De Laval—R. Miller, c; Killenbeck, 3b; Jones, ss; Fowler, 2b; Frick, 1b; Cooper, cf; K. Miller, lf; Simmons, rf; Dyer, p.

Umpires—W. Ranger at the plate; R. Taylor on the bases.

Soccer Notes

The DeLaval team against the Thistle in a league fixture on Thursday evening will be as follows: Fowler, goal; Cross and Downer, fullbacks; Mitchell, Ward and Pulley, halves; Watkins, Dyer, Evans, N. Downer and Hanson, forwards. Reserves: Abraham and Gravelle.

The regular meeting of the local association will be held in Chamber of Commerce Rooms to-morrow night at 8 p.m.

Cricket

LONDON, June 12. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Somerset defeated Worcestershire in their county cricket match which started Saturday and finished yesterday by 9 wickets. The scores were: Worcestershire, 117 and 115; Somerset, 131 and 102 for one wicket. Root and Tarbox, for Worcester, and Hill for Somerset, bowled splendidly. Root took 4 wickets for 29 runs; Tarbox 6 wickets for 54 and Hill 5 for 36.

Yesterday's closing scores in other games were:

Middlesex versus West Indies at Lord's; Middlesex, 352 for 6 wickets, declared (Hendren, 100 not out); West Indies, 230, (Durston 4 wickets for 16 runs, Constantine, 86); Middlesex 40 for two wickets.

Warwickshire versus Surrey at the Oval; Warwick, 127, Surrey, 490 for 8, declared, (Ducat, 179, not out, Shepherd, 132. Mayer, 5 wickets for 137); Warwick, 54 for 1 wicket.

Derbyshire versus Essex at Southern; Derbyshire, 213; Essex, 188 for 4, (O'Connor, 91).

Hampshire versus Yorkshire at Bradford: Hampshire 204 (Brown 56, Rhodes, 4 wickets for 44 runs); Yorkshire 188 for 5, (Sutcliffe, 63).

Kent versus Sussey at Tonbridge; Kent, 237, (Wooley, 128); Sussex 143, (Marriott 7 wickets for 52 runs); Kent, 94 for 4 wickets.

Nottinghamshire versus Leicestershire at Leicester; Notts, 487 for 8 declared, (Payton, 100, not out); Leicester, 194, (Larwood 4 wickets for 43, Richmond, 4 wickets for 47). Leicester followed on and scored 41 runs for one wicket.

Gloucestershire versus Northampton at Peterborough; Gloster, 200, (Hammond, 131); Northants, 196, (Mathews, 35; Jupp, 74, Parker, 6 for 76; Gloster, 42 for no wickets.

Lancashire versus Glamorgan at Swansea; Lancs, 266; Glamorgan, 194; Lancs, 58 for 2 wickets.

Saratoga Maje Takes Third Straight Race

OTTAWA, Ont., June 12. — (Canadian Press.)— Hon. P. F. Joyce's Saratoga Maje, with Fishman riding, captured his third straight race of the present meeting at Connaught Park when he galloped home an easy winner in the fourth event yesterday. Mary McNeil finished a length behind. Saratoga Maje started favorite and paid only $4 on a two dollar ticket, while Mary McNeil paid $3.35 to place.

Generally favorites had a good day with wins in five of the seven races in the last two races. Both over the mile and a sixteenth distance. However, Jural Early paid $16 on a $2 ticket straight and in the seventh Battle Shot yielded a return of $10.75 for a two dollar investment.

Excellent weather and the prospect of close races drew a fairly good crowd for a Monday program.

PETES WILL HAVE NEW MANAGEMENT

Tommy Holyman Finds It Impossible to Give Time to the Position.

At a meeting of te officers and players of the Peterborough ball club held in the Belmont club rooms last night, Tommy Holyman asked to be relieved of the duties of manager of the Petes inasmuch as he was finding it impossible to give the position the time and attention he felt it deserved.

In view of this request it was decided that the club should be handled in future under the direction of Ray Rose, as captain, and F. D. Craig, as manager.

The players all agreed to get into real shape and go after the central league honors with determination. The feeling was unanimous that the Petes could turn the trick and members of the team will give their best to put the local colors in front.

Bowling

The bowling green last night saw some weird but wonderful bowling, when Martin won from Gimblett 25 to 9 and Coleman won from Cairns 28 to 7. The scores were as follows:

Donaldson 12, Bacon 10.
Martin 25, Gimblett 9.
Coleman 28, Cairns 7.
Sedgwick 16, Elliot 11.
Taylor 15, Freeman 12.

The game between Taylor and Freeman was a tie at the finish, but as Freeman was short a man and played another man below his rank he was penalized. There is a new ruling this year that when a man plays below his rank, as when a skip plays vice, or a second leads, etc., the team doing this is penalized three points. So Tayer won from Freeman.

A Mixed tournament is anticipated on the 20th of this month. This is a week from Wednesday and a half holiday, so there should be a very good turnout. The entries are to be purely local.

GLASS HOUSES BEING STUDIED

Scientists Comparing Different Locations and Sizes of Windows.

MEASURING LIGHT.

Shall we live, some day, in glass houses? Are present day dwellings with massive walls and gloomy interiors all wrong.

In order to find out, the U. S. Public Health Service has just erected on the outskirts of Washington a dwelling all glass, whose ceiling moves up and down in sections and whose windows appear and disappear as if by magic.

The purpose of this experminental cabinet, says the July Popular Science Monthly, is to help discover just how big, what shape, and where the windows in your home should be. It marks the most through scientific investigation of the cheapest illuminant in the world—daylight.

There is no guesswork about the U. S. Public Health Service's tests.

Within the glass house, a delicate electric recording device known as a Case photo-electric cell registers more accurately than can the human eye the amount of light in any room; while on the roof, another electric recorder ceaselessly indicates, for comparison, the brilliancy of the sunshine outside. As the experts, under the direction of Dr. L. R. Thompson of the division of Industrial Hygiene and Sanitation, make walls into windows and windows into walls, the machine jots down on a rolling sheet of paper the effects of the charges.

From its charts, the experts expect to learn how to build windows in houses, and whether dwellings need be only partly of glass, or should be transparent structures, all "show windows," held together by pillars and beams and beams. Tests are being made with ordinary panes; "health glass," which admits the sun's ultra-violet rays, is next to be tried. The correct ceiling height for best lighting, and what colors for walls and ceiling best relieve eyestrain, are two other problems being studied.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LAZY CAT

"And then," said Uncle Wiggily, telling an adventure story to his forty 'leven little bunnies, that night, "then the bad old Woozie Wolf ran away and I came home."

"I'm glad Daddicums came home," said Tingle, climbing up into her father's lap.

"But what made the bad, old Woozie Wolf run away?" asked Tangle climbing up into Uncle Wiggily's lap on the other side.

"Because the lively little lizard, who had pretended to be the lost baseball, made a cut up puzzle picture of the Police Dog," said Mr. Longears. "Even though the picture was cut up, it looked enough like a Police Dog to scare the Wolf, and away he ran."

"And Daddicums came home to us," finished Tingle in a sleepy voice. "Daddicums-he-he-came-ho-ho-ho---" But Tingle's eyes closed and she could say no more."

"I'll carry her up to bed," offered Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"And I must go to bed myself," spoke Uncle Wiggily in a low voice, for many others of the forty 'leven little bunnies were falling asleep, after listening to the story of the lively lizard.

It was early the next morning when Uncle Wiggily started out again, hopping over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure to make him hungry for lunch.

It was after 9 o'clock, as Uncle Wiggily knew, for he had heard the ringing of the bell on the Hollow Stump School. All of a sudden Mr. Longears saw a nice, fat, old cat lady walking slowly along the path.

"How do you do, Mrs. Fluff," said the rabbit gentleman to the cat lady with a low, polite bow of his tall, silk hat.

"I do very well, thank you," was the slow answer. "Is it much farther to the Hollow Stump School?"

"Oh, not very far," answered Uncle Wiggily. "But why do you want to go to school, Mrs. Fluff?"

"Oh, I have my reasons," answered the cat in a lazy sort of voice, for she was a sleek and lazy cat.

"Goodness me!" thought Uncle Wiggily, his heart beating fast. "Can it be that Mrs. Fluff wants to go to the Hollow Stump School to catch the Lady Mouse Teacher?" But he need not have been afraid for a moment later Mrs. Fluff purred and said:

"The Lady Mouse Teacher is ill and she asked me to go to school today and take charge of the classes. I'm on my way there now, but I fear I am late. I never can seem to hurry—somehow."

"Yes, you are late," answered the rabbit gentleman, looking at his watch. "But I think the children will not mind that. They would not care if no lessons were ever given them."

"Oh, I shall give them some lessons—but not hard ones—not at all hard," said the lazy cat. "Don't you want to hop along to school with me, Mr. Longears, and perhaps teach a class while I take a nap?"

"Yes, I'll go with you," offered Uncle Wiggily and so he started to hop toward the Hollow Stump School. But Mrs. Fluff mewed, saying:

"Oh, don't go so fast. There is no hurry. I think that is what made Miss Mouse ill—hurrying so. We'll get there in time."

Well, after a while Uncle Wiggily and the nice, but lazy, cat lady reached the Hollow Stump School. The children were wondering why Miss Mouse had not come, but they were glad to see Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Fluff.

"Our first lesson this morning, children," slowly mewed the cat lady; "will be one in puzzles. I will make two sentences on the board in pictures and whoever is the first to guess them will kindly wake me up." With that, after putting two puzzles on the board; the lazy cat lady curled up in the teacher's chair and went to sleep.

Now it will be easy to make sentences of the puzzle pitchers, I'm sure noble one and its history goes far back even to the fifth century of the Christian Era.

ELEVEN NURSES GIVEN DIPLOMAS

"The programme before us is of much more interest than any story that we could picture, moreover a special number on this programme provides for a complete and interesting report on the Hospital, its history, development, present needs and further requirements. This particular number will call for most careful consideration by all citizens and we trust will find strong recommendation."

Address by Dr. G. M. Fraser.

Offering the congratulations of the medical staff of the hospital, Dr. Fraser spoke of the nobility of the nursing profession and of the manner in which it had been raised to its present high status by the efforts of Florence Nightingale, who taught the British Government and, incidentally, the world, the lesson that it must be taken out of the hands of the ignorant and uneducated and placed in the hands of the educated.

The speaker impressed strongly upon the graduates the necessity of continuing in the habits of study which had been inculcated in them during their course of training and of taking up some type of post-graduate work. He mentioned the three duties of the nurse—to herself, to the physician, and to the patient. The nurse's duty to herself included care of her health, which of necessity must be good, attenion to recreation, exercise and regular habits of life.

Her duty to the physician called for loyalty to his instructions and a checking of undue criticism of his methods and her duty to the patient would make her kind, but firm enough to withstand the temptation to give in to whims and fancies. Discretion and a resistance of the temptation to repeat gossip of the patient and family was also recommended as a highly desirable quality in a nurse.

The Solemn Affirmation to duty was read by Mr. Eastwood and repeated by the graduates, to whom their diplomas were then presented The medals were pinned on by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent of the hospital. Miss Elida Walsh is assistant superintendent.

The musical entertainment was very attractive, and was under the direction of Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., who also acted as accompanist and played two lovely opening selections on the organ. Its numbers included the old English hunting song, "John Peel" and "Les Cloches de Cornville" (Legend of the Bells), sung by a tuneful voiced quartette, composed of Mrs. W. Byers, Miss J. Pattison, John Anderson, and George East; also two finely-rendered vocal solos, "Resignation" by Miss Bertha Hill, and "The Lute Player" by Ronald Fleming. Hearty applause followed each rendition.

Mr. Fowler, who gave the principal address of the evening, gave figures of costs to other municipalities of hospital accommodation. Recent expenditures in this way include: Toronto General Hospital and Kingston General, $1,000,000 each; St. Catharines, $250,000; St. Thomas and London, $200,000 each: and Windsor, which has just completed a splendid building, $600,000.

He outlined the plans for an addition to the local hospital, declaring the intention of the board to ask the city for $350,000 to take care of the large extension needed.

The board hopes, he said, that various church organizations, lodges, etc., will endow wards, rooms, or beds in the new building.

CRICKET

The Peterborough C. C. will hold a full practice at the Oval to-morrow night (Wednesday) at six. After the practice the team will be chosen for Saturday's match with Lakefield school. All members wishing to play must turn out at this practice.

HAULTAIN AND DEER BAY

HAULTAIN, June 12—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bolton and family of South Burleigh, have taken up residence in Dummer Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson of Peterborough were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson of Mount Julian for the week-end.

Mrs. C. T. Blezard of the Parkview Mansions, Toronto, was visiting her mother, Mrs. W. Thompson at Mount Julian last week.

BRIDE INJURED ON HONEYMOON

Mrs. Peter Rosen Has Back Broken When Car Runs Into Ditch.

HUSBAND'S FACE CUT.

BELLEVILLE, June 12. Canadian Press, — Mrs. Peter Rosen was seriously injured in a motor accident this morning and is in the Belleville general hospital with a broken back. She was married last night in Picton and she and her husband, Peter Rosen, were starting for Montreal on their honeymoon. He first had to visit Madoc, and on the road to that place his wife asked him to help her on with her coat. He took one hand off the wheel and the car went out of control into the ditch, turning completely over twice. The car was a total wreck, and the driver was cut about the hands and the face.

HYDROPLANE TO AID SEARCH

Big Dornier Plane Will Leave Italy To-day For King's Bay.

SUPPLIES WANTED.

PISA, Italy, June 12 (Canadian Press).—A Dornier hydroplane was expected to leave Pisa some time today to go to the Arctic to rescue General Umberto Nobile and his marooned comrades of the ill-fated dirigible Italia.

Asks For Supplies.

ROME, June 12 (Canadian Press). —General Umberto Nobile, leading a party of five men across the ice in hope of reaching safety, has asked that fire arms, shoes, medicines, floats, a field kitchen and a radio battery be sent to the survivors on the Italia by aircraft.

Await Big Plane.

KING'S BAY, June 12 (Canadian Press).—An aerial search for three men missing from the marooned crew of the Italia will be started as soon as a large aircraft is available here, it was stated to-day.

Ice-Breakers Leave.

MOSCOW, June 12 (Canadian Press).—The ice-breaker Maligin will leave Archangel to-day in an attempt to reach the crew of the dirigible Italia, who are marooned in the Arctic. The ice-breaker Krassin will leave not later than Thursday.

BUSY THESE DAYS.

Very busy these days in the English social rounds is the Duchess of York, snapped while attending a recent function.

2ND (ARMOUR) TROOP.

2nd (Armour) Troop of Scouts met in St. Luke's Parish Hall on Friday at 7 p.m. Commissioner J. J. Turner visited the troops for investiture. The commissioner gave a brief speech on Scouting and its issues. Then, assisted by Mr. Dickin and the Scoutmaster, the commissioner invested the following boys: S. Townsend, R. Hamilton, J. Couper, W. Lee and B. Pammett.

Mr. Dickin then gave a short talk on the Wheeler trophy that is now up for the most meritorious act for the year. W. J. Howden gave a brief speech on the results of Scout training. The visitors were then introduced to the Armour yell.

After the instructions were given on the various new work, a few games were played, during which Victor Allen had an accident, one of his fingers being badly damaged. First aid was rendered by P. L. Petrie and a doctor called.

The Troop then dismissed.

Service at the graveside was conducted by Field Major Higdon, Toronto, assisted by Ensign Greene.

REV. DONALD ROSS.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 12 (Canadian Press). — Rev. Principal Donald Ross, formerly Principal of Queen's Theological College, died early this morning. Rev. Dr. Ross was one of the outstanding Presbyterian ministers in this district, and former pupils now filling pulpits throughout the country owe their scholarship to his teachings.

Born in 1837, Dr. Ross had a long and honored career as a scholar and a clergyman. After his ordination in 1862, he spent several years in the ministry and then entered Queen's as an instructor. He later became Principal, but was forced to resign in 1917 because of illness. He was the oldest living graduate of Queen's.

MARX CABINET LEAVES OFFICE

Herman Mueller, Socialist, is Asked to Form New Cabinet.

PARTY DOMINANT.

BERLIN, June 12 (Canadian Press) —President Von Hindenburg to-day accepted the resignation of the coalition cabinet headed by Dr. Wilhelm Marx.

The president asked former Socialist Chancellor Herman Mueller to form a new cabinet.

The resignation was a result of the recent elections when the Socialists' big gains placed them in a dominant position.

COLUMBIA LEAVES FOR HARBOR GRACE

Miss Mabel Boll and Crew Start Flight Across Ocean.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, June 12 (Canadian Press). — The monoplane Columbia, with Miss Mabel Boll as passenger, took off at 7.20 o'clock (daylight time) this morning for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The plane, loaded with about 350 gallons of gasoline, made a perfect take-off after a run of about three-eighths of a mile. Aboard the plane in addition to Miss Boll, were Captains Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles, former Royal Canadian Air Force pilots, and Andrew Surrini, mechanic for Charles Levine, owner of the plane.

MISSION CIRCLE HEARS REPORTS

Flourishing Condition Shown Meeting. at XL Social

GOOD PROGRAM.

Last night the X. L. Mission Circle of St. James' United church met at the home of the president of the society, with a good attendance.

The program was very interesting, opening with a service of worship, the theme of which was Faith. The responsive reading, the hymns and prayer, led by Mrs. J. H. Dudgeoen, were all, also pleas for faith.

The reports from the treasurer and secretary were very encouraging.

A concise and pithy resume of the book studied during the year was given by Miss C. Wagar, bringing out all the worth while lessons to be remembered from the study.

A very enjoyable social hour at which Misses Jessie Martin and Annie Wagar were joint hostesses, followed. A cleverly arranged contest, and two delightful piano solos by Aileen Rose concluded the program, after which refreshments were served.

The July meeting will be in charge of Misses Aileen Rose and Greta Welbourn.

PICNIC ARRANGED FOR CENTRAL PUPILS

Will Be Held in Victoria Park and School Grounds June 22.

At the June meeting of Central Home and School Association it was decided to give prizes at the annual school picnic as it is the practice at the other schools in the city.

The picnic will be held in Victoria Park and Central School Grounds on Friday, June 22nd.

After the report of the relief committee was received, instructions were given to have milk continued during remainder of school term to a child who had recently been operation case.

After the business the members listened to a very enlightening and instructive talk on "The Problem of To-day," by Miss Wood, police matron.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Local Improvement Notice

TAKE NOTICE THAT:—

1.—The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as local improvements, concrete curbs on the following streets, and intends to assess part of the cost of the works upon the lands abutting directly on the said works respectively. The estimated cost of the works, the portion to be paid by the Corporation, the estimated cost per foot frontage, and the number of annual instalments are set out below:

2.—On King Street, North Side, from Park Street to the Monaghan Road; estimated cost $734.80; to be paid by the Corporation $160.00; estimated cost per foot frontage, 40 cents; and the special assessment to be paid in ten annual instalments.

On King Street, South Side, from Park Street to the Monaghan Road; estimated cost $758.80; to be paid by the Corporation $40.00; estimated cost per foot frontage 40 cents; and the special assessment to be paid in ten annual instalments.

3.—A petition to the Council will not avail to prevent the construction of the said works, or either of them, but a petition against the work, or either of them, or the manner in which it has been undertaken, may be made pursuant to section 8 of The Local Improvement Act, to the Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half of the value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor.

4.—A by-law for undertaking the said works will be considered by the Council at a meeting thereof to be held on the 3rd day of July, 1928, at 7.30 o'clock p.m., or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

Peterborough, June 12, 1928.

BY-LAW NUMBER 2783.

A BY-LAW TO PROVIDE FOR THE CLOSING OF BARBER SHOPS IN THE CITY.

PASSED THE 11TH DAY OF JUNE, 1928.

WHEREAS an application has been presented to the City Council praying for the passing of a By-law requiring the closing of Barber Shops within the City as hereinafter set out, and the Council is satisfied that such application is signed by not less than three-quarters in number of the occupiers of Barber Shops within the Municipality,

AND WHEREAS a period of one month has not elapsed since the presentation of the said application.

NOW THEREFORE THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 86, Sub-Section 5, of The Factory, Shop, and Office Building Act, all Barber Shops within the City shall close at the hour of 12.30 Noon on each Wednesday during the months of June, July, and August, and remain closed until Five of the clock of the Forenoon of the next following day.

2. Any person violating any of the provisions of this By-law shall be subject to a penalty on conviction thereof in the discretion of the Convicting Magistrate of not more than $10.00 for the first offence and to not more than $25.00 for each subsequent offence, exclusive of costs, and all such penalties shall be recoverable under The Ontario Summary Convictions Act.

3. This By-law shall take effect on June 19th, 1928.

(Sgd.) ROLAND DENNE,
Mayor.

(Sgd.) S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Clerk.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of By-law Number 2783 of the City of Peterborough.

City Clerk.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN Treatment

for blackheads

ELIZABETH ARDEN recommends that you cleanse your skin with exquisite care, if you have a tendency to blackheads. Use Venetian Cleansing Cream each morning and night; this soft melty cream dissolves and dislodges all the dust and impurities which distend and darken the pores. Then pat briskly for several minutes with Ardena Skin Tonic to clear and stimulate the skin.

To remove blackheads, soften the spot with warm Venetian Muscle Oil. Dip a Beauty Sachet in hot water and hold over the blackhead to bring it to the surface. Press it out with covered fingertips. Apply Venetian Pore Cream to contract the pore. Faithful care of your skin, according to the scientific method of Elizabeth Arden, will keep it clear, fine and smooth.

The field that will seek the title now worn by Tommy Armour at Chicago next week will number 150. Thirty-two stars are exempt from qualifying play.

POINCARE CABINET IS FINALLY AGREED

Plan For Stabilization of Franc To Be Presented To Chamber.

PARIS, June 12 (Canadian Press). —It was learned on high authority that the Poincare Cabinet to-day finally agreed on a general plan for stabilization of the franc.

The plan probably will be presented to Parliament at the end of next week. There remain many details to be worked out, but the major difficulty is understood to have been a disagreement within the cabinet itself.

VOL. LXI., No. 138 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1928 PRICE THREE CENTS

RELIEF PARTIES RUSHING AID TO MEN STRANDED ON ICE FLOES

Aviators Preparing Attempts to Get Food and Medicine to Sufferers.

THREE MEMBERS MISSING

Russian Ice-Breaker Maligin to Assist in Relief Expedition.

(Copyrighted, 1928, by The Associated Press).

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 13.—Faced with the probability that at least a week must elapse before ice-breakers can reach the stranded survivors of the dirigible Italia, aviators already in the North are preparing desperate attempts to get food and medicine to the suffering men.

Captain Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm, Norwegian air aces, are on the sealer Hobby, which is trying to smash its way through the ice floes off the North coast of the Archipelago. North Cape is their immediate objective as the Norwegian air aces believe they can make the round trip from that point to the vicinity of Foyn Island, where the men of General Umberto Nobile's Arctic expedition are awaiting help.

Medicines are needed for the cast-aways for the two men who were hurt when the gondola of the Italia smashed against an ice floe. Remedies also are wanted for the frost-bitten hands and feet which are keeping the Italia's men from making their way toward land.

The Norwegian planes cannot carry enough load to make actual rescue of the marooned explorers practicable except in emergency.

The aid that the captain and lieutenant can bring is therefore of a temporary nature to enable General Nobile and his men to survive their hardships until ice-breakers or larger planes can reach them.

The Russian ice-breaker Maligin, sailing from Archangel yesterday, can make the trip to the vicinity of North East Land in about ten days. She must first come to King's Bay to replenish her coal supplies after the voyage from the Russian coast.

Direct radio word from the refugees was scant yesterday. Under advices of the commander of the Citta di Milano, base ship of the expedition, General Nobile has decided to conserve the power of his accumulators. He said that hereafter the Italia's radio operator will send messages only in emergency. The last position given on the radio indicates that the floes on which Nobile is stranded, are practically stationary.

No definite word has come as to the status of the second group of the expedition, the men who were separated from Nobile when the gondola was torn loose and who were carried some 18 miles further. Neither has there been any report respecting the three members of the expedition who started to search for land soon after the wreck. The plight of this trio probably is desperate if, indeed, they have survived.

Hobby in Open Water

KING'S BAY, June 13. (Canadian Press).—Captain Riiser Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm, Norweigian fliers, were ready to start to-day on a determined attempt to bring help to the stranded crew of the Italia, now in desperate straits on drifting pack ice.

The sealer Hobby, after battering its way through open leads, was in open water to-day and the Norwegian fliers were planning to take off as soon as it was favorable in an effort to find the Italia's radio party, of which General Umberto Nobile is the head, somewhere near Foyne Island off the coast of Northeast Land.

The ice-breaker Braganza, which has been in northern waters with the Hobby for a week, arrived back at King's Bay this morning, and immediately began taking two sledges, supplies of rifles, and 2,000 round of ammunition, so that seals and reindeer can be hunted, both for its crew and for the cast-away men.

The Braganza will take search par-

CAMP SKOOKUM FOR BOYS

A Clean, Wholesome, Health-Giving Vacation Opportunity Under Rotary Auspices.

Camp Skookum for boys, on Clear Lake, under Rotary auspices, will this season provide most excellent facilities for every boy who is desirous of spending a wholesome vacation at a very small cost. Camp Skookum is on the east shore of Clear Lake, just opposite Sandy Point, three and a half miles above Young's Point. It is a most health-giving spot and any boy who attends the camp should be better both in mind and body for the outing.

The vacation only costs $1.50 per week for Juniors, and $7.00 per week for Seniors.

Any Rotarian will give full information regarding the camp. There will be accommodation and arrangements made for the care of 200 boys during the season.

A new type of phonograph record is made of celluloid and can be twisted and rolled up without injury.

Bank Building Is Destroyed By Fire

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 13. (Canadian Press.)— The Royal Bank building, a pool room and a private residence were involved in a fire which broke out at Rush Lake, Sask., yesterday morning when damage amounting to about $10,000 was done. The three buildings were destroyed.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Damage estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000 was done by a fire which destroyed the Province and Pool elevators at Vanguard, Sask., yesterday morning and which included in its destruction the Henderson coal yards. In the Province elevator there were 2,000 bushels of wheat and from 3,000 to 5,000 bushels in the Pool building.

DETOUR OPENED NEAR BEWDLEY

Highway Closed While Being Paved Near Port Hope.

ALTERNATE ROUTES.

Motorists travelling the Port Hope highway will now have to detour. Paving operations on the highway were commenced yesterday, which requires that the traffic be diverted.

Motorists travelling from Peterborough will proceed down the highway to below Bewdley, where they will turn right through Garden Hill, then down to Welcome, where they will travel straight through to Port Hope and the east, or turn right for Toronto.

Motorists travelling from Port Hope are advised to proceed north along the highway to Davidson's Corners, then detour west to Quays, turning north through Perrytown and then east through Garden Hill back on to the highway at Kidd's Corners.

Considerable progress is being made with the paving operations on this road, which will be complete as soon as possible.

WALKERS CLAIM NAME INFRINGED

Want Lindsay Distillers Restrained From Using Name "American Club."

TORONTO, June 13 (Canadian Press).—In a writ issued at Osgoode Hall to-day, Hiram Walker and Sons Limited is seeking to restrain the Lindsay Distilleries Limited from infringing their trade marks, "Club," and "Canadian Club," used in the sale of whiskey. The writ seeks an injunction in particular against the defendants using the name "American Club."

SALARY SATISFIES LYON AND WARNER

American Members of Southern Cross Refuse to Share in Grant.

SYDNEY, Australia, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Expressing themselves as satisfied with their salary of £100 each for each flying day, Capt. Harry W. Lyon, navigator, and James Warner, radio operator, have declined to accept a share of the $50,000 granted to the crew of the trans-Pacific plane Southern Cross.

Build Destroyers In Canadian Yards

OTTAWA, Ont., June 13 (Canadian Press).—A deputation of ship workers from Montreal, headed by J. W. Ross and Bernard Rose, K.C., of Montreal, yesterday waited on Col. J. L. Raiston, Minister of National Defence, urging that the two new destroyers to be built for the Canadian Navy be constructed in Canada. They submitted a petition signed by some 1,100 residents of the vicinity of Montreal in support of this request. The spokesmen for the deputation said there were slips in Canada where these boats could be built as well as in Great Britain. Many shipbuilders formerly with British yards are now employed in Canada, and it would provide work for them.

Col. Raiston said he would lay their arguments before his colleagues. He explained that tenders had been asked from 15 British and 3 Canadian firms to be received on August 1.

WILL NEGOTIATE TRADE TREATIES

Canadian Government to Open Negotiations With Several Foreign Countries.

ORGANIZE AIR MAIL

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 3.—(Canadian Press.)— Negotiations for trade treaties with several foreign countries, including Newfoundland, will be entered into by the Canadian government during the present year, following the granting of authority in this matter at the last session of Parliament according to statement made here last night by Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General.

Dr. Venit came to Saint John on departmental business and is attending the convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League being held here.

Relative to the Act granting an increase in fixed salaries of commissions of rural postmasters, in all offices with a revenue up to $15,000 a year, Hon. Dr. Veniot said that this would affect some 9,000 postmasters of the 12,000 or 13,000 postmasters of all classes in Canada.

Parliament voted some $450,000 for additional air mail service at the last session continued Dr. Veniot. This would permit the Canadian air mail service to link up with the United States, with service from Montreal to Schenectady and Toronto and Albany, New York. Plans were already far advanced for preliminary surveys this summer of the routes to the western and coastal provinces with the object of a trans-continental service later.

The experimental of a winter air mail service to the Magdalen Islands had proven a success, he asserted, and this schedule would be continued this winter.

VICE-PRESIDENT BOOM GROWING

Republican Convention Leaders Busy With This Phase of Program.

HOOVER SILENT.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— With the nomination of Herbert Hoover as Presidential candidate assured on the first ballot to-morrow, Vice-Presidential booms have popped up at the Republican convention like mushrooms after a rain and the leaders were busy to-day looking over the crop.

In the centre of the field and standing a little higher than a host of other candidates was Vice-President Dawes. No word was forthcoming on the subject from Mr. Hoover or from the Hoover camp. Lieutenants there emphasized that the Commerce Secretary would not commit himself on a Vice-Presidential candidate, at least before he was definitely nominated, and perhaps not even then.

MISSING FARMER BOUGHT CARTRIDGES

Raoul Laflamme, Sought in Connection With Brother's Death, Had .22 Ammunition.

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., June 13. —(Canadian Press.)—Provincial police investigating the killing early on Sunday morning of Albert Laflamme, a farmer residing near St. Raphael, learned yesterday from a local storekeeper that he had sold a package of .22 calibre cartridges to Raoul Laflamme, a brother of Albert. This man has been missing since early Sunday morning. He is being sought by the police, who want him for questioning in connection with the case. There is no charge laid against him. The bullet found in Laflamme's body was of .22 calibre.

WILL ASCERTAIN STATUS OF NAME

Presbyterian General Assembly Will Find Whether Title is Legal.

REGINA, June 13 (Canadian Press).—The feasibility of ascertaining the legality of the use of the designation "Presbyterian Church in Canada" was approved at last evening's sederunt of the General Assembly of the church in session here.

The suggestion emerged in the form of a recommendation from a minor committee reporting on relations with other churches.

Rev. Stuart Parker of Toronto urged the advisability of such an investigation. While no drastic or decisive step was suggested, settlement of the question either way, he believed, would relieve the Church in Canada "from a state of intolerable tension."

Rescue Pilots Encounter Polar Bears When Forced To Land In Northern Bay

KING'S BAY, June 13. Canadian Press. — Encounter with polar bears was one of the most dramatic moments in last week's reconnaissance by Lieut. Holm, who spent five days away from his base ship, the Hobby, seeking the Italia, tied up by fog and gasoline shortage.

The details of the adventure were brought to King's Bay to-day by the icebreaker Braganza, which put in here for provisions.

When Lieut. Holm and his companion, Pilot Myre, were forced to land in Brandy Bay because of the fog, polar bears made their appearance while the pilots were in their sleeping bags. The bears displayed great curiosity about the plane and then made for the pilots. The latter, afraid to move, laid low, and the bears, after sniffing around, lumbered away without doing any damage.

MILITIA UNITS ATTEND CHURCH

Garrison Parade Will Be Held Next Sunday to St. John's Church.

FIRST SINCE WAR.

The Peterborough Garrison will parade on Sunday morning to attend divine service at St. John's Anglican church. The parade will be formed at 10.30 in the Armouries, and the following units will attend: 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, 4th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, Peterborough Rangers, No. 3 Company, 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C. Captain the Rev. Dr. Blagrave, chaplain of the 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C., will be the preacher.

The parade will march by Murray street to George street, George street to Hunter street, and Hunter street to the church. This will be the first garrison church parade since before the war. Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V.D., will be in command.

St. John's church has long been associated with the local militia units. The old colors of the 57th Regiment were deposited there when the Ven. Archdeacon Davidson, for many years rector, was chaplain of that unit.

The Roman Catholic soldiers will parade at 10.15 and attend St. Peter's Cathedral. Lt. R. A. Sheehy will be in charge.

COURTNEY BEGINS FLIGHT TO STATES

eaves Pisa For Lisbon On First Leg of Journey—Friendship Held Up.

PISA, Italy, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Captain Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, hopped off at 4 a.m. to-day for Lisbon, Portugal, on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight to the United States.

He was flying a Dornier-Napier Whale flying boat. His route will be from Lisbon to the Azores to Newfoundland and then to New York.

Plane Won't Rise

TREPASSEY, Newfoundland, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Two more attempts to raise the monoplane Friendship from the harbor and take off for Europe this morning were unsuccessful. After the second try the plane was moored in the harbor.

Three Aviators Killed

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Three Danish aviators were killed to-day after leaping from a naval seaplane which exploded while they were flying over Copenhagen. Their parachutes failed to unfold and they fell on the roofs of the houses.

Arrives at Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, arrived in Lisbon at 5.30 p.m. on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight to the United States.

No Start To-day

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Indications this afternoon were that neither the monoplane Columbia at Harbor Grace nor the Friendship at Trepassey would take off to-day on their trans-Atlantic flights.

Canada Association Meet At Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont., June 13.—(Canadian Press.) — The 100th annual meeting of the Canada Association is being continued in First Baptist church.

The association clerk presented the statistics of the twenty-one churches of the Canada Central group, showing a total membership of 1,685 members. The discussion which followed was keen and earnest. The increase in membership was considered discouraging and presented a challenge to the churches. The clerk, Rev. G. V. Crofort, of Brockville, expressed the hope that the report next year would be much more hopeful.

Lords Pass Bill Giving Women Vote

LONDON, June 13. Canadian Press. — After an unsuccessful attempt had been made to raise the qualifying age the House of Lords in committee last night passed the franchise bill which gives the vote to women 21 years of age and over. The House of Commons had already proved the measure.

ELECTION ASSURED.

ST. JOHN, June 13 (Canadian Press).—The name of General Sir Arthur Currie was the only one placed in nomination this morning as the next president of the Dominion Branch of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, when nominations for officers for next year were called for. His election this afternoon, therefore, is assured.

Supplies Lost In Italia Crash

OSLO, June 13.—(A.P.)—Messages from Spitzbergen yesterday said the crew of the Italia had lost a great part of the provisions and other equipment aboard the airship for use in an emergency when disaster overtook the expedition.

In coming down, the cabin and engines of the airship were smashed. It was reported the engineer had been killed, but this could not be confirmed, and it was stated General Umberto Nobile said nothing about it.

PRAYER BOOK DEBATE OPENS

Many Notables Present When Solicitor General Moves Adoption.

INTEREST WIDESPREAD.

LONDON, June 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—The prayer book debate opened in the House of Commons this afternoon with a number of notables present. The debate is expected to last two days. Hon. F. B. Merriman, Solicitor-General, opened the debate by moving the adoption of the measure. He declared he did not regret the rejection of the measure last year. He believed that there was a widespread renewal of interest in the affairs of the church and this was wholly to the good.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Liberal - Conservative Association of Grenville-Dundas Holds Meeting.

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., June 13 (Canadian Press).—The annual meeting of the Grenville-Dundas Liberal-Conservative Association was held at Mountain Station yesterday. The retiring president, W. T. Kingston, of Cardinal, presided. The newly-elected officers and president, Robert Beggs, Hallville; 1st vice-president, Dr. E. A. Patterson, Kempville; 2nd vice-president, Miss Elizabeth Gislespie, Morrisburg; Secretary-treasurer, G. H. Challies.

J. A. Sanderson and G. H. Challies, delegates to the Winnipeg convention, submitted their reports of that meeting.

NOBILE TELLS ABOUT CRASH

Thinks Ice Forming on the Bag Caused Fall of Italia.

SUDDEN ACCIDENT.

ROME, June 13 (Canadian Press). —General Umberto Nobile's own story of the wrecking of the Italia was received to-day by The Stafani News Agency. It was summarized as follows:

"At 10.30 a.m. on May 25, while the Italia was flying normally at a height of 500 metres, suddenly the weight increased (apparently by snow and ice forming on the bag), the airship began a rapid plunge which it was impossible to halt, and in two minutes it crashed upon the Polar ice pack.

"The cabin and part of the upper bracing were torn away, while the bag was carried by the wind in an easterly direction.

"Among the debris on the ice all the occupants of the cabin were found miraculously to be alive. Only a minute after the plunge, Nobile and his companions cried passionately 'Vice Italia.'

"On the evening of May 30, three of Nobile's party started with provisions for North Cape. Five were left with Nobile. Other members of the crew remained with the drifting dirigible. They will have food enough for three months and are supplied with complete equipment. Two of Nobile's group are injured.

"Radio communication between the Italia's survivors and the base ship Citta Di Milano was good to-day."

DOG CATCHER HAS YOUNG AIREDALE

Dog Held at Pound Appears Well Bred and Has Had Good Home.

Mark Pengelly, the dog catcher, has in his possession at the dog pound, a fine Airedale dog, about 18 months old. The dog is carrying a Glen Ridge permit for the year 1927, Number 155. The dog appears to be well bred and to have been in a good home.

MISSION BAND CLOSES.

George Street Young People Hold Final Spring Meeting.

The closing meeting until September of the Mission Band of George Street United Church was held on Monday afternoon, with a large attendance. The president, Mary Vance, presided, and the suggested temperance program was followed. A number of bright hymns were sung and Joy Walker gave a recitation. Lenore Lewis and Helen Magee rendered a vocal duet. Others taking part in the program were Olive Rowe, Ted Marshall, Reg. Yelland, Jack Todd, Gordon Gonsolus, and Jack Thornton. All answered the roll call by naming their favorite flower. Twelve members of the band have not missed a meeting during the year, and they were given a hearty clap. Mrs. A. I. Brown and Mrs. J. E. Todd, leaders, gave short talks, giving some words of advice for the holiday season. Mrs. Brown asked each member to perform as many kind acts as possible during vacation time, and report them at the September meeting. Mrs. Todd spoke in reference to mite boxes, asking the members to save some of their pennies during the holiday season for their mite boxes. They decided to join the Men's Club of the church in their picnic at the Oval on June 27. A paper on "Why I Never Learned to Smoke" was given. A treat of candy was given and a social time enjoyed.

FARMERS PROTEST AGAINST HOOVER

Crowd Marches to Republican Convention Hall to Oppose Nomination.

KANSAS CITY, June 13 (Canadian Press).—A throng of farmers protesting the nomination of Herbert Hoover and gathering numbers as it proceeded, marched to the Republican convention hall to-day and were prevented from carrying their cries to the delegates only by the threatening clubs of policemen.

Frustrated in their endeavor to gain an entrance, the farmers, shouting "We don't want Hoover," at the top of their voices, surged outside the hall in a disorderly and noisy fashion.

HOTEL BURNS.

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine, June 13.—(Canadian Press.) — An early morning fire destroyed the Rockwood hotel here with a loss estimated at $125,000. Barking dogs in a nearby garage roused the residents of the hotel and they were able to make their way to safety.

BIG EXTENSION TO HOSPITAL IS CONTEMPLATED BY BOARD

Evidence Concluded In Hyde Park Case

LONDON, June 13.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Evidence was concluded during yesterday's sittings of the royal commission which is investigating charges against the conduct of the police growing out of the recent speeches in the case which has Money and Miss Irene Savidge. To-day counsel will make their speeches in the case which has aroused nation-wide attention.

The law courts yesterday were treated to the unusual spectacle of the director of public prosecutions, Sir Archibald Bodkin, giving evidence. He was subjected to cross-examination. Prior to his appearance Miss Egan, "Miss Savidge's friend who introduced her to Sir Leo Money," amused the tribunal with sprightly replies when cross-examined. She attended on subpoena, having refused to do so voluntarily.

LEADING PUPILS GIVEN RELEASE

Those Passing Entrance Without Writing Quit School To-day.

LARGE PERCENTAGE.

The Senior Fourth pupils to-day will celebrate their good fortune if they are recommended. This will be a red letter day in the life of many a public school student. Those who have worked during the year will receive their reward on this fine June day. School will be over for them for another year, and their minds will be free from all examination worries and doubt as to the results of their year's work. They are the successful ones in the term studies. Their standard has measured up to the necessary qualifications set by the department. The first milestone in their scholastic career has been passed; they have left the realm of childhood to that of the young men and women of the Collegiate Institute.

The Entrance Class of this year will be the first to enter the new Collegiate Institute, which should be another great event in their young lives. A. Mowatt, school inspector, stated that there was the largest number of pupils recommended in the public and separate schools this year in the history of Peterborough.

T.T.C. WITHDRAWS RENEWAL OFFER

Will Not Accept Arbitration Under Lemieux Act, Manager Writes.

TORONTO, June 13 (Canadian Press).—W. D. Harvey, general manager of the Toronto Transportation Commission, in a letter to W. D. Robbins, secretary-treasurer of the Toronto Railway Employees' Union to-day, definitely withdrew the offer of the Commission to renew the existing agreement with its men, refused arbitration under the Lemieux Act as a measure non-applicable to a public utility, and amplified its offer of a three-man arbitration by suggesting that a chairman named by Mayor McBride will be acceptable if the Commission's and the employees' arbitrators are unable to agree on a third.

THE WEATHER

To-day's temperature of 81 degrees in the shade at the noon hour makes it feel as if the good old summer time were really here at last. Just here I might say that last evening I had a visit from a well known ice dealer of the city, who desired to know what the prospects were for some good hot weather. As an inducement he said if I could, or would, do something to hasten along a heated spell he would supply me with ice for the summer gratis. Anyway it is warm to-day, and with conditions favorable for a good old-fashioned thunderstorm before very long.—W. P.

Bantam Rooster 'Mothers' Chicks

A bantam rooster owned by Frank Chambo, 20 Aylmer street south is "mothering" a small flock of chickens. The mother hen was killed some few days ago in a very mysterious way, leaving a flock of six chickens. The little rooster has come to the rescue and in the day time he scratches industriously amongst the leaves and earth for worms and seeds and at night he shelters the chickens under his wings.

Trustees Would Increase Nicholls Hospital To 150 Beds.

WOULD COST $350,000.

Citizens Asked To Endow Beds, Etc., As Memorials, City to Pay Building Cost.

Extensions to the Nicholls Hospital to cost $350,000 are contemplated by the Board, E. B. Fowler announced at the graduation exercises on Monday evening, and the Protestant ratepayers of the city will be asked to provide about $300,000 of that. The Board hopes to renovate the present buildings, add new wards and rooms, and put in up to date heating and refrigeration plants. The hospital has now room for ninety patients and it is hoped to add accommodation for sixty more.

The amount to be asked of the citizens will depend upon the number of private contributions. The board is suggesting that the providing of equipment, or the endowing of beds or rooms, might be undertaken by many citizens as memorials, or by lodges, societies, etc.

Mr. Fowler's address follows:

I have been particularly directed by our Board to refer to the plans which the Board now have underway for the much needed extension to our present hospital buildings. But before dealing with these plans, perhaps it would be interesting if I say a few words with reference to the origin of the Nicholls Hospital and its development during the past years.

In 1885 the late Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls, whose memory is revered by the citizens of Peterborough, realising the need and having the means at her command, gave the sum of $15,000.00 to equip the residence now occupied by Mr. T. E. Bradburn as a hospital. It was then known as Moria Hall and was operated under a Board, presided over by the late Mr. Richard Hall. This building was soon found inadequate and in 1890 Mrs. Nicholls provided a further large sum of money to build and equip the present building which was presented to the city in January 1890. Later the present fireproof south wing addition was added, bringing the hospital to its present capacity of 90 beds. This whole property with the excellent sight, buildings and equipment which has a value from $300,000.00 to $350,000.00 has been presented to the city and has been operated up to the present time without practically one dollar cost to the citizens of Peterborough.

Under the terms of the deed of this munificient gift, which includes our present buildings and an endowment of $230,000.00, the Protestant ratepayers were liable for any shortage for maintenance purposes but with the income from endowment yielding about $12,000.00 a year, the hospital has been operated, except for two or three years when small demands were made on the city council to take care of extra ordinary repairs, without cost to the taxpayers of this city and this in face of the fact that almost every hospital in the province is operated at a loss. Peterborough has indeed been favored.

I would like at this time to pay a tribute to one to whom the citizens of Peterborough owe a debt of gratitude. I refer to the late Mr. Richard Hall. Mr. Hall was a man who quietly and modestly walked in the sphere of his life, who performed his duties as a man and citizen in an extremely quiet way without ostentation and without seeking the applause of the public who saw in the hospital an opportunity to serve his city and humanity and who gave freely of his time and ability in that service.

As I have stated, he was the first chairman of the Hospital Board and some time later, under the terms of the endowment, became the permanent chairman of the institution. Mr. Hall co-operated with the late Mrs. Nicholls in building and equipping the original hospital and through his influence the substantial endowments were provided.

At the death of the late Mrs. Nicholls, the residue of the estate was handed over to the hospital although the disposal of the amount was within the absolute discretion of Mr. Hall but his loyalty to the city and his desire to render a service to humanity, led him to add the residue of this estate to the endowment and through his sound judgment the people of Peterborough have to-day the hospital as it now stands and a revenue of $12,000.00 a year for the operation of same.

As I have said, we owe him a debt of gratitude and his memory I hope will be long preserved in connection with this splendid institution.

We have, however, come to a time when our present building and hospital equipment has become inadequate. This is due to the increase in the population of our city and district and also because of the increased use that is being made of the hospital from year to year. There was a time when only a few who were well-to-do availed themselves of hospital accommodation, most of the sick being treated in their homes but with the advance in medical science and the application of scientific means of preventing and curing diseases, we are using the hospital more to-day than ever before and it is gen-

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE BRANCH IS ORGANIZED AT OMEMEE

Interesting Address Heard on Work Done by the Society.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Appoint Delegates to Attend District Convention in Lindsay.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, June 13.—On Saturday afternoon the district President and the district secretary of the East Victoria Women's Institute, together with Mrs. McCoun, of Campbellford, the secretary of the Women's Federated Institute, made a visit to Omemee by request, for the purpose of organizing a branch of that society here. Whether through lack of interest or the short notice, or possibly for some other reason, the attendance was very small. The meeting was held in the Council Chamber, Mrs. Perrin, the district president, presiding.

Mrs. McCoun gave a splendid address on the work and the value of the Women's Institute, which is the most popular organization in the world. She cited many instances where help had been given along various lines. It is an organization to which every woman may belong and there is no person so ignorant but what they can pass to us some good idea.

At the conclusion of the address, it was unanimously decided that there are many opportunities for service and it was decided to organize. There were several nominations for president and all refused, finally Mrs. J. Widdis let her name stand. Mrs. R. J. Cornwall was appointed first vice-president; secretary-treasurer Mrs. H. McGinness; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. Tate. Branch directors, Mrs. P. Parsons, Mrs. Overholt; district director, Mrs. J. J. Nichols.

Appoint Delegates.

Mrs. Widdis, Mrs. Cornwall and Mrs. McGinness were appointed as delegates to attend the district convention in the town hall, Lindsay, on Friday, June 15th.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. J. J. Nichols, seconded by Mrs. Widdis, to the visiting ladies, who had given of their time and talent.

Women's Guild Meeting.

The Women's Guild of Christ's church met at the home of Mrs. George Fee on Thursday afternoon. There was a very large attendance. Miss Irene Clemett, the president, opened the meeting with prayer. Numerous items of business were discussed, the voting down of a garden party being among the settled business. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing at bazaar articles and social intercourse on the spacious lawn, where refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Fee and Miss Lyla Fee.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES HELD AT FAIRMOUNT UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, of Peterborough, Special Minister for Day.

SOLOS GIVEN

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, June 13. — Fairmount United Church held their anniversary services on Sunday, June 10, with Rev. J. H. Dudgeon of St. James Church, Peterborough as special minister for the day. Mr. M. MacIndoo of Toronto, as soloist, sang beautifully, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and "Steal Away." Special music was rendered by the choir in the anthems as follows: "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God," "Proise the Lord," "Hallelujah Anthem," and "Rock of Ages."

The church was nicely decorated with cut flowers—tulips, narcissi, lilacs and honeysuckle, also flowering plants.

Rev. J. H. Dudgeon chose his morning's text from Phillippians 3:8, "Yet, doubtless and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord; for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ."

Mr. Dudgeon developed his text in an extremely impressive manner and made all present feel that "It was good for them to be there," to carry home with them the many beautiful and inspiring thoughts.

His evening's text was found in John 20:15, "She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, 'Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away."

By text illustrations the fact that Gardens and gardeners play an important part in Bible history was shown.

The sermon was a picture that all could see, showing the steps of development in changing waste ground to a garden of flowers. A garden is usually taken from common waste land and appropriated to more particular use. There must be a gardener to make plans for it and labor in it. The ground must be thoroughly worked, the seeds thoughtfully chosen and carefully planted. Great care must be taken to place each variety of seed or plant in the spot best suited for it in order that it may reach its fullest maturity and growth.

In like manner Jesus Christ, the great Gardener of the world, plants His seeds in His Garden (the church). All who are born of God are the plants and flowers. He places them as he sees best. Some need sunshine, while others require shade to develop. Through the Sunday School God plants His seeds in the hearts of children that they may grow in the church.

Just as the lily and the rose are very different in nature as flowers, yet both are necessary in a flower garden, so people of all dispositions are needed in God's garden.

Sometimes it is necessary to pick the buds that the plant may thrive and grow. God also finds it necessary at times to give us some misfortune that we may be the stronger and better for it. God wants development.

Weeds must be hoed out from among the flowers as soon as they are discovered. These often appear to be good-looking plants for a time but will when farther developed show their true colors. In the church we also have weeds that must be removed from God's Garden.

We, as plant sin God's Garden, owe every part of our life to Him. Let us shine out and give praies unto God who hath redeemed us and planted us in his courts—He who loved us and gave Himself for us.

BOY SCOUTS RAISE FUNDS FOR CAMP

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — Summer camp for the Second Company of Boy Scouts (St. Andrew's) is assured in so far as finances are concerned. It was necessary for the boys to realize the sum of fifty dollars, or almost that much, before camp could become a reality. "The Path Across the Hills," a play in three acts, which was played under their auspices in the Sunday School Rooms of the church last night netted the boys a sum of money far in excess of the amount which was their objective.

The play is in three acts, and carries a strong story all the way through, with a moral at the end which is not easily forgotten. The path across the hills which a young man took and which led him to the place where he wished to spend his summer vacation, led him also to the end of a quest for vengeance which he had followed since the death of his parents several years previous, and also to a vision of the world in a different light and to the happiness which he had never dared even consider.

The first number on the program was a violin solo by L. Reiter, which was well received. Mr. Reiter also played a number between the second and third acts. Both numbers were of a highly classical nature, and were taken from the scores of well-known operas. Miss Edna Connor played the accompaniments. Between the first and second acts and the second and third acts, Mrs. F. deF. Free sang two numbers, both of which were encored, "Linden Lee" (R. Vaughan Williams) and "O That We Two Were Maying" (Nevin), and as encores she sang "Long, Long Ago" (Haynes) and "A Banjo Song" (Homer). Mrs. Free's accompaniments were played by Miss Maynard.

J. D. Cumming, a member of the Boy Scout executive, acted as chairman. He wished to thank the boys for the honor and also the young people in the cast for their generous response when asked by the boys to bring their play to Campbellford.

Rev. D. A. Mackenzie, Burnbrae, replied to Mr. Cumming in behalf of the membrs of the cast, and asked the audience to overlook any mistakes since the players were not professionals, but very busy young people from the country. He also gave a brief synopsis of the play.

Whether or not there was just foundation for Mr. Mackenzie's request for leniency is a matter for debate, since the play moved along at a lively pace without any mistakes being noticeable from the auditorium. The players are to be commended for the excellent manner in which they played their parts. All are members of Burnbrae Presbyterian Young People's Society. There are ten members in the cast, and all appear at ease on the stage:

Samuel Crawford—Robert Mathews.
Grandma Davis—Helen Oddie.
Walter Conrad—Fred Bennett.
Ruth Conrad—Emma Bennett.
Flo Gray—Hazel MacKenzie.
Dr. Jimmie Reid—Grant Thain.
Robert Post—Francis Collingwood.
Lutie—Emily Craighead.
Zuzu, colored maid—Nettie Hay.
Salamander, her husband — Mack Little.

GARDEN PARTY AT IDA CHURCH

Splendid Supper and Program Mark Successful Annual Affair.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 13.—The annual garden party of St. John's church, Ida, which was held on Friday evening, June 8th, was a decided success from every angle.

Shortly after six p.m. the cars were lining up on the church grounds. The weather being ideal, a large crowd gathered, close to three hundred tickets being sold.

Supper was served in the basement of the Parish Hall from six o'clock until all were served. The tables looked very pretty with their decorations of green and white tissue streamers and bouquets of white lilacs. The many decorated salads and jellies added a touch of color. The ladies are to be congratulated on the splendid supper which was offered, and after justice had been done to the good things the crowd gathered in the hall where the program was given.

A play, "The Old Maids' Convention" was presented by the W.A. of St. John's Church and provided merriment throughout, all the ladies in the play taking their parts in a wonderful manner. So quaint were the dresses and hats worn by the spinsters, whose ages varied anywhere from forty-two to seventy-three all of whom were exceedingly anxious to make the acquaintance of some gentlemen in view to matrimony.

Rev. P. C. Howard, pastor of the church, was the chairman for the program which consisted of the following:

Chairman's address.
Solo, "Tip Toe", by Mildred Magee; encore, "Annie Laurie."
Duet, "Susie McLean", by Messrs. Tom McCamus and Clare Winslow; encore, "Henry's Made a Lady Out of Lizzie."
Solo, "Our Glorious Land", by Miss Magee.
Two of Harry Lauder's songs by Messrs. McCamus and Winslow.
Duet, "My Blue Ridge Mountain Home", by Messrs. McCamus and Winslow.

"The Old Maids' Convention" with the following cast of characters:

President Jerusha Eliza Bangs — Mrs. Robert McCamus.
Secretary-Treasurer Rebecca Retrace—Miss Bertha Touchburn.
Morety Clovertop—Mrs. Tippett.
Mariana Melissa Black—Mrs. Leonard McNeill.
Desire A. Mann—Mrs. R. Howden.
Hepsibah Odelia Olds—Mrs. T. Sisson.
Ann Ellen Patterby—Mrs. Braithwaite.
May Haverman—Mrs. Herb. Sweeney.
Petunia Pickles—Mrs. Beatty Fee.
Serena Hasbeen—Miss Jean Lough.
Charity Hopegood—Miss Annie Sisson.
Rachel Ketchem—Mrs. Thacker.
Belinda Bliss—Mrs. Geo. Sisson.
Professor Makerneux—Mr. L. H. Winslow.

Cast made over night:
Miss Audrey Winslow—Golfer.
Miss P. Parker—Cook.
Miss Eileen McCamus—Maid.
Miss Audrey Morton—Elocutionist.
Miss Kathleen Sisson—Pianist.
Miss Mabel Eggleston—College Girl
Miss Margaret McCamus—Tennis player.
Miss M. Winslow—Dancer.
Miss Mildred Magee—Prima donna.
Miss Emma Fee—Fairy butterfly.
Mr. Allen Winslow—Dusky maid.

DURHAM WOMEN'S INSTITUTES REPORT ON YEAR OF ACTIVITY

Annual District Meeting is Held in Town Hall at Millbrook.

MUCH GOOD WORK DONE.

Eight Branches Raised Total of $2,851.84, Reports Show —President Re-elected.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, June 13.—Mrs. T. A. Skitch, of Bailleboro, president of the East Durham's Women's Institute, was in the chair for the annual meeting held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, at 2 p.m., on Tuesday, June 12, the attendance of delegates being the largest for some years.

After the singing of the Opening Ode, the secretary, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, called the roll, the president of each branch being asked to reply for her organization; the following responded: Elizabethville, Mrs. A. Muldrew; Bethany, Mrs. Reynolds; Bailleboro, Mrs. T. A. Skitch; Millbrook, Mrs. T. H. Harkness; Cavanville, Mrs. R. M. Howden; Mount Pleasant, Mrs. Green; Garden Hill (no delegates present); Charlecote, Miss Laura Hamilton.

The President's report, which followed her words of welcome to the delegates, made reference to the various phases of Institute work, mentioning especially the demonstration course of which thousands of members have taken advantage throughout the country. Mrs. Skitch emphasized the importance of a good monthly attendance, the members coming to the meetings in the spirit of "get and give," the opportunity for social intercourse, and for carrying away new ideas, relieving the monotony of the daily home tasks.

Unselfishness and harmony were urged: "Use the talent which you may think is a small one, for you cannot tell who may be benefitted."

Branch Reports Read.

The reports for the year were most encouraging, showing considerable activity on the part of all the branches. The secretaries presented the reports, a few of the items in connection with each being: Charlecote, Mrs. M. G. Welch: 35 members; 9 regular meetings, and 1 with departmental speaker; total attendance 168; total amount raised $320.04; amount on hand April 1, 1928, $65.87.

Garden Hill (read by district secretary): 15 members, 11 meetings, with total attendance of 99; papers and addresses given, 9; total amount raised $346.82; balance on April 1, $220.11.

Elizabethville, Mrs. T. G. Sowden: 32 members; 11 meetings and 1 with department speaker; attendance 134; total amount raised $170.77; balance on hand April 1, $73.87.

Bethany (read by secretary): total amount raised $360.30; on hand April 1, $271.22.

Bailleboro (read by secretary): 113 members, 6 meetings and 1 with departmental speaker; attendance 140; papers and addresses given, 3; total amount raised $245.00; on hand April 1, $157.21.

Cavan, Miss Eileen Hunter: total amount raised $300.53; balance on April 1, $132.75. This is a large and successful branch, but number of members, and of meetings held, not stated in report given.

Mount Pleasant, Mrs. Garnet Shields: total amount raised, $61.75; on hand April 1, $21.38.

Millbrook, Mrs. Will Armstrong: 77 members; 12 meetings held; papers given, 3; total receipts for year, including $339.85 on hand at its beginning, $791.36; spent on dishes and cutlery, $52.25; balance on hand, $391.20.

School Fairs Helped.

Practically all of the branches reported providing prizes for school fairs, and in some cases for the annual fall fair. Many had booths on the fair grounds and catered to banquets. Picnics, concerts, dances, social gatherings, etc., were held. Genuine community service by making improvements in local centres, such as street lighting, sign boards, providing piano for public halls, giving contributions to building funds, for community halls, and sometimes churches, was done. Many bought plants for members and for sale; sent flowers and fruit to sick and shut-in members, made and sold

TALK ON AFRICA MUCH ENJOYED

Mrs. R. W. Scott Addresses Young People of Zion Church.

CONTEST IS CLOSE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, June 13.—About fifty league members were in attendance at one of the most interesting meetings of the year on Thursday evening last. Earl Fairman, missionary convener, was in charge, with Nellie Bennett as leader. After the business session the Star group sang, followed by the Scripture lesson read by George Brunton. A reading by Lindsay Anderson and the missionary topic by Earl Fairman preceeded the main event of the program, a talk on Africa by Mrs. R. W. Scott of Campbellford. Having spent part of her life in South Africa, Mrs. Scott was able to give her hearers a clear and very educational address on African conditions. It is needless to say that everyone present appreciated this number and also the numerous pictures of Africa which Mrs. Scott passed round at the conclusion of her talk.

The Star group led on the evening's attendance and the contest race is closer than ever. Next week the softball series begins, and as no one group has sufficient players for a team, it was decided that the Chevrolet and Star groups should form one team and the Ford and Whippet groups the other.

Thursday evening, June 14, is also the date of the debate with the Norham League. The debate is to be held at Zion Church, and the subject is, "Reselved, that Eastern Canada offers greater opportunities to the farmer than does Western Canada." The local debaters are Mr. Earl Fairman and Miss Nellie Bennett and they support the negative side. Local supporters are hoping that they will repeat their success of the first round.

PRISONER ESCAPES AT CAMPBELLFORD

Ray Copperwaite Gets Away Shortly After Receiving Sentence.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13.—Local police are on the alert for the recapture of Ray Copperwaite, who managed to escape from the police after he had been sentenced to four months on a charge of housebreaking and theft. The incident occurred shortly before noon yesterday, and nothing has been seen of the fugitive since that time. He is a youth of slightly less than the average height, with dark hair and eyes and a dark complexion. Reports say that he was seen making his way down the east corewall, but these have not yet been confirmed.

Copperwaite has appeared in court before, and the last time was allowed to go on suspended sentence subject to the call of the magistrate or Crown at any time. His uncle assumed the responsibility for his good behaviour.

A warrant for the arrest of Coppewaite has been taken out by the Chief of Police here.

DURHAM INSTITUTES REPORT ACTIVITIES

quilts, rugs, etc. Contributions of fruit and money to hospitals and providing necessities for needy families in the various neighborhoods, were important works.

The combined financial report of the eight branches, given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eakins, showed a total raised of $2851.84; expenditure $1611.26; on hand $1,-20411. The financial report of district funds had total receipts of $136.28; expenditure $105.73; balance on hand $30.55.

The treasurer's books were audited and found correct, according to a reort by the auditors, Mrs. A. J. Henderson and Mrs. H. A. Earle, and on motion of Mrs. McComb, Charlecote, and Mrs. W. Armstrong, Millbrook, the reports presented were adopted as read.

The executive held a meeting on May 19 when communications were considered from Mr. Putnam asking that the East Durham Institute hold an all day session when two speakers would be sent from the Department one to give an address of practical value on Institute activities and the other to give a demonstration and exhibit of basketry work. The executive decided the time not opportune to accede to the request but left it with the annual meeting to consider holding such a gathering in the fall. When the correspondence was read by the secretary, there was a letter from Mrs. G. B. Richards of Guelph, asking permission to come and give a demonstration of reed and basketry work with an exhibit of the same. This was left to the individual branches to take action.

A communication from Miss Ethel Chapman of the Ontario Farmer, requested new ideas which had been used successfully in any of the branches to be forwarded to her for publication purposes.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers was by ballot and resulted as follows.

President: Mrs. T. A. Skitch, Bailieboro.

First Vice-Pres.: Mrs. Garnet Shields, Mount Pleasant.

Second Vice-President: Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Cavan.

Third Vice-President: Mrs. T. G. Sowden, Elizabethville.

Secretary-Treasurer: Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbrook.

District-Director: Mrs. A. C. Beatty, Garden Hill.

Auditors: Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Millbrook, and Miss Eileen Hunter, Cavan.

District Directors (Branches): — Garden Hill, Mrs. H. Gardiner; Cavanville, Mrs. H. Keegan; Mount Pleasant, Mrs. Shields; Millbrook, Mrs. C. Thorndyke; Bethany, Mrs. W. H. McCartney; Bailieboro, Miss L. Jackson, Charlecote; Mrs. Davidson; Elizabethville, Mrs. V. Blanchard.

J. Y. Kellough, agricultural representative for

J. Y. Kellough, agricultural representative for Durham ,addressed the meeting explaining a judging competition for girls which is being planned for this county, the age limit being 16 to 26 years, and asking financial support from the District Institute.

Last year West Durham had a team entered at the Canadian National Exhibtion at Toronto, the three girls competing being chosen from those who had taken Departmental instruction in classes at Enniskillen, Orono, Hampton ,and Newcastle. They made a good showing, having been awarded sixteenth place in a competition with other teams from twenty-five counties.

Suggests Judging Course.

Mr. Kellough stated that a grant of say $20 from the Institutes of both East and West Durham, with the amount from the government, would permit offering prizes worth while for the girls to give time and energy to the competition. There would be three classes of study in which instruction would be given, a Departmental instructor coming for two afternoons to three or four points in the county. The suggested meeting places for East Durham are Campbellcroft and Cavan. A competition would afterward be arranged among the girls taking the course, the winners to represent the county at the C.N.E.

Mr. Kellough also outlined briefly what the Department has been doing in activities among the farm young people, listing the public speaking contests, and the inter-county debating series; in the latter connection he mentioned that Durham has twice won from competing counties and is to be in the finals with Prince Edward county, which will shortly be arranged for. "If we are going to keep the boys on the farm, we must interest the girls as well," was the concluding remark as the speaker left the matter of assisting the suggested girls' judging competition with the meeting, after pointing out that ten girls at least will be required for a class, and that an instructor may be available early in July.

Prizes Donated.

In the discussion which followed, on motion, it was unanimously decided to grant $20 in prize money, each branch to contribute $2.50 from its funds to make up the amount.

Mrs. R. M. Howden moved, and Mrs. Chester Fee seconded, the motion that each branch send a delegate to the Provincial W. I. convention in the fall, rather than one delegate from the district.

The president mentioned a suggestion from the Departmental speaker who was recently in the district relative to sending fruit to the Sick Children's Hospital at Toronto, and urged Mr. Putnam's advice that preference be always given to assisting local work with money and other contributions.

The matter of having programs prepared for two years ahead came up for discussion, and it was decided to again follow this plan, suggested topics to be sent from each branch to the executive in the immediate future; choice will then be made and the program gotten out as soon as possible. Besides the opening ods, the Maple Leaf will also be printed on the front cover, and in other details the outline will follow that of previous years.

The matter of branch contributions to the expenses of the government speaker received considerable discussion, and on motion it was finally decided to tax each branch $1.50, any any expenses incurred by an individual Institute over that amount to be paid out of the district treasury.

The meeting was dismissed with the National Anthem ,and the Millbrook Institute served lunch when a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

RELIEVING THE CONGESTION.

Objection to the parking bylaw because it is a hardship to business and professional men who drive down-town in their cars should not be taken seriously.

The safety and convenience of the many must be considered before the comfort of the few.

The congestion in down-town streets has to be relieved, and the worst offenders in causing this congestion have been those on whose behalf the new regulations are termed too drastic.

It is impossible to permit cars to be left all day long on streets in the business section, and those who are hit by the enforcement of the parking bylaw should accept the order philosophically, remembering that conditions will be generally improved by the clearing up of the streets.

The new bylaw regulating parking and adding to the number of through streets is a step toward dealing constructively with a problem that is causing worry in every centre, and should be welcomed as such.

It is necessary to adapt new methods to deal with new conditions, and general co-operation is required to make these methods effective.

THE ANNUAL SCRAMBLE.

The spectacle afforded by Canada's Parliament during the closing days of the session that has just been terminated was a striking commentary on the manner in which public business in this country is conducted.

The feverish attempt to wind up the business on Saturday night when the House, working for some time by candle light when the power failed, sat until midnight and then had to reluctantly adjourn until Monday, would have been laughable if the matter had not been so serious.

Parliament had been sitting for many months, and in the early days of the session members filled the pages of Hansard with more or less pertinent remarks on a thousand different subjects, many of doubtful importance, and wasted days, even weeks, in this unprofitable and useless debate.

And then, as usual, came the hurrying through of most important business at the last minute, the scrapping of some legislation and the inevitable scramble to get through and get home.

Surely even the members themselves must recognize that there is something radically wrong with a parliamentary system that produces such absurd results.

HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATION.

E. B. Fowler's address at the nurses' graduating exercises of the Nicholls' Hospital on Monday night brought before the people of Peterborough a problem that has been growing more and more acute, namely, the problem of providing the much needed additional accommodation required at Nicholls' Hospital.

The program that the Hospital Board will propose comprises the enlargement and complete modernization of the hospital in order that the most up-to-date hospital service can be provided, the expenditure for this purpose being estimated at $350,000, which, it is planned, will be raised through the Protestant ratepayers of Peterborough.

As Mr. Fowler pointed out in his address, thanks to the beneficience of the late Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls, the maintenance of the hospital has hitherto cost the ratepayers nothing, in spite of the fact that hospitals everywhere in the Province have been operating at a loss.

In this respect Peterborough has been remarkably fortunate, perhaps more so than the citizens realize.

Of the need of further accommodation and more modern equipment of the institution there is not the slightest doubt; the hospital is on many occasions very badly crowded to such an extent that it has been found impossible to admit all applicants.

This subject will be much to the fore in the near future, and deserves the earnest consideration of the public.

HE NEVER TOOK A DAY'S HOLIDAY.

Considerable is being said about a Polish youth who arrived in Toronto eighteen years ago with five cents in his pocket and amassed a fortune of over a quarter of a million dollars.

His achievement is being described as an example of the opportunities Canada offers to men of energy and ambition, and of how success is the reward of ability and hard work.

But somehow it seems to The Examiner that the real lesson to be taken from this story of apparent triumph is to be found in the sentence appearing in one of the newspaper articles, "He never took a day's holiday."

In eighteen years this young immigrant secured affluence for himself; he made $250,000.

But the tragedy of it all is that he is dead—gone in the prime of life—and others will enjoy the money he spent every day of the best years of his existence in piling up.

If the truth were always resorted to in the preparation of epitaphs, "He never took a day's holiday" would be found inscribed on many a stone in many a cemetery marking the graves of men who were cut off long before their alloted time because they failed to learn the lesson that the battle for wealth is in the end a losing one if it is fought with no consideration for health or pleasure.

PITY THE PLATFORM-MAKER.

Senator Smoot, who is to rough-hew the Republican platform, is said to be suffering from hay fever at Kansas City. He may run a temperature for other reasons the farm plank likely to inflame the tissues of all concerned. The exasperating thing is that President Coolidge desires to get not only a general well done, good and faithful servant, from the National Convention, but a specific approval of his veto of the McNary-Haugen bill. And he even wants his party to be honest and courageous enough to condemn outright the equalization fee, which Governor Lowden said was of the very essence of the McNary-Haugen bill and essential to any effective plan of farm relief. Secretary Jardine is said to be on his way to Kansas City for the express purpose of demanding this explicit statement in the platform.

The effect is already to throw the compromisers and trimmers into a state of nervous excitement. They had thought it would be so easy to please both sides. Just have a farm plank headed northeast by southwest and the trick would be done. Praise the President, but also laud the farmers. Give Mr. Coolidge a blanket endorsement, but leave room under it for the professional friends of the farmer to cuddle. Declare that the past is secure, but don't forget to have an eye to the future. These are the customary neat little prescriptions to men who write party platforms, but they are in danger of being thrown out of the window if President Coolidge has his way. He actually wishes to be straight-forward and consistent, with both his party and the country. There couldn't be anything more trying than that to a platform-maker, as Senator Smoot will soon be in a position to admit with sorrow. —New York Times.

DISCONTENT ON AMERICAN FARMS.

While Canadian farmers generally are believed to be in a prosperous and contented frame of mind, the reverse would appear to be true regarding certain of the agricultural sections of the United States, especially those which are known as constituting the corn belt. Cries for relief have recently been heard from that area, and there is no reason to doubt that the dissatisfaction which prevails has at least some basis. High priced land, declining productivity of the soil, and the competition in the export markets of countries which can produce more cheaply are among the factors which have contributed to bring about the present situation. Just what measures would bring about an improvement are not at the present time quite evident. As far as wheat is concerned the country has a high enough tariff to protect it against foreign competition in its own boundaries, but in the export markets this is of no avail. This year it is possible that in this commodity at least there will be no surplus available for export. But as far as the area in question is concerned corn and pork products would appear to be of greater importance than wheat.

In discussing the conditions as it finds them, "The Journal of Commerce" of New York makes the following comment:

"Recognition of the fact that the difficulties that face the corn-growing States are not all of the same kind would greatly aid in the determination of what needs to be done for these regions and how best to do it. An analysis of the position of the grain belt in its relation to the domestic and international markets has just appeared in Commerce Monthly. The article successfully endeavors to throw some light upon the varying influences that have been at work to create trouble in that region—districts that are among the richest and best farmed areas of the United States.

"No purpose is served by reviewing the post-war agricultural distresses that have become more or less past history, although their effects are still painfully felt by individuals. We may assume that the country has achieved a return to normal, or at least that it is as close thereto as it is likely to get if "normal" is understood to mean an economic condition that is measurably stable. According to the Bank of Commerce the explanation of the peculiar exasperation that has seized the farmers of the Middle West is assignable to the familiar fact that their lard and pork products and the wheat that they raise is on an export basis, thus tending below the protected level of internal prices.

"In response to the question why corn-fed pork products and wheat are more at a disadvantage in international markets than they were before the war, the answer suggested is that the economic pressure was already beginning to be felt by the farmers of the Mid-West even in those years. Land has since grown steadily less productive, while the greater cost of cultivation has been enhanced by higher freight rates and by restricted immigration, which has greatly raised the wages of farm labor. Concurrently there has come about a diminution in the demand for grains for feed and in the per capita consumption of meat products by American workers.

"Turning to the international market, American exports are also faced with the competition of cheap peasant agriculture and in the case of hog products with the greatly expanding consumption of cheap vegetable oils. It looks, therefore, as if a considerable part of the difficulties of the Mid-West were the outcome of the 'growing pains' of the rest of the world and the consequence of the inexorable operation of that law of diminishing returns that forces producers on older lands to obtain their living at a disproportionate expenditure of capital and labor. The only permanent remedy is to accommodate the cultivable area to the demands of changing markets and, when extensive cultivation fails, to take advantage of every opportunity to raise efficiency in order to overcome the advantage of virgin soils. But in the meanwhile the American farmer is wholly right in his demand for relief from discrimination."—Monetary Times.

M. J. Q.—(1) How long will the longest day be here? (2) Where is the day longest?

A.—(1) In Peterborough June 21 will be 15 hours 27 minutes long. (2) The day is longer in the north than in the south—in some parts of Scotland and Canada it is 17 hours long.

A. S. Q.—What fixtures may a tenant take out of a house he rented? May he take shelves and electric wiring? May he take an electric water heater he had inserted in a water tank that was in the house?

A.—When provision has not been made in the lease as to the ownership of fixtures the general rule has been that the tenant is entitled to move the fixtures before the expiration of the term of his lease, provided that such removal does not cause any serious injury to the building. The electric heater certainly could be taken out without any injury to the building, and so could shelving if it is removed in such a way as to not materially injure the walls. The removal of electric wiring would be governed by the same principles as the shelving—removal must not cause material damage to the walls or ceiling.

GOD'S MINUTE

They that know Thy Name will put their trust in Thee.—Ps. 9:10.

O God, Thou art our Father and our Mother too, and under no circumstances can we get beyond the tireless search of Thy love. Ever since we were born Thou has cared for us as though Thou hadst no other children, and still Thou dost follow us with ten thousand loving persuasions and infinite solicitude.

Grant, we beseech Thee, that Thy goodness may lead us to deeper consecration and to more heroic endeavo rto extend Thy ingdom. May we prove our love for God, Whom we have not seen, by self-denying service in behalf of our brother who is before our eyes. Save us from selfishness, from pharisaism and bigotry, from pride and vain glory, and all narrow mindedness and uncharitableness.

May we make our Master visible to some who have not yet beheld Him, and may we help our neighbors and associates to think of Him Who came not to be ministered unto but to minister; Who would not save Himself, but save others, and gave His blessed life that we might live a life of Christ-like courage and sacrifice. A Thought

ECONOMY

"No man can guage the value, at this present critical time," says Thomas Hughes, "of a steady stream of young men, flowing into all professions and all industries, who have learned resolutely to say in such a society as ours, "I can't afford it." The same value attaches to the girl who can speak and act as resolutely in the matter. Economy in the homemaker is as important as the breadwinner. No young man, no young woman, is really educated until he or she understands proposition in life, and recognizes the folly and evil of extravagance.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 13 (Canadian Press). — The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was extremely dull, there being practically no demand from United Kingdom or Continental buyers.

Owing to the further weakness in oats futures at Winnipeg and the reductions in spreads, the local market for cash oats was weaker and prices were reduced one cent per bushel.

A feature of the flour trade was the weaker feeling that developed in the market for spring wheat grades, and prices were reduced ten cents per barrel. The trade was moderately active. There was no change in the condition of the market for winter wheat flour, prices being maintained with a small trade passing.

An easier feeling prevailed in the market for standard grades of rolled oats, and values declined ten cents per bag. This was attributed to the limited demand.

There was an improved demand from United States buyers for shorts in the millfeed market and sales of several cars were made at prices equal to $37.50 per ton here. The domestic trade was dull.

The egg market was without any special feature, prices being fully maintained, but the volume of new business in a wholesale way was reported to be somewhat of a limited character owing to the fact that the packers and dealers have about sufficient storage eggs on hand for the coming season. The demand in a jobbing way was steady. The receipts were 3,597 cases.

The condition of the market for potatoes was unchanged, business being still rather quiet owing to the fact that buyers are only taking sufficient stock to meet immediate wants on account of the warmer weather and the increased supplies of new crop potatoes coming forward from the United States.

Owing to the somewhat limited supplies of imported beans coming forward and the small stocks on spot the tone of the market remains very firm. The demand was steady and sales of odd cars of choice white $3.90 per bushel, ex-track, to arrive, hand-picked grades were made at $3.90 per bushel, ex-track, to arrive and smaller quantities at $4.10 per bushel, ex-store.

The undertone to the local butter market continued strong and prices scored another advance of ¼c to ¾c per pound, which makes a net rise since this day week of 1¾c per pound and the present indications are that they will go still higher in the near future if present values for cheese are maintained. There was a steady demand for supplies, and a fair volume of business was done. The receipts were 436 packages.

The offerings of creamery butter from producers on the curb market amounted to 1,500 packages, and the settling price for No. 1 pasteurized was 34¾c per pound.

A feature of the cheese trade was the improved demand that developed from English importers, and a larger volume of business was done in this direction, and the market was rather more active. There was also some demand from spot buyers. The receipts were 9,531 boxes.

On the local curb market 1,200 boxes of Eastern cheese were offered by producers, for which 20c per pound was paid for No. 1 grades delivered here.

IT is your birthright, too. A healthy body . . . sun-tanned and vigorous . . . fit in every fibre. The admiration—and the envy—of the crowd on the side-lines.

Such vitality may seem an impossible dream to you today, when you feel you haven't the strength for a single game of tennis, let alone a smashing, hard-fought set.

Yet genuine, out-of-doors health is actually within your grasp. Thousands of Canadians have won their way back to vigorous health by attacking the commonest ailment that lies behind impaired vitality—intestinal poisoning.

They have done this by merely adding to their diet a single food—Yeast. This tiny fresh vegetable—eaten before or between meals—cleanses the digestive canal of bacterial poisons, softening the intestinal contents and "training" the muscles in prompt and complete elimination.

Give Fleischmann's Yeast the same fair trial you would give daily exercise—and you will see surprising results in a few short weeks. Within ninety days you will enjoy the full benefits of this Great Health Habit of Canada.

Order two or three days' supply from your grocer and begin a habit which will show you in just a few weeks how close you have been to perfect health.

A very interesting booklet on "Regaining Health" will be sent to you, gladly. Write to The Fleischmann Co., Dept. 243B 1449 St. Alexander Street, Montreal, Que.

The annual High Tea given by Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the Residence at the Young Women's Christian Association, to the girls in residence who are leaving for the summer months, was held last night at the 'Y' in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with mauve iris and tulips. Eighty-five guests enjoyed a daintily served repast, followed by several speeches and toasts. Mayor Denne proposed the toast to "The King" and Miss Elizabeth Thomlinson toasted "Our Guests," with a reply by Dr. J. R. Reynolds, of Guelph. Miss Mabel Walker proposed the toast to the departing Residence guests, with a reply by Miss Erma Clark. A brief address by Mr. D. Walker outlined the splendid work done by the Y.W.C.A. and the efficient manner in which Mrs. Morrison conducted the operations of the Residence section. Dr. Reynolds also spoke in highly complimentary terms of the fine local Association, comparing it favorably with the Associations in much larger places. All the speakers at the High Tea, which was one of the jolliest of these annual events, united in praise of the work done by Mrs. Morrison, the genial superintendent, and three cheers were given for her at the conclusion of the program. Guests present were Mayor and Mrs. Denne, Mr. and Mrs. D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barrie, Dr. and Mrs. A. Moir, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Macdonald, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Reynolds of Guelph, Mrs. B. The Examiner will give three prizes of up-to-the-minute stationery for the best names suggested for this column. Competition closes on Saturday night.

PETERBOROUGH stores just now have a beguiling array of tub silks in every color of the rainbow, charming hand-blocked linens, flowered lawns, and alluring chiffons which tempt one to turn dressmaker. One's summer wardrobe may be quite large this year, and yet need not be nearly so expensive as it looks, if these smart linen and cotton fabrics are made up into the possible delightful costumery.

Once more have the utilities of commerce become the comforts of home! In every street in the city awnings may be seen protecting rooms and shading windows—and they add a touch of distinction to the house. Nor are they confined to use where they show, for many homes are adding them at kitchen and pantry windows. The pretty colorings and combinations of stripes now available make it an easy matter to choose those which harmonize with any setting.

One west-end lady has solved the problem of meeting unexpected guests with sang froid. She keeps a card recipe cabinet of the usual kind, with sections added for "Quick meals," "Refrigerator meals," "Emergency Recipes," and "Tinned menus." When an emergency arises she is always prepared by reference to these sections. She has promised to give The Examiner some of her ideas.

At a bridge party in the Conservatory hall not long ago one of the players said across the table, "Every day I look for a curve. It may be the branch of a tree, or smoke curling above a housetop, or the graceful edge-line of a cloud. It's wonderful how many beautiful curves one can find by looking." There's something novel in the everyday search for the beautiful!

BAR NOTEBOOK SAYS JOURNAL

Edmonton Paper Sees Young People Losing Advantage of Ear-Memory.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 13 (CP).—The Journal:—A fatal habit which is developing rapidly among our high school and university students, and a habit in which some teachers certainly abet them, is that of making or taking notes on any and every conceivable subject. The student of today has no time to listen to lectures and class-exercises, because his head is buried in a note-book in which he writes incessantly. He cannot possibly put down the spirit of the talk, and so, being convinced that he must put down something, he grasps wildly at every proper name mentioned and equally at every date. And so he cultivates but one sense, that of the eye.

For the young person who is going out into the field of practical affairs an ear-memory is going to be an important factor, and for this our present educational methods offer little training, if we may judge from their products as we do in other creative lines.

LOVE STORY OF CARLYLE

Wrote Scathingly of His Beloved's Husband—The Agate Cross.

TORONTO, Ont., June 13 (CP).—In the 'Canadian Magazine' Blodwen Danes writes interestingly on "The Love Story of Carlyle and his Canadian Sweetheart." She tells of the little agate cross which Carlyle sent to Margaret Gordon (Lady Bannerman). "Another half century has passed in, in Chelsea the old Sage sits in imperishable bronze, and in Charlottetown still stands the great white house to which Margaret Gordon carried her secret and her agate cross. If only walls could speak! Carlyle, with all the disdain of an intellectual giant, wrote of Bannerman (his beloved's husband) with a pen that dripped scorn.

"'A year or so after,' he says, 'we heard that the fair Margaret had married some rich, insignificant Aberdeen Mr. Something, who afterwards got into parliament, went to Nova Scotia or so as "Governor" and I heard of her no more except that lately she was still living in Aberdeen childless, a Dowager Lady—her Mr. Something having got knighted before dying.'

"He knew perfectly well who Bannerman was and frequently made inquiries concerning him and his affairs. He never made any secret of his love for Margaret Gordon, the daughter of a doctor living in Nova Scotia, and even Jane Welsh was perfectly well aware of it, having learned it from her own lips. Yet he never trusted himself to meet her as he could so easily have done in London; not even toward the end of their lives when each was living out a solitary, distinguished old age.

"Margaret was left as dependent at the end of her life as she was at the beginning. Bannerman's resources had not long been as long as they should have been. Margaret was an over-generous philanthropist and all that she possessed went into her charities. She sold all her jewels for the benefit of the poor—with one exception, a miniature of her aunt, Mrs. Usher, set in forget-me-nots of diamonds."

Writing of those last days Ada MacLeod, of Prince Edward Island says:

"They were intimate friends, Mrs. Haliburton, the widow of 'Sam Slick,' Mrs. Prowse, mother of the historian of Newfoundland, two friends of old Prince Edward Island days, daughters of Lemuel Cambridge, and General Gordon, who was in command of the Royal Engineers at Gravesend. The last mentioned was especially a coadjutor with her in religious and philanthropic work."

COLOR INFLUENCES ALL WOMAN'S LIFE

Lecturer Told of Clothes—But Color in Surroundings Counts, Too.

Madame Hale Miller, the sprightly lady who recently conducted a very successful Style Show in the city, alluded to the influence of colour. "You can rest well in pale pink or pale blue," she said. "If you want excitement, wear red. If you want love, wear yellow. If you want life and love, wear flame. You have no idea what colors can do for you."

This idea of color does not need to be implemented solely in clothes. It might easily have a strong reaction in surroundings also. For instance, who would want to work day by day in a kitchen painted a dead black? Wouldn't it be depressing? Just like a mortuary chapel. Reminding one of the sensations of the chap so alliteratively described in the jingle, who "Sat in the seclusion of the dull, damp dock, awaiting the sensation of the short, sharp shock of a cheap and chippy chopper on a big, black block."

Yellow is a wonderful color for a kitchen. Nice buff walls with white woodwork and little blue frilled curtains at the windows. Or pale green walls for a sunny room, to give the effect of coolness on a sultry day.

Blue is sometimes overdone. There is a reserve and a withdrawal to blue that isn't quite as friendly as the warmer tones of pink and yellow. And browns should be anathema. Brown, unless it is golden, is a dull color, and induces dull spirits. There is more in these ideasof color than one would think. A wise little book called "The Color of His Soul" sought some years ago to draw attention to what psychologists call the "soul aura" of its particular hero. He was supposed to be a nice chap, but he turned out otherwise, before "Finis" was reached. Blue is the highest color for a soul, it seems, and white comes next. Red won't do at all and yellow isn't much better. Green is the worst of all, indicating a cowardly, sneakish aspect to the possessor. This hero's soul was green, shot with yellow, and none wondered, therefore, when he deserted the heroine and proved himself a general bad egg. The color was wrong.

Social Amenities

The Bride's Outfit.

"A June Bride" asks: "Please tell me who buys the bride's outfit and what are the bridegroom's expenditures."

The bride's outfit is bought by her parents. The bridegroom pays for his bride's bouquet and for the lapel flowers worn by himself, his best man and the ushers. He fees the minister, and, of course, buys the bride's wedding ring. He also pays for the automobiles used by himself, his best man and ushers, the minister and his wife. At fashionable functions the bridegroom supplies the ties and gloves worn by his best man and ushers.

What to Wear.

"A.G." says: "I have been invited to an informal dinner in the hotel, where there will be dancing. I am 16. Would it be correct for me to wear a gray crepe dress with long sleeves, and gray hose and slippers with low heels?"

Answer: Yes.

Red Rose Orange Pekoe has earned the patronage and good will of more tea drinkers than any other high-quality tea in Canada. Judges of good tea gladly give more for Red Rose Orange Pekoe because they know that the value they receive is worth many times the few extra cents they pay. 1-E

Wedding Flowers

By Hazel Gray.

A tricksy wind blew up the street, plundering golden maples and setting fleets of fairy argosies a-sail through the sunlit distance. This one caught the sheaf of blossoms so lately ravished from Miss Penny's garden to trim the church for the wedding. The next minute dahlias, asters, and zinnias all fell at Clare's feet, to be scattered by the wicked wind all along the pavement.

"Lucky I'm here; know you want me to—well, say things for you," Top Rainey said behind her. Improperly he was Sorrel Top—his hair a sufficient reason for the name. "You ought to have been wiser than to refuse me yesterday," Top went on serenely. "You surely understand I can use language more forcibly than any other beau you've got."

"Thank you for nothing. I can do my own swearing in a pinch," Clare flung back. "Run home, or I may have to begin."

"There is a time for all things. This isn't one for running home straight off," Top said rather disjointedly. He was half bent, picking up the flowers. "Lucky for you I'm a Christian, doing good to them that despitefully use me. If I were not—" In a twinkling he retrieved the last blossom, huddled the mass delicately in his arm, and said in a voice of profound respect: "I'll take these on to the church, Miss Darcy. Who shall I give them to—Mrs. Angell, or Miss Gray?"

"Come on," Clare said recklessly darting past him. He went on—but so soberly she was soon yards ahead. At the next corner she stopped short, saying viciously: "Aren't you ridiculous enough without playing footman? Keep up—if you insist upon coming with me."

"Oh, certainly—if you invite me," Top returned with a slow hovering smile. Once beside her he touched her bare hand very, very lightly, saying half under his breath: "Who'd think anything so little and soft could knock out clean a big hulking brute?"

"Dear me. Are you a brute? I never thought you'd admit it," Clare said icily, but with a hint of thawing underneath. Top nodded, saying—thoughtfully: "Brutes after all have their uses. Consider the elephant. But for him raging tigers, roaring lions, leopards and things might rule the world. Consider, too, the camel—"

"Shut up!" from Clare.

Top went on serenely: "And even real men now and again justify their existence—if only by contrast with the near-Brummells of today. Roy Gordon, for instance."

"So you're really jealous?"

Top shook his head. "Of a man—I might be," he said, "but that—good Lord, who could be jealous of a necktie and a silk shirt?"

"And is it the reason you want me to cut Roy dead?"

"No—because pitch sticks. He's a lump of the blackest stickiest sort." Top broke out. They were on the church steps from within came the sound of many babbling voices in high key. Under cover of the babblings Clare said clearly, "Roy will take me in his car to the reception after the wedding—it's only five miles from town—but we'll go the longest way round."

His stricken look as she spoke these words haunted her all through the wedding, despite the medley of flowers, lights, music, gay garments, gayer chatter. Roy, a radiant usher, had seated her well to the front. Top she could not see without craning her neck, but she felt his eyes upon her all through the service. Soon after the ceremony she was seated beside Roy, the soft wind in their faces and their lights making radiant pathways down the long, white turnpikes. She scarcely noted that instead of his roadster Roy drove a sedan, conspicuously new and snug, with a litter of robes in back.

"A bird—that's what she is," he said, shifting into high. "Nothing in the county can touch her by a mile. Just right for an elopement."

"Oh, a trial spin! Who's the lucky lady?" Clare asked.

"You ought to know it; she's close kin to you," Roy retorted, smiling inanely; then with sudden fierceness: "Haven't you guessed yet?"

"What?"

"Why—that we are going to get married soon as we're ten miles over the State line. We are, I tell you!" at her cry of protest. "You've had your day, playing me for a softy—thinkin' you could fling me away when you tired of the game. Well now—you can't! See? You're with me—of your own free choice—a hundred witnesses to that—you'll stay with me all night at least—unless you go home married to me—you aren't likely ever to have a chance of marrying anybody else. What you going to do about it?"

"Kill you—then myself—if you keep your word," Clare cried, making a frantic clutch for the wheel. As Roy flung off her hand, another hand fell heavily upon him—Top's big hand, indeed—and Top's voice said, still gray and cold: "Of course you needed room for luggage, eloping this way, Roy—but you provided a little too much—I've been quite comfortable since the start."

Then he half lifted Clare to the seat beside him, saying sternly: "Turn back, Roy—and drive like hell. We don't want to miss the wedding supper," adding as Roy tried to go forward: "It will look better, to the wedding crowd, if I don't have to take your place."

Then he sat closer to Clare and whispered: "You see a human brute even comes in handy—sometimes."

COUNCIL RAISES MEN'S WAGES

North Monaghan Road Workmen Will Receive 30 Cents an Hour.

The North Monaghan Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, June 11, at the Court House. All the members were present with Reeve Rye in the chair. The following communications were received: Dominion Road Machinery Company, replying to letter re power grader, and also acknowledging the receipt of an order for a new grader blade and a set of scarifier teeth; the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario stating that the price asked for lot 0 plan 50 is $600.

T. B. Henry, sanitary inspector, was present and reported the general sanitary conditions of the township and also in regard to the conditions of the dump ground. The clerk read a statement from the Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, showing that the distribution of railway tax for 1927 to the Township of North Monaghan was $180.60. From this a deduction was made of $36.50 for a patient confined in Whitby Hospital. City Clerk Armstrong wrote requesting a meeting of the City Council and Township Council on Monday, June 11, re sewer connections in the township. This had been previously agreed to by Reeve Rye.

A letter from the King's Printer stating that the revised statutes of Ontario 1927 are fifteen dollars a set. The sessional statutes for 1928 are $2.00 per copy. The Canadian Goods Roads Association wrote announcing the date of the annual convention to be held in Regina this year. Archie Patterson wrote to the Council requesting them to raise his pay from $5.00 to $6.00 per day. A motion was passed that the township wages be raised to the following prices, commencing June 11:

Men and teams, $6 a day or 60c an hour; wages for men, 30 cents an hour; township road superintendent wages, 60 cents an hour; road foreman's wages, 35 cents an hour.

The following bills were passed for payment:

ST. ANDREW'S WINS BY HEAVY HITTING

Defeats Electrics 20-9 in Campbellford Softball League.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12.—Three home runs which accounted for seven runs were the feature of the schedule game last night. Frank DeCarrol was responsible for two of them and Bill Blue claimed the first. St. Andrew's appeared in fine form last night and defeated the Electrics, 20 to 9. Although the score would indicate an unbalanced game, such was not the case. St. Andrew's were hitting everything in sight. Of the fifty-six men up to bat in the nine innings, thirty-three made safe hits. The average for the Electrics is about the same. Of the forty-five men up to bat, twenty-three made hits. There were only three real errors during the game, and of these two go to St. Andrew's.

Softball seems to be increasing in favor and at every game there is a larger crowd of spectators than at the previous one. The next regular game is to be played between the Clerks and the Legionaires on Thursday night. Wednesday night, the Outlaws and Legionaires have agreed to play their game which was postponed on account of rain.

St. Andrew's.—J. Storie, p; W. Blue, c; D. DeCarroll, 1b; H. Dunk, 2b; C. McArthur, 3b; A. Little, ss; J. Nesbitt, cf; D. Grills, rf; C. Irwin, lf. A. Bland, sub. cf.

Trent River

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, June 13.—Sunday school was called at one o'clock and the Sunday afternoon service took place an hour earlier than usual owing to the pastor, Rev. W. R. Archer, having to officiate at the I.O.O.F. decoration services at Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. John Thompson has purchased a new sedan car.

Miss Marie Davey and Mr. Jack Christie arrived Sunday at the Christie cottage. Miss Davey will remain the summer while Mr. Jack Christie spends the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McNichol and daughters, Havelock, are at their cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown, Mrs. McNichol and Miss Madge Curtis motored to Trenton Friday to attend the funeral of Mr. Gill.

Mr. Thomas Lloyd and son, Dr. Howard Lloyd left Sunday afternoon for Toronto after spending the week end at "Isle of View."

Mrs. Thomas Lloyd and daughter, Mrs. T. Lamphier (Dorothy Lloyd) motored to Toronto Tuesday after spending a few days at "Isle of View." They expect to return in two weeks for the season.

Mrs. Hendren, Norwood, spent over Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Brown and family, Browning avenue.

The members of the Varsity Collegians Orchestra are guests at 'Cedar Isle.'

TRENT RIVER, June 13. — Coral Gables Casino opened for the season on Friday night, music being supplied by Varsity Collegians, under the management of Gerry Richardson, of Toronto. An outstanding feature of the orchestra was the playing of Earl Graham, who is a violinist of exceptional merit. The pavilion has been redecorated and the floor refinished. The crowd present was indicative of the popularity of Coral Gables Casino.

The McColl tug passed through on Friday en route down the canal, stopping at the big cement piers to make repairs.

Mrs. T. Lamphier (Dorothy Lloyd) of Philadelphia spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lloyd, of Toronto, at Isle of View.

Mr. E. H. Fairbrother, of Toronto, spent over Sunday with Mrs. Fairbrother.

Miss Eva Inkster, of Marmora Continuation School, returned hme on Thursday.

Mr. Bud Inkster returned from Marmora on Thursday night, having finished his examinations at the Continuation School.

JOSEPH W. BOYD

MARMORA, June 13.—In Chicago on Sunday morning, a well-remembered native of Belmont Township passed to the Great Beyond in the person of Joseph W. Boyd. He was the fourth son of the late Ezekiel and Mary Boyd, pioneers of the Boyd settlement. In his early days, the deceased taught school in Methuen Township. Later, he took up mining and stock promoting. He was a member of Marmora A. F. and A. M. 222, G.R.C., a thirty-third degree member, as well as a Shriner. In religion the late Mr. Boyd was an Anglican. Mr. S. C. Boyd and Mrs. Arthur Smith of town are nephew further survived by his widow and and niece of the deceased, who is one son, Junar. The funeral took place in Chicago on Tuesday afternoon.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

THOMAS DOYLE.

MARMORA, June 13.—The death occurred on Sunday evening at his home in Marmora village of Thomas Doyle, one of the most respected of residents who had seen the light of seventy-eight summers. He was born in Marmora township of Irish parentage. His father when a young man taught school for a while in Marmora township and was considered a man of ability. Thomas decided upon farming as his occupation and for osme years also did some lumbering. He always kept a good stock of cattle and was considered a very successful farmer. He was known to be very conscientious in all his undertakings. He was one of the oldest members of the Sacred Heart congregation. For the past few years he had been in failing health so that his end was not unexpected. His widow whom before marriage was Margaret Darrah, suvives him. Eleven of twelve children born of the marriage also survive him, namely, William and John of Marmora township, Joseph of Marmora, Thomas of Campbellford, Patrick, Henry and James of Macleod, Alberta, Mrs. E. Phillips, of Detroit, Mrs. P. Brawley of Marmora township, Mrs. J. Forestell of Lindsay and Kate at home. Mrs. G. Bedore, a daughter, predeceased him some years ago. Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. B. Murphy of Marmora township, Miss Martha Doyle of Belleville and Mrs. A. Russ, now residing in the United States. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning, Rev. Father J. J. O'Reilly officiating.

WILLIAM ALLAN FORSYTH

MILLBROOK, June 13.—William Allan Forsyth, whose death, following an extended illness, took place in his forty-sixth year on Wednesday June 6, was born in Hope Township and was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Forsyth.

Deceased received his education here, and after graduation from high school, taught at Cedar Valley, and afterward at Carmel. Interested always in clean sport, Mr. Forsyth was one of the Millbrook "Old Boys" lacrosse team, which brought fame to the community by defeating the Souris team, the year it held the Western championship.

Some years ago Mr. Forsyth gave up the teaching profession and entered upon a mercantile career, settling in Galt and carrying on a prosperous business until 1922, when he had a serious relapse in health from which he never fully recovered. The last three and one-half years of his life were spent at the Freeport Sanitorium at Kitchener; three weeks before his death, he was brought to his sister's home through the hope that the change might prove beneficial, met with disappointment.

The immediate surviving relatives include three sisters: Mrs. J. Falls, Port Hope; Mrs. G. F. Harrington, and Miss Ethel Forsythe, Millbrook.

The funeral took place on Friday at 2 p.m., from the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. G. F. Harrington, King street, Rev. F. H. Howard, Rev. Joseph Wilks, and Rev. P. C. Howard taking part in the service. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. W. H. Coombe, L. C. Russell, T. H. Collins, F. W. Pendrie, H. Nattress, and W. O'Brian. Interment was at Gardiner's cemetery. There were many beautiful floral tributes laid upon the casket.

Among those attending the funeral were an uncle, Rev. Dr. W. E. Smith of West China; Mrs. Duncan Smith of Vancouver, B.C.; and a number of friends from the vicinity of Mr. Forsyth's boyhood home.

The verses which follow were composed by the deceased during a night of sleeplessness and pain while a patient in the sanitorium, and express the spirit of unselfishness and Christian fortitude which characterized his long illness throughout Does Ill Health Detract from Your Good Looks?

Hamilton, Ont.—"I was in a rundown state of health, my nerves were bad and I suffered from backaches and pains in my side, which would be so severe that I would get weak and have to lie down. I could not eat without being distressed. Upon the advice of a relative I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of all my distress, and I do not suffer in any way from any of the above conditions. I have a good appetite and my nerves are in splendid condition. I am strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. George Turansky, 373 Ferguson Ave. North.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Sharp setbacks in prices yesterday for all grain except corn resulted largely from a soaking received by much of the American spring wheat belt. Reports that stocks of Argentine corn in Canada are exhausted helped to uphold the corn market. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1⅞c to 2¾c net lower, with corn ¼c off to ⅝c up, oats ¼c to 1⅝c down, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to an advance of 7 cents.

In addition to news of copious rains in domestic spring crop territory, the Canadian Government crop report was a notable bearish factor as to wheat. According to one of the best known Chicago trade authorities, the Canadian report pointed to a probable yield of 17 bushels an acre, bettering somewhat the average since 1920, although less than last year.

Selling was also given emphasis by the fact that the first car of new wheat to arrive at any teminal market this season was reported from Fort Worth, Texas.

Weakness of the stock market yesterday contributed more or less also at times to the downward swing of wheat values. July delivery of wheat here fell to the lowest point touched since March 28. Some recovery in wheat prices, however, was noted in the late dealings. Rallies were ascribed chiefly to buying orders from the North-west. Export business in North American wheat yesterday was estimated at 700,000 bushels.

Corn displayed stubborn resistance to selling pressure despite wheat weakness. Shipping demand here for corn was excellent and purchases included 100,000 bushels for Canada.

Oats sympathized with wheat.

Provisions averaged lower on scattered selling influenced by breaks in the value of grain.

WEDDING BELLS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DIXON-EVERSON.

DUNSFORD, June 13. — A pretty June wedding was solemnized in the United church here on Saturday, when Hazel Rebecca Everson, eldest daughter of Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson became the bride of James Elmer Dixon, son of James and the late Mrs. Dixon of Sharbot Lake.

The ceremony was performed at high noon under an arch of evergreens and lilacs by the Rev. J. F. Everson, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. M. L. Hinton of Bobcaygeon.

The bride who was dressed in white silk crepe with veil and orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of white daffodils, entered the church leaning upon the arm of her grandfather, William Everson, of Beaverton.

The church was beautifully decorated with mountain ash, lilacs and cut flowers. A delicate luncheon was served in the church hall for the guests, who numbered about fifty. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell, Mr. Wesley and Miss Lizzie Brown of Marlbank; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Evans and Master Howard, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Mitchell, Miss Lulu and Gordon of Norham; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Martyn and Miss Gertrude; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Vickery and Misses Grace and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker of Port Perry; Miss Stella Wood, of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. William Everson and Miss Verna of Beaverton.

The bride's going away dress was of sand chiffon with hat and coat to match.

The happy couple left by motor for Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls, and upon their return will reside in Belleville.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Death strikes GARRETT FOLSOM while swimming at Ocean Town, N.J. Investigation shows he has been stabbed to death under the water.

Folsom's swimming companions were ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper kin.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is also learned that one CROYDON SEARS, who was in Barron's party, is a fancier of curious knives. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room.

He believes his uncle had been blackmailing several people and he and Riggs discover suspicious documents in Folsom's effects, some bearing the initials of Croy on Sears.

Riggs questions Sears and is answered curtly. Others act suspiciously, including Ned Barron's wife, MADELINE.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII.

"Ang l," and Robin Sears looked at her with a sort of dumb misery in his clear young eyes.

"Yes, Robin; and I suppose that serious tone betokens a hint of new trouble."

"Hit it first time, my discerning young friend."

They sat on the sand, the girl in her modish and very charming bathing costume, wrapped in a beach cape to match, and young Sears in his swimming suit.

"Well, what is it, d ar?"

"Only that I can't find the man with the green bathing suit."

"That all? Then, we'll have to pull through without him."

"Yes, that's what we'll have to do. But it's going to be hard pulling."

"What's the new d velopm nt?"

Angelica Fair, with all her blush-rose loveliness, was no empty-pated doll.

Nor was she a serious-minded young person. She was just a wholesome, happy American girl, with a love of pleasure natural to her age and surroundings and an avid enjoyment of her life and her love.

She had been engaged to Robin Sears for a year and the autumn would bring their weddin day.

They were joyously in love, their tastes were similar and the seashore holiday they were enjoying together was full of a deep contentment for both.

And then clouds had appeared on the scene, and now each was disturbed.

Angel was anxious about Madeline, who for some reason was nervous and apparently troubled.

Maddy herself denied this and showed always a gayety and merriment that were so palpably forced as to deceive no one who knew her well.

Ned Barron, big, hearty, happy chap that he was, professed himself willing to go home, or to go anywhere on the face of the earth that his wife favored.

But as soon as she had won him over to going, she changed her mind and wanted to stay.

It was unlike her to be whimsical or dissatisfied. Devoted to her husband and her baby, Madeline Barron stood, one would have said, for a high type of normal, modern woman. And it was only of late that the faintest wave of unrest had been observable on her sunny calm.

Angelica pondered over it and wondered if she ought to speak to Ned.

For Barron worshipped his wife, but he was the sort who assumed everything was all right and quite as usual.

But Angel saw, and with quick intuition knew that something was wrong, and set about finding out what it was, though so far without success.

And now, Robin, too, was stirred up.

He had confided to Angel that his father was bothered.

"Bothered, that's what he is," Robin had said. "And when my dad gets bothered it means there's something gone wrong."

"Yes," said the girl, "I've understood that was the significance of that word."

Robin flicked a handful of sand at her and went on.

"You see, I know him so well that though he looks and acts just the same as ever, I can see the difference. And it's so queer. I'd as soon look for upsettedness in the Washington monument."

"How does he show it? Jumpy?"

"No, not a bit. The other way. Absorbed. Quiet. Brown study effect."

"I haven't noticed it, but, of course, he wouldn't show it before other folks. If you see it, Robin, it must be there. It's just like what I notice in Madeline and Ned doesn't seem to see it at all. But Ned's such a dear old blind sheep—he wouldn't notice the house was on fire unless some one insisted upon it. Of course the two cases can't have any connection?"

"Don't see how. I can't think the two are planning an elopement. Dad admires Maddy, but he's not much impressed by women's charms, except your own. He adores you, Angel."

"Sure. Now, Robin, have you spoken to him about this?"

"Not yet, but I think I shall. And, absurd as it seems, I believe it all comes back to the murder of that man."

"Mr. Folsom? Why your father scarcely knew him!"

"So he says, but—"

"Your father wouldn't lie! He's a gentleman."

"My father is the most gentleman I ever knew in one piece. But don't make any mistake, Angel. Gentlemen prefer lies sometimes."

"Oh, well, I suppose to shield some erring woman or to preserve the honor of the regiment. Oh, I've read short stories. But what about the man in the green suit? And there's a fine short story title for you!"

"Isn't it! Sounds like a detective story."

"We're in a detective story. You know that Tite person is working very hard on the Folsom case."

"I know it—I should say I did know it! That's where the trouble began. And, Angel, he—well, I won't say suspects—but he is what I believe they call 'looking into' my Dad!"

"Much good that'll do him, for you and I know he can't find anything there but the best."

"We know it, but he doesn't. And if that's what's upsetting Dad, then—well, then, I've got to find the green suit man."

"You've tried?"

"In the few ways I can think of. I've asked all the life guards, and all the bathhouse keepers, but of course, only the ones around this locality. That man may have belonged to a hotel way down the beach, and just happened to swim here and then went back."

"Yes, of course. What about advertising?"

"I don't know. It doesn't seem very practicable. Men who wear green bathing suits don't read the papers much."

"Naturally not. In fact, they're not much worn. And that ought to make it easier to find him."

"Ought to. But it doesn't seem to. Let's walk along the beach and see if we can't spot him ourselves."

"Have you asked your father much about this eccentric dresser?"

"He's funny about it. He says 'Don't know any more than I've told you. Inquiry closed,' or something like that. Laughingly, you know, yet decidedly, too. There's something at the back of his mind, dear old chap, and Little Robin is going to work it out."

"With Angel's help," the girl said, rising, "Hello, there's Mr. Riggs."

Titus came alongside. He was in civilian dress, for he never went in the surf, and he dared the damp sands to speak to the pair.

"I say, youngsters," he called out cheerily, but Robin detected the hesitant note in his voice, "just a minute, eh?"

"All the time you can use," said Robin, looking at him keenly.

"Yes, boy," Riggs said, quietly, "You've guessed it. I have something to say. And I may as well speak out. There is a definite feeling of what may at least be called suspicion forming toward your father, and I thought you'd rather I'd tell you than not. I know you don't mind my speaking before Miss Fair."

"Rather not!" Robin braced himself as for a blow. "What's the new clue?"

"The police finally dragged it out of the auction room people that your father returned there later that night and bought a third dagger. As we know, he admitted two, but said nothing about a third."

Industrial Life Insurance Benefits

For a number of years the London Life has paid a cash bonus, amounting to as much as 25% of the policy, on every policy maturing as an endowment or becoming a death claim on which eight years premiums had been received.

Older policies have been increased, as much as 50% of their face value at young ages, to give to these policyholders the greater benefits which improved conditions have enabled the London Life to incorporate in its newer policies.

An Example

Policy Issued at Age 2

Original Amount of Policy -	$124.00
*Voluntary Additions -	114.45
(Face Amount Increased $66.00)
(Profit Bonus 48.45)
Total Payable - -	$238.45

*These additions were granted to give old policyholders the benefit of (1) the lowered death rate in Canada due to improved health conditions, and (2) the Company's increased interest earnings.

General provisions and privileges of London Life Industrial Policies have, in recent years, been greatly liberalized to give the Policyholders the benefits derived from present day conditions.

COGNAWAGAS AND CRESCENTS PLAY 2-2 TIE

COGS SCORE TIEING RUN IN OVERTIME

Game Called After Extra Innings on Account of Darkness.

VANNEST GOOD

Has Eleven Strikeouts and Allows But Two Hits in Five Innings.

Putting the usual East Peterborough League thrills into their finish, Cognawagas and Raybestos tied at 2 to 2, at Exhibition Park last evening. The game went into an extra innings, with Cogs scoring a run in their half, but with one gone and Rogers at bat, the contest was called. Darkness came quickly, accompanied by a fog.

The game lacked anything that looked out of the ordinary until the fourth when centrefielder Moore went up and speared Wilson's long fly and doubled Vennest at first. It was a spectacular catch. Cogs were leading at the time by 2 to 1 and were headed for more runs when Moore put on the brakes. In the seventh, after Masterson had doubled over Prest, the latter came in and made a remarkable catch of Hillier's fly. Johnny Wilson followed this fine play to get Vannest out of a bad hole when he grabbed a liner from Scully, touched Nicholls away from the bag and threw to the plate where Baker nabbed Masterson to retire the side, and prevent a Raybestos victory.

Vannest had the edge in the hurling. In five innings he allowed but two hits and struck out eleven, retiring the side twice on strikeouts. He wavered in the sixth when the Rays sent over the tieing run and only fast work by Prest and Wilson saved him in the seventh. Masterson was wild but his teammates held him up well in the field. He got the only extra base hit for his team, when it was needed in the seventh, and the Rays should have converted it into a victory run.

Cogs opened the game with a run on Wilson's liner across second, a passed ball and Rooke's single into middle.

Raybestos came right back and Hillier who was deadheaded scored on Corbett's wide throw to Rooke, with two gone.

Cogs shot ahead in the second on Crary's double and Billingsley's hit down third on which Nicholls threw badly to first. The runner had the throw beaten.

Raybestos moved up abreast the Cogs in the sixth which Scully opened with a drive into left. Wilson lost Rogers' grounder, and Moore cut one through third to score Scully.

The seventh was fast and exciting. Billingsley walked for the Cogs and was forced by Vannest, Scully barely missing a double killing. Wilson was passed. Corbett sent out a fly to centre, Moore getting under the ball to hold Vannest at second, the latter having stolen the base. Cripps lined to Hillier who tossed to Scully to get Wilson.

For Raybestos, Masterson doubled to right. Hillier's fly was caught after a run by Prest. Nicholls walked. Nicholls was stealing when Scully lined to Wilson. The latter fumbled the ball but recovered in time to touch Nicholls away from the bag, after which he shot the ball to Baker who got Masterson at the plate.

Cogs got a run across in the eighth on a pass to Rooke, Prest's infield out and Baker's double, but it failed to count, as the game was called in the Rays' half with one gone.

RUTH CLOUTS 23RD HOMER

Three Runs by Circuit Twins Assists Yankees Win 15-7 Victory.

INDIANS LOSE OUT

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—A home run barrage, which included Babe Ruth's twenty-third and Lou Gehrig's fourteenth and fifteenth circuit blows, enabled the Yankees to win as they pleased from the White Sox at Chicago yesterday. The score was 15 to 7. Earl Combs and Pat Collins also hit for the round trip. Each Yankee homer except Combs' came with one runner on base.

George Pipgras won his eleventh game of the season against a single defeat, but retired with an eleven-run lead after the eighth. Campbell gave the Sox three runs in the ninth.

Bob Reeves' triple off Bayne in the ninth inning scored Judge with the run that gave Washington a 3 to 2 victory at Cleveland and prolonged Cleveland's losing streak to seven games.

Bayne started the final in place of Levson who had walked nine batters.

Lloyd Ehmke outpitched Owen Carroll and the Philadelphia Athletics to take the third game of the series at Detroit, 3 to 2. With a single to centre, Jimmy Fox drove in Cochrane with the winning run in the eighth after Marty McManus had tied the score in the sixth with a home run which scored Fothergill ahead of him.

Allowing the Browns only 7 hits while his team mates were collecting an even dozen off two St. Louis hurlers, youthful Morris, Red Sox rookie, emerged with a 5 to 2 victory at St. Louis.

A homer by Brannon in the third, driving McNeely in ahead of him brought the Browns' tallies. Rothrock's homer in the sixth routed Blaeholder.

Conclude Training For 'Bout To-Night

MONTREAL, Que., June 13.—(Canadian Press).—Tony Canzoneri, New York, world's featherweight champion, and Vic Foley, of Vancouver, B.C., concluded their training here yesterday in preparation for their ten round bout here to-night. Both fighters were reported in perfect condition.

Other fights on the card are;

George Chabot, of Montreal, vs. Joe Trabon, Denver, lightweight, 10 rounds.

Bert Brown, Montreal, vs. Bobby Garcia, Baltimore, featherweights, 10 rounds.

Tommy Ryan, Buffalo, vs. Benny Schwartz, Baltimore, bantamweights, 10 rounds.

The referee who will handle the Canzoneri-Foley match is Harry Ertle, of Jersey City, recognized as one of the most efficient "third man" the ring has ever known.

Kiwanis Juniors and Lockworks clash to-night at six o'clock in a league fixture at Riverside Park.

Harrison's North-Enders and the Lockworks will battle it out on Thursday at Confederation Park, instead of on Wednesday night, as published in yesterday's paper. This is the first time these two teams have met this season and although the North-enders are a new entry in the league the fans can expect a tidy contest.

The Public School softball league has been brought to a close after a successful season with Queen Mary winning the honors defeating Central school 2-1 in the final game played on Monday. The champions were defeated only once during the season and that by Central, in the first of the year. The hardball schedule has not yet been run out on account of several games having to be postponed because of the unsettled weather conditions but it is expected that the remaining games will be played this week.

Raybestos players were mad when the game was kept motion after the seventh last night, and Cogs were glad. When the game was called because of darkness, the Rays expressed their pleasure and the Cogs gave way to gloom. What a life for umpires and league executives!

SCORES GIVEN FOR COMPETITIONS

Canadian Cadets Victorious in Small Bore Rifle Meet.

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Additional details of the Canadian Cadets victory in the small bore rifle competitions with the Cadets of other parts of the Empire are contained in a communication from the National Rifle Association under whose auspices the Empire-wide match was held, to Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence. The match, which was fired at the local ranges of the various Cadet Corps, was participated in by 34,000 Cadets, of whom 4,564 were Canadian Cadets.

The Canadians won the King's Trophy, having a lead of 3,537 points for a team of 3,000 boys over South Africa, the next highest. The scores were:

Canada	237,633
South Africa	234,096
Great Britain	213,174
New Zealand..	191,793

With the approval of His Majesty, medals of honor are awarded to Cadets who make outstanding scores in this match. Medals are in silver for those who score 100 or 99 points and in bronze for all who score 98 or 97 points. Following is a list of medals won:—

	Silver.	Bronze.
Canada	64	175
Australia	23	67
South Africa	9	29
Great Britain	13	26
New Zealand	1	5
India	..	5

Other valuable prizes are offered for Cadet team competition in connection with this match. These include the Senior and Junior Imperial Challenge Shields, the Earl Jellicoe's Sword, and Field Marshal Earl Haig's Sword.

The Senior Shield is won by Royal Australian Naval Reserve, Newcastle, New South Wales, whose team of 100 firers averaged 98.76 points. The Hamilton, Ontario, Central Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps, which was second, entered 323 Cadets, but under the conditions, was allowed to discard fifty per cent of the lowest scores. Its net team strength was, therefore, 161 Cadets, who made the remarkable average of 98.427 points. Captain J. R. Cornelius, the instructor, is to be congratulated upon the success of his team, of whom 141 qualify as Empire marksmen, and 52 as Empire First Class shots. The Academia Commerciale Cadet Corps, Quebec, is third; its team also of 161 boys averaging 97.253 points in this school, 148 Cadets qualify as Empire Marksmen, and 16 as Empire First Class Shots. Rev. Brother Gabriel in charge of Cadet training at the school deserves hearty congratulations on the success of his efforts. His corps stands fifth in the "honor list" of the best hundred units of the Empire.

Earl Jellicoe's Sword is won by Royal Marines Volunteer Cadet Corps, Deal, England, with Chatham Grammar School Cadets, Chatham, New Brunswick, under Captain W. J. Duncan, third, with an average for 26 boys of 91.1 points.

The following are the winners of Earl Haig's Sword and £10:

No. 792, King George School Cadets, St. John, New Brunswick, with an average of 94.52 points for a team of 18 Junior Cadets.

The second and third places are taken by:

No. 918, Sea Cadet Corps, Port Arthur, Ontario, and No. 819, Alexandra School Cadet Corps, St. John, New Brunswick.

The trophy presented by the Duke of Devonshire when Governor-General of Canada, was won by Hamilton Central Collegiate Institute, whose Cadet Corps ranks third in order of merit in the Empire.

BENTON HOLDS REDS 10 TO 1

Giants Subdue Cincinnati to Mark Benton's Tenth Victory of Season.

ROBINS WIN 13-1

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Giants hit hard behind Larry Benton's good pitching here yesterday, and easily subdued the Cincinnati Reds in the third game of the series, 10 to 1. It was Benton's tenth victory in twelve games, all of which he completed for a run of 110 innings without relief.

Just after increasing the Cincinnati double play total to 82 with an unassisted dual killing in the fifth, Horace Ford snapped his run of errorless play at shortstop by making a double miscue on Hogan's grounder. In twenty-five straight games and half of the twenty-sixth, Ford handled 135 chances without a bobble.

While Benton was holding the Reds to six scattered hits, the Giants were pounding Pete Donohue and his successor, Jablonowski. Edwards quieted the home team from the fifth to the finish.

Robins Win 13-1.

After bowing tamely before Charley Root for five innings at Brooklyn the Robins turend loose a barrage of base hits which started them on the way to a 13 to 1 victory and an even count in the series to date. It was also Brooklyn's first victory of the season over Chicago.

Brooklyn crowded fifteen hits into the last three innings, including Del Bissonette's twelfth home run of the season and Jim Elliott's first. Bissonette had a perfect day at bat with a walk, a single and two doubles in addition to his homer. He drove in five runs, and remained in a tie for National League home run honors with Rogers Hornsby, who hit a circuit blow at Boston.

Pittsburgh crushed the Phillies under an avalanche of hits yesterday and evened up the Philadelphia series by winning 15 to 4. Miller, McGraw and Willoughby were socked for 25 hits by the Corsairs. Ray Kremer allowed the Phillies only 5 hits, two of which were home runs by Leach and Hurst.

With two home runs and a double, Jim Bottomley led the St. Louis attack as the Cardinals won the second game of the Boston series from the Braves yesterday, 9 to 6. St. Louis now has won 10 games out of 13 on their present road trip and is one game behind first place. In today's batting orgy the Cardinals made a total of 34 bases. Cooney relieved R. Smith in the seventh and stopped the visitors' scoring. Roettger and Hornsby also drove out home runs.

Montreal Athletic Commission Adopts New Rule Regarding Fouls In Ring

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 13. — Canadian Press. — Considerable discussion has arisen in local boxing circles over the ruling placed on the statute books of the Athletic Commission of Montreal yesterday with regard to fouls, a rule which immediately went into effect.

Under this regulation, which was proposed by Alderman Georges Lalancette and seconded by Alderman J. B. Rochon, boxers who commit a foul, either accidentally or otherwise, will be paid pro rata only for the rounds in which they have engaged. For instance, if a boxer is contracted to box ten rounds for a fee of $1500 and fouls his opponent in the third round, he will receive only $650. The ruling of course, makes no difference to a boxer who is the victim of a foul blow. In the scae of a boxer who claims a foul, and who is found upon medical examination, to have been struck by a fair blow, the same ruling will apply as in the case of a boxer committing a foul.

The idea in the minds of the sponsors of the new rule is to make boxers more careful in directing their blows, and also less anxious to claim fouls.

KEYS POUND HANKINS 7-1

Reading Takes Final Game of Series From Toronto 7 to 1.

HOMERS FEATURE

READING, Pa., June 13 (Canadian Press).—Reading pounded Hankins hard in six innings to take the final game from Toronto, 7 to 1, here yesterday. Pete Fowler held the Leafs to six hits, four of which were obtained by Sheedy. George Quellich had a perfect day at bat. He hit his third home run in two days in the third with one on base. Johnny Moore also hit for the circuit.

SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

NEWARK, N.J., June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Bears and Rochester Red Wings split even in a double header here yesterday. The Wings won the first 6 to 5, while the Bears took the nightcap 8 to 4. The Bears played great ball in the second game and hammered out thirteen hits including three doubles, a triple and a homer. The latter was gathered by Fournier and was his tenth for the year. Indifferent playing and failure to hit in pinches cost the Bears the first game.

MONTREAL WINS FROM CATS

JERSEY CITY, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—A double by Gulley in the first inning scoring two runs helped Montreal defeat Jersey City yesterday by four to one. Sherrid pitched a good game and kept Jersey City's eight hits well scattered. A single by McHugh followed by Kunesch's triple in the eighth inning saved the Cats from a shutout.

HOTTEST FIGHT OF YEAR HERE ON SATURDAY

Kingston Ponies Will Clash With Petes in League Fixture.

NO LOVE LOST

Rivalry Between Two Teams Ensures Hectic Argument.

Whatever may be the result of other games this week Peterborough fans are assured of a red-hot battle Saturday when the Kingston Ponies make their first appearance of the season here.

The Ponies love the Petes as much as a second husband likes to hear his wife talk about the virtues of spouse number one and every time the two outfits get together there are fireworks.

The feeling is accentuated now by reason of the dispute over the recent postponed game and the teams will fight it out until the last ditch.

While the Ponies' pitching has been spotty Joe Daley has a team of hard hitters to send into action and such players as Bubs Britton, Del Cherry, Buck, George Ada and young Elliott will make plenty of trouble for any man's team.

Saturday's game which will have George Sullivan of Kingston as umpire-in-chief promises to be the most peppery of the season.

SPORT CHATTER

(By F. D. C.)

A hectic three days for the Peterborough Ball Club was scheduled to begin to-day with a double-header at Deloro, the Petes clashing with the Smelter outfit in two nine innings battles. Friday the team journeys to Kingston and the Ponies and the Petes come right back here for a game on Saturday. And after that the boys will be glad to call it a week.

The probabilities are that Shiner Johnston will be out of the line up in to-day's twin-bill at Deloro. The veteran is suffering from a flock of "Job's comforters" and he played last Saturday under a handicap that most ball tossers would not have faced.

As a sample of scoring that doesn't mean a thing the Oshawa scribe who accompanied the Motorists to Peterborough on Saturday credited his team with six hits. The Oshawa gang ought to hit .500 on the season if they get them handed out like that.

Frank Whitehouse, the former Lakeview and Peterborough southpaw is pitching good ball for Erie, Pa., in the Central League and in addition to his fine twirling is hitting the old Spalding at a great rate. What a help this boy would be if he could still wear a Peterborough uniform.

It is not likely that the Petes will be presented with any floral horseshoes when they take the field against the Ponies in Kingston on Friday. Nor is an address of welcome from the Mayor expected. At that there will be enough people turn out to jeer at the Petes to give the Kingston management a bumper gate.

While the Petes are threatened with too much work the Belleville gang only have one game this week. They are scheduled to play in Kingston to-night.

Tough Driving

On busy streets, where you have to squirm, dodge, edge in, stop, start, speed up, slow down and shift gears—where one moment your motor is racing—the next idling: the strain on your motor is terrific. Heat increases to such a degree that only a superoil can prevent damage.

The function of oil is to safeguard your motor. It surrounds the vital parts with a thin film which has to withstand the bitter lash of scorching heat and grinding friction. A film of ordinary oil breaks and burns—and through the broken film hot raw metal chafes against metal. Finally you have a burnt out bearing, a scored cylinder, a seized piston. Then the repair shop—and bills.

The Veedol famous "film of protection" masters heat and friction. Thin as tissue, smooth as silk, tough as steel, it fights to save your engine; and because it is tested to withstand heat 100° hotter than the hottest friction spot in your motor, it means smoother running, greater power, freedom from engine trouble.

Cheap oil is the most expensive lubrication you can buy. Veedol costs a few cents more to buy but saves many dollars in repair bills. Veedol motor oils have been reformulated—heavier-bodied, longer lived, more super heat-resisting than ever. In Veedol you have the "fightingest" oil that ever tamed heat—the correct oil for the new type motors and the best oil for any motor. Have your crankcase filled with the new Veedol and give your motor the extra protection it requires.

LADY BOWLERS ENJOY SOCIAL

Bridge Tea Held at Club House Softball Executive Meets.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13.— The ladies of the Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club held a very successful afternoon tea and bridge in the club house yesterday afternoon. There were seven tables and the prize for the highest score was won by Mrs. O. C. Watson. Mrs. C. L. Owen and Mrs. E. J. Free poured tea. The function was the official opening of the club for the ladies, and the secondary purpose was to get in touch with any ladies who intended to become members for the present season. There were sixteen names submitted to the secretary for membership. The bridge teas will become a regular weekly affair at the club, the members taking turns acting in the capacity of hostess. Next week, the hostess will be Mrs. E. C. Dolman and Mrs. W. S. Wiggins.

At the softball executive meeting held immediately after the game yesterday, the resignation of the Rev. C. D. Daniels, president, was accepted, and J. H. Bell, vice president, was unanimously appointed in Mr. Daniel's place. Mr. Daniels is leaving Campbellford to take charge of a church in the Toronto conference at the end of the present month, thus his resignation from the local softball league was accepted. There was no appointment made for vice-president.

A special meeting of the local lodge 248, I.O.O.F., was held last night in preparation for their proposed trip to Stirling this evening.

Of interest to local dancers who are in the habit of attending Coral Gables Casino, will be the announcement that the Varsity Entertainers have completed their first voyage as ship's orchestra on board the Empress of Scotland. The famous saxophone player, Bob O'Hara, has been added to the personnel of the entertainers.

REPORT CONFIRMED.

The management of H. LeBrun & Co. has confirmed the United Selling System's statement that the affairs of H. LeBrun & Co. are to be wound up and stocks liquidated. Although it was generally disbelieved, it was quite evident that there was a foundation of facts, from the drastic statements, price cuts and sacrifices United Selling System representative has made. Further proof is given in H. LeBrun's advertisement in this issue. It is beyond doubt genuine. (Advt.).

Toronto Market Shows Signs Of Recovery

TORONTO, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Prices were firmer on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, but the recent collapse in New York was still effective and declines were noted in most issuesc. At the opening, the market showed signs of a revival and many issues registered slight gains, but later in the session dropped below yesterday's close. International was again a strong spot and in heavy trading advanced 1¾ to 91. Brazilian also showed strength, gaining ⅝ to 52¾. Abitibi also showed strength, gaining ⅝ to 52¾. Massey Harris, another active issue, was unchanged at 37½. Canada Brewing at 30, City Dairy at 52½, and Carlings at 28¾ suffered fractional drops. Canada Malting was down ⅝ at 32¾ and the Rights took a further drop of five to 25. Seagrams was slightly lower at 17¾, and Walkers was up a point at 55. Both issues were very active. International Petroleum at 38 was slightly higher, while British American Oil at 35½ and Imperial Oil at 63½ were fractionally lower.

Weakness Continues On Mining Exchange

TORONTO, June 13. Canadian Press. — The weakness which characterized the trading on the Standard stock and mining exchange since the beginning of the week was even more noticeable to-day. Noranda and Teck Hughes were notable exceptions, Noranda recording a gain of 95 at 32.65, and Teck Hughes a gain of 10 at 10.85. The chief losers were Barry Hollingers, losing 4½ at 81. Hollinger was down 50 at 14.00. Pend Oreille a drop of 1.00 at 12.60. Dome showed a loss of 30 at 8.30. Sudbury Basin lost 20 at 9.05. Apart from Pend O'Reille the western issues were firm. Hudson Bay at 17.05 and Central Manitoba at 1.27 were unchanged. Sherritt Gordon was up 3 at 5.93.

Upturn At Liverpool Followed At Chicago

CHICAGO, June 13. Canadian Press. — Unexpected higher quotations at Liverpool gave the wheat market here an early upward trend to-day. The offerings at Liverpool were reported to be scarce and previous sellers becoming buyers indicating a general oversold condition. Opening 3-8c off to ⅛c up, Chicago wheat afterwards scored moderate gains all around. Corn and oats were easy.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 139¼; corn, July 104 1-8; Sept. 102 3-8; oats, July 54; Sept., 45 7-8.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

FOR THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, THE CAPITOL OFFERS A TWO FEATURE PROGRAM, "40,000 MILES WITH LINDBERGH" ACTUAL MOTION PICTURES THAT HAVE MADE LINDY, THE WORLD'S HERO; AND TOM MIX IN "HORSEMEN OF THE PLAINS."

For the last half of this week commencing to-morrow, the Capitol will offer a program of exceptional merit, consisting of two big feature attractions. "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh", and Tom Mix in "Horsemen of the Plains." The Lindbergh are actual motion picture stories of the achievements that have made "Lindy" the world's hero. Lindy's hop to Paris-London—The cheering millions of seventeen foreign countries—His return to America—His reception in the different places in Canada and the United States—The wonder plane of St. Louis—Lindy's trip through Latin America, are all shown, making the most amazing experiences of any human.

Tom Mix scores again in "The Horsemen of the Plains" which is on the same program with Lindbergh.

Mix's simple request to see the boss of the O'Day ranch brings down an avalanche of adventure and intrigue about his ears. Dawn O'Day, owner of the ranch, is fighting a losing battle. Everyhing is heavily mortgaged and the grasping hand of the sheriff hangs perilously close. The hysterical girl enters her horses in the Triggertown Sweepstakes and begs Tom Swift to ride for the honor of the O'Day ranch.

Rutherford Gates, a supposed friend of the family, attempts to tamper with her horses, but he reckoned without Swift. Riding like ten thousand furies, Swift makes the other contestants look as though they are standing still.

Pounding down the home stretch with victory within his grasp, Swift battles with Gates and defeats him after a gruelling fight to a finish, winning the sweepstakes and the girl in his dashing, daring manner.

Sally Blane is cast as the girl. Others in the picture are Heinie Conklin, Charles Byers and Lew Harvey. Benjamin Stoloff directed the production.

AT THE REGENT.

BLUE COMING SOON IN FLYING THRILLER.

Film fans who gasp at the reckless sky stunts of Monte Blue in his latest starring film, "Across the Atlantic," will have nothing on the executives of Warner Bros.' studio during the making of the film.

Blue is an enthusiastic convert to aviation, and while aloft during the filming of air scenes, insisted on being initiated into all the fancy and perilous loops and spins of which those who have been up delight in boasting. And the Warner Bros.' officials, mindful of the millions of dollars in box office value represented by the star, were compelled to stand anxiously looking on.

"Across the Atlantic," an original story by John Ransome, was adapted by Harvey Gates. Howard Bretherton is the director. Monte Blue is supported by Edna Murphy, Robert Ober and Burr McIntosh. Blue in "Across the Atlantic" comes to the Regent Theatre Thursday for a run of three days.

BIG EXTENSION TO HOSPITAL

erally recognized that this use will increase very quickly as the years go by.

Our hospital as it now stands has been seriously crowded for some time. In fact, we frequently have been unable to admit patients owing to the lack of accommodation. Consequently, your board, realizing this situation, have prepared plans for an extension that will raise our capacity to 150 beds.

The plan will include a thoroughly up-to-date fire proof extension with the necessary accommodation required by a modern hospital. We have here a sketch of the building as it will appear when completed. It will be equipped with modern and up-to-date operating rooms, maternity section, sun parlors and convalescent rooms, also complete mechanical refrigeration, diet kitchen and laundry equipment. The heating plant will be placed in the north of the building from which direct radiation will be distributed throughout the whole building. Over the boiler house the laundry will be provided which will give convenient and economical operation of this department.

The present old building will be completely renovated, the front wall being brought out flush with the rest of the building, with public entrance at the east, doctors' entrance to the west and complete administration and medical departments placed in this part of the building.

The Board have made very extensive investigations of hospital buildings and equipments in other cities and it is their intention to secure any further expert advice that may be necessary so that the plans when completed, will represent the most modern and up-to-date hospital arrangement and equipment that can be provided.

This plan will call for an expenditure of approximately $350,000.00 and the Board will ask the Protestant ratepayers, through the City Council to provide this sum. I make no apology in presenting this matter or requesting that this sum of money be provided through general taxation. Our Roman Catholic friends have built and equipped a large ..... hospital across the river which is a credit to them and to the ..... which they are rendering to their people. As I have said, the Protestant ratepayers have never been asked for one dollar for this purpose and I am satisfied that when this matter comes before them for decision, they will readily and cheerfully provide the necessary money.

We spend money on schools and rightly so and to-day Peterborough has the best school buildings of any city of its size in the province. No one questions the wisdom of this expenditure. We also spend our civic money in pavements, sewer and water service. We spend our civic money in parks and fire equipment but if we stop to consider how much more necessary than all these is the providing of proper and adequate hospital facilities.

It is a recognized fact that two percent of our population is at all times unable to perform their daily tasks through illness. It is a matter of record than in our grandfathers' time, one child in every four died before the age of one year. That record is to-day reduced to one in fifteen. What better service can we render to humanity than to provide the equipment and facilities to cut this in half.

It is also a matter of record that Canada's maternal mortality ranks second highest among all nations, being exceeded only by the United States. The death rate from this cause being 5.9 per 1000 living births as compared with Denmark and France of 2.4.

The effect of illness on industry is appalling from an economic standpoint, as shown by reliable statistics and the time has come when the people are beginning to realize that a large percentage of the diseases which cause illness and its consequent economic loss are preventable, and consequently we are more and more making use of hospital facilities where obtainable.

It is, therefore, one of the best investments that your city can make both from an economical standpoint and a humanitarian standpoint and I feel sure that we will have the co-operation and support of every Protestant ratepayer in the city.

The Board have a plan under consideration at the present time whereby the general equipment and the equipment of the operating rooms would be provided by private subscriptions. We feel there are many in this city who might wish to place a memorial to some of their relatives by equiping a private ward or perhaps one of the operating rooms.

Our idea is as the total equipment would run to something like $50,000.00, we might get private subscriptions to the extent of $100,000.00 which would be sufficient to purchase the equipment and place an endowment of $50,000.00 so as to keep these memorials in perpetuity.

As you are aware, the hospital is practically owned and operated by the Protestant churches of this city and we feel that every church organization and the various societies will take a ward or two and provide for their equipment in this way. Already I have the personal assurance of one organization which is willing to undertake the equipment and endowment of a ward to the extent of $1000.

In St. Thomas practically all the wards, both private and public together with the operating rooms, have been endowed by citizens of St. Thomas. The same condition exists in St. Catharines and it would be a fine thing for Peterborough to follow their example. Besides, it would create a greater interest generally throughout the city in the hospital and its progress.

This would leave approximately $300,000.00 to be provided for by the city to erect the building proper and will place the city in possession of a hospital which would rank second to none on the continent.

The hospitals of this city have a population to serve of between 40 and 50,000 people and as I have said previously, the increased use being made of hospitals by the public makes it necessary that additional accommodation be provided at Nicholls Hospital at the very earliest possible moment.

We, therefore, ask your consideration and sympathetic support of this project which is one of the most important civic departments of our city and community life.

I am going to ask those present to assist us in placing this matter inteligently before each ratepayer and I am sure when the vote is taken in the near future, we will have the support and co-operation of every right thinking citizen.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

LAWN BOWLING

LADIES' LAWN BOWLING.

The ladies of the lawn bowling club were favored with ideal weather yesterday afternoon by the opening of their schedule rink games.

Eight rinks were playing and some wonderful feats were performed causing much amusement and many a thrill.

As a couple of the rinks were short one player, according to the new rules they were penalized three points. It is hoped that this rule will be an incentive to all players to be out for the games.

All are eagerly looking forward to the mixed tournament which will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 20.

A number of ladies engaged in a friendly game last evening and it is planned to have as many as possible out on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to form rinks for evening bowling.

The following are the scores of yesterday afternoon games:

Mrs. Greenslade 15, Mrs. Graham 6.

Mrs. Wright 17, Mrs. French 14.
Mrs. Gimblett 16, Mrs. Coleman 6.
Mrs. Miller, 18, Miss Allen 11.

The recent spell of fine weather has had its effect on the bowlers. All the games last night were played according to schedule. The games were not so wild as the previous night, the players hitting their mid-season form. The scores for Tuesday were:

Curvin, 23; Johnson, 11.
East, 17; Fitzpatrick, 10.
Wise, 14; Waddell, 12.
Routley, 16; Fallon, 15.

The greens are now coming along in first class condition; the bare spots are rapidly being covered with grass, and soon they will be in as fine a condition as last year. The increased membership this year makes the green a lively place both in the afternoon, when the ladies play, and in the evening, when the men play their scheduled games and the non-scheduled ones.

Recovery Commences On New York Market

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Responding to the placing of large supporting orders and the buying of "bargain hunters," stock prices made a brisk recovery to-day after the disastrous break of yesterday. A few soft spots cropped out here and there, but the general trend was upward. Standard Industrials and Rails rallied one to five points and several of the specialties were marked up six to nearly ten points.

Trading, which crossed the 5,000,000 share mark yesterday for the first time in stock exchange history, was only moderate in volume to-day.

Call money renewed at 6 per cent. with a fair supply available in view of the heavy mid month demand for funds.

While the morning rally helped to revive confidence, considerable uneasiness was still apparent, with a rather widespread tendency on the part of many traders to lighten holdings on the rallies. R. H. Macy and National Tea, which did not sell yesterday, changed hands to-day at prices 4 9and 22 points, respectively below their previous quotations. Rossia Insurance broke 15 points to 145 but made up its loss by early afternoon. Radio opened five points higher at 176 but encountered rather stiff resistance around that level and was pushed back several points.

FURNACE
Among letters of appreciation written by Pease owners is this striking testimony from Tuckers & Son, Norwood, Ontario:

"Regarding a Pease Economy Furnace that I bought from you I might say that our home was never as comfortable as during last winter and with less fuel than for all the time we lived in this house for the last 30 years. We can heartily recommend the Pease Furnace to anyone needing a fuel saver."

The Pease heat radiator, affording an unusually large heat radiating surface, is one of the several outstanding constructional details which make the Economy Furnace so satisfactory to many thousands of users. You'll find full details interesting. We'll be glad to submit specifications and tender.

PROCESSION HELD

DOURO, June 13. — On Sunday June 10, the parish of St. Joseph's, Douro, held its annual Corpus Christi procession. The pastor, Rev. M. J. McGuire, sang the solemn high mass, assisted by Rev. Father Leonard as deacon, and Rev. Father Meagher as sub--deacon.

Immediately after the mass the congregation marched in procession to the field where the altar was nicely decorated with lilacs and other flowers, where benediction was given.

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1928

Although adverse influences are active today, astrologers see benefic aspects dominant.

This is a date read as fortunate for merchants and manufacturers who will reap profit that will be augmented by a new demand from the public.

Presidents of universities and members of their faculties are subject to a most favorable direction of the stars.

Seats of learning are to receive amazing benefactions and endowments this year, it has been frequently foretold.

Men and women are to give abundantly of their wealth and wide-reaching benefits are foretold.

One of the prophecies seem to assure the use of money for the study of causes and prevention of crime.

If the stars are to be believed revelations regarding police inefficiency are to provide sensations in many American cities.

The seers prognosticate the rise of a woman reformer who will accomplish miracles through the organized power of her American sisters.

London astrologers predict a scientific discovery that will revolutionize the conception of human life and will have a tremendous influence upon future faces of the world.

With the subsiding of the upheaval that has overturned established customs and placed the subjugated classes in places of power new social customs are to develop immediately, it is prophesied.

Alaska is to gain new fame through rich discoveries of rare ores, astrologers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success in the coming year which may be marked by small losses.

Children born on this day probably will reach the heights of prosperity, but not until they have known failure. Many bankers are born under this sign.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE HATE TO BE STANDARDIZED

By Mehran K. Thomson, Ph.D.
(Author, The Springs of Human Action)

With all due respect to modern efficiency and large scale production we hate to have our personalities standardized like automobiles and rat traps.

We resist the process and hate to be standardized because it means the loss of personality and personal identity. The love of freedom and independence is strong in the unbroken spirit. We like to be different from other men in some respects as we enjoy being like our fellows in our respects. But never do we care to lose our identity. For example, Would you care to exchange places with the richest man in the world or the most learned and lose your own personality completely? What you really would like to do is to be yourself but have the other man's money or his learning or whatever it is that you admire about him. You would not want to be that other person and cease to exist as yourself.

All of us reserve portions of ourselves to ourselves. We say to the standardising process, "Thus far shall you go and no further." Every man likes to have his specialty, that which gives him a unique place in the community.

Now, the really unique thing about any of us is our personality. This is why we hate to have it so completely worked over as to become indistinguishable.

We hate to be standardized because standardization aims at efficiency, while the aim of human existence is not efficiency but living a life. Efficiency is a means to an end, presumably human welfare: personality is an end in itself and the highest value in the world. We resent standardizing agencies because they prostitute the highest values for a lesser good, the god of efficiency. It makes man the servant of his own machine rather than making the machine serve man.

We hate to be standardized because there is nothing more valuable in the market to be purchased by it.

LYRICS OF LIFE

A BUSY LIFE

Today it's a game of golf.
And then there's a bridge tonight,
Tomorrow you're taking off
For letters you have to write;
And then there's a matinee,
And then there are six for tea—
It's awful, you often say,
How busy you seem to be.

On Monday you'll have to shop,
On Tuesday your calls begin,
On Wednesday you nearly drop,
For Thursday the girls are in,
On Friday you fix your hair,
For Saturday there's a dance—
And Mothers, you should go there,
But really there's not a chance.

Some think that a woman's life
Is simply a life of ease,
The maid, and the grocer's wife,
And other such folks as these
Your life is a rush, I know,
There isn't the slightest doubt;
But one thing I wonder, though—
Just what is it all about?

LOCAL FACTORIES EQUIP NEW PLANTS

Delegates To Chamber of Commerce Find Peterborough Machinery Often.

Vice-President A. J. Reynolds, of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, who, with the secretary, attended the third annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, held in Quebec City recently, has given to The Examiner, a brief but entirely interesting view of the convention as well as of the boat cruise which preceded it. Mr. Reynolds, interview to-day, made special mention of the fact that during inspections of large industrial concerns, Peterborough-made machinery was encountered; he referred to the resolutions submitted by the local Chamber of Commerce, and to other features.

"The annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce was held this year under very pleasant circumstances. During the first three days of the trip the new steamer of the Canadian Steamships Line, viz., The Tadousac, was chartered by the party for a cruise from Montreal up the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers to Lake St. John and this feature gave the delegates an opportunity of close personal acquaintance prior to the annual meeting. One of the most interesting parts of the trip was the opportunity given to inspect the pulp and paper mills, the power plants and the aluminum mills located on the Saguenay River. The Duke Price power plant at Ile Maligne was first visited. It generates over 500,000 horse-power and it is close to the Price Brothers pulp mills at River Bend, which was also called at.

"The works of the Aluminum Company of Canada at Arvida, which were the next object of inspection, are only beginning to develop. We were informed that ten millions had been spent already on this plant and that one hundred millions will be spent before it is finished and in this case, as in Price Brothers, the company is building its own town for its employees. Arvida is named after the first two letters of each name of Arthur Victor Davis, president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, and this concern has been attracted to Canada from the United States by the bait and cheap power and contented labor. They are developing 800,000 horse-power at Chute-a-Caron near their mills for themselves and hope to produce 180,000 tons of aluminum annually, using electrical energy entirely.

"It was very interestin going through these plants to notice how two Peterborough companies had been supplying them machinery, much of the electrical equipment being made at the Canadian General Electric Company here, and in the pulp mills part of the machinery, largely barking drums, are supplied by the local firm of the William Hamilton Limited. It gave the local delegates certainly a touch of home to notice this feature, and to see that Peterborough industries reach to such parts in the Dominion for their development.

"Possibly the high spot of the convention was the banquet at Chateau Frontenac, where two splendid addresses were delivered by E. W. Beatty of the C.P.R. and Premier Taschereau of Quebec. A rather amusing quip was made by Mr. Taschereau, who is a most charming speaker, was when he touched on the immigration feature to which Mr. Beatty in his previous speech had given considerable attention. Mr. Taschereau said 'Quebec has no immigration problem. Our immigration method is the cradle. If you, Mr. Beatty, know what the cradle is.' As Mr. Beatty is a confirmed bachelor, the audience had a good laugh.

"During the course of the convention, Peterborough was brought very prominently before the sittings by a resolution that our Chamber introduced regarding the introduction of daylight saving as a Dominion-wide measure. The resolution caused considerable contention and excitement and was eventually withdrawn because of the indivious effect it might have upon the goodwill at present existing between the urban and rural districts and the feeling that, while it was a logical step, the country was not quite prepared for it. One delegate in Montreal made some slighting remark about a small town like Peterborough starting such a contentious subject, but he was promptly told by us that two thousand years ago some good came out of even Nazareth."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

Truth comes to the one saturated with error, awakening him, helping him to open his drowsy eyes, and arresting his attention but quite naturally this procedure is unwelcome to him. He would prefer to sleep on in error; and when first awakened he is irritable and uses abusive language (regardless of the truth) towards the one who brings the message of truth to him; yet when he gets thoroughly awakened, and sees and accepts the truth he is thankful and highly appreciative for being awakened.—M. AUXILIARIES HOLD UNITED MEETING

Reports of Conventions in Toronto Read To All Saints' Members.

A very successful united meeting of the different branches of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church was held last evening in the Guild Room, with members of the Afternoon, Evening, and Junior Branches present.

The report of the recent annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary in Toronto was given by Mrs. F. Pakenham. Miss Gwen Dobbin reported for the Evening Branch, and Rev. J. D. Paterson described the Pageant of Church History given in Massey Hall in connection with the convention. Mrs. H. E. Connolly gave the report for the Junior Branch at the annual meeting.

The progra mincluded two very enjoyable vocal solos by Mrs. L. H. Ingram and Miss Gwen Lucas, with accompaniments played by Miss Marguerite Rome and Mrs. H. Lucas. A social hour and service of dainty refreshments followed the presentation of certificates to the prize-winners of the year. These were presented by Rev. Mr. Paterson, four of the girls also winning their silver cross; Mildred Hamilton, Dorothy Connors, Florence Hatley and Doris Parsons. Others in the lost were: Hazel Barrie, Annie Williams, Irene Parsons, Florrie Barrie, Annie Timms, Mary Gilders, Grace Woodcock, Helen Ellitson, Frances Dawson, Irma Allen, Edith Abraham, Marguerite Dean, Frences Webb, Viola Price, and Doris Page.

FOUR CHILDREN DIE.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Four negro children, the eldest 11, died from burns and suffocation here early to-day when they were trapped in an upstairs bedroom as the flames destroyed their home. Mr. and Mrs. August Benson, parents of the children, were able to escape the fire, but could not reach their children.

Vito Pantaleo, 26-year-old Italian tailor's assistant, who on Friday at Toronto was sentenced to 20 years in Kingston penitentiary for slaying his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elvia Pantaleo. CLOSING SERVICE IN GRACE SCHOOL

Addresses of Appreciation of Work Done There Are Given.

On Sunday afternoon the farewell services of Grace Sunday School were held at three o'clock, attended by a large crowd, and many expressions of regret were heard on all sides that this building had been sold, and a general feeling of sadness seemed to prevail as this Sunday school in connection with George Street United Church has long ministered to the needs of the residents of the north end of the city, particularly the younger children.

Beside the regular staff a number of former teachers and officers were present and short addresses of appreciation of the work of the school were made by Fred Brown, J. J. Hartley, Rev. Dr. A. I. Brown, and Rev. J. E. Todd.

Miss Daisy Murray rendered a delightful vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Musa Cox.

The primary class gave a splendid chorus.

A donation of one hundred and fifty dollars was made to the Memorial Sunday school hall of the George street United Church.

WINFIELD B. SIFTON

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 13 (Canadian Press).—Winfield B. Sifton, eldest son of Sir Clifford Sifton, died at his Summer home, Assiniboine Lodge, here this morning. Mr. Sifton had been ill for some days, but yesterday his condition was reported as slightly improved. Sir Clifford Sifton has been here for some days.

IN POLICE COURT

As a result of a raid in North Monaghan yesterday afternoon by members of the city and provincial police force, two men appeared before Magistrate Langley in Police Court this morning. George Hoy pleaded guilty to having liquor in other than private residence, and was fined $100 and $6.50 costs, and Edward Lynch, whose house the police raided, pleaded guilty to permitting drunkenness in his home and was fined $10 and costs. Alex. Elliott appeared for both men.

Chief Newhall, in his evidence, said that Lynch had a mail route contract but that he refused to work and made his wife drive the mail. When Mrs. Lynch would go out with the mail men from the city would go down to Lynch's home and there have a drinking bout. One child has been taken to the Children's Shelter and Mrs. Lynch has not had a good night's sleep in months on account of the drunken brawls going on in the home, declared the Chief.

Yesterday when the police raided the house they found Hoy, Lynch and another man who was not fined, sitting around a table which had several bottles of beer on it.

Mr. Elliott, in asking for the minimum fine, said Lynch was a poor man with a family, and was a mail driver. Chief Newhall interrupted to say he thought he was a female driver.

Eight traffic cases were dealt with, most of the offenders being charged with failing to carry their drivers' permit.

Edgar McGregor, George Bowen, Ellsworth Deyell, William Bell, and Robert Cox each pleaded guilty of operating a car without having a driver's license on his person, and each was fined $5.00 without costs.

Andrew Anderson pleaded guilty to driving a car, not being the owner of a driver's permit, and was fined $10 without costs.

Ulric Brioux pleaded guilty to driving at a greater rate of speed than 15 miles an hour across Hunter Street Bridge and was fined $5.00 and $2.50 costs.

WEDDING BELLS

CROWE—THOMPSON.

The wedding took place at seven o'clock yesterday morning, at Knox Church, Manse, of Louise Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Patterson Street, and Norman Eldin Crowe of Peterborough, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe of Midland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William McDonald, B.D.

The bride wore a pretty gown of sunset crepe romain with blonde shoes and hose, navy coat trimmed with moleskin and small hat of leghorn and flowered georgette. Her bouquet was of ophelia roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe left on the 7.35 train for Buffalo. On their return, they will live at 179 Park Street North.

MORTON—TODD.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CABPBELLFORD, June 13. — The marriage took place on Saturday evening at St. Luke's Anglican Church, Ottawa, of Dorothy, only daughter of Mr. J. H. Todd and Walter Morton, only son of Mrs. Mary Morton, and the late William Morton, Campbellford. Rev. J. E. Lindsay was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white georgette, with large black picture hat, white kid shoes, and hose to match. She carried a bouquet of roses and lily of thte valley.

Miss Florence Woods, who attended as bridesmaid, wore a very becoming dress of powder blue, with hat of the same shade, and a shoulder bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. Harry Todd, brother of the bride, was the groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Griffiths, where the rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and ferns. The groom's gift to the bride was a silver tea service, to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet, and to the groomsman gold cuff links. The bride's gift to the groom was a pair of gold cuff links.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Morton left for a honeymoon trip by motor. The bride wore a tailored navy blue suit, with black cloche hat and stone marten fur. They will reside in Toronto.

COLLINS—BLONDON.

A quiet, pretty wedding took place on Saturday at the parsonage of the Park Street Baptist Church, when the pastor, Rev. J. L. Harton, performed the ceremony which united Lillian Starr Blondon and Harold Macdonald Collins, both of Peterborough. Attendants were Miss Gladys Collins and Mr. Hugh Collins.

The bride wore a charming frock of white georgette with flower trimming, white slippers and hose, white picture hat embroidered in mauve and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins will live in Peterborough.

JUDGE HUYCKE IS OPPOSED TO COLLEAGUE'S SUGGESTION TO ABOLIS H GRAND JURIES

Says They Form Important Unit in Trial of Criminal Cases.

INSPECTIONS USEFUL

Have Proved Their Worth in This Country in Revealing Improper Conditions.

His Honor Judge Huycke in dismissing the grand jury yesterday after it had completed its work at the June sessions of the Peace for the County of Peterborough took issue with Judge Hopkins of Haldimand County who on Tuesday told the Welland County grand jury that it was nothing but a useless bill of expense. His Honor, who is president of the Ontario County Judges Association, took an opposite view as to the use of the grand jury. He declared that it was a necessity and a most valuable asset in the administration of British justice and that from his rather lengthy experience at the bar he had found it most necessary in investigating criminal cases.

Recent grand juries of the County of Peterborough have proven their value. Last fall the grand jury found conditions at the House of Refuge in a very poor state of affairs and as a result of their report an investigation was conducted by the county officials and the superintendent was released and at the present session the jury has found that in the jail there is only one old dilapidated bath for the use of both men and women and that the hot water tank was in a dangerous state. The government inspector visited the jail but made no recommendations and in the case of the House of Refuge it took a visit of the grand jury to find out the state of affairs.

Address to Jury.

"I am very pleased to hear your commendation of the city and county institutions which you have visited", said His Honor in his address. "It has been somewhat of a shock to me to hear your remarks about the jail and from what I gather I think things are totally unsatisfactory and insufficient. This matter will be brought to the attention of the County Council at its meeting next week. To me it is most necessary in a jail, first to provide proper fire protection and then to have proper equipment to guard against filth and dirt. I am glad you said a kind word about Mr. Nesbitt for he has been here so many years he

THOMAS LYNCH 90 YEARS OLD

Hastings' Oldest Citizen Is Still in Good Health.

BIRTHDAY HONORED.

On Sunday June 10th Hastings' oldest citizen, Thomas Lynch, celebrated his nineteenth birthday.

Mr. Lynch was born in Rochester, N.Y., on June 10, 1838. When seven years of age he and his parents moved to Peterborough and settled on a farm near the present lift lock. From there they later moved to a farm in Asphodel, where he lived for a number of years, until his marriage, when he took over the Queen's Hotel Hastings, which he managed for a number of years.

They then moved back to the farm where they remained until the death of his wife in December, 1904, after which he and his daughters moved back to the old hotel where he and his daughter Mary still reside.

On the occasion of his birthday a number of relatives and friends were invited for supper and to spend the evening. A large birthday cake with its ninety candles centred the table. His daughter Mrs. Brazier (Clara), and little grandchild Kathleen Brazier of Richmond Hill, motored down to spend the day with him. He received a number of presents and also expressions of good wishes from others in Windsor, Toronto and Peterborough.

A number of friends called during the day to offer their congratulations and hopes that he would reach the century mark.

Mr. Lynch is the oldest of a family of eight of which only three are living Edward of Rapid City, and William of town, and himself. Mr. Lynch has always enjoyed the best of health and is still able to take his daily walk.

SHE WAS READY

The Browns were expecting a visit from their pastor. It was the custom of the latter to ask small children three questions—their name, age, and, to test their knowledge of right and wrong, where bad little children went. Little Mary Brown had received full instructions from her parents and was quite ready to answer the questions.

The minister arrived and asked: "What's your name, little girl?"

Mary was ready to display her intelligence: "Mary, sir; five years old; go to hell."—Tit-Bits.

Abandons Plan For Trans-Atlantic Hop

NEW YORK, June 14 (Canadian Press).—Miss Thea Rasche, German stunt flier, has abandoned her plan to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight and will return to Germany within a week, R. L. Gardner, her hangar manager at Curtiss Field, reported by telephone to her flight manager, Calvin Harris, late yesterday.

FORMER RESIDENT OF BELMONT IS STILL ACTIVE AT 95 YEARS

Recalls Life on Her Parents' Farm in That Township — Born in Hawkesbury.

SEWS GREAT DEAL

Ladies of 70, Fellow-Inmates of Protestant Home, Are Girls To Her.

To grow old gracefully is an art. Stepping quietly and serenely and sweetly on to eternity, to meet the father and mother, the sisters and brothers who went before her, "leaving me alone," is one of the city's oldest residents, Miss Mary Martin, whose last days are passing composedly in her little bright room at the Protestant Home. Not that Miss Martin is bed-ridden. She is quite active for her years, but her rocking chair claims most of her waking hours and she sits beside the window to sew the fine little stitches that come so easily from the well-shaped hands and their long fingers.

The mild, sweet eyes of the one who has accomplished this difficult task of gracefully saluting life's declining milestones look out from the thin face of Miss Martin. They are eyes, these eyes of the very old, never encountered elsewhere. In them is mirrored the knowledge of life's passing show, but, while looking backward, they look forward too and have a foreglimpse of eternity in their calm depths. For reading and sewing, Miss Martin wears glasses, but they are not needed at other times, for her sight is bright and keen. She suffers slightly from deafness, but her voice is not flat in consequence. It has pleasing modulations, explained when one learns of the heritage of soft Irish vowels from her parents, who were born in the County Down and came to this country as a young married couple, in 1829.

Harking back to the early days of life that seem so often to leave their impress more clearly on the minds of the very old than later experiences in maturer years, Miss Martin spoke of the farm that made the most of her life's horizon. The vitality that springs from early rising and the plain fare of country life is apparent in the mildly pink cheeks of this old lady, whose main ailment at the present time is the rheumatism and who suffers in no other way. In her youth, she often walked the eight miles in to Norwood from her home and back, without thinking anything of the journey. She mentioned this with a smile when her visitor told her that The Examiner office seemed quite a long way from the Protestant Home.

The fine old hands that can still make well-planned, well-stitched dresses like the one that Miss Martin is busy with just now were used in early days to the routine of farm work, "milking and churning, washing and scrubbing and carrying the water, with maybe a little help in the harvest fields. But I never cut the grain. Reaping was out of date before I was on a farm," says Miss Martin, whose brother, she remembers, cut the grain with a sickle before he grew tired of the task and made a cradle of his own pattern.

Fullcloth from the wool warp, petticoats of home-made wool, dresses of stripes and checks, for those who wanted variety, were matters of interest in home manufacture in those older days when women used the spinning wheel and the loom, sitting beside the fire to spin the web and to watch the child in the old-fashioned cradle.

Miss Martin, who was ninety-five years old on Monday, was born in East Hawkesbury township, the farthest east of the Ontario townships, with the Lower Province on its boundary line. The longest journey of this old lady's life was the one she made when she came from East Hawkesbury with her parents to Belmont township. Peterborough and Midland, where she stayed for a time, represent her views of large cities, for she never visited Toronto or any other place of its size. The family lived in Belmont township, near Norwood, for many long years and after the farm life was broken up and the parents had died, Miss Martin worked, doing much nursing, in and around Norwood and Peterborough, until ten years ago, when she came to the Protestant Home.

She comes of a fairly long-lived family. Her father, who still had a complete set of his own teeth when he died, was eighty-four years old, and her mother seventy years of age. A brother, James S. Martin, who died five years ago, lived to be ninety-o years and ten months old, and was well known in Peterborough, where he worked as a carpenter for much of his life.

"I'm getting that I can't remember names very well," said Miss Martin, "but I can't complain. If I feel better to-morrow I will do some more at my dress. One of the girls will sew it on the machine for me." On enquiry, it transpired that the 'girls' were two ladies in the house, both well on to seventy years of age.

50 YEARS WED

Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. B. Revoy, 292 Woodbine Avenue, who celebrated their golden wedding this spring, when their six children, a number of grandchildren, and a large numbers of friends met with them to honor the happy event. The bride and groom of fifty years ago are hale and hearty, and do not look to have seen that many years of the ups and downs of wedded life.

Mrs. Revoy, who was Matilda Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper, Hastings County, was married to Benjamin Revoy, son of Francis Revoy, of Marmora, by Rev. Mr. Peak, of the Methodist appointment there. The young couple walked part of the way to the minister's house and got a boat and paddled across Crow Lake to be married. Ten years later they came to Peterboro, settling in the house they now occupy, on what was then a farm in Ashburnham. They were blessed with eight children, four sons and four daughters, all living. The daughters, who were all present for the happy occasion, are Mrs. J. W. Draper, North Cobalt, Mrs. W. Scott, Gouverneur, N.Y., Mrs. M. E. Dormer, and Mrs. J. W. Devall, of this city. Two sons, James of Toronto and John N. of Montreal, were present. William of Brandon, Manitoba, was unable to be present, as was also Fred, a veteran of the Great War, who is ill in Christie Street Hospital, Toronto. Besides these there were present a large number of grandchildren and one great-grandchild, Kenneth Dormer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dormer.

The bride and groom were presented with a beautiful embossed address and a purse of gold by little Margaret Revoy of Montreal, on behalf of their children and some of their grandchildren. Little Florence Revoy of Montreal presented the smiling bride with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Telegrams of congratulation were received from Toronto, North Cobalt, New York, Haileybury, and Gouverneur, N.Y.

The Brule River, scene of the Coolidge vacation camp in Wisconsin, was discovered by French voyageurs who paddled up it, portaged to the La Croix river and then discovered the Mississippi. It was thus named because it means boiling. A huge spring "boils" from the earth not far from the Coolidge camp.

Bill's Opponents Have Edge In Debate

LONDON, June 14.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Most Parliamentary writers in to-day's newspapers imply that the opponents of the new revision of the Church of England's prayer book had the best of yesterday's debate in the House of Commons. It is pointed out, however, that some of the best speeches on either side were reserved for the concluding part of the debate, a vote, either for rejection or adoption of the measure being expected before the House rises late to-night or early to-morrow morning.

FARM PROBLEM IS CONSIDERED AT CONVENTION

Republicans Propose Board and Stabilization Association as Remedy.

OPPOSE EQUALIZATION.

Platform Commends Coolidge and Congress and Promises to Enforce 18th Amendment.

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Ignoring any mention of the controversial equalization fee or the McNary Haugen bill, but pledging every assistance in the reorganization of the farmers' marketing machinery, the platform upon which the Republican candidate for President will stand in the November elections was presented to the convention to-day for its approval.

The establishment of diplomatic relations with Canada is commended in the plank on foreign policy.

"There has always been and always will be firm friendship with Canada," say the platform. "American and Canadian interests are in a large measure identical. Our relationship is one of fine mutual understanding and the recent interchange of diplomatic offices between the two countries is worthy of commendation."

The farm plank declares a big problem faces the farmer, but instead of the equalization fee it proposes the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board clothed with power to set up farmer owned and controlled stabilization corporations or associations to prevent and control surpluses through orderly distribution.

The platform contains a sweeping endorsement of the administration and Congress and pledges to maintain and continue the policies of President Coolidge. The topic of prohibition is disposed of in a law enforcement plank pledging the party to the "observance and vigorous enforcement of the 18th amendment."

FIREMEN ERECT WARNING SIGNAL

Red Notice Board Will Be Illuminated When Alarm Comes in.

TO PROTECT VEHICLES.

A very real danger both to drivers of vehicles on Aylmer street and to the firemen is to be removed through the erection of an unusual, but efficient stop light, by Chief Gimblett and his men a large red light, which will warn oncoming traffic when an alarm is coming in to the department and thereby provide a clear lane for the various units of the fire fighting equipment leaving the hall.

For the past day or two a number of the firemen have been busy doing special wiring for the new beacon, which will have a lighted surface eighteen inches square, with suitable wording in white. It will be hung some twenty feet above the pavement in front of the fire hall and will remain lighted for slightly over a minute after the alarm phone, Number 24, rings. Thus another Safety First feature has been added to an already efficient department of the city and those who fail to heed its warning will face court charges, governed by the regular fire department bylaw, but it is hoped that there will be few infractions.

CAR DEALERS TO VISIT CITY

Pittsburgh Association Will Hold three Day Excursion.

ARRIVING JULY 15.

C. W. Cook and Edwin E. Smith of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association were in this city on Tuesday making arrangements for an excursion to this city and the upper lakes by about 150 members of the Pittsburgh Association. The excursion is being planned for July 15, 16, and 17, but these dates may be changed.

The visitors will come direct from Pittsburgh, arriving here early on the morning of July 15th. They will have breakfast in the Empress Hotel and then will go down the river on an excursion. The following day they will be the guests of Edward Huff at his cottage on Deer Bay for lunch, and in the afternoon they will come down by boat to this city, when they will have a banquet in the Empress Hotel at night. The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Association are co-operating to make this visit a great success.

SEARCH BEGINS FOR THREE MEN FROM DIRIGIBLE

Rescue Expeditions Set Out With Dog Teams and Supplies.

NOBILE SURE OF SAFETY.

Sends Message To Base Ship Expressing Certainty of Being Rescued.

ROME, June 14 (Canadian Press).—Word was received here to-day that the search for the three missing members of the crew of the airship Italia had been started with dog teams. The San Paolo wireless station was informed by the base ship Citta di Milano that the rescue expedition started on Wednesday night from Hinlopen Strait, which separates West Spitsbergen from Northeast Land. The ice breaker Braganza sailed from King's Bay with another dog team and all the supplies which General Nobile has requested. They will be turned over to Captain Riiser Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm, who will attempt to fly to the Nobile party with them.

Nobile in Safety

KING'S BAY, June 14 (Canadian Press)—General Umberto Nobile and five men of the crew of the Italia stranded with with him off Northeast Land believe that they are now in safety.

In communications exchanged between the Citta di Milano and the Nobile party, G. Biogi, radio operator of the stranded group, said that they felt that safety was in sight. This response, which was not elaborated, was felt at King's Bay to indicate that they could get ashore or that with news of various rescue expeditions hastening to their aid they felt sure they would be saved.

No news has been received of either the party of seven who were carried away on an ice floe with the dirigible when it crashed or the three men who attempted to reach shore. Ice experts said to-day that there was a possibility that the balloon party might have reached land by being blown toward the King Charles Islands, a group south of Northeast Land in Barents Sea.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Officers For Ensuing Year Are Elected—Purchases Authorized.

MANY SWIMMERS.

The regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association was held on Monday afternoon, Miss Hamilton presiding.

The financial reports showed a balance in the public and residence departments. It was decided to instal a vacuum sweeper for special trial in the swimming pool and to purchase extra linens for the residence.

Special mention was made of the Y.W.C.A. conference to be held the first week in July at Camperdown; the Provincial Camp on Georgian Bay. This conference is for board members, secretaries, and girls and is entitled "Know Your Association." It is hoped Peterborough delegation will consist of five members.

The general secretary's report outlined club activities including the play by the Wohelo Club entitled a Modern Cinderella, and the donation of 15 from the club to the foreign work of the Y.W.C.A.; also plans for a week-end camp. Each club enjoyed a special picnic or party during and the month, and the Old Country Club was glad to welcome several newcomers to Canada to its membership.

The physical director's report on the swimming activities showing 400 registered in classes and 200 enjoying the privileges of swimmers' tickets. The swimming pool committee, assisted by the social committee, executive, members and friends of the board are arranging a garden party which will be held Tuesday, June 19, at the home of Mrs. R. Neill. A special attraction of this annual event is the high tea. Tickets are now on sale from members of the "Y" board or at the Y.W.C.A. Other attractions will be the treasure tree, fortune telling, home-made candy and ice cream, and a special program of aesthetic and folk dances on the lawn.

The election of officers for the next year was then held, with Mrs. W. D. Scott in the chair; Honorary Presidents, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Cruickshank; First Vice-President, Mrs. H. H. R. Kenner; Second Vice-President, Mrs. E. E. Harvey; Third Vice-President, Miss M. Dickson; Secretary, Miss A. Wood; Associate Secretary, Mrs. G. Porter; Treasurer, Miss E. Morrow. The election of a president was left with the nominating committee in the hope that Miss Hamilton, who has been a most efficient president for the past two years would consent to retain the office another year.

Ice Carried North From Local Plant

One hundred miles of driving by truck to take back ice from Peterborough into the north! That sounds like carrying coals to Newcastle, but it's an actual fact —and a record claimed by the Sanitary Ice Company, Water Street.

Having made arrangements through the mail, J. E. Finley, general merchant of Tory Hill, despatched a truck to Peterborough, the trip of approximately one hundred miles terminting this morning. A load of ice, weighing a ton, was ready for shipment, and, after a brief recess, the drivers set out on their return journey.

The reason? Certainly there was cold and plenty of it round Tory Hill during the winter, but unfortunately for the Finley firm, the thin coating of ice which formed on the lake near there, was covered with heavy snows soon after, with the result that the frost did not get in its usual work. The ice crop was of poor quality and only a little was harvested.

DAVID JNO. BYERS RECALLS DAYS WHEN WOLVES ROAMED DISTRICT

SUFFRAGETTE DEAD.

LONDON, June 14. — (Canadian Press.)—One of the most picturesque figures in the women's suffrage movement, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, died this morning in a London nursing home at the age of 69, after a comparatively short illness.

Mrs. Pankhurst was the first militant suffragist in the efforts to obtain votes for women.

After founding the Women's Social and Political Union with her daughter Christabel, Mrs. Pankhurst started the votes for women agitation by heading a deputation to the House of Commons to demand the vote. Many members of this body were jailed. Mrs. Pankhurst spent several periods in jail during the years of agitation and on one occasion was released from penal servitude after going on a hunger strike.

Ninety-Two-Year-Old Native of Cavan Is Still Well and Active.

DANCED AT WAKES

First Visited Peterborough 80 Years Ago to Trade Old Horse.

David John Byers, who was 92 on the thirteenth of this month, is, in spite of the reputedly unlucky number of the day on which he was born, in the best of health. He has possession of all his faculties, can see well and hear well, and in spite of his age has not lost any of the sense of humor that made him so popular in his younger days. He still retains a comparatively youthful appearance and smokes a pipe, which is a favorite pastime. Though they say he is not very active, just the other day he was found splitting wood, which is a strenuous pastime for a man of his years.

Mr. Byers was born on the Fourth Line of Cavan, just ninty-two years ago, and farmed all his life until eleven years ago, when he came to reside in Peterborough. After residing for a while in Cavan, the family moved to the Head of the Lake, or Bewdley, as it is now known. From Bewdley they moved to Hamilton Township, where he remained until he moved to Peterborough.

Mr. Byer's father was a pioneer of this country and often told the family of the road to Port Hope that was a mere blazed trail. He was of old Irish stock and a coincidence was that he moved from Cavan County, Ireland, to Cavan Township, Ontario.

Mr. Byers received his education at first in a little log cabin at the roadside in Bloomfield, now known as Bailieboro. Later, a new school was built, and a man by the name of Aikens was the new teacher. Mr. Aikens had a bundle of beech rods handy with which he used to whip the scholars frequently—a favorite pastime of his. When Mr. Byers' young sister started to school, the teacher prepared to whip her because she did not know the work the rest were learning. Mr. Byers warned him not to do it, and threatened him with dire results. A meeting of the trustees resulted but as Mr. Byers' father was head of the board, he advised Mr. Aikens for the good of his health to leave his daughter alone while David was around. The school teachers of that day did not know very much. In fact, said Mr. Byers, the scholars were often able to teach them more than they knew.

Once every year all the boys had to make a trip to Coldsprings and train for soldiers. This was looked forward to as a holiday, and was an important event in the eyes of all the youths.

Mr. Byers remained at school until he was eighteen. He then went to Millbrook to learn wagon making, where he remained for about a year until he learned the trade. After that he returned to his father's farm and remained on a farm until recently, when he came to Peterborough.

Horses were very little used in those days. Oxen were the chief farming animal. Mr. Byers often drove a team of oxen. He had his toes crushed once by a heavy team of oxen. There was one team that he prided himself on, as no person but himself could handle these beasts and he took them all through the country to logging bees.

At this time all the country was in bush. Wolves and bears were common, and deer used to scamper through the fields. One Sunday he and his chum shot three wolves within a short distance of his home.

Those were the days of hot elections, when the various parties almost declared war on each other. The elections were held at Bewdley, which was the scene of many a good time. In fact, on the road from Port Hope to Peterborough, there were twenty-six hotels and, he added, all sold whiskey.

The first time he visited Peterborough was to a Christmas fair. Park street was then the main steret and most of George street was a bush. Peterborough was also the centre of much horse-trading. They held what

BARN IGNITED BY LIGHTNING

Fine Building With Many Implements Destroyed Yesterday Afternoon.

IN SMITH TOWNSHIP.

Lightning during yesterday's storm caused a fire which destroyed the barn on the farm of Mr. McAdam on the fourth line of Smith, near Fowler's Corners. Mr. McAdam was away from home during the afternoon, returning to find his building in ruins. The bolt struck the barn while the people of Bethel Church, near by, were holding their annual picnic on the church lawn, so there was no lack of helpers, but their efforts proved unavailing, many valuable farm implements being destroyed with the barn.

DOOLITTLE TO SPEAK.

President of Automobile Association To Talk On Safe Driving.

The speaker for the Ontario Highway Safety Committee over Station CKNC Thursday evening will be Dr. P. E. Doolittle, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, and Vice-President of the Ontario Safety League. Dr. Doolittle will address himself to the subject of the skillful, careful motor driver.

The safety talk begins at 8 o'clock daylight saving time.

NEW PARKING RULES IN FORCE; BY-LAW HAS BEEN ENDORSED AND POLICE BEGIN CHECK-UP

Slept On Track; Goes To Jail

MONTREAL, Que., June 14.—(Canadian Press.) — With his head laid across the Canadian National Railway tracks at St. Madeline, when the Maritime express came thundering along, Wilfrid Brais came within 18 inches of his death. Brais, witnesses declared in court later, was drunk. The engineer noticed the man and managed to stop his train when a wheel was 18 inches from Brais' head.

Yesterday in police court Brais was sent to jail for a month at hard labor for trespass and stopping a train.

Department of Highways Returns By-law Passed By Council On Monday.

RULES REPEATED.

Parking Allowed Only On One Side of Streets in Special Area—More Through Streets.

Peterborough's new parking by-law was endorsed yesterday by the Ontario Highway Department and was returned to City Clerk Armstrong to-day. The by-law comes into force immediately and this afternoon the police were out checking up on the cars.

By the new by-law a special parking area has been designated in the centre of the city, bounded on the north by Brock street, on the south by Sherbrooke street, Water street on the east, except on Hunter street where it goes as far east as Sheridan street; and Aylmer street on the west. On these streets angle parking is allowed on the east or south side only and there must be no parking on the other side of the street. When drivers want to stop on the sides of the street where there is no parking they must draw up parallel to the sidewalk. No parking is allowed on Aylmer street between Simcoe and Charlotte and the sharp angle at the corner of Park and Downie. Louis and Chambers are one way streets with the traffic going from the north to the south. Rubidge street, below Charlotte; Hunter street, from Rubidge to Bethune, and from Sheridan to Armour road; and Water street, from McDonnel to Smith are through streets.

Parking in the special area, on the designated sides is limited to twenty minutes on George street, and one hour on the other streets. The left hand turn where there are traffic lights is also done away with.

FARMERS JOIN WHEAT POOL

Branches Being Organized in Peterborough County This Week.

TWO NOW FORMED.

Peterborough County farmers are organizing branches of the Canadian Wheat Pool. On Tuesday night, G. A. Gilroy, president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Wheat Pool, organized a branch in Keene for the farmers of the townships of Otonabee and part of Douro and last night another branch was organized for the townships of North Monaghan, Smith, and part of Douro. It is expected that branches will be organized in Lakefield and South Monaghan. Local elevators at present will be used. The branch organized at Keene is anxious to get 500 acres of wheat and the one here 200 acres.

OPENS OFFICE.

J. J. McQueen, Crown Life Manager, Located on Hunter Street.

J. I. McQueen, district manager for the Crown Life Insurance Company, has opened an office on Hunter street, adjoining the office of the Peterborough Lumber Company. Since taking charge of this city and district for the Crown Life, Mr. McQueen has met with a very encouraging response, and had the distinction of leading Eastern Ontario in the company's new business during May.

PROMISES SENSATION.

Dr. Louis Cuisiner of Quebec City arrived home last week from Greenely Island, where he had been since he first went in with Duke Schiller to bring out the Bremen fliers. Cuisinier says: "I will give the truth about the Bremen during the forty days it was on Greenely and it will be a sensation." He refused to divulge the nature of his report, which he is first presenting in New York to Baron Huenefeld before the latter and his companions sail home from New York. Cuisinier was accompanied out from Greenely by Fred Melchor, pilot of the Junkers, who tried to fly out the Bremen but crashed. They started out by dog sled, as far as Seven Islands, then took the steamer to Matane, 202 miles from Quebec, thence by train.

EAST NORTHUMBERLAND WOMEN HOLD ANNUAL DISTRICT MEETING

Women's Institutes Hear Reports and Addresses and Elect Officers.

MRS. ISAAC PRESIDENT.

Prof. J. B. Reynolds is Principal Speaker at Afternoon Session in Campbellford.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14.—East Northumberland district annual meeting of the Women's Institute, held in the Parish Hall, Rear Street, yesterday was well attended at both morning and afternoon sessions. At the morning session, the business of receiving the reports and election of officers for the next twelve months was attended to. This was not completed till the afternoon session was well under way. Professor J. B. Reynolds, ex-president of O.A.C., Guelph, was the principal speaker. Walter Smith, Brighton, district agricultural representative, also delivered a very interesting and instructive address. Lunch was served at noon and at five o'clock in the basement of the Parish Hall. During the afternoon ice-cream was served in the main auditorium. With scarcely a breath of air stirring, and the temperature at a high degree, this feature was particularly welcome.

The reports of the several branches and committees show a general expansion in the work of the Institute, and many compliments were paid the ladies by the speakers. At the afternoon session there were several musical numbers which were well received.

Mrs. Isaac, President.

The election of officers in the morning was a lively item of business and the various offices were keenly contested. The results: President, Mrs. Leigh Isaac, Warkworth; first vice-president, Mrs. Floyd Harnden, Vernonville; second vice-president, Mrs. Aubrey Woof, Codrington; third vice-president, Mrs. William Orris, Wooler; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. F. Clarke, Brighton. The ladies who will be district directors for the present year are: Mrs. George Lawson, Brighton, Mrs. L. Palmateer, Castleton; Mrs. J. B. Moran, Codrington, Mrs. H. C. Kelly, Warkworth, Mrs. John Locke, Campbellford; Mrs. William Orris, Wooler, Mrs. A. L. Potts, Smithfield. Mrs. G. F. Clarke, of Brighton, will be the Federation representative. These elections concluded the morning session, and the ladies adjourned for lunch on the ground floor of the building.

The retiring president, Mrs Robert McCulloch, occupied the chair at the afternoon session, and opened the

HEALS ECZEMA IN 7 DAYS OR LESS

Here is a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost, that will do more towards helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

Not only does this great healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds, but boils, abcesses and ulcers that are discharging are almost immediately relieved and cleanly healed.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of eczema is instantly stopped; the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of barbers' itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use, and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. Bond's Drug Store, C. M. Moncur, Bert McLeod, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., Nugent Drug Co., and McDermid & Jury can supply you at any time.

LAKEFIELD, June 14. — On Tuesday afternoon, June 5th, the members of the Baptist Mission Circle were entertained at the closing meeting of their season at the summer home of Mrs. Herbert Northey, Katchewanooka Lodge, at Henderson's Narrows. There was a large attendance of members, and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Mrs. Northey served afternoon tea and the ladies returned to the village about five o'clock, unanimous in thanks to Mrs Northey for her hospitality.

Guests registered at the Lakefield Inn for the week-end were as follows: E. M. Brown, Toronto; G. E. Morin and party, Toronto; G. A. Wood, F. L. Bradburn, Miss Lilian Emplon, Miss M. C. Revill, Miss M. Ross, all of Peterborough; Miss V. McClenehan and F. W. B. FitzGerald, Meaford; F. L. Curtis, wife and two children, Port Hope; H. A. and Mrs. Turner, and Miss Frances Turner, Millbrook;; Walter Jopling, Peterborough; Miss Madge Pulkinghorn, Mr. and Mrs G. McClelland, and N. H. E. Choate, of Peterborough.

Miss Theo Elmsley entertained a number of the younger set on Monday evening last at a jolly little house dance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Strickland entertained the younger set at a jolly house dance at their home on Friday evening last for their daughters, the Misses Margaret and Muriel Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Harrison, of Peterborough, spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. S. S. Spence was in Toronto on Sunday.

Mr. J. S. Ridpath, of Preston, was a week-end visitor at his home in the village.

Mrs. Marshall returned to Toronto from her cottage at Lovesick Lake this week. She will return shortly for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Ridpath, of Toronto, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ridpath.

Mrs. J. H. Payne is visiting friends in Warsaw this week.

The next shoot of the Lekefield Rifle Association will be held on Thursday, June 28th, at 12.30 p.m.

TRAVEL BY CANADA'S FAMOUS TRAIN.

Wending its way from coast to coast the crack train of the Canadian Pacific Railway the "Trans-Canada", pioneer of de luxe trains in the Dominion, has now entered on its tenth summer schedule. This noted "Flyer", which leaves from both Toronto and Montreal for the run to Vancouver and from the industrial capital of British Columbia to the two great eastern cities cuts off no less than twelve hours from the ordinary train time between Toronto and the Pacific Coast. This summer the Trans-Canada will make one hundred and forty trips each way; thus running up to September 29 inclusive.

It is composed entirely of compartment and sleeping cars with the exception that a parlor car is attached to the train for the run between Ottawa and Montreal and vice versa. By a careful arrangement of times the journey through the magnificent country of the Canadian Rockies is made in daylight, thus ensuring to the traveller the certainty of a perfect view of Canada's priceless scenic arena.

All travel particulars will be gladly furnished by any Canadian Pacific ticket agent. 2d-14-27

Lengthy Addresses Follow Opening Of Prayer Book Debate In Commons

LONDON, June 14. — Canadian Press Cable. — The momentous debate on the fate of the latest revision of the prayerbook of the Church of England opened in the House of Commons late yesterday afternoon and was adjorned until to-day after lengthy addresses by Hon. F. B. Merriman, solicitor-general, who moved the adoption of the measure, and Sir Samuel Roberts, the Conservative member for Hereford, who moved the rejection of the revision. Minor speakers were also heard while Countess Iveagh urged the House to get down to realities.

The minister was convinced that the altered book would fully maintain the Protestant character of the Church of England, and declared the safeguards against abuse of reservation of the sacrament were more than sufficient.

Sir Samuel Roberts asserted the book, if passed, would set two standards, and almost two different doctrines in the church, and would make trouble in numberless parishes.

NORWOOD HAS BUSY PLANT

J. Finlay and Son Have Successful Year in Wood Manufacturing.

LARGE CONTRACTS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, June 14.—One of Norwood's oldest and most successful industries is that of the J. Finlay and Sons Company, Cedar street, originally a wheel and carriage works but, within the past few years branching out to carry on several lines of manufacture including dressed lumber, handles for agricultural implements and for brooms, carpet sweepers, vacuum cleaners— and last but far from least—the homely rolling pin. Contracts for carriage work are accorded careful attention even in this day of the motor car. The Finlay firm was established in 1866.

From fifteen to twenty men are employed in the big grey cement building over on Cedar street and all are specialists in their respective lines, though most capable machinery facilitates their work. Viewed from a distance, the Finlay plant appears to consist of several large lumber drying sheds, and a large main building of grey cement veneer. But that outward appearance belittles the interior with its many processes of manufacture.

Though the staff of the Finlay plant may at first seem inadequate, an inspection will quickly correct this impression. There is the process of making handles for cultivators; the American oak lumber is properly cut, the handles partly turned and then properly shaped in steam presses and the handle completed by a man who skilfully polishes them by means of a Garnett belt—a cloth belt with a surface similar to sandpaper.

Making of Broom Handles.

The making of broom handles as well as those for mops, is worthy of note also. The sticks, cut to proper length, are sent through a high speed machine which takes off the four edges and then they are run through a second machine which, by means of an endless belt of the sandpaper type, polishes them to almost perfect smoothness. They are sorted and if the order calls for it, they are shellaced. The rolling pin is perfected with the same machinery as it used in certain of the carriage work and the Finlay firm has difficulty in meeting the demand made by companies to which it sells.

The other types of handles are completed in a manner similar to that of the broom handle making and a large export trade is carried on to England, South Africa and Trinidad. Certain lines of axe, pick and fork handles are also seen in course of manufacture as are various lines of dressed lumber, cove siding, interior house finishings, etc.

Hydro and steam power are used to operate machinery in this plant.

MARQUIS DIES.

AUXILIARY PLANS FOR ANNUAL SALE

Bethany Ladies Working Already on Articles for Sale at Christmas.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, June 14.—Mrs. William Morton was hostess for the June meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church on Friday afternoon.

Eighteen ladies were present, and considerable sewing and planning was done for the bazaar, which is an annual event and is held just before Christmas.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Morton, and a pleasant social time was spent by the ladies before leaving for their various homes.

Quite a little excitement was aroused on Monday evening when the roof of the Summer kitcher of Mrs. Isaac Fallis' home caught fire while supper was being prepared.

In order to hasten the supper fire, a dish of chips was used, and it is supposed sparks must have fallen on the singled roof. However, the timely aid of the workmen at Louis Staples' new home across the street got the blaze under control before any serious damage was done, other than a hole in the roof.

Personals

Mrs. William Lee is in Toronto for a time with her son, Mr. Harry Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell of Omemee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jamieson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Driver spent Sunday with friends at Cassarea.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis were visitors to Little Britain on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Johnston and son Kenneth, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis.

A number of ladies of the Women's Institute attended the district annual meeting held in Millbrook on Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Poulter attended a congregational meeting at the Fleetwood appointment on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Tom Staples of Hamilton was in the village for a few days visiting his cousin, Mr. Louis Staples, and other friends.

The ladies of the United Church met on Monday afternoon at the Parsonage to arrange for the annual garden party, to be held the last Wednesday in June.

Mr. Cecil Ward has returned to Toronto after a short visit with his mother, Mrs. John Ward.

Dr. Arthur Jamieson of Millbrook spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Sam Jamieson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. William Boggs at Manvers.

READ THE WANT ADS.

"Why Not A Springier Tire Cord?" They Said

. . . . . AND THEY STARTED ONE OF THE EPIC ADVENTURES OF THE TIRE INDUSTRY

FOR weeks test car after test car swirled up to the door of the Goodyear laboratories to leave its tires for examination. An eager group of engineers watched each tire for confirmation of a new idea which had been developing in their minds. And in hundreds of tires they found it.

"Goodyear treads are too good," they reported. "The Goodyear carcass is better than ever. But the Goodyear tread is far outwearing it. Build a carcass as good as the tread and you will add several thousand miles to the life of Goodyear Tires."

In that report lies the genesis of SUPERTWIST Cords.

The story of SUPERTWIST reads like an Odyssey of industry. Goodyear scientists started with only the need for a better tire carcass. And their search led them along strange by-ways of science.

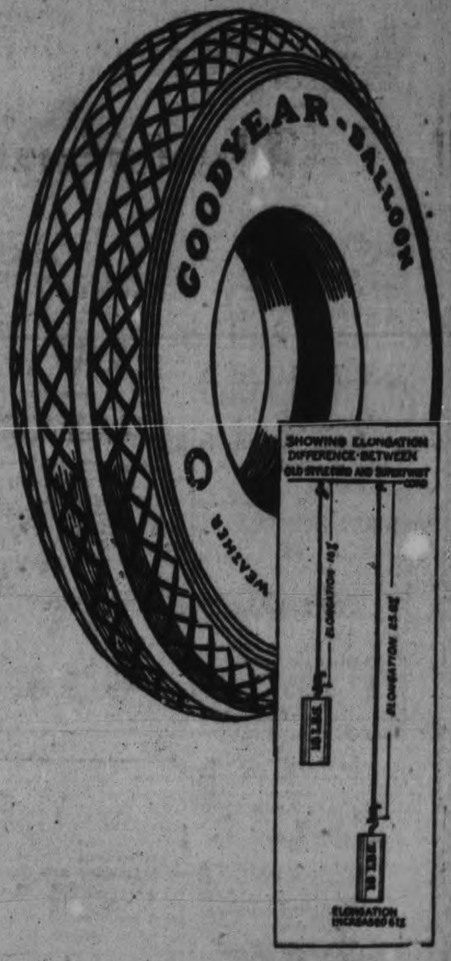
Months of experiment found the answer in tire cords of greater elasticity—tire cords which would "give" more to blows of the road—stretch instead of breaking—recover like rubber ropes after stretching.

But there was no such cord on the market.

Goodyear scientists studied cord-making. Finally they produced a cord with 61% more stretch than old-style cords—SUPERTWIST Cord.

Then to protect the quality of this new cord, Goodyear bought cord mills—and today Goodyear makes SUPERTWIST Cords in its own mill at St. Hyacinthe, Que.

All this that you may enjoy the greater mileage which SUPERTWIST Cords give to Goodyear Tires. Study the chart here which shows how much greater is the stretch of SUPERTWIST. All Goodyear Tires are made with SUPERTWIST Cords. Only Goodyear Tires are made with SUPERTWIST Cords.



All Goodyear Tires are built of SUPERTWIST Cords—61% more stretch and life than old-style cords

METHODS GIVEN TO KILL SLUGS

These Garden Destroyers May Be Eliminated in Several Ways.

NUMEROUS THIS YEAR.

There have been many inquiries at the Ontario Department of Agriculture office in Peterborough on how to control snails and slugs that seem to be making their appearance in the gardens here. J. B. Nelson representative of that department in the city, recommends that the suggestions offered in the bulletins of that department be followed.

The snail or the slug is of several species. The most common one is gray in color, tapering gradually towards both ends, with a soft, slimy body, moving slowly, leaving behind it a trail of slime. When full grown it is about an inch and a half long, and about half an inch in diameter. It has a sharp biting mouth with which it eats holes in leaves or starts to feed on the edge of a leaf, and gradually devours the whole leaf. It feeds at night or in the late evening and early morning. Moisture is a necessity to the slug which shuns the daylight and dry air by hiding under leaves or beneath the surface of the ground. They are most abundant and destructive in damp seasons.

In a wet spring the foliage of beans and corn is often severely attacked and sometimes much of it eaten. In addition the slugs are fond of feeding upon lettuce cabbage and cauliflower and eat large pieces out of the centres of these. They feed to some extent upon almost any vegetable and in the fall are often found boring into tomatoes, beets, carrots and other roots. In dry seasons they cause very little damage.

In the winter the slug usually is in the egg stage in the ground. The eggs are round bluish white with a jelly like and translucent appearance. They are found singly or in small clusters. The adults pass the winter in the soil. Cold winters often kill a large proportion of the eggs and the older ones. The eggs hatch in June and the young ones attain full growth in August and September. The eggs are laid in September and October.

The first method of control as suggested by the department is the old fashioned method of dusting the plants and the ground around with lime, hydrated lime being the most important form and very satisfactory. Salt will also kill them.

When a garden has been severely attacked it is a wise plan, as soon as the crop is off, to rake up all refuse, and burn it, and then dust the soil freely with hydrated lime or a mixture of equal parts of lime and salt. This will help to lessen the number of adults but will not destroy many of the eggs.

A second method is to use Bordeaux mixture, 4, 6, 40, as a repellant. Plants which are being attacked may be protected by spraying both sides of the foliage with it.

Good results are obtained by means of a bait of chopped lettuce or clover 16 parts by weight to 1 part of calcium arsenate powder. This bait is scattered in the evening over the ground where the slug or snail is troublesome.

DRIFTING NORTHWARD.

Nobile Party Being Carried Towards Goal of Their Rescuers.

KING'S BAY, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Giuseppi Giogi, radio operator of the Italia, reported to the base ship Citta Di Milano to-day that the Nobile party was being driven in a north-westerly direction.

This drift was carrying the party slowly in the direction of their would-be rescuers, who are now making every effort in the sealer Hobby to reach North Cape, whence air reconnaissance can be made toward Foyne Island.

LAND UNSUITABLE FOR REFORESTATION

Minister of Forests Reports to Hastings Council About Two Townships.

BELLEVILLE June 14. — Canadian Press. — At yesterday's session of the Hastings County Council a report was presented from Hon. W. Finlayson, Provincial Minister of Forests, that reforestation of the united townships of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe in Hastings county was impossible owing to the geological nature of the land. The minister was congratulated on the time he had given to this matter.

JOINT-EASE For Stiff, Swollen Joints

Rheumatic Or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in—Joint Agony Gets Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the million of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented points are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Bond's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.

BOYS' PREMIER GIVES ADDRESS

Howard Scharfe Speaks at Meeting Held by Tweed Tuxis Square.

VISITORS PRESENT

TWEED, June 14.—The lecture given in Tweed United Church under the auspices of the Tuxis Boys by Howard Scharfe of Ottawa, Premier of the Seventh Tuxis Boys' Parliament, was well given. For a youth of his years his talk was very mature. Winston Gordon, Mentor of Tweed Tuxis Square, was in the chair, while Arthur Kerr of Tweed, member of Parliament for East Hastings, was also on the platform. The Rodney Tuxis Square of Cannifton attended church in a body. Mr. Scharfe's address was taken from part of the 18th verse of the 29th chapter of 2nd Samuel: "Is the young man Absolom safe?"

Kwangsi General Enters Yang Palace

PEKING, June 13 (A.P., via naval radio). — General Pai Chung-Hai, the Kwangsi commander from Hankow, who has terrorized Communists at Shanghai and Hankow, where he executed nearly 2,000 persons, took possession yesterday of the Yang Yu-Ting palace at Peking. Two thousand Hunan troops marched into the city with him as his bodyguard.

General Pai announced that he was bringing 120,000 of his soldiers from the Kwangsi and Hunan Provices to the Peking and Tientsin areas, which, he said, would swell the number of Nationalist troops in this district to more than a half million.

He declared that General Feng Yu-Hsiang had 140,000 troops, and that General Yen Hsi-Shan's forces surpass 250,000. Foreign observers were inclined to believe that the latter figure was an over estimate.

BUFFALO MAN DEAD; RELATIVE SOUGHT

Anthony Moskel Shot During Argument—Brother-in-law Was Caller.

BUFFALO, June 13.— (Canadian Press.) — Anthony Moskel, 27, was shot to death early to-day during an argument on the back porch of his home. His brother-in-law, Vincent Miller, is being sought by the police. Miskell's wife left him on Sunday night and Miller, her brother, went to Moskel's home to-day. He is alleged to have killed him when Moskel upbraided him. The authorities of Flint, Mich., have been notified in the belief that Miller will go there.

LOSING OUR EXPERTS.

Complaints that the salary scale for research workers and other highly trained experts in the Government service is so inadequate that it is difficult to retain these men in posts where their knowledge is of the greatest value to Canada, would seem to be well founded.

Research workers are endeavoring to deal with the wheat rust problem, the solution of which means many millions of dollars annually to this country.

The civil service salary list names $2,800 as the figure for this class of service.

Is it any wonder that these experts are drifting out of Canada?

One of them recently went to the Fiji Islands at a salary of $7,000 a year; the United States Federal service was glad to pay another $4,500.

It is not good business to let such men get away, and it is doubtful economy to attempt to save money at the expense of efficiency.

Canada needs her trained experts and it is a pity to have their services lost because we are not willing to pay them anything like the salary they can command in other countries or from private enterprises.

THE BURDEN OF TAXATION.

The Citizens' Research Institute is responsible for many interesting studies of taxation problems in Canada, and the latest bulletin from the organization issued under the heading, "All Off the Same Bird," shows how heavily Canadians are taxed by Dominion, Provincial and municipal Governments.

It may be cruel to dwell long on this subject, but it is interesting to note that the taxpayer living in Ontario finds himself relieved of his money by the following levies:

1.—By the Dominion Government: Taxes by customs duties on a vast variety of imported goods; excise taxes on liquors, tobaccos and other things; sales tax, income tax, corporation tax; taxes on banks, insurance companies and trust and loan companies; stamp tax on cheques, notes, bills of exchange, etc.; tax on transfer of securities; taxes on railway and steamship tickets, berths, telegraph and cable messages, matches, playing cards, etc.

2.—By the Ontario Government: Succession duties; certain taxes on corporations; taxes on luxuries and amusements; tax on motor vehicles; tax on racetracks and pari-mutuels; tax on transfer of securities; tax partially levied for forest protection.

3.—By the municipality: Income tax; tax on real property; business tax; tax (in city of over 200,000) on mortgages; in some places poll tax.

ADVERTISING PETERBOROUGH.

Some light upon the publicity that Peterborough receives from her many and varied industries is obtained from turning all the pages of the last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, a publication whose advertising efficiency is admitted.

In that issue Peterborough is mentioned in one two-page and three one-page advertisements as the Canadian home of nationally known industries, the Johnson Outboard Motor Company, the Quaker Oats Company, the Western Clock Company and the Sealright Company.

No other manufacturing centre in Canada received any such publicity in this particular number, and the value of such advertising from a Peterborough standpoint must be admitted.

The American manufacturer seeking a site for a Canadian branch will unquestionably be impressed by the fact that such widely known and important industries as these have found Peterborough entirely suited to their varied requirements.

The amount of publicity Peterborough obtains in this way should ultimately prove a factor in attracting other industries of importance; certainly it gives this city a very important advantage in the race to secure more factories.

TURN ABOUT WOULD JUST BE EVENING UP.

Blossom time has brought to the fore once again a question which comes up every year, that of the habits of city people of going to the country and despoiling the orchards of their blossoms, says the Belleville Intelligencer. Every week-end, at this time of the year, one can see carloads of people coming home from these expeditions laden with blossoms. They have little thought for what their depredations means to the farmers who own the orchards. They give little consideration to the fact that the fruit crop depends on these blossoms they so wantonly cut from the trees.

That is a problem which is not confined to Canada alone, is shown by a cartoon which recently appeared in a newspaper in Stockholm, Sweden, under the heading, "Reciprocal Devastation." The cartoon shows a party of city people motoring home from the country with their car filled with blossoms and shrubs, while passing them is a farmer's car laden with spoils taken from the city streets.

There is much justice in this viewpoint. It is all right for the city people to invade the orchards and woods and despoil them of their blossoms, which live but for a day or two in the city homes, then it would be equally just for the farmers to come to the city and help themselves to the bloom in the gardens of those who strip their trees. One can imagine the outburst of indignation which would come from the cities if the rural people attempted to do this, but it is a poor rule that does not work both ways, and in many cases the farmers would be fully justified in so doing.

ON TOWN LOYALTY.

(From The Picton Gazette.)

No citizen is so powerful, none so humble, but what his town is an aid to him in some way or other. There is where he employs his labor or capital, builds his home, enjoys the society of his kind, and, in short, finds everything that makes life worth living. Failing to find these things, he usually goes in search of them elsewhere. If he remains it is natural to suppose he has found that which he sought. Since your town boosts you why not do as well by it as it does by you? To progress it needs the help of every citizen, and every citizen benefits individually from every community improvement, whether that improvement takes the form of public works, population growth, increased prosperity or business development. No community is so miserable and unattractive that it has not its boosters and none so perfect that it has not its knockers, but that city or town achieves most in civic betterment which has the most boosters.

WAYS OF BREAKING THE LAW.

George Bernard Shaw made the honest confession to a convention of police constables in England that invariably he broke the law when he went motoring.

If it were possible to collect each day from every Canadian the fines provided by law for his or her transgressions of that day the national debt rapidly would cease to be a factor. Not only motorists but pedestrians perpetually and innocently break rules and regulations solemnly signed and sealed by important authorities.

For instance, Bylaw Number 6347 of the city of Ottawa, dated Sept. 14, 1927, says

"A pedestrian on meeting an other on any sidewalk or path shall pass to the right."

The penalty for passing to the left is "not more than ten dollars ($10) for the first offence."

The following clause also should return a handsome revenue in fines under literal interpretation:

"No person shall run or race upon a sidewalk OR CROWD OR JOSTLE ANOTHER."

And this one should serve to assess the juvenile population:

"No person shall ride a bicycle OR TRICYCLE on any street unless the same is equipped with a suitable alarm bell."

In this one bylaw there are 47 shalls and shallnots. Add to it numerous other civic bylaws and the whole mass of Provincial and Federal Acts, and the structure of rules, regulations, restrictions and prohibitions attains huge and formidable proportions.

Obviously everybody breaks laws, even the child of three who rides a tricycle without an alarm bell with which to scare pedestrians.

George Bernard Shaw gets his newspaper paragraph merely because he chose to make genial confession to the police of his crimes.—Ottawa Journal.

AS TO LAWYERS.

Some lawyers, and a few newspapers, are objecting to Mr. Ferguson's large crop of K.C.'s. They say that such titles, or degrees, or whatever they are, set up distinctions among us that are hostile to democracy. Poor democracy! It must have more lives than the proverbial cat. Hardly a day but some statesman rises solemnly to "point with alarm" at some terrible oncoming calamity that is going to engulf democracy, but the blessed thing manages to swim. It is something like what Adam Smith once said about a nation. "This policy," bemoaned one of his contemporaries, "will ruin the nation." "Ah," said Smith, "there's a lot of ruin in a nation."

In any case, what can we do about lawyers? They rule us completely. One of them runs the Government; another runs the Opposition; two others run the Senate; and still another runs the C.P.R. Lawyers practically make all our laws. Other lawyers take big fees from us for telling us that the law is really not what it is; and still other lawyers, who are judges, get paid a couple of million dollars among them to show us that it is what it is. Lawyers sit on all our bigcommissions to tell the other lawyers who are running the Government just how to run the Government so the rest of us will think we are well governed, and then the lawyers who are running the Government pay the lawyers who have given them the advice out of our taxes—and don't take the advice. Instead they appoint other lawyers to other commissions.

The lawyer's boot is upon us everywhere. He follows us and takes toll from us from the cradle to the grave. He makes a law telling us how we should register our birth; sets out how long we should go to school; interferes with our recreation, even to love making; lays down the conditions under which we may marry; divorces us, if we feel that way; sends us to jail if we misbehave; and when we die, makes our will.

Perhaps lawyers are a necessary evil. But often we feel like Peter the Great must have felt. He told an English King once that there were only two lawyers in Russia, and that when he returned home he intended to have one of them shot.—Ottawa Journal.

The Question Box

NAMES OF FRENCH BOOKS.

R. T. Q—Can you tell me the names of some good French books?

A—You don't say what grade. Dent's Shorter French Readers are good—Hugo; Le Bienvenu; Nodier; L'Affaire de Ghismondo. In Blackie's texts you can get a big selection, including — Hugo; Jean Valjean; Verne; Voyage au Centre de la Terre; Sand; Les Ailes de Courage; Lenstre; Legendes de Noel. If this is not the information you desire, please write again.

TEACHING PIANO IN SCHOOL.

G. P. Q—Is the teaching of piano in school, started this year, worth while? Do the children learn anything?

A—This is a matter of opinion, and we cannot do better than quote J. S. Atkinson, Director of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, Toronto: "Class instruction in piano in schools, after school hours, in small groups of eight or ten pupils, has now proved successful..... By the class method the pupils naturally lose somewhat in individual attention from the teacher, but on the other hand the class method offers them many splendid advantages, such as the opportunity to compare their work and progress with that of others; the privilege of hearing others' work criticized or commended; and the great advantage of the group enthusiasm and friendly competition which is engendered.

A VERSE SOUGHT AND FOUND.

T. F.—The line you quote is from "The Society upon the Stanislaus" by Bret Harte:

Now I hold it is not proper for a scientific gent
To say another is an ass, at least to all intent;
Nor should the individual who happens to be meant
Reply by heaving rocks at him, to any great extent.

S.E. Q—What can one do to remove wrinkles from one's neck?

A—This query will be answered by Marion on the Women's Page.

D.D. Q—Is it true that men fall out of love with their wives when said wives become fair, fat and forty?

A—This is a trick question which is beyond our powers in this column. It, also, has been referred to Marion for answer on the Women's Page.

A Thought

"THE HAND OF GOD"

Velma Runnels, Campbellford, Ont.

How powerful; how mighty; how gentle is the hand of God.

If we could stand on the summit of a mountain and overlook the vast amphitheatre called world, we would be able to see the protecting hand of God in the preservation of His people. He has each nation engraven on the palms of His hands. Yes, He loves each one of them as He loved the hills and valleys of Palestine.

Thousands upon thousands of people to-day are creeping on toward the sunset of life with heads bowed to a stagnant pool of unbelief or ignorance. They little know that God's hand is moving over the troubled seas of the Orient.

God is rallying His forces for the great battle. His hand is busy trying to wipe the cobwebs from our dimmed brains. Then again His hand is trying to steady those who are dizzy and mad with the all-self life. He is here. He is there and where are we? Don't let Canada be a dim shadow and stay at the jaws of neglect. We are her citizens, and it is up to us to hold the hand of God over the people.

Let God's people rally and wipe the mist of neglect from their eyes. God's hand is over us all. The events are God's, but the duties must be ours. Drive Satan from one stronghold to another, but foil him at every turn. Turn the stagnant pool, that the ignorant are bending over, into the pool of Salvation. Turn the dark age into the harvest-age of the world.

The hand of God is passing over this busy world. It is reflected by the lightning. It is heard in the thunder. Dawn reveals it in its beauty. The sunset wraps the Hand around our souls. O, how mighty; yet how tender!

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 14 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for grain here yesterday continued of a limited character and exporters stated that they only worked a few odd loads of Manitoba wheat with the United Kingdom.

The demand from exporters for cash grain in the local market was slow, there being only sales of odd loads of No. 3 Canadian Western oats at 6½c per bushel over the Winnipeg July option, c.i.f. Montreal. The car lot trade in oats was also quiet and prices scored another decline of one cent per bushel.

The trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour was slow, but values were well maintained.

A moderate amount of business was done in all lines of millfeed and the undertone to the market was firm.

In spite of the warmer weather and the liberal supplies of eggs coming forward here the undertone to the market was if anything firmer, and sales of small lots of Ontario extras were made to dealers at 34c, firsts at 32c, and seconds at 27c per dozen delivered, and higher prices are anticipated for extras in the near future. The trade in a jobbing way was quiet. The receipts were 2,347 cases.

The demand for potatoes was fair and the tone of the market was firmer, but prices showed no change, and sales of car lots of New Brunswick Green Mountains were made at 75c per bag of 90 pounds, and Quebec white stock at 65c per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The tone of the market for imported beans remains very firm under a steady demand, and small offerings

Thinking of Dad—

Fathers' Day

JUNE 17

(By Miles Overholt.)

To-day is Father's Day, and so Dad rises with the dawn
And stirs about and shaves himself and puts the breakfast on.
He heats the water for a bath, but when he turns away
A youngster beats him to it, so he waits another day.
He gets the morning paper from the porch and seeks his specs,
The kids then swipe the paper, but that's not enough to vex.
He spills some ashes on the floor and Mother scolds a while;
The young folks have some visitors—Pa's barred—he's out of style.
He wanders out and cleans the car and glows with honest pride;
He turns his back, the kids come out and take an auto ride,
He chases out the mower then to manicure the lawn,
But Mother stops the work until the company is gone.
His son, he finds, has worn his shirt, his necktie and his shoes;
He wanders, to the attic where he think's he'll take a snooze,
But Mother wants the curtains fixed, and so he hustles down
And does some chores and has to run three errands over town.
At dinner time the visitors and Ma and children eat;
There isn't room for Pa and so he strolls about the street.
And when at last the day is done, the kids and Mother go
To see some star or other in the nearest picture show.
Alone, Pa finds his specs again and gets a lot of thrills
By stretching cheques to balance with the grist of monthly bills!

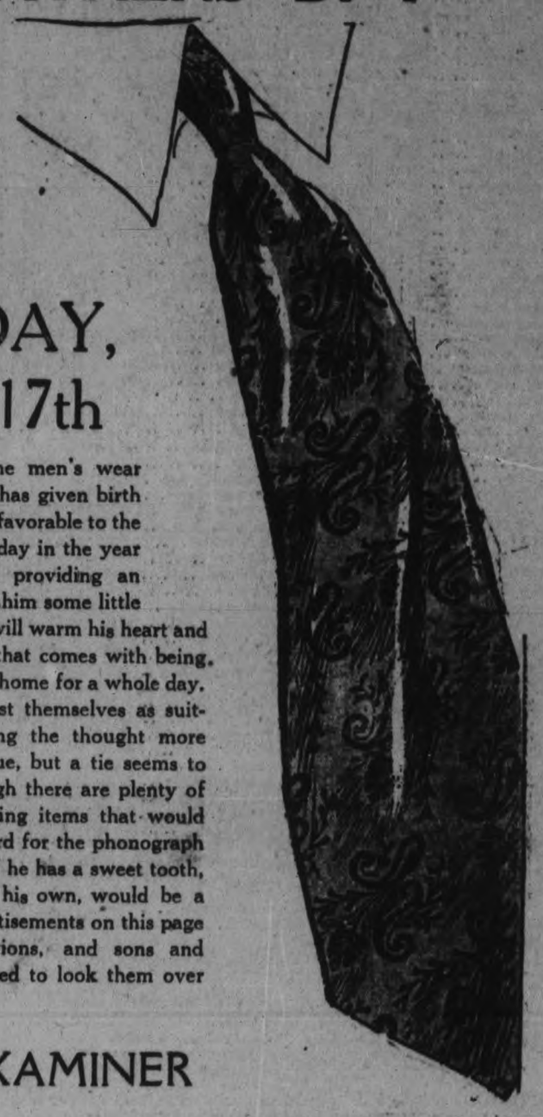
FATHERS' DAY



SUNDAY, June 17th

is sponsored by the men's wear manufacturers and has given birth to a sentiment very favorable to the idea of having one day in the year set apart for Dad, providing an opportunity to give him some little remembrance that will warm his heart and give him the thrill that comes with being the main guy in the home for a whole day. Many things suggest themselves as suitable gifts, involving the thought more than any great value, but a tie seems to take the lead, though there are plenty of other small furnishing items that would do as well. A record for the phonograph would please, and if he has a sweet tooth, a box of candy, all his own, would be a surprise. The advertisements on this page offer good suggestions, and sons and daughters are advised to look them over carefully.

EVERY MAN PAST 40 SHOULD MAKE THIS TEST

For Amazing and Lasting Relief From Middle-age Ailments That Cause Daily Annoyance and Sap Vital Forces

No longer need men near or past the prime of life put up with those painful and often embarrassing conditions brought on by overworked, sluggish Kidneys, Bladder Weakness, and Prostrate Gland Trouble, with their distressing symptoms of Lameness, Pains in back and down through groins, scanty but frequent and burning urination, "Getting-up-Nights," Nervous Irritability, and lack of force—because a ten-day test of Dr. Southworth's URATABS will convince the most sceptical of the value of this special treatment for their particular case.

Amazing testimony of Physicians and users gives convincing proof of the power of URATABS to restore Health and Strength to a weakened, inflamed, or irritated Bladder and Urinary Tract. A multitude of alarming symptoms seem to quickly disappear—and you see and feel a truly genuine improvement often within two or three days. "No more Backaches, no more pain, no more embarrassment or Getting-up-nights. I now sleep soundly, and get up in the morning full of 'pep,' thanks to URATABS!"

While new to the general public, the wondrous value of URATABS has been thoroughly proven by nearly 40 years of successful use in the private practice of Dr. H. C. Southworth. And now Bond's or any good druggist will supply them on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Try URATABS to-day.

Mine Shares Recover From Early Depression

TORONTO, Ont., June 14 (Canadian Press). — Rapid recovery from the depression earlier in the week characterized this morning's trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. Most of the higher priced stocks were up with the exception of Pend Oreille, which took a drop of 85 at 12.25. Noranda recorded a gain of 1.45 at 34.25, and Hollinger was up ten at 14.40. Amulet took a 24-point rise to 3.94. International Nickel was up 1.50 at 92.50. Howey Gold gained slightly, taking ½ at 85½.

The Western stocks were all strong. Sherritt Gordon was up ten at 5.85 and Sudbury Basin was also up ten at 9.75. Wright Hargreaves was off slightly, being down 5 at 4.20. Malartic was also down three at 1.37. Peterson Cobalt took a jump of 5½ at 23½.

Corn Drop Features Grain Trading To-day

CHICAGO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Corn suffered new setbacks in price early to-day, outdoing the season's low price record for September and December deliveries. Ideal weather throughout the corn belt led to continued selling pressure on the part of holders. Opening ⅛ cent to 1 cent lower, corn soon underwent a further drop. Wheat and oats were easier, with wheat starting ⅞ cent off to ⅜ cent up and subsequently averaging lower. Opening prices were: Wheat, July 137⅞, September 139½. Corn, July 100⅜, September 99. Oats, July 53, September 45⅝.

E. L. Ruddy Acquires Many Billboards

TORONTO, June 14.—It has been announced that the E. L. Ruddy Co., Limited, have completed negotiations to acquire the business of the billboard advertising plant of this city and seven other plants in Ontario, also the business of the Lindsay-Walker Company, operating billboard and advertising service in Fort William, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Edmonton. In addition to the acquisition of these plants, the E. L. Ruddy Company Limited have also purchased the firm of Harry Duker Limited operating advertising plants at Vancouver Victoria, New Westminster and North Vancouver.

A special meeting of the E. L. Ruddy Co. Limited, is to be held in Toronto on June 22, at which the shareholders will consider a proposal to issue debentures amounting to $750,000. The purpose of the debentures is to finance large additions to the company's business, which will now extend from Halifax to Vancouver.

While no official announcement has been made it is noted that business this year is substantially ahead of that for the early part of 1927.

At the present time securities of the company in the public's hands, consist of an issue of $750,000 of 7 per cent. preferred stock, brought out last year. This stock has share warrants attached allowing the holder to purchase at any time within a period of five years from December last one share of common stock for each preferred share held, at a price of $20.00 a share.

Completing a continent-wide chain of outdoor advertising the E. L. Ruddy Co. Limited, now operates the largest business of its kind in Canada. Even before this last purchase this company was outstanding in its field, rising by steady growth based on intelligent and conservative business methods.

TO MY FRIENDS

I do not ask that God will stay the end,
Until it is to-morrow;
But I do pray that for me not one friend
Shall weep in sorrow.
When my time comes, I pray thee stay thy tears;
Speak but in silent prayer;
For death to me shall bring no childlike fears,
If grief thou wilt forbear.
This form of clay which does but house my soul,
Unsorrowed place away;
While I shall with His heavenly throng enroll,
To reunite some day.
Though with sorely ravaged body, and with a pain-racked head,
I've lain from sun to sun,
His way I've questioned not, but each night said:
"Thy will be done."
When first the merciless white plague assailed me, I was hopeful still God would free me from its fetter,
To longer stay with you; now with meek obeisance I accept His will Unto the letter.
So spare me the sorrow of your grief, nor let me see
As I depart
That you seem fearful to bid farewell to me,
Or be of o'erfull heart."

GEORGE STREET W.M.S. MEETS

Program On Temperance Carried Out at Closing Meeting of Season.

ALLOCATION MET.

The closing meeting, until September, of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Board Room of the S. S. Hall with a large attendance of members.

The President, Mrs. E. W. Coon, occupied the chair and the devotional exercises were in charge of Mrs. J. H. Rowe, convenor of Group E. The suggested program on Temperance was followed and readings from program leaflets were given by Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. A. Stinson, Mrs. E. E. Harvey and Mrs. Elliott.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were received and adopted, the books showing that the society had contributed considerably more than half of their allocation, previous to the meeting. The President and officers were delighted with the results of the first half of their year's work.

A report of the mother and daughter banquet was given and it was decided to make this an annual affair to be held on the Friday previous to Mother's Day.

A report from the Conference Branch, on the Temperance Department was given by Mrs. W. H. Morton and Mrs. E. E. Harvey was appointed as convenor of the temperance department of the local society. She chose as her assistants: Mrs. A. Stinson and Mrs. A. I. Brown.

It was decided to hold the Missionary Church Service on the first Sunday in October.

A report of the sick and visiting committee was given by Mrs. F. Mather, who reported twenty-eight calls on sick and shut-ins made by this committee during the month.

A motion was passed "That the society meetings be withdrawn for the summer months."

Rev. A. C. Hle of Hastings gave a splendid address on temperance, and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. Two small girls from the Mission Band, Lenore Lewis and Helen Magee, delighted the audience with a sweet vocal duet.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. A. C. Hle.

KNOX W.M.S.

Temperance Program Followed—Bale Ready For Shipping.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United church was held recently, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Watt, presided.

The devotional exercises were all on temperance, and a Bible reading was given by Mrs. Johnson; a paper by Mrs. Roy Laing, and also a paper by Mrs. Carter. A hymn was sung and prayer was offered by Miss Dickson.

The regular business was dealt with, and it was decided to hold a meeting in July and have tea on the lawn and invite the Mission Band.

The convenor of supply work reported the bale all ready for shipping.

Splendid reports of the recent Presbyterial held in Lindsay were given by Mrs. (Rev.) McDonald and by Mrs. Morrison.

A vote of thanks to these ladies was moved by Miss M. Dickson.

The meeting closed with singing and all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

CARS CRASH.

Rear End of Large Vehicle From Empress Hotel Badly Damaged.

The large closed car of the Empress Hotel met with mishap about 11.30 this morning while on Charlotte Street, west of George Street. It was struck by another car proceeding west, the rear being badly damaged as well as the left rear fender, on which was placed the tail light and stop light.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

To-days Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FUNNY WATCH

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Syndicate.)

Uncle Wiggily was hopping and skipping along over the fields and toward the woods. Beside him hopped Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit child.

I feel so very happy!" sang the rabbit gentleman as he jumped over a little brook. I'm happy because I am sure I am soon going to have a funny adventure."

And I am happy because it's Saturday and there's no school," laughed Baby Bunty. Oh, Unkie Wig," she went on, didn't 'oo—"

Here, now! None of that" exclaimed Mr. Longears, shaking his paw at Bunty. No baby talk if you're coming adventuring with me!"

He couldn't find his watch.

All right," answered Bunty. But Uncle Wiggily," she said, wasn't it funny in school yesterday when the cat lady came to teach us because Miss Mouse was ill."

Yes, it was rather jolly," agreed Uncle Wiggily. But could you read the puzzle sentences the cat lady wrote on the board before she went to sleep?"

Oh, yes," answered Bunty. One sentence, with the picture of an eye and a wood saw in it said: I saw two birds flying.'

That's right," chuckled Mr. Longears. And the other sentence was: WHY ARE YOU CRYING?' "

I'm not crying!" exclaimed Bunty quickly, looking at Uncle Wiggily.

Ha! Ha! I didn't mean that you were!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. I was telling you what the other puzzle answer was. The letters Y and R and U stood for WHY ARE YOU and the face was crying."

Oh, now I see what you mean!" laughed Bunty.

Then she and Uncle Wiggily hopped on together over the fields and toward the wood, waiting for an adventure to happen.

All of a sudden Bunty gave a little twinkle of her little pink nose, as Uncle Wiggily often did, and then she asked:

What time is it?"

Why do you want to know?" inquired Mr. Longears, feeling for his watch in his vest pocket.

Because," replied Bunty, it might be noon and time for lunch and if we didn't know it, and didn't eat, we might be hungry."

That's so," said Uncle Wiggily. Well, I'll tell you the time."

But a queer look came over his face when, after looking in all his pockets, he couldn't find his watch. I must have left it in my bungalow, or else I have lost it," said the bunny uncle.

Oh, how three bad!" exclaimed Bunty.

Three bad!" cried Uncle Wiggily. What do you mean?"

I should have said six bad," spoke Bunty. 'It's too bad for you if you've lost your watch, and it's too bad for me if you haven't it and it's too bad for the watch. Two and two and two are six."

Oh, I see," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But wait a minute. I have here a dumb watch I bought to give one of my little bunnies, I'll pretend to tell time by that."

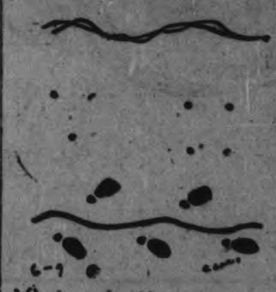
But it doesn't tick," said Bunty when she had listened to the dumb watch for a moment. "You can't tell time by that and maybe it's noon and I'm hungry, but I don't know it!"

Uncle Wiggily was going to laugh and say that if Bunty wasn't hungry enough to feel it, there wasn't much need of a watch to tell time, when, all of a sudden, from behind a bush a voice howled:

"Noon or not, I'm hungry!" and out flopped the Skillery Scallery Alligator, his double jointed tail dragging in the soft ground and making queer marks.

Uncle Wiggily was brave. He didn't run away for fear Bunty might be caught by the 'Gator. The Bunny gentleman quickly took a stick, and making some marks in the soft ground, he said:

"Hungry or not, Mr. Alligator, you can't eat until you solve this puzzle and tell me what different things made these marks."



What made these marks?

TORTURING NEURALGIA

The Cry of Starved Nerves for Rich, Red Blood.

Most people associate neuralgia with a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the disease and the nature of the pain are the same; the cause is the same and the remedy, to be effective, must be the same.

The pain of neuralgia is the cry of starved nerves for nourishment. Normally the blood feeds the nerves, but if it is thin and weak, it cannot do so. Hence neuralgia and other nerve disorders. Build up and enrich your thin blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and you are attacking neuralgia at its root. These pills supply to the blood just the elements that the nerves need, and they have been proved to be the best possible remedy for the treatment of neuralgia, sciatica, neuritis and in fact for all diseases that owe their origin to weak nerves.

Send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. and they will send free a little book, "Building Up the Blood." You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NORTHUMBERLAND WOMEN HOLD

meeting by asking for nomination for convenors of the various committees, ten in all. The ladies appointed will be the district representatives and havxe a representative in each branch in the county. The convenors appointed were: Mrs. Alexander, Brighton, Health; Mrs. W. J. Harper, Warkworth, Home Economics; Mrs. Howard Clarke, Campbellford, Education; Mrs. Leigh Isaac, Agriculture; Mrs. M. E. Maybee, Wooler, Legislation; Mrs. William Covert, Castleton, Immigration; Mrs. George Solomon, Brighton, Relief; Mrs. William Orris, Wooler, Community Activities; Mrs. Corby, Brighton, Historical Research; Mrs. J. B. Moran, Canadian Industries. A noticeable feature of the elections was the fact that there was no hanging back or excuse-making. When a nomination was made, the nominee allowed her name to stand without any further argument. This would indicate a general interest in the work and a willingness to assist in the affairs of the Institute.

Immediately following the appointing of the convenors of committees, it was pointed out that the Brighton branch would be celebrating its twenty-fifth birthday on July 6th, and that the celebration would take the form of a basket picnic with a program of sports for the children and speeches by leading men for the interests of the older picnickers.

Mrs. Charles Macoun officially welcomed the visitors. Mrs. Macoun is well known throughout the district for her ardent efforts on behalf of the Women's Institute. After speaking words of welcome to the speakers and to other guests, Mrs. Macoun took into consideration the meaning of the Women's Institute and its bearing on the affairs of the day. It is the outstanding organization of women, she claimed, for two reasons, the home and country and for child welfare. Women form the foundation on which the world rests. All great men had great mothers. The Premier of Great Britain had said, she declared, that all nations were looking to Canada and realizing that Canada had that which they require, and it was up to Canada and to Ontario to meet the demands of these nations.

Mrs. William Orris, Wooler, extended greeting from her section of the county and expressed her sincere appreciation of the hospitality which Seymour West Branch had extended to the visitors.

"Somewhere a Voice is Calling," a vocal solo by Mrs. Ed. Wynn, was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Fleming's reading won sincere applause. Mrs. Charles Milne sang in her usual pleasing manner. Mrs. John Storie played the piano accompaniments for both Mrs. Wynn and Mrs. Milne.

Prof. J. B. Reynolds

Professor Reynolds, Ontario Agricultural College, the first speaker of the afternoon, said his sympathies and support had always been with the real workers of the world, in the factories as well as in the fields and houses. He also thought that Canada was not producing many expert laborers, but that nearly all this work was being done by non-Canadians. This was the case when there had been a large building erected in recent years at the college at Guelph. He did not think that Canada should look to outside sources for workers but ought to impress on the children that there was nothing more dignified than to do a good job well.

For some time, he said, he had been associated with the "rural question." It was a point worthy of note and would be a turning point in the coming presidential elections in the United States. It was, however, not as acute an issue in Canada. A report of forty-seven years ago had shown the same question was being considered then, he said, the exodus of the farmers to the city and of Canadians to the "other side." Fifty years ago, the Ontario Agricultural College had been found with the hope of combating the situation by making farming a more profitable enterprise.

Fewer Men Needed

It was quite true that there had been a decline in the rural population, but there was a logical explanation for this. As a boy, he said, he could recall how five men, led by his father, had gone into fifteen acre field equipped with cradles to mow the grain. They had been followed by five other men with wooden rakes who were to bind the grain as it was cut; the fifteen acres had been cut in one day and had been the subject for admiring discussion throughout the district for many years. In the present age, one man with modern equipment could accomplish the same amount of work in the same length of time. The result was that the other nine men had been automatically released from farm work. But the land was still being tilled, and there was an increase in all branches of agriculture during the last ten years with the possible exceptions of sheep and swine.

Reports in the press had shown that there were two million less people on the farms in the United States than there were twenty-five years ago but there had been an increase of one-seventh in the production, in spite of the fact that there was less land under cultivation. The same was also true of the city industries. In the textile industry, a machine had been invented in recent years which was operated by one man and did the work which formerly required two hundred men. Thus the other one hundred and ninety-nine men had been released for other work. In the opinion of Professor Reynolds, there will be a "drift" in the opposite direction during the next ten years.

Walter Smith.

Walter Smith, Brighton, agricultural representative for Northumberland, was of the opinion that there had been several good suggestions which might be taken from the Professor's speech. There were several new phases of agriculture which he wished to bring to the attention of the Institute, he said. The first was a soil survey which had been recently founded in conjunction with the Farmers' Club of Castleton. These men were desirous of purchasing lime by the carload lot for fertilizing purposes, but were asked by the Department to refrain from so doing till it could be ascertained whether or not lime was what their land required. The actual work of this survey would begin this week in the district of Castleton.

Special attention is to be given to the sheep and swine industry with the end in view of increasing the standard and size of the flocks and herds. Bovine tuberculosis was also being carefully checked and it was the ambition of the Department to increase the size of the accredited areas. This would be a great convenience to buyers who came from the United States and who purchased cattle in carload lots.

The junior extension work included school fairs and short courses. It was expected that there would be a short course held in Campbellford this year. There are to be two courses, one of one month and one of three months, held in the county, and one of these, it is expected, will be held in Campbellford. The greatest obstacle in school fairs was the financial problem. If the Women's Institute would donate a certain sum toward the prize list, the donation would be greatly appreciated and make it possible to increase the value of the prizes. The poultry culling campaign had been in force for three years and there were from three thousand to five thousand birds culled each year, said Mr. Smith. The campaign would be carried out this year during the week of July 8th.

If the Women's Institute cared to take any steps toward the beautification of the homes and schools, they would be assured of the co-operation of the Department, Mr. Smith claimed. These were his chief points, he concluded, and repeated his gratefulness for the opportunity of addressing the meeting.

A violin solo and a violin duet by the Richardson brothers concluded the program for the afternoon. The piano accompaniment was played by Miss Enid Richardson. Generous applause marked the favor which the artists enjoyed.

Tea was served in the basement of the building to the ladies who cared to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Obituary

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MRS. D. BOWEN.

MARMORA, June 14.—The sad news was received in Marmora on Tuesday evening that Sarah, wife of David Bowen, had passed away in Belleville in the late afternoon of that day following an operation. The deceased lady, who was fifty-five years of age, was the younger daughter of Mr. Albert Wright, oldest resident of Marmora village. She was of a quiet and industrious disposition and earned the name of being a good neighbour. She was a member of the United Church. Besides husband and father, there are left to mourn her loss four daughters, Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. L. Gray, Mrs. M. McGarvey and Mrs. W. Bishop. An only son, Archie, who enlisted in the Great War died while in training in Canada. She is also survived by four brothers and one sister, Jesse and Robert of Marmora, Samuel of Holloway, Milton of Detroit, and Mrs. M. Sinclair of Sarnia. Though living for many years in Marmora the late Mrs. Bowen was born in Rawdon township.

WILLIAM KIDD.

(Examiner Correspondence)

WARSAW, June 14.—The funeral of William Kidd, who died at his home on Saturday, June 9, took place on Monday, June 11. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. B. McCormack, Baptist minister at Lakefield, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Eikenaar of Warsaw and Indian River. The burial took place at Warsaw cemetery.

Mr. Kidd had spent his life in Warsaw and had a large family connection. His wife, who was Miss Adeline McMaster survive him, also a son, Roy, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Russel Jenkins.

Mr. Kidd had been troubled with his heart for some time, but did not like to be idle. The horses stood for some time, which made some of the family go out to see what was the matter, and they found Mr. Kidd had dropped unconscious. The doctor was summoned, but life was extinct.

He was a member of the Baptist church. The pall-bearers were Messrs Duncan Kidd, Bruce Kidd, Percy Kidd, Bert Rae, Bert Cuffe and Alec McNaughton.

A giant airship, driven by steam power and designed to cross the United States in 36 hours, is nearing completion.

HASTINGS WINS FROM LAKEFIELD

Darkness Cuts Game Short, Only Five Innings Being Played.

HASTINGS, June 14.—Hastings added another victory to their credit in the East Peterborough League on Wednesday afternoon by defeating Lakefield 9-5. The game only went five innings on account of darkness. Lloyd Scriver of Hastings scored a home run.

Score by innings:

Hastings	20430—9
Lakefield	21200—5

RECALLS DAYS OF PIONEERS

was known as fairs, where they would come from all parts of the country to barter in horses and, added Mr. Byers, if they could not trade they would drive the horses into the swamps and let the wolves feed on them.

His father had an old mare which he was supposed to take into the woods to kill, but instead, he saddled the horse and in the night started for Peterborough in the Winter. He arrived as it was getting light and stopped at Phelan's Hotel, now the Montgomery House, where he rested and then started out to see what kind of a trade he could make. He secured another horse with five dollars thrown in for a bargain.

When the people at home found out where he had gone, they thought he would never get to Peterborough on the old horse, so started to look for him. They found him riding up and down the main street looking for another bargain. His father then thought it was time he started home, so off they started. Mr. Byers remained with the party for a while then after he found himself in advance of the rest he took a turn and landed back in Peterborough, where he stayed until he got ready to go home. It was early morning when he arrived and getting quite light. At the time Mr. Byers was twelve or thirteen years old.

Mr. Byers told The Examiner he did not stay around the farm much, but he was a great man for the girls. They used to do their courting on horseback. There were practically no buggies, and very few farm wagons. For five years after he was married, he and his wife used to travel around the country on horseback and then they bought a buggy.

Dances at Funerals

A death was the occasion for a dance. When anyone died, their friends held a dance. The time of Peter McGinnis' wake when all the boys of the neighborhood gathered around with a couple of fiddlers and plenty to drink was his recollection of his biggest dance.

However, fiddlers were scare in those days, and whistlers were in great demand. B. Byers, a brother of David, was a great whistler who could carry any tune and so consequently was in great demand for the dances.

He remembers distinctly the visit of King Edward VII. when he came over here as the Prince of Wales, also the Mackenzie Rebellion, when his father and the rest of the neighbors went away to the war.

They used to have great fires in those days when twelve to eighteen acres would be in a blaze at one time. He seemed to recall these with great pleasure.

Mr. Byers is a strict Presbyterian. He first went to church in a little log house in Centreville and later to a frame church there, on the same site as the present Presbyterian church at Centreville.

Mr. Byers is the father of six sons, all of whom are well. W. J. Byers, aged 63, who keeps the store at Byersville; Robert Byers is a teamster in the city; George Byers and John Byers are farmers in Hamilton County, and Wesley Byers and Thomas Byers are employed in the C.G.E.

Mr. Byers moved to this city eleven years ago as his wife was failing in health. She died at the age of seventy-three. For several years he resided with Thomas Byers at 494 Patterson street, and for the past few years he has been with Wesley Byers at Brown street.

JUST NEXT DOOR.

An ocean voyage seems a long way off sometimes but here just next door the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship service presents a two days inland ocean voyage across Huron's blue waters through the lovely St. Mary's River and away over the broad expanse of Lake Superior. A steamboat express train from Toronto is but a short trip to the proud white ship; the moorings are let go and away we start on a delightful cruise that eases fagged brains and weary bodies.

There are two sailings a week during the summer months from Port McNichol and one from Owen Sound and the same number of eastward sailings from Fort William and Port Arthur. Few ocean vessels have more luxurious accommodation than those provided on the S.S. Keewatin and S.S. Assiniboia which ply the great lakes nor the S.S. Manitoba which sails between Owen Sound and the Twin Cities.

Tickets, parlor car and boat reservations from any Canadian Pacific ticket agent. 2d-14-27

Judge Huycke Is Opposed to Colleagues

has become part of the institution.

"In regard to your remarks about visiting the hospitals, there may be something in what you say but I am inclined to disagree with you. Do not think for a minute that I expect you to understand the working of the hospital but you gentlemen coming here from all parts of the county will be able to tell those in your community at home when you go back just what good hospitals there are in Peterborough and how well they are managed.

"I did not propose to say anything along this line but I learn from an article appearing in the morning papers that a judge in the western part of the province said that grand juries were nothing but a useless bill of expense and that the day of their usefulness was past. Well, gentlemen, everyone is entitled to his opinion, he is entitled to his and I to mine. I do not think grand juries a useless expense. You come here at the public expense and I believe the people would not be satisfied if there were no grand juries. Perhaps you think you have not done very much here this session and you have not done as much as usual because there was not the work for you.

Help in Criminal Cases.

"From my rather lengthy experience at the bar I have found grand juries most necessary in criminal cases. I have known of cases when a man or woman has been brought to trial on account of some spite, and when the grand jury enquired into the case it has failed to bring in a true bill and the county has not been put to the unnecessary expense. To me this determining whether a case is of sufficient importance to go to a trial or not is of very great importance.

"I should regret if the sentiments of my friend were ever carried out. He says the government makes inspections of public institutions and we assume it does but whoever knows or hears about it. The people of the city and county of Peterborough will take your word on how these institutions are managed. I suppose the government inspectors' reports are tabled in Toronto but the people never know and they are entitled to know.

"We have heard the same old thing for years that juries were unnecessary and here it is only fair for me to say that the tendency has been to take things before the judge without a jury, as most of my cases are, but I would in many cases much rather have a jury for I think the good sense of twelve men is better than that of one.

"The grand jury is an old English institution, going back I am inclined to think, before the Anglo-Saxon race. One hundred and fifty years ago in Canada the French race resented the jury for they said 'what do butchers and garbagemen know about trials?' Hence we have in some cases the right to be tried by a judge without a jury.

"I don't think what I say or what my friend in the west says will make a bit of difference. The grand jury system will go on," concluded His Honor.

Grand Jury Report.

The grand jury's report was as follows:

"May it please Your Honor:

"We, the grand jury empanelled according to law, to inspect and report on the institution receiving support of the public monies, have made careful inspection and beg to report as follows:

"First permit us to congratulate the three members of the bar who recently received the honor of Kings Counsellor, Messrs. V. J. McElderry, E. H. D. Hall and S. T. Medd. We would also like to mention Mr. Nesbitt's long and faithful service as jailer, also we believe that the public may have confidence in his successor, Mr. Johnston.

"We were very pleased to find that our duties would be light owing to lack of criminal cases which speaks well for the County of Peterborough as a law-abiding community and for the efficiency of the county and city police.

"Starting on our tour of inspection with the county jail we found everything in good order with the exception of the bathing facilities and hot water supply. We found one dilapidated bath tub for the use of all inmates of jail, male and female, which is absolutely inadequate, also the hot water tank is in a dangerous state having temporary plugs which may blow out at any time. We strongly recommend the installation of an additional shower bath, also a sufficient hot water supply to take care of bathing and laundry work. This will do away with the antiquated outdoor furnace which is inefficient and practically useless in winter.

"We next visited the House of Providence and St. Joseph's Hospital, which are in exceedingly good condition and well managed, as also was the Children's Shelter were there are only six children at present.

"St. Vincent's Orphanage which we next visited was also in first class condition where thirty-four children are being capably cared for.

"We visited next the Protestant Home where we found a wonderful Home. Under Miss Lancaster's very capable management this Institution is taking the place of a real home to the fourteen men and twenty-three women who seem very happy and contented.

"At Nicholls Hospital everything was found to be in excellent condition. Just here we might mention that this Jury does not think it necessary or advisable that hospitals such as St. Joseph's and Nicholls should come under the inspection of the grand jury. They have their own standards of management and safety which are beyond our scope of judgment.

House of Refuge Improved.

"Our last visit was to the House of Refuge which we believe has been improved to a wonderful extent under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Fry. Fresh paint within and without has made the House bright and attractive. The inmates are contented and well satisfied with the care they are receiving. The barn and stables are in good condition but a coat of whitewash would improve and preserve the stables. We would suggest that some arrangements be made to supply the inmates with newspapers and reading matter to occupy their time.

"Our inspection of the county offices and court rooms are very gratifying. The county has a building to be proud of and particularly the registrar's office. The sherrif's office would be improved by being redecorated, but is a big improvement over the old quarters. We would recommend that the county court room be redecorated as the walls and ceiling have a grimy appearance.

"In conclusion we congratulate Your Honor on the light criminal and civil docket and trust you may long be spared to administer justice in the County of Peterborough.

"Signed: V. A. Wood, J. J. Kylie, W. Cruikshank, A. Young, T. Pitchford, B. L. Tully, S. Seabrook, Milton A. Clark, James Robertson, R. G. Sedgwick, A. B. Greenbank, Maurice Allen, Fred Hooper (foreman)."

HURRAH For Chiropractic

WE HAVE SCORED AGAIN OVER ALL METHODS OF TREATMENT, TRIED BY A SUFFERING PATIENT

This young lady, like many others, had very severe menstrual pains. Her family physician gave her a bottle of medicine, "for pain," to be taken every hour until ease. Three doses stopped the menstrual flow for several months. Her mother decided to try Chiropractic adjustments for her, and eleven adjustments, given over a period of two months, have relieved the above condition.

This young lady is so grateful that she has given me permission to use her name, if necessary; she believes all women suffering from the above pains should see her Chiropractor without delay.

The above is only one of the many successes Chiropractic is enjoying.

Why delay longer? See your Chiropractor now.

"Women who Drive should know these Tire Facts"

THE more attention you give your tires the more service they will give you in return.

If you abuse them they will cause you a lot of unnecessary expense. If you give them a little care all the time they will deliver all the mileage that was built into them.

Always see that your tires are inflated at the correct pressure. Never run even a short distance on a flat tire. Have tread-cuts repaired promptly.

Drive carefully. Hitting holes or bumps in the pavement, or bumping into the curb when turning or parking — these things are very destructive on tires.

A weekly trip to a Dominion Tire Depot will repay you. The service man will test the tire pressures and examine the treads for cuts, nails and embedded flints that might be forced through when running.

Periodically he should take off the tires — including the spare —and clean the rims and search the tire walls for breaks or bruises.

If you keep these rules you will find driving more enjoyable. You will not be haunted by fear of tire trouble.

Drive with Confidence.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

GARRETT FOLSOM is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N.J.

Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichaq.

Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room.

Croydon Sears' initials are discovered in a notebook of Folsom's and Pelton thinks his uncle had been doing some blackmailing. ROBIN SEARS, Croydon's son, is worried now that suspicion is resting on his father. Riggs tells him he has learned that Croydon Sears had purchased a third dagger.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII.

"Then my father had a good reason for not mentioning the third," Robin Sears said promptly. "And is that third weapon the one that pierced the body of Garrett Folsom, when my father was several hundred feet away?"

"Now, Robin," Angel Fair said, her eyes full of understanding, but her lips setting themselves in a firm line, "don't take it that way. I mean, we all know and appreciate your resentment and your indignation, but they won't get us anywhere. Let's hear all Mr. Riggs can tell us, and then go to work on this new evidence."

Tite Riggs looked at her admiringly.

"Atta girl!" he said.

"You're right," said Robin, his eyes suddenly opened. "That's Dad's attitude—high and mighty, scornful, above-suspicion gesture. All right, Riggs, just how far is this suspicion voiced and by whom?"

"The police don't voice it audibly, but it's like a distant rumble of thunder and all that sort of thing. They are gathering a little more evidence and then they propose to come out in the open and declare their beliefs."

"That my father killed Mr. Folsom?"

"It may come to that."

"And the motive?"

"They expect to get that later. You see, if they get circumstantial evidence pretty firmly established, they go ahead."

Robin thought a moment.

"Then I have two things to do—I mean right now. I must hunt that green bather that Dad said can prove he was not near Folsom, and I must interview the auction man. Which will you do, Angel?"

Tite Riggs smiled.

"I'll go along the beach," she said, at once, "and see if I see our verdant friend. You get dressed and take up the auction end of it, and we'll meet at luncheon."

"Right," said Robin. "Good hunting."

The girl swung off down the beach, a shining figure in her bright colored garb, and Robin turned to Riggs.

"I don't get it," he said, simply, "but Angel's right. It's no time to stand around and say, 'How dare you, sir!' It's time for action."

"Why not go straight to your father and put it to him?"

"Well, you see," Robin smiled, "Angel hasn't spoken to him as she did to me, and he's still in the high-hat stage. He'd say, 'My son, we Searses don't commit murder,' and let it go at that. No, I know my Dad, and I've pretty well sounded him out on this thing, and for the moment, anyway, I've got to do a little sleuthing on my own. Take me back on the force, will you?"

His sunny smile was a little crooked at the corners, for, after all, Robin was only twenty-six, and to have the honor of the whole Sears line on his shoulders was a responsibility.

"Glad to," said Riggs. "Now, I do think that you're the one to go to see Barchester; that's the auctioneer."

"What an impressive name."

"Very. Shall I go with you?"

"I'm not afraid of the beetle, but I think whatever transpires between us should be before a witness. So come along."

Meantime, Angelica, not at all averse to her part of the game, hiked merrily along, noting with darting eyes the suit of every man she passed. Though a striking figure in her bright colored garb, her gay beach cape was voluminous and, blown by the breeze, gave her more the effect of a sea nymph returning to her native element than a mortal in search of a man.

Moreover, as there were many thousand bathing suits more conspicuous than hers and some less so, she was not so noticeable as might appear.

At last a sixth sense seemed to apprise her that she was being followed.

She turned, quickly and suddenly, and found she was right, but the follower was Ross, the valet of the murdered man, and the servant of his nephew.

Angel had seen him at the inquest, and once or twice since had seen him talking to Tite Riggs on the boardwalk.

She looked at him with questioning eyes but a calm absence of fear or even indignation.

"Well?" she said.

"Pardon me, Miss Fair. I may have been presumptuous, but I saw you walking alone, and I followed, because—"

"Yes, because?" she spoke evenly and looked straight at him.

He met her gaze squarely.

"I will tell you, ma'am. Because I saw some men looking after you, and you were alone, and I feared there might be a possibility of their speaking to you."

His face, honest, earnest and sincere, carried its own guaranty, and while he stood in the conventional attitude of the well-trained servant, he seemed to show almost a fatherly care for the perhaps imprudent girl who had wandered so far alone.

"You are right, Ross—your name is Ross, isn't it? And it was because of my eagerness to accomplish a certain purpose that I have come farther than I meant to. I wonder if you can help me," she said, suddenly, for the man was in his bathing suit. "Have you seen in bathing a man in a green suit?"

"A green suit?" and the puzzled face broke into a smile. "No, miss. Is that what you are looking for?"

"Yes, I am. Have you seen one on anybody? Not today—but, well, any time. I say, Ross, walk along the beach with me, toward home. I want to talk with you."

Garrett Folsom's valet was too well trained and too experienced to be surprised at anything his superiors asked or ordered, and he fell into step with her at once.

"And keep your eye out for a man in a green bathing suit," she added, as they went on.

Angel was pleased at meeting this man, for she suddenly realized that it was better to have an attendant and, as he was so closely connected with the tragedy of the hour, he might tell her something about it.

But the man was not communicative. Respectfully he answered her questions, carefully he guarded her footsteps, but outside that, he was the woodenfaced, obsequious servant that Garrett Folsom had trained him to be.

"Where were you at the time your master was killed?" she asked, at last, more because she could think of nothing else to say about it, than anything.

"In his apartment, waiting for him, Miss Fair," he replied, and a tone of sadness in his voice made her think that, after all, this wooden man had loved the man he had attended.

"You were fond of Mr. Folsom?" he said, gently.

"As fond as a man may be of his master who employs him."

"Dumbbell!" she remarked to herself. But aloud, she said:

"Ross, who killed Mr. Folsom?"

If she had hoped to scare him into a more lifelike demeanor, she failed for he only said, gravely:

"I don't know, Miss Fair. There were many who had motive, there were many thousands who had opportunity, but from them all I can make no selection. I supposed, though, the detectives would do so, before this."

"Have you any reason to think it was Mr. Sears?"

"Mr. Sears?"

"Yes, Mr. Croydon Sears."

"No, Miss Fair, I've no reason to think so."

"Do you know Mr. Sears?"

"I have seen him, of course, but I don't know him—not as I may say I know Mr. Neville, or the more intimate friends of my late master."

"I suppose, naturally, you knew only the men who came to Mr. Folsom's home, not his business friends?"

"Yes, Miss Fair."

"Then," she turned on him, "then, Mr. Sears must have been at his home. Was he?"

Ross looked surprised at her excitement.

"Why, yes—I think he was."

on account of the slow arrivals and the higher prices now ruling in foreign markets. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked grades were made at $3.90 per bushel, ex-track to arrive, and broken lots at $4.10 per bushel, ex-store.

The strength which has characterized the local butter situation of late was again the main feature of the trade, and prices closed ½c to ¼c per pound higher. Receipts are steadily increasing, but the offerings were small owing to the fact that the trade seems to be imbued with the desire to accumulate a few cars. There was a steady demand from local buyers for supplies and a fair volume of business was done. The receipts were 300 packages.

There was some demand from foreign buyers for cheese and further sales of Western No. 1 white and colored were made at 10c per cwt., and it was also reported that some business was done in June cheese at a higher figure, but the volume was not large. The undertone to the local market was inclined to be easier and prices were reduced a fraction. The receipts were 4,312 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Grain prices suffered a sharp break yesterday toward the last, owing to an increase of selling on a market in which buying power was lacking. Selling out on the part of holders started in corn and soon spread to other cereals, with September and December deliveries of corn touching a new low price record for the season.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled ⅞c to 3⅛c net lower, wheat 1⅝c to 2¼c down, oats ⅛c to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Widespread auspicious weather conditions both for corn and wheat were a factor in bringing about pressure to sell. At the first the selling of corn was confined to the July delivery and went hand-in-hand with purchases of September and December, but subsequently independent weakness in September became pronounced. At this juncture, standing orders to stop losses by letting go of future delivery corn holdings at various set limits were dislodged and this gave additional impetus to the downward swing of the wheat.

The fact that the price of September delivery of corn went well below $1.00 a bushel had a specially disconcerting effect, the even dollar mark being considered a boundary line, the passing of which was certain to attract general notice. About the only support which developed for corn values was buying credited to previous sellers who were in position to take profits. Observers said that Argentine corn was dominating the trans-Atlantic markets.

Oats sympathized with corn weakness.

Spring wheat territory north-west and the winter wheat belt south-west were alike being favored with auspicious field conditions. Late declines in the wheat market, however, were preceded by upturns that accompanied unexpected higher quotations at Liverpool and some adverse crop reports from the Judith Basin, Montana. On the other hand, export business in wheat from North America proved to be only moderate, 600,000 to 700,000, all Canadian.

Provisions reflected the bearish showing on lard stocks, the Government report indicating 185,600,000 pounds on hand June 1, against 112,000,000 pounds a year before.

MADOC CHURCHES

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, June 14.—A bright, beautiful Sunday morning brought out good congregations in all the churches, and record attendance in the Sunday schools.

At Trinity United Church, the speaker was Rev. Mr. Davies, representing the British and Foreign Bible Society. His theme was the work of the Society in all lands and in all Protestant churches, and he brought very forcibly to the minds of all the responsibilities as well as the privilege of all Christians with regard to the work of distributing the Word of God to all who desire it. Taking as his text, "The Word of God is not bound," he made very clear the Apostle Paul's meaning, and drew forcible lessons.

The Hymns chosen were appropriate, and the anthem sung by the choir was "The Song of the Sea," the solo taken by Mrs. Vernon Reid, and the chorus by the full choir being the verses of "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me."

After the sermon, Miss Lenore Vandervoort gave a most effective solo, "Oh, Lord, Rebuke Me Not, In Thine Anger."

Rev. Mr. Davies spoke in the Anglican church at the evening service, and afterwards at St. Peter's church, presenting the claim and work of the Bible Society to these congregations, speaking very strongly of the urgent need of increased giving on the part of all, for the deficit for the last three years amounted to $335,000, which means either the misery of debt, or retrenchment in translations and colporteurs, which is a step all would dislike to contemplate.

After the evening services, a short meeting was held in the Presbyterian churches for all interested, for the election of officers of the local society, and the appointment of canvassers.

The report for the year 1927, was read by Mrs. F. Jenkins, in the absence of the Secretary, Rev. Mr. Davies presiding.

Five subscribers to "Bible in the World"	$19.00
Collection at meeting	7.80
Collected by canvassers	39.00
	$65.80
Expense of printing	50
	$65.30
which with the amount sent too late in 1926	74.00
makes a total of	$139.30

The officers elected were: President, George Wright; vice-Presidents, all the ministers of the churches; Secretary, Mrs. George Springham; Treasurer, W. H. McBain.

Canvassers: Mesdames Holland, West Fair, Moon, Wellman, Moorcroft and Wickham, and Misses Marjorie Miller and Jean Blakely.

It is urged that these canvassers be assisted to make this year one of increased giving for this district.

The evening service of Trinity United Church was an Anniversary service, it being the third anniversary of the union of the three churches. A short song service preceded the usual service, and the hymns chosen were appropriate to the occasion. The anthem was sung by four little girls, Misses Thornton Love, Clarice Dafoe, Phyllis Reid, and Addie Shane, who sang "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall."

Rev. G. W. Rivers took as his subject, "The United Church of Canada: what has been accomplished, and the work that lies before us." The text was "Lord, I have loved the habitations of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth."—Ps. 26:8.

A very beautiful violin solo by Mr. Scrutton added much to the enjoyment of the evening service.

During the announcements for the coming week, Mr. Rivers announced that the coming Sunday the choir would wear their new gowns for the first time.

VOICES ACROSS THE SEA

A young, fair-haired lad stood up in the Temple Church at London, England, and poured out a golden voice in the strains of "Lord, Hear My Prayer," one of Mendelssohn's majestic compositions. Like the notes of a bird soared the clear, pure soprano. Against the voice rose the mighty tones of a great organ and a burst of choral music interposed itself at moments, in a woven tapestry of colored sound.

The voice ceased. Again it rose, this time in the words; "Oh, for the Wings, The Wings of a Dove." The pure melody filled the air. Master E. Lough, boy soloist at the Old Temple Church, was singing.

The music stopped. The needle of the record wound itself into silence. The listener rose, with a wish that the golden boy voice would go on indefinitely. Voices across the sea!

DRESS
By MARY MARSHALL

Designed for the woman who thinks herself too short, this frock of navy and white dotted chiffon is worn over a slip of white crepe de chine.

Very short women often try to look tall. They wear the highest heels they can find, and the tallest hats. They select frocks with up and down stripes and long drapery—hold themselves as erect as possible and pretend that they are of majestic height. Why do they do it? Just as if there weren't enough tall women in the world as it is, and just as if high heels and up and down stripes and all the other devices could make enough difference to fool any one!

What the short woman should do—I think—is to set about considering her possible assets. She should remember that there is a charm in petiteness that not all the stately Junos or statuesque Venuses can compete with. To make petiteness really count it should be coupl d with extreme neatness and trimness.

The frock shown in the sketch was chosen recently for a woman considerably below the average height and I am showing it because it proved most successful. Yet it makes use of none of the tricks usually employed in an effort to add inches to a short woman's stature.

The material chosen for the little frock shown in the sketch was white chiffon with a small navy blue dot. The dots are not very close together, and I think you will find that a fairly wide-spaced dot is less tiresome than the sort more closely spaced. Though extremely popular, dots have not become commonplace and are not likely to become so. Besides, there are so many different sorts of dots that it is always possible to select some sort that no one else of your acquaintance is wearing.

Parasols are already decidedly popular and the fact that women have continued to wear small hats is favorable to the parasol fashion. And some of the smartest of the new parasols have polka dots. A white silk parasol with large black dots may be worn very effectively with the all white or black and white ensemble.

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckleface, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes your freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles.

MARION'S MAIL.

(Inquiries should be addressed to "Marion," care of The Examiner.)

S. E. What can one do to remove wrinkles from one's neck?

Answer: Massage with cocoa butter. The neck should be massaged with a firm, upward stroking movement, first with the palms and then with the backs of the hands. If the wrinkles are rather deep, steaming will help before the massage. For this, wring out a towel in hot water and wrap it firmly, but not tightly, about the neck. Repeat this three or four times and apply a cold towel after the last hot one, then massage. Deep breathing exercises are splendid for the neck. Let me know how you progress.

D. D. Is it true that men fall out of love with their wives when said wives become fair, fat and forty?

Answer: This query, like the above, has been passed on to me by the Question Box department. My answer is, positively not. Middle age and failing pulchritude, adding years and weight, have nothing to do with the case. In the first place, few women are married for their beauty, or else the old-maid crop would be much larger than it is. Men don't pick their wives because they may win a bathing beauty contest. A man chooses a woman because for some ethereal reason she looks good to him, even if her features are a little scrambled and her complexion synthetic. If a man loses interest in his wife it is not because she has lost that school-girl complexion; maybe she is shrewish and peevish; maybe she is sloppy around the house; maybe she has slumped mentally; maybe she has lost her chumminess with her husband; maybe she has lost the fine art of jollying her husband along—it may be a hundred reasons. But never (or seldom ever) does a woman lose her husband merely because she is growing old along with him.

Favorite Recipe

Here are two recipes from the cook book of Mrs. Fred Walsh, of Euclid avenue. Personal experience has proven the first to be one of the most delicious things the writer ever tasted, but it has to be eaten when one is hungry and quite empty, otherwise the inevitable second helping will cause discomfort. A little isn't enough, in this instance.

It hasn't any official title, but it's made with sponge cake and fruit and whipped cream. The sponge is made from five eggs and a large cupful of fine fruit sugar, the two whipped together until a creamy consistency is reached. To this is added a cupful of flour.

In the meantime, a cupful of sugar is browned with a quarter pound of butter and poured over the contents of a small can of pineapple or a similar quantity of sliced bananas. Over this is poured the sponge batter and the whole is baked for half an hour in a moderately hot oven. It may be served either hot or cold. Whipped cream makes a wonderful finish to the dish.

A second recipe from Mrs. Walsh's book is a favorite Swedish dish named "Rice a la malta," and is something like a blanc mange. One breakfast cupful of rice is cooked with milk and flavored slightly with vanilla, sugar and a pinch of salt. It is allowed to cool. Eight sheets of gelatin are melted in water and later mixed with a pint of stiffly-beaten whipped cream. The rice is folded into this mixture and put into a mold, on ice or in a cool place. It is served cold, either un-garnished, or with jam or a light fruit sauce.

ADVICE TO JUNE BRIDES

"If a woman but cooks,
We care not how she looks,
For we never can find her peer.
She may write many books
Or convert all the crooks,
But we'd tire of her in a year.
Though wise as the owls and rooks
And pure as the babbling brooks,
She must cook, or from her we steer clear."

THINK, THEREFORE!

"For four things there is no recall: the spoken word, the arrow that sped from the bow, the march of fate, and time that is passed."

WEDDINGS

W. S. inquires: (1) What is the correct form for wedding invitations? (2) How should the invitations be addressed? (3) On which side of her father does the bride walk? (4) Is it right to have anything printed on the wedding cake boxes?

(1). There are slight differences to suit various needs. Downstairs, in The Examiner printing department, there are many samples from which to choose, both of type and wording. One of the most used forms (for a church wedding) is: "Mrs. John Blank requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Jean Marion, to Mr. Thomas White, on Saturday, the sixteenth of June, at nine o'clock in the evening at Trinity United Church, Peterborough, Ontario." In the case of a church wedding, of course, this invitation would go to all guests desired at the church, while cards enclosed with this invitation would invite the favored few to the reception. (2). The outer envelope should be addressed "Mr. and Mrs. Peter White" and the inner envelope, "Mr. and Mrs. White." Never address an invitation, "Mr. and Mrs. Peter White and Family." If there is a grown-up daughter to be invited, send her a separate invitation. (3) On his left. At the entrance to the church he offers her his left arm, and at the first strains of the wedding march they move towards the altar. At the same time the groom and his best man come from the vestry and wait at the right of the chancel steps. The father stands with his daughter until asked by the minister, "Who giveth this woman . . .?" When he places her hand in that of the groom and steps back into a pew. (4) No, but the boxes should bear the initials of both the bride and bridegroom. The boxes are usually white, tied with white ribbon.

How to Name the Baby

Abigail (meaning "The father's joy") Ada or Adah (Ornament), Adela, Adelaide, Adelia, Adeline, Adeliza (noble maiden), Adrienne (dark).

Aaron (A teacher, inspired), Abdiel (The servant of God), Abel (a breath a vapor), Abiel (father of strength), Abijah (Son of Jehovah), Abner (father of light), Abraham (father of a multitude), Absalom (the father's peace) Adam (red earth, first, chief).

Modern women wear fewer clothes

More delicate clothes, even for every day. More expensive. And far more difficult to take care of. Because fewer clothes are worn they are apt to soil more quickly. Because they are fragile, they require more safeguarding in the wash. The laundry soap to which you entrust the cleansing of these nice things must be gentle yet thorough.

You have the CERTAINTY of safety, when you use Surprise. It works in, and rinses out, completely. Without harming a thread.

The Arrival of Summer

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

AFTER Spring with it's burst of energy and its rehabilitation of nature, comes Summer with its more even temperament and moderate disposition. Growing things walk toward maturity and the world finds time to drowse a little in the shade. Now is vacation time, freedom from study books, and a period of relaxation. There should be definite assigned work, of course, that little spirits may not be too selfish and lazy, but there should also be much time to lie with Summer in the shade by the brooks.

THE world of the forest was silent and still
And the brook lay asleep in the lap of the hill
All tucked in its blanket so comfy and nice,
That Winter had woven of crystal clear ice.
Then Spring came, and each day the sunbeams played longer,
And each day the South Wind blew warmer and stronger,
And a robin sang gaily, "Hi Ho, cheerio,
Wake up, for the Summer is coming you know!"

The brook stirred and yawned in the warmth of the sun.
It kicked off its blanket and leaped up to run.
The trees woke and stretched out their leafy green arms,
And the forest was filled with the fair flowers' charms.
Then far from the south o'er the fairy gowned meadows
Came Summer to rest by the brook in the shadows.
The trees wove their boughs for a green canopy
And the brook sang her songs as it ran to the sea.

Seniors Defeat Smelters 12-5 In Opening Tilt

PETES TAKE OPENING GAME OF DOUBLEHEADER FROM DELORO; THEN RAIN STOPS THE SECOND

Smelter Pitching Staff Badly Mauled as Petes Win 12 to 5.

BATTING EYE BACK

Second Battle Was Even When Downpour Put End to Fun.

(By F. D. C.)

Deloro got nothing out of yesterday's Central Ontario League doubleheader on their own grounds but a rattling good gate.

The Petes, giving three Deloro pitchers what Babe Ruth is fond of calling an "elegant shellacking", took the first game, 12 runs to 5 and old Jupiter Pluvius won the decision over both teams in the second half of the sketch which had to be called at the end of the fourth frame with the score tied at 2-2.

After a bad start in the first engagement when some decidedly sloppy defence work and a couple of timely hits gave Deloro a three run lead in the third the Petes cut loose on a batting spree that blasted two of the Smelter pitching staff out of the game and made things far from pleasant for the third heaver to appear. The net result of this most refreshing stickwork was a four run picnic in the fourth and just twice that total in the fifth frame, an inning that took all the joy out of life for the Deloro fans and most of the fight out of the Deloro team.

Jeff Hardill worked on the hilltop throughout for the Petes and while the game opened like another one of those things Mr. Hardill soon had the unwonted thrill of being able to coast along with a big margin of runs to work on and from the fourth frame it was the easiest game of the season for the Petes good young pitcher. He yielded more hits than usual but Deloro needed a lot of help to get runs.

Carl Wood was the front end of a Peterborough battery which opposed the Petes on the go-in, Lambert Collins doing the receiving. Wood got by in good style for the first three frames but he ran into a barrage of hits in the fourth that combined with two walks to give the Petes four runs and the lead and when they opened fire on him again in the fifth the Deloro management decided he was not so hot and sent Frank Lead, also an old Peterborough boy, to the rescue. Frank had nothing to do it with and was given such a hot reception that after getting one man out while the Petes were driving over a flock of runs Von Jack was called upon to head the second relief expedition. He too took a bad combing before he could get the side out but he blanked the Petes for the rest of the game at that.

The most refreshing feature of the battle was that the winners who had been punchless in most of their games this season gave evidence that they have discovered their batting eye. They slammed Wood, Leal and Jack for seventeen hits, the safeties including triples by Rose and Harrison and doubles by Batten, Hardill and Ash. Harrison had a perfect day with two hits and three complimentaries while Hardill helped along the cause with three perfectly good hits. Quinn and Burgess were the only Deloro players to get more than one safety.

The fielding gems were a fast double play by Holyman, who grabbed a fast roller, stepped on second to force Brown and then doubled Scott at first, and a nice running catch in left by Brown for Deloro.

There was a real crowd in attendance. A bunch of Peterborough fans made the trip while Marmora and Havelock sent over large contingents. Everybody had a good time but the Deloro fans.

How They Scored.

Deloro got the jump in the first game by putting over three soft runs in the third. After Scott had popped to Holyman, Rose muffed Woods' high fly and then failed to field Burgess' sharp grounder near second that looked like a sure double play ball. Wood went to third on this gift hit and Burgess took second on the throw to third. With the infield in Collins cut a single through the box to score the pair and came home himself on Quinn's long double to left. Quinn was nailed trying to steal third, Jack and Hughes got lives on errors by Holyman and Batten but Hardill fanned Regan.

With that bad inning out of their system the Petes went out after Wood in the fourth frame and took the lead. Harrison started with a single to right and Ash got another in the same direction. Heckman's attempt to sacrifice was a fly to Wood but Hardill singled off the pitcher's shins to fill the bases. Holyman singled to centre, scoring Harrison and Ash, but was out trying to go to second on the throw in. Rose walked. Hardill scored on a double steal. Jake Hall singled to left to score Rose. Batten drew at pass but was forced at second by Swanston.

Harrison, first up in the fifth, walked, and when Ash ripped a double past third it was enough for Wood. Leal was the relief pitcher and he got a hot reception. Heckman singled to left on a line to score a pair. Hardill doubled to centre and after Holyman had lined to Quinn, Rose tripled to right field to send two more runs in and Leal out. Jake Hall singled to left on Jack, the third pitcher to appear, scoring Rose. The Petes were not through yet for Batten walked. Swanston singled through short to score Hall and Harrison slammed a triple over first base upon which Batten and Swanston rode home. Harrison was out at the plate by an eyelash when he tried to stretch the hit into a homer. Ash then struck out to end the slaughter.

From then on it was merely a case of playing out the string. Jack prevented any further scoring on the part of the Petes while Deloro picked up a couple of unearned runs. Jack scored in the fifth on an error by Ash and Hughes' double. In the seventh Quinn and Jack led off with singles and then Hughes forced the former at third. Regan hit to Rose, forcing Hughes, but the second baseman threw low to first in trying for a double and Jack scored.

It was the last run of the game, although both teams had scoring chances. Harrison hurt his leg in attempting to steal second in the seventh and had to retire, Ash coming in to first and Bert Hall going to the outfield.

THE SECOND GAME

The heavy shower that materialized at the end of the fourth inning of the second game put an end to a battle that promised to be decidedly interesting.

Al. Heckman was the Petes' pitching selection in this engagement and after the first innings when the Smelter outfit bunched three hits for a pair of runs the veteran worked very effectively, striking out six men in the four frames including the side in the third.

He was opposed by Jack Shea, hero of the one hit, 1-0 game here, who was none too steady, although he was not hit hard. The Petes were going after him hard and they were confident of grabbing off a second win until the downpour made further play impossible.

Rain in fact threatened to stop the second game right in the first inning, a shower holding up proceedings for some time. The Petes went out in order but Deloro got two runs on Collins' double, a single over second by Quinn, a low throw by Swanston and Jack's single to second.

The Petes got that pair back in the second when after Heckman and Turner had worked Shea for a walk, Wilgar, coaching at third, pulled the old let-me-look-at-the-ball gag on Shea, stepping aside when the Deloro pitcher obligingly tossed the ball over to him and letting the baserunners advance a peg. Swanston promptly doubled to left to score Heckman and Turner and tie up the game.

The next two innings were scoreless and before the Petes could do anything in the fifth frame down came rain and the game was called for good. The crowd got a real drenching before they could get under cover.

MARMORA WINS FROM DELORO 17-13

Defeat Smelters in First Softball Game Played This Season.

MARMORA, June 14.—The first softball game of the season was witnessed at Marmora Fair Grounds on Monday by a fair crowd, the men's team of the village facing that of Deloro, and defeating them by a score, 17-13.

The game was was one of fluctuating fortunes, the best hits being a pair of two baggers obtained by the homesters.

SPORT CHATTER

(By F. D. C.)

The Petes pulled themselves out of the cellar at the expense of Deloro and if they can keep up the clouting they started yesterday the local outfit will be up with the leaders in another week.

There was no sympathy for Peterborough old boys yesterday. Both Carl Wood and Frank Leal were given a hot reception and finally driven from the scene.

Von Jack is a useful member of the Deloro outfit. Yesterday he was seen in action in centre field and on the rubber in the first game and he played short in the abbreviated battle.

Shiner Johnston was out of the line up but he put in a very helpful afternoon on the coaching line. He and Hap Wilgar kept up such a heavy verbal barrage that they had some of the Deloro outfit talking to themselves.

The Petes had plenty of fight yesterday. The chatter from the dugout was so continuous and so pointed that at one stage of the proceedings Umpire Alex Kay threatened to clear the bench.

Jack Shea, Deloro's pitcher in the second game, was a victim of one of Jake Solomon's old tricks. The Petes had runners on first and second when Wilgar, coaching at third, asked to have a look at the ball. Shea was polite enough to comply with the request and when he tossed the Spalding over Wilgar sidestepped and let it roll away while the runners advanced.

The Deloro players rushed in to Umpire Kay but were told that the strategy was legitimate. It put two runs in position for Swanston to drive over and he did that very thing.

Fred Batten played third base for the Petes in both games yesterday and turned in a nice card for the afternoon.

The Petes had two casualties. Hap Harrison hurt his leg in the seventh inning of the first game and retired for the afternoon while Bert Hall was beaned in the second innings of the last battle and had to leave the game, Jeff Hardill going to the outfield.

The Peterborough gang scored eight runs in the fifth inning before two men were out. And it came near being nine for Harrison was only nipped at the plate after two perfect throws.

The Kingston game here Saturday will be full of spice. There is no love lost between the teams and it wil be a fight all the way.

BETHANY LOSE TIGHT CONTEST TO CRESCENTS

Timely Hitting and Good Fielding Wins 2-0 Victory for Homesters.

INFIELD GOOD

Frost Brings Victors Out of Tight Hole in Seventh Frame.

Timely hitting and a smart finish by Frost, gave Crescents a 2 to 0 victory over Bethany at Exhibition Park last evening the big crowd seeing the best-played contest of the series. The game was played in record time; only one batsman walked free to first base, and the Crescents' pitcher with two on and nobody out in the seventh, fanned the next two batters, after which the visitors' third baseman ended the battle with a grounder to Williams.

High class fielding in the garden by Lancashire, the star performer of the night, and big Freddy Jones, brought the crowd to their feet. Lancashire had to go up after a hard fly from Bob Ross, and Jones had a long chase after Staples' fly. The infielders, too, handled hard drives, and a double play, Phils to Ryley and return, was a nice piece of baseball.

After a see-saw argument for four innings in which Bethany outhit the Crescents 5 to 1, the homesters got a well earned run in the fifth. L. LeBarr drove out a single to middle and was hit home by Frost with a long double over centre fielder Lancashire. The latter evidently lost the range on the ball.

In the sixth, Crescents scored again. Cameron hit and J. LeBarr in an attempted sacrifice, popped to the pitcher. J. Jones sizzled one at McBride to force Cameron. Jones went down to second and on to third when the catcher's throw went through, and was hit home by Ross.

Bethany with a pair of hits, put two on in the second but failed to register. In the third, McGill and Reynolds on singles to middle and left, stood on third and first respectively with nobody gone, but no tally resulted. In the seventh, Johnston doubled to right and Russell planted one over second to make the visitors dangerous, but Frost was equal to the occasion, smoking the ball thorugh McGill and Reynolds, and holding Philp to a ground ball on which he was thrown out by Williams.

VIEWS ON SPORTS

The Kiwanis Juveniles and Moose play to-night in a league fixture at the James Stevenson Park. Game will be called sharp at six o'clock.

The Kiwanis and the Lockworks played to a six-all tie last night at the James Stevenson Park. The grounds were in a wet condition and very loose ball was played throughout most of the game.

* * * * * *

Each team used a pair of pitchers, the first showing a better display of hurling than the last. Owing to errors on the part of the Kiwanis, an early lead was obtained by the Lockworks, but the Kiwanis evened the count by scoring three runs in the third. The factory crew again took the lead but they were tied in the fifth.

* * * * * *

Raybestos head the standing list in the E.P.L., with two wins, one tie; Bethany comes second with one under each head, while the Cogs range third with one won and lost and two tied. The Crescents occupy the cellar with one win and two in the lost and tied positions respectively.

* * * * * *

A large crowd witnessed the Crescents down the Bethany 2-0 in a tight contest at the Exhibition grounds last night. Timely hitting and a good display of high class fielding, both infield and out, aided the locals to defeat the visitors.

* * * * * *

Frost, hurler for the victors, pulled the Crescents out of a tight hole in the seventh when with two on and nobody out, he fanned the next two batters while the third grounded out to third base.

* * * * * *

The second game of the city softball league will be played to-night at Confederation Square when Harrison's North Enders and the Lockworks crash. Both these teams have strong outfits and a tidy battle is expected.

* * * * * *

The Executive of the East Peterborough League will hold a meeting to-night to tighten the lid on several problems. It is likely that a ruling will be made by which no twilight game will be more than seven innings. Players of all clubs will be requested to give all their attention to the game and cease passing on remarks to the umpires.

* * * * * *

The next game will be on Friday evening when the Crescents do a turn with the Cogs. This engagement should be a humdinger. It is the replay of a tie game.

LOCKMAKERS AND KIWANIS PLAY TO TIE

Deannard's Crew Score Two in Fifth to Even Six-All Count.

MOUNDSMAN CHANGED

Grounds Were Wet, With Both Teams Playing Loose Ball.

Lockworks and Kiwanis tied last night in a Junior City League battle at James Stevenson Park. Lockworks were leading 6 runs of 4, when the Kiwanis came to bat in the fifth. Cotton, first man up, was hit; Crary singled and Gillespie walked to fill the bases. Manager Burke then pulled Murray, and Westbrooke went in to pitch. Dennard lifted one to O'Brien, and Whatley popped a fly to Green for the second out. Goodson then should have batted, but Howden by mistake went to the plate and singled, scoring Cotton and Crary to tie the score. One ball had been pitched on LeBarr, the next batter, before the mistake was noticed, but too late to stop the runs from being scored. Umpire Coursey called Howden at second for the third out for batting out of his turn.

The game throughout was very loose and the grounds were wet. Each team used two pitchers, the first pair making a better showing than the last. Goodson failed to get support and coupled with three errors on the part of the fielders the Lockworks had a four-run lead at the end of their half of the third. The Kiwanis came back with three runs in the third when Murray walked two and hit a third, and Walton singled.

Score Two More

In the fifth, after Howden went in to pitch, the Lockworks scored two more after two were out. Ashmore doubled, Creighton singled, scoring Ashmore, and stole second. Stante, who took Calladine's place, singled to score Creighton. In the fourth the Kiwanis scored again when Howden, batting for Lytle, doubled and LeBarr got a clean-cut triple that was nearly stretched into a home run. In the fifth, the Kiwanis scored two more to tie the game.

HEAVY HITTING BEATS KINGSTON

Belleville Clouts Young From Box in First Inning, Scoring 4.

FINAL SCORE 8-3.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 14 (Special to The Examiner). — Belleville hammered the offerings of Van Young so hard in the first inning of the C.O.B.L. game here last night, they finally walked off with an 8 to 3 score in the scheduled C.O.B.L. The Nationals rapped out five hits in the first inning, and three of them were good for doubles. After that Hewitt Smith ascended the mound, and while he restricted the Nationals to five hits for the remainder of the game, his wildness resulted in four more counters.

Belleville fell on Young with a vengeance in the first inning, and he was being waved to the showers when Green made the third out trying to stretch a double into a triple.

Kingston hit well enough, but failed to bunch them and the resust was they were only able to secure three single tallies. The Nationals played great ball in the pinches. Weir's great stop of Macpherson's liner resulting in a double play and Ross's four grand catches in centre being outstanding. George Ada, big right fielder for Kingston, kept up his heavy hitting, clouting two singles and a triple in four trips to the bat, making six hits in the last two games.

Kingston are up against it for good pitching, and will have to depend on Jamieson for Friday's game with Peterborough. After that it's a toss up, with Buck and Cherry likely dividing the work in Peterborough.

PONIES HERE ON SATURDAY FOR REAL ARGUMENT

Week End Battle Will See the Old Rivals in Action.

ARE NOW TIED.

And Winners of This Series Will Climb Up a Notch.

The Petes have a good chance of climbing up a notch at the expense of the Kingston Ponies here on Saturday afternoon and the game promises to be bitterly fought.

Both outfits need the victory, but no matter what the League standing, a Kingston-Peterborough clash is always full of excitement. There is nobody the Petes would rather take a fall out of than Joe Daley's men and as the Ponies feel just the same about the local gang, Saturday's engagement will be a lively affair.

The pitching selections Saturday will depend largely upon the heavers called upon to work to-morrow night's game in Kingston. Joe Daley has Young, Smith, Buck, Jamieson and Cherry to choose from.

The Ponies have some colorful ball players. Del Cherry has always been one of the leading performers in the Central loop and in George Ada, who was with Kitchener last season, he has a hard hitting companion in the outfield. Bubs Britton is a crack short-stop and Elliott, the youngster at second, a real infielder.

The Petes and the Ponies are at present tied for third place in the League standing.

RETURNING COATS

Smart fashionables returning from abroad favor brown fur coats with beaver and mink in the lead. Conservative lines lead.

PILE SUFFERERS

You can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause —congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish any form of Pile misery or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, and druggists everywhere sell it with this guarantee.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

BIG DOUBLE PROGRAM AT THE CAPITOL TO-NIGHT. "40,000 MILES WITH LINDBERGH" AND TOM MIX IN "HORSEMEN OF THE PLAINS."

Capitol patrons will be treated to a big double program to-night, when the only pictures ever made of Lindy's travels in the air, "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh" and Tom Mix in "Horsemen of the Plains" will be offered. The Lindbergh pictures consist of three reels of the most amazing experiences of any human being. They show the hop to Paris, and his good-will trip through Latin America, in fact all the travels in his wonder plane, The Spirit of St. Louis' since becoming the world's hero. Tom Mix gives an electrifying performance in "Horsemen of the Plains" the companion picture to Lindy's exploits.

As Tom Swift, champion rider, he enters the Triggertown sweepstakes as a dark horse and performs some daring feats of horsemanship. The tragic features of Dawn O'Day spur him to victory, knowing that a fatal misstep will ruin Dawn and her invalid father.

Others who have prominent parts in the production are Sally Blane, as the girl, Heinie Conklin as Mix's colored eccentric companion. Charles Byers and Lew Harvey. Benjamin Stoloff directed.

AT THE REGENT.

MONTE BLUE THRILLS AS HEROIC SKY PILOT.

Coming swiftly on Col. Lindbergh's marvellous flights to the country's neighbors in the Latin Republics, Warner Bros. have released "Across the Atlantic" with Monte Blue as its pivotal character.

This picture, dealing as its does, with the conquest of the air, seems most timely and opportune. There is a great deal of an interesting nature connected with airplanes and their operation with which the man with his feet on the ground is unfamiliar.

Without in any way apparently striving to do so 'Across the Atlantic" makes clear a lot of things about heavier than air machines, giving close-ups of the machines on the ground, taking off, soaring and alighting. A tense story of wartime exigencies brings the airplane army aviator whose thrilling experiences have brought on an attack of amnesia.

To all appearances this handsome young fellow is all right. Those viewing the story however know his real condition. One fears for him. This fear becomes well nigh agonizing when the young ace is ordered to undertake a particularly hazardous flight. The very hazards that surround him however snap back that something which makes his past life a blank and he follows through in glorious fashion.

What is going to make this picture valuable is that it incidentally shows some of the early models of the airplane, thus giving an opportunity of pointing out in subtle manner the great improvements that have been made in the machines.

"Across the Atlantic" was meant to be a thriller and it is said that it is all that and more. It gives Monte a role that is going to make him more popular than ever with the feminine fans who sigh at his shadow on the screen. John Ransome wrote the original story of the picture. Harvey Gates adapted it, and the intricate work of direction fell to Howard Bretherton.

Monte Blue in "Across the Atlantic" is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

LAWN BOWLING

The sudden shower that halted the ball game in Deloro must have had some effect on the lawn bowlers in the city last night. Waddell's rink failed to show up and the game between Fallen and Wise was not played. Last night was Walter Oke's chance to show his stuff, which he did, much to the sorrow of Sedgwick.

Last night's scores were:
Cairns 15; Elliott 10.
Fox 14; Bennett 13.
Oke 26; Sedgwick 7.
Allen 21; Coleman 13.
Martin 15; Taylor 13.

Thirteen proved the stumbling block for three losing rinks last night. The bowlers must be superstitious. Johnson won from Waddell by default.

There will be a meeting of the executive of the bowlers at the green to-night to arrange for the mixed tournament on the 20th, and to arrange, if possible, for a local tournament on the 1st of July.

Cricket

Peterboro vs. Lakefield.

The Peterborough C. C. will play the Lakefield C. C. on Saturday afternoon at the oval on Saturday afternoon (not at Lakefield as scheduled) commencing at 2.15 sharp. The Peterboro team expects to make a good showing after their fine display in Toronto last Saturday. The local team will be as follows:

Elliott (Capt.) Dunkerly Thorpe, Stuart, Hammond, Gore, Dyer, Hamilton, Jefferson, Wade and Massey-Cooke; reserve Imming.

All players are asked to be on hand at two o'clock.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate)

FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1928.

Astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary direction, the faint influences being balanced between good and bad.

The morning is most favorable for women who should be equally lucky in domestic and in public activities.

The day should be an auspicious one for entertaining friends and for making the home beautiful.

Engagements to marry contracted under this direction of the stars may be ill-advised but nevertheless productive of great happiness.

There is a favorable sign for the theatre and those who play in it. A new star is to gain real fame.

The planets give encouragement today to engineers, architects and builders. Foreign countries will employ many Americans, it is foretold.

Young graduates who begin careers at this time should be most lucky for the planets presage for them wide fields of usefulness.

Women as well as men who start professional or business careers in this year of 1928 are supposed to be peculiarly fortunate, for great cosmic forces guide them.

The seers announce that in the next three decades the young will reveal remarkable mental gifts and will attain remarkable success, for they belong to the new era in which they are not bound to the earth, but instead belong to the air.

Great storms and more floods are prognosticated for the summer, which will be marked by unusual demonstration on the part of nature.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect much joy through friends in the coming year.

Children born on this day probably will succeed without aid, but they may suffer through the faults of others.

TEN/TEST alone will build you a home

IF you were given the choice of just one building material for your home, you might safely choose TEN/TEST. There is no other building board like it on the market, one that yields so many other advantages besides the all-important factor — insulation.

TEN/TEST is, of course, the greatest insulating building board that you can buy at any price. It is a non-conductor of heat and cold and a sure deadener of sound. But, it also adds to the strength of construction. It is a permanent base of the greatest bonding strength for plaster, stucco and other like finishes. It lends itself to handsome interior decoration, either painted, panelled or papered.

Outside, inside and in between the walls you will find TEN/TEST Sheathing unrivalled in giving efficient insulation that results in fuel saving, comfort and health.

Ask your lumber dealer or write to us for full information concerning TEN/TEST "The Board of Health".

BANQUET TENDERED FORMER RESIDENT

R. C. Johnston, Once C. N. R. Agent at Campbellford, Guest of Fellow-Employees.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14.— An item of interest to many of the citizens of Campbellford appeared in a recent issue of the Montreal Herald.

It was the account of the banquet and presentation made to Robert G. Johnston superintendent of terminals, "Canadian National Railways, Montreal. The banquet was in the Immigration room of the Bonaventure station, and was largely attended by terminal workers. There were a number of high officials present, including E. R. Battley, superintendent of motive power, P. A. Phair, assistant super of motive power, J. McAdam, assistant super of the fifth district, H. M. Gale, super of third and fourth districts, M. McArthy, local freight agent, C. B. Price, electrical superintendent, F. Rutherford, Brotherhood of Railway Trainman, and W. C. Stout, chief terminal despatcher. The two main addresses of the evening were delivered by R. B. Corrigan and Mr. Healy. Mr. Johnston was presented with a beautiful gold watch and chain, and Miss M. K. Battley, his prospective bride, with an expensive lady's wrist watch.

The marriage took place in Montreal, June 6th. Previous to the ceremony a banquet was tendered Mr. Johnston by his staff, at the Mount Royal Hotel.

Mr. Johnston was formerly the agent at the Campbellford C.N.R. station and since leaving here a few years ago enjoyed continued success along the line of his profession, and in his private life.

PLAN NEW CASINO

CORFU, Greece, June 14.—Corfu, long an unimportant and almost barren island off the Italian coast, has suddenly jumped into prominence and promises to become a fashionable winter resort for tourists. Several Americans are members of the syndicate that will build a huge gambling casino there, as well as a luxurious hotel and other buildings.

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very badly with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life.

"I was very weak and nothing, and no nerves I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well.

"I was advised to try so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I cannot recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

Price 50c. a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

JOINT CONCERT FRIDAY EVENING

Male Voice Choir and Rangers Band To Provide Program.

COMMUNITY SINGING.

The first park concert of the season will be given in Victoria Park tomorrow evening, beginning at eight o'clock. The program for the first hour will be in charge of the Rangers Band, under the baton of Bandmaster Peryer.

Beginning at nine o'clock, the Peterborough Male Voice Choir will complete the evening's program with choruses, octettes, quartettes and solos. Two opportunities will be given the audience to join in the singing of some community songs, the words of two of which are given below. One of these is the old favorite, "The Land of the Maple," the verses of which will be taken as a solo by Mr. H. Coulson, and the chorus after each verse, sung by the audience. It is the intention of the music committee of the choir to have at least one patriotic community chorus on each of the three concerts to be given by the Choir this season.

The program will be in charge of Martin B. Chenhall, the Choir's conductor. Mr. Chenhall has been once again chosen by a unanimous vote of the choir to be the conductor for the 1928-29 season.

Community Singing.

(Brings the words with you).

Good-Bye, My Lover, Good-Bye.

The ship is sailing down the bay,
good-bye, my lover, good-bye;
We may not rest for many a day,
good-bye, my lover, good-bye.
My heart will evermore be true, good-bye, my lover, good-bye.
Tho' now we sadly say adieu, good-bye, my lover, good-bye.
By-low, my baby; by-low, my baby;
By-low, my baby; good-bye, my lover, good-bye.

Oh, the land of the Maple is the land for me,
The home of the stalwart, the brave and the free,
The Rose and the Thistle, the Shamrock and "Lis,"
All bloom in one garden 'neath the Maple tree.

TEMPERANCE IS DISCUSSED

St. James' W.M.S. Holds Regular Meeting in Wesley Hall.

PAPERS ARE READ.

A meeting of more than ordinary interest was that held yesterday by St. James' W.M.S. Auxiliary in Wesley Hall.

Mrs. E. L. Woodley presided and ably and quickly administrated the business on hand.

The program for the meeting was in charge of Group 3, under the leadership of Mrs. T. E. Curvin, who took the chair at this juncture. She introduced the topic which was to interest the ladies for the hour as one which is imminently pressing just now — Temperance. Calling upon Mrs. Plunkett to conduct a questionaire concerning the use of liquors as mentioned in the Scriptures, a vast amount of information of an authorative nature was soon brought forward. This was arranged in such a manner that nearly every member took part in the discussion, and fully explained the kinds of liquor and wine which was sanctioned and used by our Lord at the marriage of Cana.

The heralds gave, in quick response, their reports on the Watchtower, the "Liquor law" in each of the ten provinces and Newfoundland.

A group of four ladies presented the different phases of intemperance as follows: Mrs. Curvin: The effect of interperance on the home. Mrs. Bonney dealt with its effect upon society. "What it does to the individual," was explained by Mrs. Elliott, and Mrs. Rowe gave "The attitude of the Chirstian toward this greatest of all issues of the day." She closed her appeal for the cause with a verse, which, in effect, said that the work is being done for the sake of the "youth who will pass this way," even if it cannot reach and benefit the man of to-day.

Mrs. G. H. Outmore sang very sweetly the solo, "This Is My Task." Earnest prayer for the success of the temperance work was offered by Mrs. J. B. Dudgeon and Mrs. G. Patterson, closing a very educative and helpful meeting.

Pimples Itched And Burned Badly Cuticura Healed

"Pimples broke out on my nose and spread all over my face and body. They were hard, large and red, and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned so badly that I scratched, and scratching caused many eruptions. They were so painful that I could not sleep, and used to cry from the pain. The trouble lasted two years.

"I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using them two days I found they were helping me. I continued the treatment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lucy Kinskin, Verigin, Sask.

Make Cuticura Soap and Ointment your every-day toilet preparations and have a clear, sweet skin, soft, smooth hands, and a healthy scalp with good hair. Cuticura Talcum is unexcelled in purity.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address Canadian Depot: "Cuticura Laboratories," Montreal. Cuticura Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE CROSS OUR BRIDGES BEFORE WE COME TO THEM

By Mehran K. Thomson, Ph.D.
(Author, The Springs of Human Action)

People who are inclined to worry over the future are told not to cross their bridges before they come to them. Of course this is only another way of saying, "Don't worry, don't be disturbed over matters that are a long way off and may never really cause any trouble."

But why should it be necessary to give such advice in the first place? Why do we cross our bridges before we come to them? What is there in human nature that leads us to worry over future events? Creatures of imagination and foresight cannot help but look ahead. The popularity of the fortune teller shows that we are not content with knowing the present and immediate future, but are eager to see a long way off. We borrow trouble.

This fear and worry, however, is a wholesome thing if it is not carried too far. It stimulates a man to mobilize his resources, to meet the emergency even as you and I must look ahead and plan to meet the next month's rent. This is merely the part of wisdom. It is foresight and preparedness. It helps in the struggle for survival, the struggle to keep from being put out in the street at the end of the month. But unfortunately it is too often carried beyond the logical uses and turns into a nightmare.

Not infrequently we cross our bridges before we come to them through sheer nervousness and impatience very much like the shortstop who, in his eagerness to put out the runner throws the ball to first base before he gets it and messes up the play.

Perhaps another reason for crossing our bridges prematurely is to make sure that we are going to be able to cross when the time comes, to make sure that there is a bridge there for us to cross.

Those who are over-troubled with this sort of disquieting foresight will do well to recall the experience of an old man who said, "I have lived a long time and have seen a lot of trouble, but the things that worried me most never happened."

FIGHTS YELLOW FEVER

NEW YORK, June 14.—Yellow fever, raging in Nigeria, has gained the attention of Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, bacteriologist of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, who has gone there to introduce the vaccine and serum he has perfected. The treatment was successfully used by the French last summer in treating yellow fever in Senegal.

Sore, Tired Feet

Oh! How good it feels to put your tired, aching feet in a "Tiz" bath! You can just feel the pain being drawn out and grateful comfort being restored.

"Tiz" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet and make them tender and sore. It takes all the soreness out of corns, callouses and strained muscles and makes tight shoes feel a half size larger. Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store and have weeks of foot comfort for a few cents.

GRAND CHAPTER MEETS.

Eastern Star Members From Peterborough Attend Meetings in Toronto.

A meeting of the Grand Chapter of Ontario of the Order of Eastern Star was held in Massey Hall, 1st week. A number of the members of the local Chapter were in attendance, and were deeply impressed by the beauty of the work and the numbers present.

At a meeting held in Massey Hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock it was estimated that approximately five thousand people were present. The work of the guard of honor was beautifully exemplified by a staff composed of Worthy Matrons of Toronto Chapters.

Mrs. Annie Boyd of District No. 12, Belleville, was elected as Associate Grand Conductress. Mrs. Boyd is well known here, having visited the local Chapter on several occasions.

On Tuesday afternoon the Florence Nightingale Home at Agincourt was dedicated. This home was purchased some time ago by the Grand Chapter for a home for orphans of Eastern Star members. Over one thousand delegates were present at the dedication ceremony.

USE FLY-TOX

Mosquitoes Easily Killed With Fly-Tox.

In one minute all the mosquitoes in a room can be killed. Simply take a FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, fill with FLY-TOX and fill the upper half of the room with the fine atomized spray. It will slowly settle to the floor killing all insects in the room. Spray the ceilings, hangings and closets where the mosquitoes hide, and also spray on the screens. FLY-TOX will not stain the walls, draperies or the most delicate fabrics. It has a pleasing fragrance, is absolutely harmless to people but sure death to insects. Does not matter whether windows and doors are open or closed. FLY-TOX is the product developed at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Every bottle guaranteed.

ST. JOHN'S W.A. HOLDS PICNIC

Closing Meeting Until Fall is Held On Church Grounds.

REPORTS PRESENTED.

of St. John's W.A. took the form of the annual picnic held on Tuesday, June 12, on the church lawn. The weather was ideal, and a large number were present. Prior to the open-air program a short meeting was held in the Parish House, when excellent reports were read by Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Budd, and Mrs. Mann, of the annual Diocesan W.A. convention recently held in Toronto. The president, Mrs. A. W. Turner occupied the chair and thanked the members for their earnest efforts during the past season and looked forward to a splendid rally in the fall. The meeting closed with the members' prayer and benediction. They then adjourned to the church grounds for tea. Tables were set for fifty, and were prettily decorated with mauve and white lilacs, and a bountiful meal was enjoyed. Rev. Dr. Blagrave was present and gave a brief address stressing the value of the W.A. work and mentioning that it was the eighth annual W.A. picnic that he had attended since coming to St. John's Church. The remainder of the time was spent socially. Mrs. Lemming was convenor of the refreshment committee, and was highly praised for the way she carried out the arrangements.

OBITUARY

WASHINGTON REID.

Died at Gananoque, Washington Reid. Funeral from the Warsaw Presbyterian church Friday at 3 p.m.

GEORGE STEINBURGH.

The death took place in Peterborough on Thursday, June 14, of George Stenburgh, who was brought here from Cordova Mines, owing to illness. The late Mr. Steinburgh was 69 years of age. He was born in Sidney township. Interment will take place at Cordova Mines.

GEORGE WASHINGTON REID.

(Examiner Correspondence).

WARSAW, June 14.—George Washington Reid, for many years a prominent resident of this district, passed away at the home of his son in Gananoque, and will be buried here to-morrow afternoon. The funeral service will be held at 3.00 in the Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Reid was treasurer for 50 years, and an elder for 25 years.

Mr. Reid was born in Vermont and came to Warsaw while a boy. He lived here until a few years ago, when, owing to failing health, he went to live with his son in Gananoque.

WEDDING BELLS

HUMPHRIES—SHEARER.

The marriage was solemnized at Norwood, June 10th, by the Rev. Mr. Moyer, of Alice Rena, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Shearer, Sr., of Otonabee, to Stanley Roy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Humphries, of Asphodel.

The bride wore a dress of rose-glow embroidered georgette, with shoes and hose to match.

The attendants were Miss Wilma Humphries, sister of the groom, and Mr. Russel Shearer, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for their honeymoon in Toronto and Niagara, the bride travelling in a blue charmeen coat, with hat to match.

On their return they will reside in Asphodel.

DAWSON—BRIDGE

The chimes of St. John's Church rang out to-day for a very pretty wedding at half-past twelve o'clock, when Evelyn Constance Muriel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Bridge, of 565 Weller street, became the bride of Harold Alfred C. Dawson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Welford Dawson of South Monaghan. The chancel of the church was decorated with bridal wreath and peonies, ferns and palms. Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by F. G. Mann, A.Mus., and a solo, "Love's Coronation," was sung during the signing of the register by Dr. S. J. Graham, with violin obligato played by Mrs. P. Hooper.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite period gown of ivory panne velvet, made with tight bodice and slightly bouffant skirt, which was ankle-length and had a deep shadow hem of ivory silk chiffon with hemstitched edge. Outlining the shadow hem was seed pearl embroidery in orange blossom design, the same fascinating flower pearls appearing at the edge of the collarless neck and at the pointed cuff ends of the long tight sleeves, which extended to the knuckles of the hand. A single large flower with petals of the panne velvel placed at the left waistline was also edged with seed pearls and had a pendant long spray, extending to the skirt hem, of waxed orange blossoms and green leaves.

The veil was a replica of the famous Brussels net wedding veils and was made in a long oval, with scalloped edges embroidered in floral silk floss. It was caught by a tiara of waxed orange blossoms and was held at the back by a circlet of silver leaves.

Short white kid gloves, white kid pumps and white silk hose were worn and the bride carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies, tied with white satin ribbon.

Attendants were the matron of honor, Mrs. George Hanbidge, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaid, Miss Helen Middleton of Belleville. Both wore frocks of peach taffeta, with petalled hems short in the front and long in the back. They had little puff sleeves, bertha collars of cream Chantilly lace and long white tulle bows depending from the waistline to the hems of the gowns. Their hats were large picture shapes of sand-colored mohair, with peach velvet bows. They wore long white kid gloves, sand kid slippers and matching hose, and carried bouquets of Madam Butterfly roses and maidenhair fern, with sand ties.

A charming little flower girl, scattering rose petals before the bride, was small Iris Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald, Weller street. Her dress was of pale green georgette over pink, trimmed with rows of Valenciennes lace and narrow ribbon streamers of green and pink. Her hat was a poke bonnet of pink georgette with two-toned ribbon trimming and her shoes were of pink suede, with pink socks. She carried a basket of white roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. Herbert Dawson of South Monaghan acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a reception to forty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Bridge, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Dawson, mother of the bridegroom, receiving with the bridal party. Mrs. Bridge wore black lace with large black hat and sable fur scarf. Her corsage bouquet was of ophelia roses and lily of the valley. Mrs. Dawson was in cafe noir crepe with matching hat and corsage bouquet of light brown William Kordes roses.

The house was decorated with a profusion of mauve lilacs; mauve, cream and white iris; rose Darwin tulips; palms, and ferns. The bride's table, from which a buffet luncheon was served, was done with Madeira cloth, silver vases filled with sweet peas and lily of the valley, and pale pink candles in silver candlesticks. It was centred by the bride's cake, topped by an ornament of pale pink sweet peas and valley lilies and wreathed with white and pink tulle.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left by motor for a honeymoon trip, after which they will reside in South Monaghan. The bride's travelling outfit was an ensemble of grey tweed, the long coat tailored and having self-frayed edges as trimming to the "stando" collar and pockets. The skirt of the dress was box-pleated and the top was of grey wool jersey, embroidered in floral design. A little hat of sand crophet straw, with band of sand grosgrain ribbon and ornaments of sand cut-out felt, and a fur scarf of dark brown fox, were worn. Shoes of maroon glace kid, with matching hose, a sand purse and sand gloves, completed the costume.

DR. H. G. PARK GIVES UP TEACHING AFTER 54 YEARS IN PROFESSION

Veteran Member of Normal School Staff is Given Purse of Gold.

HERE 20 YEARS.

Taught in High School For Many Years After Graduating From University.

Henry G. Park, Doctor of Pedagogy and master of the Peterborough Normal School, retired yesterday after twenty years' association with the local Normal School.

Dr. Park was born in the vicinity of Sutton West, and attended Uxbridge High School, of which later he was destined to become principal. After leaving High School he taught for a short time at the age of sixteen before entering the University of Toronto to study classics. He graduated from the University in 1883, and was one of the first to get a Degree of Pedagogy, which he received with honors in 1903.

He began his High School teaching in St. Mary's, where he remained a short time before going to Hamilton. Later he moved to Uxbridge High School, where he became principal. Here he remained for twenty years, during which Uxbridge High School enjoyed one of the most successful periods in its academic records. Dr. Park set a very high record there.

Here 20 Years.

He came to Peterborough Normal School in 1908, and has been teaching science of education, general methods and psychology.

At the recent convocation of Toronto University the class of '83 held a re-union, which Dr. Park attended.

In earlier days Dr. Park was a keen advocate of the theory that teachers should be consulted in questions of education. The keenness with which he upheld this theory and the suggestions offered by him resulted in the development of an advisory council. Teachers were elected from various schools through the district to confer on matters vital to educational life.

Dr. Park began to teach when he was 16 years old, and except for a break while taking his University course, Dr. Park has the remarkable record of having been a teacher for fifty-four years. He carried out his work with the greatest enthusiasm, and was very conscientious in everything he performed in relation to his work.

Noted As Violinist.

Besides his academic career, Dr. Park is a lover of music. He is a violin player of real merit. While in Hamilton he played in Dr. Torrington's orchestra, and in his twenty years in Peterborough he has been a leading figure in local musical circles. Frequently, much to the delight of the students, he gave recitals at the Normal School. Dr. Park is the proud possessor of a very old violin which was once the property of the famous De Veriot, a composer who is well-known to all music lovers. Dr. Park differs from most musicians, in that he plays left-handed, which is very rare.

Yesterday Dr. Park was the recipient of a purse of gold. This purse was presented to him as a sign of the most deep appreciation, by all the students who have attended this Normal School over the twenty-year period. The significance of this is realized when it means that over three thousand students scattered throughout Canada and the United States, as well as in South America, were instrumental in extending in this fashion their kindest regards to Dr. Park. At the ceremony there were numerous letters of appreciation received, all speaking with praise of the retiring master.

The pupils and the staff of the Normal School, the teachers of the Model staff of the Normal School at Central and Queen Alexandra Schools were there, also all the teachers in Peterborough who have graduated from the local Normal School.

Departure Regretted

Duncan Walker, principal of the Normal School, spoke words of praise for Dr. Park, remarking on his conscientiousness as the upholder of very high ideals and a very dependable man. Mr. Walker expressed the regret that was felt now that Dr. Park was leaving. He was the only one left on the staff beside Mr. Walker who was attached to the local staff when the school was first opened twenty years ago. He then read letters of appreciation from many old graduates and associate teachers, among which were letters from Mr. Keys, principal of an Ottawa Collegiate, and Mr. Chisholm, now assistant to the Chief of Public School Inspector of Toronto.

Miss Rannie, with a few well chosen words made the presentation.

Mr. Park replied by saying that he wished he could feel worthy of all that was said, but that he had tried to impress a few things upon the students and to live up to his ideals. He stressed the cultural side of the scholastic training and a sound scholarship for the pupils. He deplored with emphasis upon the commercial side of education, at the expense of the cultural development. He advised the students to look upon their year at Normal School not merely as a means to obtain a certificate, but as a means for a lifetime training. Dr. Park also said that his wife shared in his success and much of it was due to her.

Little Patsy Madill, daughter of A. B. Madill, B.A., Normal School Master, presented Mrs. Park with a huge bunch of American Beauty roses during the afternoon ceremonies.

Dr. Park is very highly thought of by all who know him. He has instilled the idea of the value of education into his family, five members of which have graduated from Varsity and two from Peterborough Normal School.

Dogs Pay Tuition

NEW YORK, June 15. — Next time you see a young man promenading with a poodle or Pekinese

don't pity him; he's probably working his way through college. A number of students in Columbia and New York Universities are paying their expenses by exercising pet dogs for the wives of millionaires. They get 25 cents an hour for the job and since they can chaperon three or four dogs at a time the boys make a fairly profitable wage.

WIND CARRIES NOBILE WEST

Italia's Party Being Taken in Direction of Rescue Vessels Now.

AMUNDSEN TO HELP.

KING'S BAY, June 15. Canadian Press. — A strong east wind blowing in Spitzbergen to-day made it probable that the Nobile radio party was being driven more to the westward in the direction of the rescue parties now seeking to reach the stranded men off North East Land.

It snowed during the night but sunshine succeeded the storm to-day, making conditions favorable for further reconnaissance.

While there has been much apprehension concerning the fate of the seven men carried off in the Italia's balloon, it was felt here that this party must be fully equipped with skis and rifles, which would enable them to add to their provisions by hunting polar bear.

Amundsen to Help.

OSLO, Norway, June 15. — Canadian Press. — Raold Amundsen intends to fly to Spitzbergen to assist in the work of rescuing General Umberto Nobile, his companion in the dirigible Norge's flight across the pole two years ago.

He telegraphed the French Ministry of Marine his intention when thanking them for the seaplane that have placed at his disposal.

Drift Seven Miles.

ROME, June 15. Canadian Press.—Word was received in Rome to-day from the base ship Citta di Milano that in two days General Nobile and five members of the crew of the Italia had drifted about seven miles to the west. The wind had changed to the east.

ENGINEER TESTIFIES.

Bradford Says Flier Must Have Been Going 80 Miles An Hour.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 15.—(Canadian Press).—Joseph L. Bradford, engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railways freight train which figured in the crash with the flier at Dockrill on November 7 last, when seven persons were killed, took the stand in his own defence in the hearing of the charge of criminal negligence against him at Napanee yesterday.

Bradford said the flier was proceeding at about 80 miles an hour if it went from Wilkinson to Dockrill in three minutes as stated. The freight train was 2,500 feet from where the engineer of the flier could first see it and he was sure it would take more than 2,500 feet to bring the express to a stop.

Found Not Guilty.

J. L. Bradford, engineer in charge of the freight train which collided with a C.P.R. passenger train at Dockrill November 27, 1927, when seven people were killed was found not guilty of a charge of criminal negligence yesterday afternoon by a jury under Judge H. A. Lavell of Kingston

Commons Reject Second Revision

LONDON, June 15 (Canadian Press Cable). — By a vote of 266 to 220, the House of Commons last night again rejected the revised prayer book of the Church of England. The vote, coming after two days' close debate on which the attention of the nation had been focussed, recorded a majority almost identical with that in the previous rejection last December, when the vote was 247 to 205.

The revised prayer book after rejection last December, was altered by the bishops, and after approval by the Church Assembly was submitted to Parliament on Wednesday.

BISHOPS MEET FOR MEDITATION

Rejection of Revised Prayer Book By House of Commons Not Surprise.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN.

LONDON, June 15 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of England meet today at Lambeth Palace, the residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, not for intense discussion concerning their future line of action but for quiet prayer and meditation among themselves.

Rejection by the House of Commons last night of the revised Prayer Book was not altogether a surprise when it came. Quite early in the evening the feeling was uppermost in the lobbies of the House of Commons that the new Prayer Book was doomed. The Archbishop of Canterbury, leaving the House, received a sympathetic cheer. Although he had recently foreshadowed his resignation, it is unlikely now that he will submit it in the immediate future.

The whole position in the church now is too uncertain to warrant speculations in any direction. The Daily News to-day says the attempt to reverse the verdict so soon was a fatal mistake and the rejection brings disestablishment nearer.

Various other results have been predicted, both in the House and in the newspapers. These include a possible lessening of the authority of the Bishops.

TALK ON NUTS GIVEN KIWANIS

J. A. Neilson Gives Interesting Address on Club's Farmer's Day.

MANY SPECIES

J. A. Neilson, B.S.A., M.S., extension horticulturist of Eastern Ontario, in charge of fruit work of Durham County, was speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Empress today.

This was Farmers' Day at the luncheon and each member brought a farmer friend as his guests. There were among the guests, W. J. Bolton, H. B. Cowan, James A. Neilson, John A. Bertram, William Hanbridge, John Coward, Arthur Franks, C. E. Moore, F. P. Kelly, W. McKee, T. McIndoo, R. A. Garbutt, A. H. Edmison, A. Young, N. S. Higgins, H. Welsh, George H. Hooton, Steve Elmhurst, J. W. Frasher, Mrs. E. R. Frost, and Mrs. Earnest Kitney.

The soloists for the day were Mrs. Kitney and Mrs. Frost, whose songs drew much applause. Art Reynolds acted as song leader. The prize winners for the day were Steve Elmhurst and Wilbur Freel.

Kiwanian Jack Nelson, local representative for the Department of Agriculture, introduced the speaker for the day, who gave a most interesting talk on nut growing in Ontario and who had with him a number of samples of Canadian nuts that drew much attention after the talk was finished as they were carefully examined by members of the club.

In the minds of those who were reared in regions where native nut trees occur, there lingers fond memories of many pleasant hours spent in gathering delicious nuts from field and forest. These excursions after nuts were events of great interest and pleasure to old and young alike and were looked forward to with joyous anticipation. What sport it was to tramp through the countryside in quest of good nut trees and, having found these, to search the fallen leaves and grass for the nuts. There was also a spirit of adventure and an element of danger attending these nutting excursions. Many of us have vivid memories of the times we risked life and limb in climbing tall trees to shake or whip off nuts. Some of us also have still more vivid recollections of the occasions when we were chased out of a nut grove by an angry owner or were caught up in the tree and had to say there until the owner departed or come down and take a good trimming.

A Vanishing Pleasure

The pleasures and thrills of nutting time and the opportunity to enjoy home-grown nuts in winter evenings are unfortunately becoming too few. Many of the good old nut trees have been cut down and used for lumber, and others have died from natural causes. Furthermore there has been

CENTRAL ONTARIO BREEDERS OF JERSEY CATTLE GATHER FOR PICNIC AT FIELD LODGE

Fine Cattle Are Exhibited By Host, Who Praises Peterborough Exhibition.

MANY ADDRESSES GIVEN.

Prominent Men of District Stress Importance of Dairy Industry to Canada.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence).

FIELD LODGE FARM, June 15.—All day yesterday the gates and doors of Field Lodge Farm were opened to the members and friends of the Central Ontario Jersey Breeders' Association on the occasion of their annual basket picnic. There were few, if indeed there were any, restrictions placed on the grounds or buildings. As well as taking part in personally conducted inspection tours, the visitors spent most of the time roaming at will wherever their fancy led them. Fred. Field, owner and manager of the farm, seemed anxious that everyone feel quite at home, and every means was employed to achieve that end. The lodge itself, was open to those who cared to enter, and twenty of the visitors were guests of Mr. Field at luncheon in the lodge dining-room. In the afternoon there were several short addresses by prominent men in the gathering and a display of some of the prize-winning cattle for which the farm is famous. These same animals will be shown at the exhibitions this year, Mr. Field stated.

Field Lodge Farm is composed of some 1,050 acres on the shore of Rice Lake, about five miles from the village of Roseneath. All the land is tillable, and with the exception of pasture lots, is under cultivation. There is no wood lot on the entire estate. The lodge itself and several of the adjoining buildings are of cobble stone structure, tinted red with white trimmings and red shingle roofs. It sits high up on a steep shore overlooking Rice Lake from a sheltered spot in a pine grove. The lawns are terraced down to the lake, and a systematic arrangement of flower beds adds greatly to the charm of the ensemble. Light and water for the residences are supplied from a private system.

Prize-Winning Herds.

Although Field Lodge Farm is listed in the minds of many as a show place, this is by no means its fundamental purpose. On this farm are to be found some of the best cattle of the Jersey breed. They have been bred and reared with exacting care and scientific regard for perfection. Rows of prize ribbons in the lodge bear mute testimony of the high standard of the herd, which is comprised of two hundred head. Mr. Field is also interested in the poultry business, and his flocks of White Leghorns number some four thousand birds. A few birds of the water varieties are kept as hobbies for the younger members of the household.

Although every means was employed to make all the visitors welcome the parties from Peterborough needed no assurance that they were among friends. All through the various buildings, Peterborough was given a prominent place. The lodge and several of the buildings were built by a contractor from Cleveland, Ohio, but the material is practically one hundred per cent. Canadian, and almost all of the lumber was bought from the Alfred McDonald Lumber Co.

WISHART CAMPBELL SINGS AT ST. PAUL'S

Will Leave in Few Days For Coast to Coast Radio Tour.

His many friends, in and around Peterborough, who have heard him broadcasting from station CKGW, will be glad to avail themselves of another opportunity of meeting Wishart Campbell face to face when he sings at both services in St. Paul's Church on Sunday. This will be in the nature of a farewell visit as he leaves within a few days on an extended radio tour which will take him from coast to coast and away from Toronto until Christmas. It is not given to many young singers to make so favorable impression so early in their musical career. Few artists are more popular with radio audiences than this young baritone.

YOUNG IMMIGRANT COMMITS SUICIDE

Englishman in Canada Two Months Jumps in Front of Train.

WINGHAM, Ont., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Fred Bright, a young Englishman who had been in Canada only two months, ended his life yesterday by throwing himself in front of a passenger train about a mile and a half from Teeswater. He had been working on a farm near Lucknow.

Car Nearly Falls Into Service Pit

A touring car belonging to Harris and Boddy, sign painters, drove into the Shell service station at noon yesterday to collect some materials they had left there. In backing up the rear wheel ran over the low wall of one of the pits and the car dropped heavily on the axle, the rear wheel being suspended in the pit. The drivers tried to use a plank as a lever but this became wedged between the wall of the pit and the car. Finally enough of a crowd gathered to lift the car out of its difficulties and carry it to safety. They then proceeded nonchalantly to load the car, and drove it off, none the worse for its experience.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST CITY

William Henry Seeks $5,000 For Injuries Received in Fall On Sidewalk.

IN FEBRUARY, 1927.

An interesting case was in the course of trial at the County Court House to-day, when His Honor Judge Huycke presided at a session of the County Court. William Henry, a man of seventy years, residing at 143 London street, brought suit against the City of Peterborough, for $5,000, for having sustained injuries when he slipped and fell on the sidewalk on Brock street, opposite Dunsford's garage, on February 20, 1927.

Representing the city was F. J. Hughes, whose name appeared among those recently honored by appointment as King's Counsel. Mr. Hughes, introduced to the court by G. N. Gordon, K.C., representing the plaintiff, received congratulations from His Honor Judge Huycke on his becoming a K.C.

LIGHTNING BOLT STRIKES STATION

Children Sheltering Under Overhanging Roof Slightly Shocked at Bethany.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, June 15. — A sudden sharp electric storm arising about four o'clock on Wednesday was almost the means of disaster to the C.P.R. station as it was struck with a bolt of lightning, blackening a small portion of the roof and severing the telegraph wires.

A number of children on their way home from school had taken shelter under the spreading roof of the station and all received a slight shock, hardly realising what had taken place until it was all over. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were both rather shaken up.

Car Runs Amuck.

On Tuesday evening an accident happened which might have proved fatal. Byron Davis had bought a car from Mr. Tinny of Cavan, when on Tuesday afternoon he sent Mr. Woods to give Mr. Davis's son Morton, a lesson in driving. The lad had done so well on the road that when the time came to put the car away for the night Mr. Woods thought it alright for Morton to drive it into the barn, where there was a level gangway, but on the other side was the barnyard, with a drop of some feet. It is thought however that when he intended to stop the car he put his foot on the gas pedal instead of the brake. The car plunged ahead, knocking the standard out and the door, but when the car tipped the frame caught on the floor of the barn and hung there. No doubt that is what saved both men. No harm was done to the car.

STEERS AT $196 STARTLE BUTCHERS

George Rountree Sells 88 Big Animals at Toronto Yards.

Steers at $196 each for butchering was the sight seen at the Toronto Stock Yards one day recently. There were 88 of the animals and they brought a total price of $17,500 to their owner, George Rountree of Weston. The steers were all Herefords and average 1455 pounds each, and sold at 13½ cents a pound on the hoof. It was estimated by those who saw them that they would butcher 64 per cent meat, as compared to the average of 58 per cent. Even this would mean that the butcher would have to receive 21 cents a pound, besides his butchering costs, to break even, as there would be 928 pounds of meat from each animal.

Legion Will Meet Next In Regina

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 15 (Canadian Press). — The decision to hold the next annual Dominion Convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League in Regina, Sask., was reached just prior to the close of the second annual meeting here yesterday afternoon, following an invitation from Lieut.-Col. James McAra, V.C., Mayor of Regina.

The convention was formally adjourned at 5.15 o'clock after four days of deliberation, during which time many important resolutions were submitted by the various committees.

JOHN SMITH IS DROWNED

Aged Resident of Bewdley Found in Lake Near His Home.

WAS POPULAR GUIDE

The waters of Rice Lake claimed the life of John Smith, aged 78, of Bewdley, late Tuesday night. Deceased was a popular pioneer resident of the village and for a number of years conducted a saw mill there. The death of Mr. Smith came as a shock to the residents of Bewdley and his absence in that vicinity will be much regretted.

The exact details surrounding the death of Mr. Smith are not known. During the afternoon he had cruised about the lake with a party of Buffalo tourists in his motor launch. He was engaged in guiding the visitors and returned to shore for supper early in the evening. Shortly after he took his departure and near dusk was noticed in his launch near his dock in front of Kennedy's Hotel.

For some time Mr. Smith did not appear and his absence caused considerable anxiety to his family. Finally a search was instigated by a number of the villagers and about ten o'clock his lifeless body was found floating in four or five feet of water about ten yards distant from shore.

The body was located by W. Siday and although his death is shrouded in mystery it is believed that Mr. Smith suffered a heart attack and fell overboard.

It is not known yet whether an inquest will be held. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The late M. Smith was born at Chisholm's Rapids, near the Trent Canal and for the greater part of his life lived at Bewdley. He was familiar with every inch of the intricate windings of Rice Lake. For a time he conducted a saw mill but in later years has been catering to tourists in the line of renting boats and guiding.

Immediately following the finding of the body Dr. A. L. Russell of Bailieboro was summoned and he pronounced life extinct.

The late Mr. Smith was predeceas-

SEEKING BOY ALONG RIVER

Police Hold Father Who Says He Tried to Drown Child.

BOY SEEN IN BOAT.

SARNIA, Ont., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Strenuous efforts are being made by the police to find 5-year-old George McCallum, who is believed to be adrift in an open boat on the St. Clair River. Last night, the father of the boy, John McCallum, a laborer, informed railway workers that he had just tried to drown his son. He spoke incoherently and seemed much confused. He was handed over to the police and held on a charge of drunkenness while a search is being made for the boy.

Motorists driving along the road near the spot where the man and boy were last seen reported seeing an open boat drifting with the current and in which were a small boy and a white dog.

Boat and Dog Found.

SARNIA, June 15. — Canadian Press. — The discovery to-day of a rowboat containing a small dog and a fishing line is believed to establish that five year old George Nicol was drowned in the St. Clair River last night. The boat was found at Stag Island, seven miles down the river.

George McCallum of Toronto, who took the lad for a ride, was arraigned in the police court on the nominal charge of vagrancy and remanded for a week.

LONDON, June 15. — (Canadian Press Cable).—The Church Times, extreme Anglo Catholic organ, says today that the judgment of the Privy Council dismissing the appeal of the Tiny Township, Ontario, Separate School Trustees, appears to "narrow in tone and a blow to civil and religious liberty."

The Church Times continues: "All our sympathies go to the Roman Catholic parents of children in Canada, who appear to us to have been penalized on account of their religion."

Present Secretary of Commerce Has Long Lead Over Governor Lowden.

FARMERS OPPOSED.

Republican Nominee For President Has Lived Active Life of 54 Years.

Convention Hall Kansas City, Mo., June 15. — Herbert Hoover was chosen last night Republican candidate for president.

A single roll call in the National Convention told with impressive finality the story of his overwhelming victory against a united field of rivals.

The official vote was: Hughes 1; Dawes 4; Coolidge 17; Goff 18; Norris 34; Watson 45; Curtis 64; Lowden 74; Hoover 837.

A foregone conclusion ever since the convention met last Tuesday, his nomination became a reality long before the roll of the States was called. The final count disclosed the allied candidates against him in complete rout.

Lowden of Illinois, his nearest competitor in delegate strength amassed before the convention assembled, withdrew entirely at the last minute, saying he would not care to be a candidate on the farm relief plank admitted to-day by the convention.

Was on Coolidge Platform.

He stands on a platform built around the Coolidge policies, promising farm relief without mention of equalization fee, and pledging strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment. A fighting farm bloc bid for endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill, was rejected, almost 3 to 1 earlier yesterday and a motion to modify the enforcement plank was shouted down without a recorded vote.

KANSAS CITY, June 15. — Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, nominated by the Republican convention for Vice-President, will be Hoover's running mate.

The Vice-President will be chosan to-day. There was much talk last night of a renomination for Vice-President Dawes, but Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Senator Deneen of Illinois, Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, and fully a score besides, still were in the running. The overnight recess will afford op-

BALE PACKED FOR MISSION

Grenfell Society Sends Large Quantity of Clothing to Labrador.

GOES TO HARRINGTON.

new and used clothing to be sent to Harrington Hospital, Canadian Labrador, were packed on Thursday afternoon. The amount of clothing sent this year was especially large, and shows the result of much time and energy expended by the missionary societies of the different churches during the winter time, and also by the Thursday Club. The Grenfell Society of Peterborough also purchase warm winter underwear and collects good used clothing suitable for life in Labrador. These bales are sent to Harrington, and there the staff of the hospital acts as a distributing agent, so that the articles reach the poor and needy and outlying districts where they are greatly appreciated.

The Grafton Company has for years kindly allowed the collecting and packing of the articles for the Grenfell Bale to take place at its store—a fact which greatly facilitates the work of the packing committee and is certainly appreciated. This year the packing was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Smith, Chamberlain street, assisted by Miss H. S. Peck, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Devey. Mr. Hughes, manager of the Grafton store, very kindly had tea served for the ladies at the conclusion of their work.

DR. H. G. PARK GIVES UP TEACHING AFTER 54 YEARS IN PROFESSION

Veteran Member of Normal School Staff is Given Purse of Gold.

HERE 20 YEARS.

Taught in High School For Many Years After Graduating From University.

Henry G. Park, Doctor of Pedagogy and master of the Peterborough Normal School, retired yesterday after twenty years' association with the local Normal School.

Dr. Park was born in the vicinity of Sutton West, and attended Uxbridge High School, of which later he was destined to become principal. After leaving High School he taught for a short time at the age of sixteen before entering the University of Toronto to study classics. He graduated from the University in 1883, and was one of the first to get a Degree of Pedagogy, which he received with honors in 1903.

He began his High School teaching in St. Mary's, where he remained a short time before going to Hamilton. Later he moved to Uxbridge High School, where he became principal. Here he remained for twenty years, during which Uxbridge High School enjoyed one of the most successful periods in its academic records. Dr. Park set a very high record there.

Here 20 Years.

He came to Peterborough Normal School in 1908, and has been teaching science of education, general methods and psychology.

At the recent convocation of Toronto University the class of '83 held a re-union, which Dr. Park attended.

In earlier days Dr. Park was a keen advocate of the theory that teachers should be consulted in questions of education. The keenness with which he upheld this theory and the suggestions offered by him resulted in the development of an advisory council. Teachers were elected from various schools through the district to confer on matters vital to educational life.

Dr. Park began to teach when he was 16 years old, and except for a break while taking his University course, Dr. Park has the remarkable record of having been a teacher for fifty-four years. He carried out his work with the greatest enthusiasm, and was very conscientious in everything he performed in relation to his work.

Noted As Violinist.

Besides his academic career, Dr. Park is a lover of music. He is a violin player of real merit. While in Hamilton he played in Dr. Torrington's orchestra, and in his twenty years in Peterborough he has been a leading figure in local musical circles. Frequently, much to the delight of the students, he gave recitals at the Normal School. Dr. Park is the proud possessor of a very old violin which was once the property of the famous De Veriot, a composer who is well-known to all music lovers. Dr. Park differs from most musicians, in that he plays left-handed, which is very rare.

Yesterday Dr. Park was the recipient of a purse of gold. This purse was presented to him as a sign of the most deep appreciation, by all the students who have attended this Normal School over the twenty-year period. The significance of this is realized when it means that over three thousand students scattered throughout Canada and the United States, as well as in South America, were instrumental in extending in this fashion their kindest regards to Dr. Park. At the ceremony there were numerous letters of appreciation received, all speaking with praise of the retiring master.

The pupils and the staff of the Normal School, the teachers of the Model staff of the Normal School at Central and Queen Alexandra Schools were there, also all the teachers in Peterborough who have graduated from the local Normal School.

Departure Regretted

Duncan Walker, principal of the Normal School, spoke words of praise for Dr. Park, remarking on his conscientiousness as the upholder of very high ideals and a very dependable man. Mr. Walker expressed the regret that was felt now that Dr. Park was leaving. He was the only one left on the staff beside Mr. Walker who was attached to the local staff when the school was first opened twenty years ago. He then read letters of appreciation from many old graduates and associate teachers, among which were letters from Mr. Keys, principal of an Ottawa Collegiate, and Mr. Chisholm, now assistant to the Chief of Public School Inspector of Toronto.

Miss Rannie, with a few well chosen words made the presentation.

Mr. Park replied by saying that he wished he could feel worthy of all that was said, but that he had tried to impress a few things upon the students and to live up to his ideals. He stressed the cultural side of the scholastic training and a sound scholarship for the pupils. He deplored with emphasis upon the commercial side of education, at the expense of the cultural development. He advised the students to look upon their year at Normal School not merely as a means to obtain a certificate, but as a means for a lifetime training. Dr. Park also said that his wife shared in his success and much of it was due to her.

Little Patsy Madill, daughter of A. J. Madill, B.A., Normal School Master, presented Mrs. Park with a huge bunch of American Beauty roses during the afternoon ceremonies.

Dr. Park is very highly thought of by all who know him. He has instilled the idea of the value of education into his family, five members of which have graduated from Varsity and two from Peterborough Normal School.

Dogs Pay Tuition

NEW YORK, June 15. — Next time you see a young man promenading with a poodle or Pekinese don't pity him; he's probably working his way through college. They get 25 cents an hour for the job and since they can chaperon three or four dogs at a time the boys make a fairly profitable wage.

WIND CARRIES NOBILE WEST

Italia's Party Being Taken in Direction of Rescue Vessels Now.

AMUNDSEN TO HELP.

KING'S BAY, June 15. Canadian Press. — A strong east wind blowing in Spitzbergen to-day made it probable that the Nobile radio party was being driven more to the westward in the direction of the rescue parties now seeking to reach the stranded men off North East Land.

It snowed during the night but sunshine succeeded the storm to-day, making conditions favorable for further reconnaissance.

While there has been much apprehension concerning the fate of the seven men carried off in the Italia's balloon, it was felt here that this party must be fully equipped with skiis and rifles, which would enable them to add to their provisions by hunting polar bear.

He telegraphed the French Ministry of Marine his intention when thanking them for the seaplane they have placed at his disposal.

Bradford Says Flier Must Have Been Going 80 Miles An Hour.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 15.—(Canadian Press).—Joseph L. Bradford, engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railways freight train which figured in the crash with the flier at Dockrill on November 7 last, when seven persons were killed, took the stand in his own defence in the hearing of the charge of criminal negligence against him at Napanee yesterday.

Bradford said the flier was proceeding at about 80 miles an hour if it went from Wilkinson to Dockrill in three minutes as stated. The freight train was 2,500 feet from where the engineer of the flier could first see it and he was sure it would take more than 2,500 feet to bring the express to a stop.

Found Not Guilty.

J. L. Bradford, engineer in charge of the freight train which collided with a C.P.R. passenger train at Dockrill November 27, 1927, when seven people were killed was found not guilty of a charge of criminal negligence yesterday afternoon by a jury under Judge H. A. Lavell of Kingston

Commons Reject Second Revision

LONDON, June 15 (Canadian Press Cable). — By a vote of 266 to 220, the House of Commons last night again rejected the revised prayer book of the Church of England. The vote, coming after two days' close debate on which the attention of the nation had been focussed, recorded a majority almost identical with that in the previous rejection last December, when the vote was 247 to 205.

The revised prayer book after rejection last December, was altered by the bishops, and after approval by the Church Assembly was submitted to Parliament on Wednesday.

BISHOPS MEET FOR MEDITATION

Rejection of Revised Prayer Book By House of Commons Not Surprise.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN.

LONDON, June 15 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of England meet today at Lambeth Palace, the residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, not for intense discussion concerning their future line of action but for quiet prayer and meditation among themselves.

Rejection by the House of Commons last night of the revised Prayer Book was not altogether a surprise when it came. Quite early in the evening the feeling was uppermost in the lobbies of the House of Commons that the new Prayer Book was doomed. The Archbishop of Canterbury, leaving the House, received a sympathetic cheer. Although he had recently foreshadowed his resignation, it is unlikely now that he will submit it in the immediate future.

The whole position in the church now is too uncertain to warrant speculations in any direction. The Daily News to-day says the attempt to reverse the verdict so soon was a fatal mistake and the rejection brings disestablishment nearer.

Various other results have been predicted, both in the House and in the newspapers. These include a possible lessening of the authority of the Bishops.

TALK ON NUTS GIVEN KIWANIS

J. A. Neilson Gives Interesting Address on Club's Farmer's Day.

MANY SPECIES

J. A. Neilson, B.S.A., M.S., extension horticulturist of Eastern Ontario, in charge of fruit work of Durham County, was speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Empress today.

This was Farmers' Day at the luncheon and each member brought a farmer friend as his guests. There were among the guests, W. J. Bolton, H. B. Cowan, James A. Neilson, John A. Bertram, William Hanbridge, John Coward, Arthur Franks, C. E. Moore, F. P. Kelly, W. McKee, T. McIndoo, R. A. Garbutt, A. H. Edmison, A. Young, N. S. Higgins, H. Welsh, George H. Hooton, Steve Elmhurst, J. W. Frasher, Mrs. E. R. Frost, and Mrs. Earnest Kitney.

The soloists for the day were Mrs. Kitney and Mrs. Frost, whose songs drew much applause. Art Reynolds acted as song leader. The prize winners for the day were Steve Elmhurst and Wilbur Freel.

Kiwanian Jack Nelson, local representative for the Department of Agriculture, introduced the speaker for the day, who gave a most interesting talk on nut growing in Ontario and who had with him a number of samples of Canadian nuts that drew much attention after the talk was finished as they were carefully examined by members of the club.

In the minds of those who were reared in regions where native nut trees occur, there lingers fond memories of many pleasant hours spent in gathering delicious nuts from field and forest. These excursions after nuts were events of great interest and pleasure to old and young alike and were looked forward to with joyous anticipation. What sport it was to tramp through the countryside in quest of good nut trees and, having found these, to search the fallen leaves and grass for the nuts. There was also a spirit of adventure and an element of danger attending these nutting excursions. Many of us have vivid memories of the times we risked life and limb in climbing tall trees to shake or whip off nuts. Some of us also have still more vivid recollections of the occasions when we were chased out of a nut grove by an angry owner or were caught up in the tree and had to say there until the owner departed or come down and take a good trimming.

A Vanishing Pleasure

The pleasures and thrills of nutting time and the opportunity to enjoy home-grown nuts in winter evenings are unfortunately becoming too few. Many of the good old nut trees have been cut down and used for lumber, and others have died from natural causes. Furthermore there has been

CENTRAL ONTARIO BREEDERS OF JERSEY CATTLE GATHER FOR PICNIC AT FIELD LODGE

Fine Cattle Are Exhibited By Host, Who Praises Peterborough Exhibition.

MANY ADDRESSES GIVEN.

Prominent Men of District Stress Importance of Dairy Industry to Canada.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence).

FIELD LODGE FARM, June 15. — All day yesterday the gates and doors of Field Lodge Farm were opened to the members and friends of the Central Ontario Jersey Breeders' Association on the occasion of their annual basket picnic. There were few, if indeed there were any, restrictions placed on the grounds or buildings. As well as taking part in personally conducted inspection tours, the visitors spent most of the time roaming at will wherever their fancy led them. Fred. Field, owner and manager of the farm, seemed anxious that everyone feel quite at home, and every means was employed to achieve that end. The lodge itself was open to those who cared to enter, and twenty of the visitors were guests of Mr. Field at luncheon in the lodge diningroom. In the afternoon there were several short addresses by prominent men in the gathering and a display of some of the prize-winning cattle for which the farm is famous. These same animals will be shown at the exhibitions this year, Mr. Field stated.

Field Lodge Farm is composed of some 1,050 acres on the shore of Rice Lake, about five miles from the village of Roseneath. All the land is tillable, and with the exception of pasture lots, is under cultivation. There is no wood lot on the entire estate. The lodge itself and several of the adjoining buildings are of cobble stone structure, tinted red with white trimmings and red shingle roofs. It sits high up on a steep shore overlooking Rice Lake from a sheltered spot in a pine grove. The lawns are terraced down to the lake, and a systematic arrangement of flower beds adds greatly to the charm of the ensemble. Light and water for the residences are supplied from a private system.

Prize-Winning Herds.

Although Field Lodge Farm is listed in the minds of many as a show place, this is by no means its fundamental purpose. On this farm are to be found some of the best cattle of the Jersey breed. They have been bred and reared with exacting care and scientific regard for perfection. Rows of prize ribbons in the lodge bear mute testimony of the high standard of the herd, which is comprised of two hundred head. Mr. Field is also interested in the poultry business, and his flocks of White Leghorns number some four thousand birds. A few birds of the water varieties are kept as hobbies for the younger members of the household.

Although every means was employed to make all the visitors welcome the parties from Peterborough needed no assurance that they were among friends. All through the various buildings, Peterborough was given a prominent place. The lodge and several of the buildings were built by a contractor from Cleveland, Ohio, but the material is practically one hundred per cent. Canadian, and almost all of the lumber was bought from the Alfred McDonald Lumber Co.

WISHART CAMPBELL SINGS AT ST. PAUL'S

Will Leave in Few Days For Coast to Coast Radio Tour.

His many friends, in and around Peterborough, who have heard him broadcasting from station CKGW, will be glad to avail themselves of another opportunity of meeting Wishart Campbell face to face when he sings at both services in St. Paul's Church on Sunday. This will be in the nature of a farewell visit as he leaves within a few days on an extended radio tour which will take him from coast to coast and away from Toronto until Christmas. It is not given to many young singers to make so favorable impression so early in their musical career. Few artists are more popular with radio audiences than this young baritone.

YOUNG IMMIGRANT COMMITS SUICIDE

Englishman in Canada Two Months Jumps in Front of Train.

WINGHAM, Ont., June 15. (Canadian Press).—Fred Bright, a young Englishman who had been in Canada only two months, ended his life yesterday by throwing himself in front of a passenger train about a mile and a half from Teeswater. He had been working on a farm near Lucknow.

Car Nearly Falls Into Service Pit

A touring car belonging to Harris and Boddy, sign painters, drove into the Shell service station at noon yesterday to collect some materials they had left there. In backing up the rear wheel ran over the low wall of one of the pits and the car dropped heavily on the axle, the rear wheel being suspended in the pit. The drivers tried to use a plank as a lever but this became wedged between the wall of the pit and the car. Finally enough of a crowd gathered to lift the car out of its difficulties and carry it to safety. They then proceeded nonchalantly to load the car, and drove it off, none the worse for its experience.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST CITY

William Henry Seeks $5,000 For Injuries Received in Fall On Sidewalk.

IN FEBRUARY, 1927.

An interesting case was in the course of trial at the County Court House to-day, when His Honor Judge Huycke presided at a session of the County Court. William Henry, a man of seventy years, residing at 143 London street, brought suit against the City of Peterborough, for $5,000, for having sustained injuries when he slipped and fell on the sidewalk on Brock street, opposite Dunsford's Garage, on February 20, 1927.

Representing the city was F. J. Hughes, whose name appeared among those recently honored by appointment as King's Counsel. Mr. Hughes, introduced to the court by G. N. Gordon, K.C., representing the plaintiff, received congratulations from His Honor Judge Huycke on his becoming a K.C.

LIGHTNING BOLT STRIKES STATION

Children Sheltering Under Overhanging Roof Slightly Shocked at Bethany.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, June 15. — A sudden sharp electric storm arising about four o'clock on Wednesday was almost the means of disaster to the C.P.R. station as it was struck with a bolt of lightning, blackening a small portion of the roof and severing the telegraph wires.

A number of children on their way home from school had taken shelter under the spreading roof of the station and all received a slight shock, hardly realising what had taken place until it was all over. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were both rather shaken up.

Car Runs Amuck.

On Tuesday evening an accident happened which might have proved fatal. Byron Davis had bought a car from Mr. Tinny of Cavan, when on Tuesday afternoon he sent Mr. Woods to give Mr. Davis's son Morton, a lesson in driving. The lad had done so well on the road that when the time came to put the car away for the night Mr. Woods thought it alright for Morton to drive it into the barn, where there was a level gangway, but on the other side was the barnyard, with a drop of some feet. It is thought however that when he intended to stop the car he put his foot on the gas pedal instead of the brake. The car plunged ahead, knocking the standard out and the door, but when the car tipped the frame caught on the floor of the barn and hung there. No doubt that is what saved both men. No harm was done to the car.

STEERS AT $196 STARTLE BUTCHERS

George Rountree Sells 88 Big Animals at Toronto Yards.

Steers at $196 each for butchering was the sight seen at the Toronto Stock Yards one day recently. There were 88 of the animals and they brought a total price of $17,500 to their owner, George Rountree of Weston. The steers were all Herefords and average 1455 pounds each, and sold at 13½ cents a pound on the hoof. It was estimated by those who saw them that they would butcher 64 per cent meat, as compared to the average of 58 per cent. Even this would mean that the butcher would have to receive 21 cents a pound, besides his butchering costs, to break even, as there would be 928 pounds of meat from each animal.

Legion Will Meet Next In Regina

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 15 (Canadian Press). — The decision to hold the next annual Dominion Convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League in Regina, Sask., was reached just prior to the close of the second annual meeting here yesterday afternoon; following an invitation from Lieut.-Col. James McAra, V.C., Mayor of Regina.

The convention was formally adjourned at 5.15 o'clock after four days of deliberation, during which time many important resolutions were submitted by the various committees.

JOHN SMITH IS DROWNED

Aged Resident of Bewdley Found in Lake Near His Home.

WAS POPULAR GUIDE

The waters of Rice Lake claimed the life of John Smith, aged 78, of Bewdley, late Tuesday night. Deceased was a popular pioneer resident of the village and for a number of years conducted a saw mill there. The death of Mr. Smith came as a shock to the residents of Bewdley and his absence in that vicinity will be much regretted.

The exact details surrounding the death of Mr. Smith are not known. During the afternoon he had cruised about the lake with a party of Buffalo tourists in his motor launch. He was engaged in guiding the visitors and returned to shore for supper early in the evening. Shortly after he took his departure and near dusk was noticed in his launch near his dock in front of Kennedy's Hotel.

For some time Mr. Smith did not appear and his absence caused considerable anxiety to his family. Finally a search was instigated by a number of the villagers and about ten o'clock his lifeless body was found floating in four or five feet of water about ten yards distant from shore.

The body was located by W. Sidey and although his death is shrouded in mystery it is believed that Mr. Smith suffered a heart attack and fell overboard.

It is not known yet whether an inquest will be held. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The late M. Smith was born at Chisholm's Rapids, near the Trent Canal and for the greater part of his life lived at Bewdley. He was familiar with every inch of the intricate windings of Rice Lake. For a time he conducted a saw mill but in later years has been catering to tourists in the line of renting boats and guiding.

Immediately following the finding of the body Dr. A. L. Russell of Bailieboro was summoned and he pronounced life extinct.

The late Mr. Smith was predeceas-

Present Secretary of Commerce Has Long Lead Over Governor Lowden.

FARMERS OPPOSED.

Republican Nominee For President Has Lived Active Life of 54 Years.

Convention Hall Kansas City, Mo., June 15. — Herbert Hoover was chosen last night Republican candidate for president.

A single roll call in the National Convention told with impressive finality the story of his overwhelming victory against a united field of rivals.

The official vote was: Hughes 1; Dawes 4; Coolidge 17; Goff 18; Norris 36; Watson 45; Curtis 64; Lowden 74; Hoover 837.

A foregone conclusion ever since the convention met last Tuesday, his nomination became a reality long before the roll of the States was called. The final count disclosed the allied candidates against him in complete rout.

Lowden of Illinois, his nearest competitor in delegate strength amassed before the convention assembled, withdrew entirely at the last minute, saying he would not care to be a candidate on the farm relief plank admitted to-day by the convention.

Was on Coolidge Platform.

He stands on a platform built around the Coolidge policies, promising farm relief without mention of equalization fee, and pledging strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment. A fighting farm bloc bid for endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill, was rejected almost 3 to 1 earlier yesterday and a motion to modify the enforcement plank was shouted down without a recorded vote.

KANSAS CITY, June 15. — Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, nominated by the Republican convention for Vice-President, will be Hoover's running mate.

The Vice-President will be chosen to-day. There was much talk last night of a renomination for Vice-President Dawes, but Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Senator Deneen of Illinois, Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, and fully a score besides, still were in the running. The overnight recess will afford op-

SEEKING BOY ALONG RIVER

Police Hold Father Who Says He Tried to Drown Child.

BOY SEEN IN BOAT.

SARNIA, Ont., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Strenuous efforts are being made by the police to find 5-year-old George McCallum, who is believed to be adrift in an open boat on the St. Clair River. Last night, the father of the boy, John McCallum, a laborer, informed railway workers that he had just tried to drown his son. He spoke incoherently and seemed much confused. He was handed over to the police and held on a charge of drunkenness while a search is being made for the boy.

Motorists driving along the road near the spot where the man and boy were last seen reported seeing an open boat drifting with the current and in which were a small boy and a white dog.

Boat and Dog Found.

SARNIA, June 15. — Canadian Press. — The discovery to-day of a rowboat containing a small dog and a fishing line is believed to establish that five year old George Nicol was drowned in the St. Clair River last night. The boat was found at Stag Island, seven miles down the river.

George McCallum of Toronto, who took the lad for a ride, was arraigned in the police court on the nominal charge of vagrancy and remanded for a week.

Church Times Believes Privy Council Decision Narrow.

SYMPATHY FOR PARENTS.

LONDON, June 15. — (Canadian Press Cable).—The Church Times, extreme Anglo Catholic organ, says today that the judgment of the Privy Council dismissing the appeal of the Tiny Township, Ontario, Separate School Trustees, appears to "narrow in tone and a blow to civil and religious liberty."

The Church Times continues: "All our sympathies go to the Roman Catholic parents of children in Canada, who appear to us to have been penalized on account of their religion."

BALE PACKED FOR MISSION

Grenfell Society Sends Large Quantity of Clothing to Labrador.

GOES TO HARRINGTON.

new and used clothing to be sent to Harrington Hospital, Canadian Labrador, were packed on Thursday afternoon. The amount of clothing sent this year was especially large, and shows the result of much time and energy expended by the missionary societies of the different churches during the winter time, and also by the Thursday Club. The Grenfell Society of Peterborough also purchase warm winter underwear and collects good used clothing suitable for life in Labrador. These bales are sent to Harrington, and there the staff of the hospital acts as a distributing agent, so that the articles reach the poor and needy and outlying districts where they are greatly appreciated.

The Grafton Company has for years kindly allowed the collecting and packing of the articles for the Grenfell Bale to take place at its store—a fact which greatly facilitates the work of the packing committee and is certainly appreciated. This year the packing was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Smith, Chamberlain street, assisted by Miss H. S. Peck, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Devey. Mr. Hughes, manager of the Grafton store, very kindly had tea served for the ladies at the conclusion of their work.

ENGLAND LEADS IN TENNIS MATCH

Ladies Have 2-1 Lead Over U. S. Players For Wightman Cup.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 15.—(Canadian Press).—England's Wightman Cup team of women tennis players to-day took a lead of two matches to one over the United States holders of the trophy. After Mrs. Molla Mallory had lost to Miss Eileen Bennett, of England, 6-1 6-3, and Miss Helen Wills had defeated Mrs. M. Holcroft Watson, 6-1, 6-2, the English pair of Miss Ermyntrude Harvey and Miss Leslie Saunders defeated Miss Eleanor Goss and Miss Helen Jacobs, 6-4, 6-1.

MANVERS RELIGIOUS COUNCIL HAS ITS ANNUAL CONVENTION

Janetville United Church is Scene of Busy Education Session.

OFFICERS APPOINTED

R. Wright is President and W. W. Stinson Vice-President This Year.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, June 15.—The thirty-third annual convention of the Township of Manvers Religious Education Council was held on Wednesday afternoon and evening in Janetville United church.

The attendance was not large, partly due to the busy season, but a fine spirit of Christian fellowship was felt throughout the meetings. Rev. E. A. Earchman was the provincial representative from Toronto.

The afternoon session was opened by Rev. R. M. Patterson of the convention church, who led the devotional period. Mr. J. R. Magee, the president, then took charge of the meeting and welcomed the delegates. Mr. Monk, secretary-treasurer, gave the annual reports of the various Sunday schools of the township and also of the treasury.

Following these, Rev. E. A. Earchman gave a splendid and helpful address with the aid of the blackboard. He took one word, "Standards," and

GOLDEN WEDDING HELD AT OMEMEE

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Clark Were Married in Village in 1878.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, July 15. — In the year 1878 Miss Laura Curry was united in marriage to Noel Clark at "Fairhope," Omemee, by the Rev. R. H. Harris. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Clark's two sisters, Mrs. Kimpton, of Toronto, and Miss Louise Curry of Omemee, and a niece, Mrs. Bryce, of Saskatchewan. On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Clark very quietly observed their golden anniversary at their pretty home in Omemee. Owing to ill-health, no celebration was held, but numerous messages and calls extending congratulations were received.

From this union, seven children survive: Mrs. Shepard of Coldwater, Misses Hilda and Susie Clarke of Omemee, Wilfred and Noel of St. Catharines, Harry of Peace River and Norman of Nova Scotia.

Mission Band Meets.

On Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Wide-Awake Mission Band, the ex-members were invited and a special program was given. Miss Mildred Williamson presided. Interspersed with the opening exercises and reports, piano selections were given by Frances MacPherson, Jane Earle, Lloyd Rowland, Howard Vaughan, and Lorraine Irwin. An important feature on the program was the presentation of an autograph quilt to the leader, Mrs. E. W. Rowland.

Refreshments were served at the close.

The following address was read by Mildred Williamson, and Doreen Morcombe and Jack Williamson, two junior members, made the presentation:

Omemee, June 11, 1928.

Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Omemee.

Dear Mrs. Rowland,—It is with a great sense of loneliness that we hold this meeting to-day, realizing that you no longer will be our leader. You have made our meetings so interesting and helpful. The influence you are leaving behind is for the best things in life and will not readily be forgotten. We know you must have often been discouraged with our waywardness, but your patience and love has formed ties of true friendship that are not easily severed.

We trust, where you are going, you will find kind friends and win as big a place in the young people's hearts as you have in ours.

Wishing you and all the family God's richest blessing, please accept

Mrs. W. G. Rowland is Hostess to Ladies of Millbrook Church.

BALE COMPLETED

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, June 15.—Mrs. W. G. Rowland, Cedar Valley, was hostess for the June meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church which was held on Wednesday, June 13, at 3 p.m., over sixty members and visitors being in attendance.

Announcement was made by the president, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, that the bale sent annually from the Auxiliary had been completed, and the contents, valued at over $21.00, were now packed and ready for shipment to the Presbyterial Supply secretary at Brighton.

The Presbyterial Sectional Rally will be held on June 27 at Roseneath, and one or two car-loads of local workers will attend the gathering.

Mrs. L. Albert Brown, convenor of the group in charge, took the chair for the formal program, which was of a temperance character throughout, and emphasized, in the various papers read, the need of facing squarely the individual responsibility in this matter, and the absolute necessity of an educational program which will reach all ages and classes.

Mrs. Brown gave the opening talk on "The Sabbath and the Liquor Traffic", Miss Burnham following with the devotional leaflet based on

GARDENS ADVANCED WARSAW DISTRICT

Mrs. John Tucker Has Greens Nearly Ready for Use.

WARSAW, June 15.—Mrs. John Tucker has about the most advanced looking garden around Warsaw. Onions and other early greens look about ready to use. She generally has garden stuff ready to use as early, if not earlier, than anyone else.

William Davis and Fred Parcels have fields of rye about out. Probably there are others, but these are reported.

MODEL SCHOOL AT BONARLAW

Flowers Beautify Building and Grounds—Tended by the Teacher.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, June 15.— Few Public schools have the neat appearance of the 12th Line S.S. No. 14, under the willing hands of the popular teacher, Miss Chute. The school grounds are in splendid order and the wire fence put up recently helps to improve the general appearance. Beautiful potted plants which are just bursting into bloom give a pleasant appearance to the windows. The garden at the rear end of the school grounds is planted to vegetables and flowers. Long before the school opens in the morning the teacher can be seen watering and caring for the flowers. The school room has a very neat appearance and the best of order reigns.

POLICE MAGISTRATE AT APSLEY SITTING

Cases Withdrawn or Adjourned —Field Day Planned for June 20.

APSLEY, June 15.—Police Magistrate O. A. Langley was in Apsley on Tuesday holding court. A local man was summoned by School Attendance Officer E. Davis for not sending his children to school, but as he had sent them since, the summons was issued, the charge was withdrawn, the defendant paying the costs.

A case of a man refusing to support his child was adjourned for a week.

Party Held.

A married people's party was held in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening, when a very pleasant time was spent in old-fashioned games and square dancing, music being supplied by Mrs. R. Scott and Mrs. W. Lean.

Field Day.

Preparations are nearly completed for the field day in aid of the Red Cross Hospital. The date has been changed to June 20, on account of the early closing in Peterborough being changed to Wednesdays.

St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. will perform the comedy, "His Uncle's Niece" in the parish room in the evening. Sports will be held on the grounds of the Parsonage of the United Church in the afternoon. Dinner and supper will also be served.

New Muskrat Farm.

Mr. A. Wagner, of the Burleigh Falls Fishing Club, has purchased the old Holbrook Farm near Apsley, which contains a large marsh, with the purpose of converting it into a muskrat farm. The marsh is admirably adapted for the enterprise.

WORK PROCEEDING ON LINDSAY ROAD

Culverts Are Nearly All Completed—Carr's Hill Being Cut.

The Dufferin Construction Company are still working on the Peterborough - Lindsay Highway from Fowler's Corners to Omemee. They are cutting down Carr's Hill now, the biggest they have to cut. The culverts are nearly all finished, and a lot of the ditching is done. They expect to be from two to three months finishing the work. The detour is from Fowler's Corners one mile south and up the Third Line.

Personals.

Mrs. W. Galbraith, sister of Mrs. A. R. Nicholas, Dalhousie Street, Peterborough, left on Wednesday to spend the summer in the Western Provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rae and daughter Joyce, of Rosedale, Toronto, spent a few days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rae, Peterborough.

Miss Gladys Blewett, Chemong Road, spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Harry Young, North Monaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison and baby, of Madoc, spent the week-end with the former's sister, Miss Victoria Robison, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Milburn, Smith.

The many friends of Mr. Vincent Franks, East Emily, are pleased to learn that he is improving slightly from pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrel Moore, of Peterborough, have moved to their cottage at Long Point, Smith.

Miss Ida Young, of Toronto, was a recent guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Young, Peterborough.

WARSAW WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HOLDS AN ANNUAL MEETING

Coaching Class in Good Dressing, Lunches and Household Science.

PRIZE FOR SCHOOL

Mrs. Yates Delivers Inspirational Address on Work of the Institute.

WARSAW, June 15.—The annual Summer meeting of the Woman's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon. The business was done first. It was decided to give ten dollars to the School Fair as a prize, but for what the prize will be given will be decided later. A coaching class will be held some time about the middle of July. The subjects will be good dressing, lunches, kitchen and living-room arrangement.

It was decided to carry on the dinner in the town hall on July twelfth, as first decided upon. A committee composed of Mesdames Thomas Cooper, William Dunford, George Taylor, George Weller, and Thomas Crowe, was appointed. An appeal from Mr. Nelson, agricultural representative, for clean eggs, was read.

Mrs. T. Douglas read a report of the year's work.

Mrs. Yates, from Athens, was the delegate. She spoke a little about institute work, and of the great growth all over the world of the fact that all governments have recognized the good done. In Belgium there are 900 branches, and after the war when other grants were cut down, the grant to Institutes was doubled. The Institute is a school for adults, and as such studies certain subjects, such as home economics, health, education, and kindred subjects. People are of three kinds—those who have vision and determine to bring about what they see; those who see, but doubt; and those who just say, "It cannot be done."

The Institute deals with the home, and the home makes its impress. The ideal home is where love reigns supreme; where health and happiness prevail. There is no waste in the properly-conducted home. Use is made of everything. Women have the vote, and should study legislation. They should study Canadian industries, and encourage them. Why buy from foreigners? Is it because their goods are cheaper, or better, or because the merchant carries them, and does not offer Canadian? Historical research is stressed in Institute work. The traditions, and stories known by the old people, will soon be lost if not told and recorded.

Before Mrs. Yates took up her special subject for the afternoon, the Institute stood and sang "Swanee River." In speaking of "The Value of Difficulties," Mrs. Yates compared the many trials, sorrows, and hard things met by all, to the life of a plant. The little seed is put in the ground, germinates and grows. It needs heat, rain, wind, light and dark to fully develop or the little rill that goes over stony places; has to face its way, but all the time grows stronger; it gathers other rills and in time helps in world commerce. The falls generate light and heat. The craters supply food. It does each good, but if it had just sluggishly moved along it would likely have been lost in some swamp. So surely as we are born, so surely will difficulties meet us. We must not weaken and die. We must meet the difficulties bravely and grow strong and develop the possibilities with which God has endowed us.

Those who refuse to profit by difficulties and take their place are self-centred disturbers of the peace, and really their own worst enemy. The strongest trees are the ones that stand alone in the open. Experience may be bitter, but it is often invigorating. Our natural traits are developed by sorrow and trials. She named many people who suffered but gave much to the world—Milton, Bunyan, R. L. Stevenson, Dante, never could have given us what they did but for their infirmities. We can success through failure. In many of the sciences, surgery among them, men have given their lives to give knowledge. Difficulties are stepping-stones to greater achievements. Ease is often the parent of degeneracy. The parent who lets the child do just as he likes, is likely later to see a ruined life.

Three Difficulties

There are three classes of difficulties—imaginary ones, self-inflicted ones, and providential ones. She ended with a few rules—keep busy, cultivate optimism, cultivate a spirit of thankfulness and prayer.

Those present thanked Mrs. Yates for her helpful and inspiring talk.

During the social half hour, after the close of the meeting, Mrs. Herrington discovered that a sister of Mrs. Yates in Merrickville was one of her own friends.

School Meeting

A meeting of Warsaw school trustees and ratepayers was held in Warsaw School on Tuesday evening, to vote upon debentures to defray expenses of a new school. Mr. Lees, public school inspector, has notified the trustees that, unless arrangements are made and debentures voted upon to build a new school upon a proper site, the grant will not be allowed. He sent the notices to Mr. Watts to sign and put up, and the three notices were up in conspicuous for the required eight days. However, some present thought many knew nothing of it. There was some discussion about the site. No grant has been alowed on the building for some time. The grant on teachers' salaries is about $400.00.

RESCUE ATTEMPT COSTS TWO LIVES

Small Boys Drown Trying To Save Companion From Death.

ALL WERE BATHING.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 15.—(Canadian Press).—Two young heroes were drowned Wednesday and a third youngster, whom they were endeavoring to rescue from Lake Tremoy, Rouyn District, also met his death in the waters of the lake. The dead are Oscar Faulkner, 15, and Norman Faulkner, 10, brothers, and Sam Lewis, 12. The bodies were recovered.

The three boys were bathing when Norman got into difficulty. Oscar and the Lewis boy went to his assistance and as they attempted to save him, Norman gripped them and all three sank.

The Supreme Touch to Confections

MADOC CITIZENS HOPE FOR OIL

Expect to Have Street Work Finished at Early Date.

ROADS VERY GOOD

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, June 15.—Madoc citizens are living in hopes of having the streets oiled at an early date, probably early in the coming week. The street cleaners and graders have been busy at work for the past week or two, and will have the streets ready in a few days.

The surrounding roads are generally very good. From Madoc, to Tweed motorists report good roads, also from Madoc to Queensboro, to Bannockburn and to Millbridge, and while not so good as you go further north, still are likely to be in excellent condition very soon.

From Madoc to Foxboro, the roads are rough, especially where the recent repairs are being made incident to the widening and straightening of the roads are in progress.

From Madoc to Marmora the roads are fairly good, and also to Stirling.

So far, Madoc possesses no motorist camp, but the two hotels, with several private boarding houses provide excellently for the wants of the continually increasing tourist trade. Accommodation can be obtained or arranged for, by small or large parties, at usual rates.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

Second Annual Conference Held at Springbrook United Church.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, June 15.—The second annual conference of Sunday School workers of No. 2 group in connection with Stirling, Rawdon and Marmora township association was held in the United Church, Springbrook, on Wednesday evening. In the unavoidable absence of the president, T. F. Hulin, Rev. A. B. Caldwell presided. Of the eight schools comprising the group, five were represented. Rev. P. F. Gardiner having led in prayer, the secretary-treasurer, J. F. Baker, read the minutes and later gave one of his characteristic chart talks. B. Donley of Tweed, the county president, who was present, gave a short talk. In the discussions of the evening teacher training, home departments and definite decision loomed large. It was announced that No. 1 Group would hold its conference at St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, on Tuesday, June 19th.

OTTAWA, June 15.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, has mapped out an intensive speaking tour that will carry him to both Eastern and Western Canada during the summer months. Oshawa is the only Ontario point yet decided upon in his itinerary. He speaks there July 23.

SHOWER HELD

Fellow-Employees Honor Miss Eveline Murney at Social Gathering.

SPRINGVILLE, June 15. — A miscellaneous shower was given on Monday evening, June 11th, in honor of Miss Eveline Murney of Springville whose marriage takes place the latter part of this week.

A number of Miss Murney's friends and fellow workers of Barrie's Ltd., motored to her home and during the evening a clothes basket filled with many useful gifts, was presented her. A jolly time followed while the gifts were untied and the accompanying verses were read by the bride-to-be, after which in a suitable reply Miss Murney showed her appreciation and thanks. At the close of the social evening a dainty lunch was served.

Vice-Regal Party Will Visit In West

EDMONTON, Alta., June 15 (Canadian Press). — About a week in the Peace River country will be the star number on the program for the approaching visit of Viscount and Lady Willingdon. A wire from Col. Mierville, the secretary to the Governor-General has just been received by Premier J. E. Brownlee, announcing Their Excellencies' purpose to leave Edmonton of their northward trip on the evening of July 15, and stating also that it is their desire to see as much as possible of the farming country and the people.

W. M. S. MEETS AT CAVAN HOME

Titus 2:14: "Our Saviour Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us, that He might redeem unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works."

Mrs. Weston Fallis and Mrs. Hilliard Lang gave the other two papers on the topic, and the little daughter of the hostess, Ethel Rowland, recited "The Little Brown Girl and I". A solo, "A Thousand Years of Prohibition," by Mr. Weston Fallis, was much enjoyed.

The "Watch Tower" continued the study of temperance issues stating briefly the situation in the various provinces, those answering to the roll-call being: British Columbia, Mr. John Rowland; Alberta, Mrs. Will Armstrong; Saskatchewan, Mrs. George Fallis; Manitoba, Mrs. C. C. Garside; Ontario, Mrs. David Lunn; New Brunswick, Mrs. H. E. Smith; Nova Scotia, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds; Prince Edward Island, Miss Estelle Hetherington; Newfoundland, Mrs. J. McKnight.

President Leaving.

This being the last meeting in which the president, Mrs. Howard, would be with the Auxiliary as the exchange of pastorates with Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., of Warkworth, takes place by July 1, Mrs. (Dr.) H. Rae addressed the meeting expressing the appreciation felt by the members of the faithful and efficient manner in which the presidential offices had been filled for the past four years, and the regret felt at Mrs. Howard's removal.

Mrs. Howard made suitable reply, mentioning especially the fine manner in which the other officers had backed up her efforts and the loyal support given by all the members; the work had all been done with the thought of the Kingdom, and its establishment, in view, and she would watch the annual W.M.S. report eagerly each year, confidently expecting to note that Millbrook Auxiliary would continue to grow both numerically and financially.

Mrs. H. E. Smith put the motion before the meeting, the members signifying their approval by a standing vote and a hearty hand clap. Mrs. Howard dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Group E assisted the hostess in serving refreshment, and the usual social hour was enjoyed about the tea tables, the executive finding this a convenient time to give brief attention to some business items as well.

The Auxiliary usually discontinues its meetings during July and August, but last summer this plan was not followed and the meetings were well attended and the interest well sustained. It has not been definitely decided whether the monthly gatherings will be a feature of this summer's activities or not.

Stewardship and systematic giving.

Following the appointment of the nomination committee and a round table conference led by Mr. Earchman, W. W. Stinson delighted his hearers with a beautiful solo, entitled, "I Am Happy in Serving the King." After the benediction the meeting adjourned for supper which was served in the basement by the ladies of the convention church, and the delegates did full justice to the appetizing meal prepared.

The evening session was opened with a song service, led by Rev. Mr. Patterson and many favorite hymns were sung.

A part of the 5th chapter of Matthew was read and A. H. Monk and W. W. Stinson offered prayer. Rev. Mr. Earchman then conducted the installation service of the new officers for the year 1928. They are as follows:

President, R. Wright; Vice-Pres., W. W. Stinson; Sec.-Treas., B. A. Monk; Department Superintendents, Adult, Mrs. W. W. Stinson; Home Dept., Miss E. Richardson; Boys' Work, Cecil Robinson; Girls' Work, Mrs. J. R. Bradburn; Children's Division, Mrs. Wilbert Malcolm; Young People's Work, Miss Verna Belle Lee; Teachers' Training, Rev. A. Poulter; Missionary, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; Temperance, W. A. Jakeman.

J. R. Magee, president, retired and gave his place to the newly-elected president, who made a few remarks on the importance of the Sunday school work and the need of workers to carry on. The choir sang a chorus, "Arise, Shine, for the Light is Come," and Rev. A. Poulter gave an inspiring address on "The Importance of Evangelism in the Sunday School."

Mr. Earchman then followed with another of his chalk talks. This time he took the words Sunday Schools, using the last word, thus—
Sunday school (objects of)
Character (inner constraint)
Happiness (abounding energy of)
Out and out (for Christ)
Others (thinking of others).
Liberty, loving, living (shows boys and girls how)
Saviour (pointing out the).

A vote of thanks to the speakers, to the church officials for use of the church and to the ladies was moved by A. H. Monk and seconded by J. R. Magee and tendered by R. Wright with the congregation giving a hearty hand clap of approval.

The convention closed by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction by Mr. Earchman.

A plan was suggested to hold the next convention at the Fleetwood United church, picnic fashion, in June, 1929. This will be considered by the committee in charge. The delegates from Bethany to attend were Rev. and Mrs. A. Poulter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Monk, Mrs. Sam Jemison, Mrs T. Jackson, Miss Ada Richardson, Miss Marion Fallis, W. A. Jakeman, John Porteous, Patricia Poulter and Theodore Poulter.

OBITUARY

GEORGE PRINGLE.

A well-known resident of the town passed away June 6 in St. Marys in the person of George Pringle, aged 68 years. Mr. Pringle was a son of the late John Pringle, a Scotsman who came out to Canada in the early days and after spending some time in Oshawa, settled on a farm on the River road, Fullerton Township, just south of the village of Motherwell. It was here that Mr. George Pringle was born. Thirty-six years ago the deceased was married to Miss Harriet Shand of Oshawa, and after the ceremony the young couple took over the old Pringle homestead, where they remained for a few years, when ill health forced Mr. Pringle to give up farming and the family moved to St. Marys. In the years that followed Mr. and Mrs. Pringle in turn lived in Brooklyn, Myrtle, Westwood, Peterborough, Lakefield, and back to Brooklyn again, where Mrs. Pringle passed away six years ago.

Three years ago Mr. Pringle came back to St. Marys, where he has resided ever since with his niece, Miss Ada Wood, Wellington Street South, from where the funeral is being held to-morrow. Mr. Pringle had been in his usual health up until Tuesday of last week, when he was seized with an attack of "flu" which later gave way to pleurisy and ended up with a seizure of pneumonia, which caused death. Mr. Pringle is survived by one son, John, of Hamilton; also three sisters, Mrs. Simon Campbell, of Exeter; Mrs. (Dr.) Shaw, of Morris, Mich., and Mrs. Leonard Shubert of Harbor Beach, Mich. The late Mr. Pringle was a staunch member of the Presbyterian Church, having been connected with Motherwell and Knox churches here practically all his life. He was a Chief of Highland Mary Camp, Sons of Scotland, and was of a very jovial disposition—a man with a great many friends.

The funeral service will be conducted by Rev. T. J. Robinson of Knox Church, the Sons of Scotland taking part. The pall bearers will be six nephews of deceased, namely, Messrs. Arthur Campbell, Alex Young, William Pringle, Arthur Nesbit, Will Rogers and W. G. Woods—St. Mary's Argus.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CENTRAL ONTARIO JERSEY MEN MEET

Peterborough. The dairy equipment is by the De Laval, Peterborough, and the food for the stock and poultry is produced by the Maple Leaf Milling Co.

Small Fairs Important.

Each year the Field Lodge Farm enters exhibits in twelve fairs and exhibitions in Canada, and of these, Peterborough Exhibition is considered the best "Show," with the possible exception of the Canadian National Exhibition. This year the exhibits will be shown in only two fairs, Peterborough and the Royal Winter Fair. Mr. Field expressed himself as very much displeased since the Government had cut off the grants to the smaller fairs. These were the makings of the big ones, he said, and were of far more benefit to the amateur exhibitor as well as the professional. It was, he said, to the smaller fairs that the buyers come and that the business was done. Peterborough Exhibition, he said, was of more value to Field Lodge Farm than any other in the Dominion. He had received more direct business from it than from the other eleven of the twelve at which the stock is shown.

At one-thirty, Mr. Field entertained twenty of the visitors as his guests at luncheon. After walking about the farm and inhaling the fresh air from the lake, the diners did ample justice to the excellent meal which was prepared and served under the direction of Miss R. Keppler. To her were addressed many sincere complimentary remarks at the conclusion of the meal. Among the guests at the luncheon were J. B. Nelson, district representative of the department of agriculture; E. S. Martin, manager, Bank of Montreal, Peterborough; E. J. Vanston, manager, Bank of Toronto, Peterborough; Sam Oke, Peterborough; Mark Burnham, Peterborough; G. A. Gillespie, ex-M.P.P.; William Steinkrauss, Peterborough; Mayor Denne, Peterborough; W. R. Shields, Thomas Cruikshanks; Thomas Brown, Peterborough; Alderman Lowe, Peterborough; Frank Fairen, Peterborough; Walter Fowlds, Hastings; Thomas Hooper, Peterborough; J. G. Davidson, feed department, Maple Leaf Milling Company; Clare McDonald, manager McDonald Lumber Company; and Terry McGovern, Maple Leaf Milling Company.

After lunch, photographs for the press were taken on the front terraces and steps of the lodge and when time had been allowed for an after dinner smoke, the guests retired to the open verandah on the side away from the lake, where several short addresses were given.

Mayor Denne

Mayor Denne, introduced by Mr. Gerald, was the first speaker. He expressed his gratitude to Mr. Field and the Jersey Breeders' Association for their invitation to be present. He was pleased to have learned that the Central Ontario Breeders' Association now had a membership of two hundred. It was a good business and as such was deserving of encouragment. It would be the good fortune of those present to see the cattle which Mr. Field was going to put on exhibit at the Peterborough Fair this Fall. Mr. Field was a regular exhibitor there.

Although Mayor Denne was pleased to think that the cattle industry was progressing rapidly, he regretted that the same was not true of the horse industry. He thought it should be brought back it its former status and expressed the opinion that horses would be needed in the future more than they are to-day. The farmers to-day, se said, must be specialists in order to successfully meet with the modern demands and markets. They must be abreast of the times. He had been informed that electricity would be available in the district "before the snow flies," and he hoped that every farmer would become a consumer, not only for general farm work but for domestic purposes as well.

John Nelson

John Nelson, agricultural representative for Peterborough, said the visitors would see at first hand livestock of the highest quality and would return to their homes with new ideas and ideals, since Field Lodge was the most outstanding farm in the region of Central Ontario.

Walter Smith

Walter Smith, Northumberland agricultural representative, believes that Nature, with the assistance of Mr. Field, had made a "finished job" of the estate. The coming accredited free area increase in Northumberland would enhance the value of cattle and dairy products and would be a great attraction to buyers from the States to come through the country and buy in car-load lots. When the herds were free of bovine tuberculosis and under government supervision it decreased the risk normally taken by the buyers, and thus the price would increase. In closing, Mr. Smith said he would be pleased to furnish what information he could if any or all of the people would write or call at his office in the village of Brighton.

G. A. Gillespie.

George Gillespie, ex-M.P.P., Peterborough, was of the opinion that Mr. Field was in the best business in Canada since dairy farming meant steady work, Sundays included. The work which Mr. Field was doing was setting an example to the rest of the milk producers in the carrying out of scientific tests and following the most correct scientific methods in all operations. Agriculture is the backbone of the province, said Mr. Gillespie, and Ontario ranks high in the dairy branch of the industry. Field Lodge Farm, while it is a scientific institution, is also a beautiful place and well suited for either work or recreation.

Walter Fowlds.

Walter Fowlds, Hastings although not directly connected with the dairy business had had considerable experience with beef cattle. He thought it a wise move on the part of the Jersey breeders to elect such a man as Mr. Field as their president. He had been acquainted with Mr. Field for about five years and had always found him an excellent business man who had more than one string to his bow.

M. E. Maybee, M.P.

M. E. Maybee M.P. for Northumberland, considered the farm one of the show places of the Trent water system. The dairy industry was one of the leading industries of the province, and was continuing to make progress. The Central Ontario Association was to be congratulated. The picnic yesterday was a necessary part of the business since co-operation was necessary for success and by meeting in such a manner, the breeders were able to exchange ideas and information that would be of value generally Results showed that this was the case since last year. Northumberland had ranked second in the dairy business and there was an indication that this year it would be first. But although the discussion so far had been entirely with respect to Jersey cattle, Mr. Maybee thought that all the various breeds were necessary to complete the industry.

Cattle Exhibited.

Following Mr. Maybee's remarks, five head of prize cattle were brought out for inspection. These are the animals that will be shown at the exhibitions this year. Only last week, Mr. Field refused an offer of $4,700 for the bull. While the cattle were being paraded, Mayor Denne drew the spectators' attention to the fact that these were the types which were being exhibited at Peterborough Fair and that the government grant to the fair had been discontinued. The little shows make the big ones, he declared. It was to these smaller ones that the buyers came and this was of great assistance to the exhibitors.

H. B. Cowan.

H. B. Cowan, Peterborough, Editor of the Farm and Dairy, said he could remember when the number of members at the annual dairy meeting for the district was about seventeen. He was pleased to know that the number had greatly increased till a large auditorium was required to afford seating capacity. The Jersey breed was hardy and could stand the rigorous weather of the Canadian winters. He had seen them thriving in the north of Quebec and on the prairies. Records showed that they were increasing in favour and in number.

This concluded the program of speeches and Mayor Denne announced that the picnic would be held at Field Lodge Farm again next year about the same time of the year. Mr. Field had requested him to make the announcement, he said, and also to say that he hoped there would be twice as many present next year. The picnic was not only for the members of the association but for their friends as well.

Eight years ago, the present Field Lodge Farm was simply part of the shore line of Rice Lake. To-day it is a unit complete within itself. It is owned by the Field estate and managed by Fred Field, Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Field is deeply interested in Jersey cattle and is ready on all occasions to discuss the dairy business from any angle. The entire estate is run by a staff of eight men, each an expert in his own particular line. The lodge and domestic side of the business is capably managed by Miss R. Keppler and her staff of servants. The list of prize stock owned and produced by Field Lodge Farms is very imposing and contains the name of Eddy Silver Boy, grand champion of Canada.

HOOVER WINS ON FIRST VOTE

portunity for the presidential nominee himself, in Washington, to communicate to party leaders here any word of advice he may have for them.

Many in Running.

It is the expectation of many of Mr. Hoover's friends that he will resign shortly as Secretary of Commerce and after two or three weeks of consultation at the Capital with outstanding Republicans will go to his home at Palo Alto, Cal., to receive the official notification of his choice as party bearer.

Hoover's Varied Life.

Christened Herbert Clark Hoover, the Republican Presidential nominee, since he has been in public life, has discarded the middle initial, and signs his name "Herbert Hoover."

He was born at West Branch, Iowa, August 10, 1874, son of a blacksmith and a Quaker mother. He was an orphan before he was seven years old.

He worked his way to a degree in mining engineering and geology at Stanford, then a young university in California, getting his degree in 1895.

As an engineer he saw the world, following his profession in Australia, China, India, Russia, Alaska, and Mexico.

An apprenticeship in the relief efforts that were to make him famous was served in Pekin during the Boxer rebellion of 1900, when he organized his first relief.

In London when the Great War descended on thousands of Americans in Europe, scurrying about trying to find a way to get home, Herbert Hoover headed an American Relief Committee.

His skill in getting the Americans out of the clutches of war resulted in his draft for the task of feeding Belgium. He assisted in the organization of the Commission for relief in Belgium, and assumed its leadership.

When the United States entered the war, President Wilson appointed Mr. Hoover Food Administrator for the United States, although he remained in charge of Belgium relief.

Choice of Two Parties.

In 1920 he was spoken of as Presidential candidate of both the Republican and Democratic parties. He wrote a letter declaring himself a Republican.

At the Republican convention in Chicago, he was placed in nomination to the accompaniment of prolonged applause in the gallery, but a few votes on the floor.

He was appointed Secretary of Commerce by President Harding, and held the same Cabinet post in the Administration of President Coolidge.

His home is on the campus of the Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal., but he is at home only at infrequent intervals.

He married Miss Lou Henry, a schoolmate at Stanford, in 1899. They have two sons.

The main item of business was the arranging of a bake sale to be held at Mrs. MacKey's on Saturday afternoon, June 16.

plans for a three-roomed school which would cost about $6,000.00 to build and about $8,500.00 to build with furnace, and other necessary supplies. A Peterborough architect made an estimate for $16,000.00.

After a good deal of discussion, it was carried by motion that the section do without the grant for this year. There is some suggestion of the school being closed.

James Hawthorne, reeve of Dummer, was chairman for the evening; Alex. Rose, Township Clerk, was secretary.

Personal

Miss Laura Wiggins of Cordova Mines, and Mr. William Young of Detroit, Mich., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herrington. At the evening service in the United Church Mrs. Herrington and Mr. Young sang a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Mr. Aitkens has gone to Newark, New Jersey, to visit his brother; he will return about July the first.

Mrs. James Moore entertained Mrs. Yates between the Warsaw meeting and the Lakefield meeting of the Women's Institutes.

CIRCUS POSTERS MAKE APPEARANCE

Sparks' Advance Car Here To-day To Advertise Big Show.

Sparks Circus Advance Car No. 1 arrived to-day, and twenty-five men who make this special Pullman their home eight months of the year are busy heralding the coming of the big show which is to exhibit in Peterborough, Thursday, June 28, afternoon and night. This is the first arrival of the advertising department of the show, with others to follow at intervals from now until the date of the exhibitions.

This car is under the management of Col. James Randolph, with Harry Mack, contracting press agent, and a crew of bill posters, banner men, and lithographers. The Pullman is all-steel in construction, and is perhaps the most modern now being used for this purpose, having been built especially for Sparks' Circus this season. Its equipment was all installed under the personal direction of Col. Randolph. There are staterooms for both Col. Randolph and Mr. Mack, and comfortable berths for each member of the crew. The staterooms are so designed as to serve as offices during the day, with every modern device in the way of equipment, including steel filing cabinets, typewriter desks, and other appliances to facilitate the business of this office on wheels.

Sparks Circus this season has been enlarged in every department, and many European novelties have been secured as features of the program which is presented in three rings and on an elevated stage.

QUEBEC'S APPEAL.

The Quebec Provincial Tourist Bureau is to be congratulated upon the attractive booklet, "Four, Five and Six Ways in Quebec," that has been issued for the purpose of attracting visitors to Quebec during the summer.

This lavishly illustrated booklet contains a wealth of information about our sister Province, outlining tours throughout Quebec that will enable tourists to see many of the varied features of interest to be found there.

It is concise and yet complete, and should be of interest not only across the border but to citizens of other parts of Canada who may be planning a motor holiday in the United States, and who might well be induced to "see Canada first" as a result of the appeal of this well-prepared booklet.

A motor trip through Quebec might prove even more interesting than a journey across the international line, and would give Canadians a chance to see something of an important part of their own country—about which most of us know all too little.

MUSICAL COMPETITIONS.

The program of the musical competitions which are to be a feature of the Kiwanis Made-in-Canada Fair next October shows several very important additions to this department of the fair, and indicates that successful as were the contests last year the 1928 competitions should surpass them in interest and variety.

In addition to the various vocal, violin and piano competitions that were included in last year's program, there are to be contests for choirs, brass bands and orchestras, as well as cornet, trombone and clarionet solos, and other classes.

Musical organizations of the city and district, as well as individual artists, should find the program full of interest and profit, and it is expected that entries will be readily forthcoming.

Such competitions as this serve a very useful purpose; they are most helpful to the musician, and they are of general educative value, inasmuch as the audience which listens carefully to the various contests cannot fail to benefit from the opportunity of hearing such numbers and having a chance to distinguish for themselves the difference between various renditions.

DRIVERS' PERMITS.

Motorists are being checked up as to whether or not they are carrying a driver's license, and this policy will result in a more effective use of the regulation requiring drivers to be licensed.

It should be remembered that not only must you have a permit to drive a car but you must carry it with you, and several drivers have found during the past week that there is no easier way of saving five dollars than to make sure that your operator's license is in your pocket.

The penalty for driving a car without having taken out a permit is naturally more severe, and is likely to be made more drastic still if some people are under the delusion that this regulation means nothing.

The permit system was hailed as likely to give good results in eliminating unfit drivers, and now that it is being enforced with more vigor, it should have a decidedly beneficial effect.

With traffic conditions as they are, there is no place on the highways for motorists who are not capable of handling cars with judgment and steadiness.

Too much laxity has been shown in the past in this respect, and it is gratifying, therefore, to note that the regulation is being enforced in a way that will make it of some value.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald.)

Just why a person who goes away in a car wants to stick flags on it is hard to understand. Is it a desire that springs from an excess of patriotic zeal, or is it just a wish to let the rest of the folk know where the car is from?

Flags fluttering on a car do not help driving; they do not add to the appearance of the vehicle.

Yet this flag business has caused considerable bad feeling at times. The sensible thing would be for drivers to keep flags off their cars when touring in other countries.

PLIGHT OF SMALL RETAILER.

(New York World.)

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, with the co-operation of Government census enumerators, has made a survey of retail trade in eleven American cities of different sizes and in different sections of the country. Some 80,000 establishments are included in the enumeration. The most striking feature of the exhibit is the contrast between the largest and the smallest stores. At the top of the list stand forty stores (one-twentieth of 1 per cent. of the total) which are doing over 16 per cent. of the entire business. At the bottom stand 22,000 stores (28 per cent. of the total) whose average sales are only $44 per week.

This latter group offers a puzzle. The average gross income of the shopkeepers in this class is less than that of a skilled mechanic, and the net income is about that of an office boy. How do they exist? The answer, perhaps, is to be found in the data of commercial failures. They are being constantly weeded out, but as fast as they go others come in to fill their places. From the data obtained by this census it appears that about one retailer in every four is hanging on by the skin of his teeth. The huge mortality among them means a heavy social loss—a loss not only to their creditors but to the whole community from this misdirected effort.

THE UNITED STATES PRESIDENCY.

The challenging position held by the United States in world affairs, political, social and economic, makes the character and personality of its President of deep concern to civilized peoples everywhere. For this reason the eyes of all the nations will in the next fortnight focus upon Kansas City and Houston where conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties will select their candidates for the forthcoming presidential election. This interest will be heightened by the fact that the Democratic party, the underdog in American politics, threatens to produce a standard-bearer whose prestige and popularity offer a real challenge to Republican supremacy. "Al" Smith, son of the "sidewalks of New York," Roman Catholic, wet, and super-administrator of the greatest State in the Union, is a candidate to be conjured with.

Although the Democratic party has been in existence 88 years, and has always been powerful in State politics, it has, during the past 68 years, elected but two Presidents—Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson. And Wilson's election, in 1913, resulted not so much from an increase in the Democratic vote as from a split among the Republicans, when Theodore Roosevelt bolted from the party and opposed W. H. Taft as a Progressive-Republican. In the main, and particularly in the Northern States, the Republic has been overwhelmingly Republican.

The reasons for this are not far to seek. The United States, fundamentally, is a conservative and protectionist country, and the Democratic party has been the party of professed radicalism and of anti-tariffism. Depending upon Civil War prejudices and a so-called policy of "white supremacy" to carry a "solid South," it has, in its history, espoused all sorts of nostrums to appeal to the North and Northwest. There was the period when it flirted with Kansas Populism, there was the long barren period of Bryanism and "free silver," there were the campaigns against imperialism, and so on and so forth until the days of Woodrow Wilson. Wilson, it is conceded, brought the party stability and character. The Wilson-Underwood tariff did not bring the ruin that its enemies predicted; his Federal Reserve Bank legislation proved successful; he was at least as fair to Big Business as Roosevelt; and his administration was singularly free from the taint of scandal. When, finally, he went down, it was for a cause that was espoused by some of the greatest of Republicans.

It is for this reason, plus the recent oil and other scandals at Washington under the Republicans, plus a turn in the tide of prosperity, added to the probability that Democrats will this year march behind an exceptionally strong candidate, that makes the Republican position less secure.

Herbert Hoover, who seems most likely to be the Republican choice, will face exceptional difficulties. An able man, and an international figure, he yet lacks those engaging qualities which so powerfully appeal to a people singularly devoted to hero-worship. Moreover, as a member of Mr. Coolidge's Cabinet, he is bound in some degree to be held responsible for whatever sins may be laid at the door of the Coolidge administration: while as an avowed opponent of the McNary-Haugen bill, vetoed by Mr. Coolidge in the teeth of farmer clamor, he is bound to encounter strong opposition in agricultural strongholds. Signs of this, indeed, are already visible.

Then, there is prohibition. Mr. Hoover, it is told, is not a bigoted prohibitionist, but he is nevertheless associated with that policy, and prohibition, it is clear, is weakest in those powerful northern centres where Hoover, if he is to be victorious, needs to be strongest. In the United States, it must be remembered, there are some 40,000,000 people of foreign birth or origin, and these, largely centred in the great urban district of New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio and New Jersey, and mostly hostile to Volsteadism, are a mighty factor to be reckoned with. Mighty in pivotal States.

Not that the Democrats face no obstacles. Smith, if he be nominated (which seems practically certain) may invite formidable hostility. Smith is an Irish-American, a Catholic, a wet, and is city born. What that may means to a people who have almost invariably selected as their Presidents men who were Nordic Protestant, and from the landed aristocracy or plutocratic class, remains to be seen. No Catholic has ever been President of the United States. No Catholic, indeed, has ever been nominated for the presidency. And while the Constitution of the United States makes a brave declaration about religious equality and rights, the fact remains that in some sections of the Union at all events, there is a deep-rooted hostility to the idea of a Catholic being President. One has but to study the press of the United States these days to realize this truth.

Mainly owing to this feeling, Republicans hold that for the first time in half a century, or since the Hayes-Tilden contest of 1875, they have a chance to secure votes in the Southern citadel of Democracy. West Virginia has been generally Republican; Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Oklahoma have been occasionally carried by the party; but in the rest of Dixie a nomination on the Democratic ticket has meant popular support. This year it is different—and Smith is responsible. "Booze, Tammany and Catholicism are the issues," declared a leader in the South Carolina Democratic convention a few weeks ago, and following this the delegates did an unheard of thing in those parts—refused to pledge support to the Democratic candidates in State and nation.

Whether this feeling is deep enough and widespread enough in the South to reject Smith, only time can tell. If it is not, if Southern religious prejudice is found to be weaker than the old race issue, then the Democrats have their strongest chance in years of achieving the presidency. Smith, it is conceded, will carry New York and Massachusetts; will probably win New Jersey; and has a good fighting chance in Illinois, Ohio, and in some of the Northwestern States that have been mainly Republican. If he should be successful in this, yet hold the South, and retain other States that are now Democratic, his election would be assured. But there is nothing so uncertain as election prophecies.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

There are a few faint signs that a presidential election is in sight across the border.

Still our American friends will have plenty of time to see Canada before they vote.

The Question Box

Yes, the Bible Mentions It.

P. D. Q.—Is there any reference in the Bible to one's hair standing on end because of fright?

A.—Yes. Job 4:15. "Then a spirit passed before my face; the hair of my flesh stood up:

The Principle of Equity.

S. B. Q.—What is the meaning of "Injuria propria non cadet in beneficium facientis"?

A.—"One's own wrong shall not fall to the advantage of him that does it."

It's Not All Fun!

M. H. Q.—A medical student recommended some medicine for me, and wrote down on a slip of paper: "Na2 SO4+10H2O." He told me to take it to any city drug store and they would give me the medicine. Is it a joke?

A.—Not by a jugful! Your humorous friend might have written down "Glauber's Salt," because that is what the symbol means.

Douro's Name.

J. C. Q.—Where did Douro get its name?

A.—One of the titles of the Duke of Wellington was Baron Douro, given him because he crossed the river Douro in the face of the French army under Sault, and drove it with great loss from Oporto, and beyond the limits of Portugal. Sir Peregrine Maitland, who probably named the township, served under Wellington.

M. A.: Your inquiry has been referred to Marion, for answer on the Women's Page, as all similar queries will be in future.

GOD'S MINUTE

He shall call upon Me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honor him.—Ps. 91:15.

Loving Father, may we realize what a great privilege it is for us to come directly into Thy very presence, in the name, and by the close relationship of Thy Son as our Saviour and Elder Brother, and to really be Thy children. Help us to-day to be able to call Thee "our Father." Help us to realize that Thy great loving heart turns towards us as the heart of a loving parents turns towards his child. Each day may this relationship mean more and more, and become very precious to us.

As we take up the duties of the day, may we take shelter under the wonderful promises of the Ninety-first Psalm, and may they be fulfilled to us and our loved ones. May we in some way be a help and blessing to someone who may need us this day. Help us to be careful about our example before others. May we "walk, stand, and sit" in such places as may be pleasing in Thy sight and be safe for others to follow us in.

May we, by our faith in the Lord Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour, be clothed with His righteousness, and have a part in His resurrection. Guide us and help us as the days pass, we ask in His name. Amen.

A Thought

CONDUCTS

Good and friendly conduct may meet with an unworthy, with an ungrateful, return; but the absence of gratitude on the part of the receiver cannot destroy the self-approbation which recompenses the giver; and we may scatter the seeds of courtesy and kindness around us at so little expense. Some of them will inevitably fall on good ground, and grow up into benevolence in the minds of others; and all of them will bear fruit of happiness in the bosom whence they spring. Once blest are all the virtues; twice blest sometimes.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

(Turn to Page 10, Please)

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 15.—A deck of 156 hogs were the whole of the receipts for yesterday's market, no fresh cattle offering. There were three or four hundred stale cattle left over from the earlier markets. Some of these, especially the heavy steers, had overstayed their welcome, having been carried over from last Tuesday's market. The earlier bids had been refused, shippers holding out for better offers. The probabilities now are that, to obviate the necessity of carrying these already stale cattle over to next week, lower bids may have to be accepted.

Except for stale left overs, the general tone of the market is steady and unchanged from this week's opening prices. The trouble has been an over supply in the heavy steers class.

Lighter choice butcher grades, especially choice butcher cows, are holding steady to firm over the week end.

Calves weakened to a dollar lower. Sheep and lambs barely steady.

Heavy steers, best selection $11 to $12. Choice handy weight butcher, $10.50 to $11.75.

Good choice fat cows in demand at $8.50 to $9.50.

Good choice butcher bulls, steady, $8 to $9.

Calves easier at $14 top.

Spring lambs steady, 18½c to 19c. Sheep yearlings, wool, $10 to $13; clipped, $5 to $6.

Stockers and feeders small supplies; stocker steers, $8 to $9; short keep steers, $9 to $9.50.

Hogs steady at $11.25 f.o.b. selects and $12.25 selects, off cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 15 (Canadian Press). — With the exception of a few loads of wheat worked with the United Kingdom, the export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was inactive.

The trade in cash grain in the local market was again quiet owing to the limited demand from exporters, but there was some trading in car lots at unchanged prices.

The flour trade was featured by the increased demand from continental buyers for spring wheat grades, and as the prices bid were in line with most millers' views, a very fair volume of business was accomplished, but the trade with the United Kingdom has been quiet. Theer was no improvement in the domestic demand, but the undertone was steady. Winter wheat flour was quiet, but the prices were maintained on account of the continued small offerings.

A feature of the millfeed trade was the increased demand from the United States and a moderate amount of business was done. There was no improvement in the domestic demand, with no change in prices to note. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was small.

There was no actual change in the prices for eggs, but the undertone to the market was firm, and especially so for extras owing to the increasing scarcity which is attributed to the warmer weather and the smaller percentage of this grade in the arrivals. A moderate amount of business was done in a jobbing way. The receipts were 1,347 cases.

There were no new developments in the potato trade, the undertone being firm with prices tending towards a higher level owing to the increased supplies on spot in first-hands and the smaller shipments from the interior.

A firm feeling prevailed in the market for imported beans owing to the small supplies coming forward for which there continues to be a fairly good demand. Sales of car lots of choice white hand-picked grades were made at $3.90 per bushel, ex-track, and smaller quantities at $4.30 per bushel, ex-store.

The condition of the butter situation remains strong and prices are steadily tending toward a high level with a further advance of ¼c per pound established yesterday. This was attributed to some extent to the increased demand from speculators of late which has taken quite a few car lots off the market for the time being, and in consequence the offerings from firsthands are not large. The receipts were 2,612 packages.

A feature of the cheese trade was the increasing scarcity of colored cheese and buyers in some cases found it impossible to fill their requirements and especially so of Eastern made goods owing to the fact that the demand from English ...porters had been principally for them and the market has been well cleaned up of such. There was some business done over the cable, and there was also a demand from spot buyers. The receipts were 4,964 boxes.

TIENSTIN, June 15.—(Canadian Press).—Twenty looters were executed here Wednesday. Sporadic fighting between gunmen and police took place in various districts with numerous casualties.

TERRIBLE CARNAGE

LONDON, June 15.—(Canadian Press).— Tiestin dispatch to the Evening News says that the city was the scene of terrible looting and carnage Wednesday night in disorders carried on by gunmen following the surrender of the city by northerners.

The streets and the river Pei Ho were strewn with dead and feeling in Tienstin was reported tense in fear of a repetition of the outrages.

District Churches

ST. JOHN'S, LAKEFIELD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, June 15.—On Sunday morning last, Rev. W. J. Creighton addressed his parishioners in St. John's Church on the Synod which concluded recently in Toronto. While in the Synod meetings, which are the business meetings of the diocese, the question of dollars and cents looms largely, nevertheless, the devotional element is even more prominent, and one who has ever attended one cannot forget the inspiration of the Synod service.

This year it was on a more impressive scale than usual, owing to the celebration in connection with the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the diocese. It was held in St. Paul's church, the largest in Toronto, and the procession formed in the school house and marched in a procession to the church, headed by the vested choir of about one hundred and fifty, with the lay readers, church officials and about two hundred priests and, last of all several bishops, including the Lord Bishop of the diocese. A glorious company and a steadfast witnessing for Christ. The preacher was Bishop Roper, Lord Bishop of Ottawa, who delivered a splendid address to the congregation which crowded the vast edifice.

Then there was also at Massey Hall the pageant of the Church's history, prepared by the W.A. for the anniversary celebration. This was a truly wonderful production, entailing an enormous amount of work and preparation.

It began with the establishment of Christianity in Britain by Joseph of Arimithea, who brought there, legend teaches us, the Holy Grail, or Cup, used by Our Lord at the Last Supper. He and his companions rested at Glastonbury and there built the first Christian church in the British Isles. Later, the heathen Angles and Saxons drove out the church to the mountains of Wales and to Scotland, and ruled the land. Then came the interest awakened in Gregory, afterwards Pope Gregory the Great, in the beautiful Anglo-Saxon slaves in Rome which led to the sending forth of St. Augustine and his band of monks who landed in Kent and established a church at Canterbury. The arrival of St. Augustine's monks chanting as they came was excellently portrayed.

Then is followed down the ages to the Reformation, with a realistic picture of the burning of the martyrs; then was shown the Church carried to Canada's shores in Nova Scotia, when Bishop Ingles, last rector of Trinity Church, New York, under British rule, left the States with the United Empire Loyalists, and became the first Anglican Bishop in Canada. Coming nearer home the pageant depicted the founding of the diocese of Toronto and its bishop, the valiant John Strachan, who established later the first Synod. The first Synod meeting was shown with the clergy and laity in the quaint raiment of those days.

Last of all came the vision of the future when a vast procession of Eskimoes, Indians, Japanese, Chinese, Jews, etc., all marched forward under the banner of the cross, representing the hope of Christendom—the world for Christ. Through it was music, beautiful music, with the theme "From age to age the Pilgrim Church goes on," predominant.

ENTERING POLITICS.

The Maharajah of Burdwan, who is now taking a political course at the Philip Stott College, near Northampton, England, hopes to become a member of the British parliament. Mr. Saklatvala is the only Indian in the House at present, and should he ever be elected the maharajah will be the second Indian M.P. in the English House.

Author of "Humoresque", "A President Is Born"

Was O'Day about to crown a beggar maiden? asked the dowagers.

Was the true man beginning to assert himself? Was he at heart a knave, a procurer, a scoundrel? "What a fairy tale!" said the romanticists.

MR. JOHN O'DAY knew very well what people said of him. He knew that he was regarded as a rich eccentric of an old bachelor. He knew that mothers of eligible daughters said he was cold, selfish and doomed to a life of loneliness. He knew all the stock talk that went the rounds of what should have been his social circle, regarding the fact that he chose to live alone in the stone house he had inherited from his parents. He knew that the men with whom he had gone to college, and had since matured into fathers of families and heads of homes, regarded him with a curious mixture of contempt and envy.

He had no illusions about his standing in the community, and as the years rolled on, he became more and more a rich eccentric. Finally, the mothers of eligible daughters left off seriously considering him. His invitations, because he so consistently refused them, began to fall off. Finally they practically ceased.

When O'Day was about forty-seven, he was almost literally the recluse that he seemed so set on becoming. He came and went alone. He drove alone. He travelled alone. He dined alone. He attended theatres alone.

As the vast business which he had inherited became so systematized and automatically efficient that it required less and less of his time, he took to spending more hours at home, alone in his vast library or among his art objects, or at chess-practice before a beautiful ivory and mother-of-pearl set that he had brought back from one of his journeys to Siam.

He was always meaning to cultivate a chess-crony upon whom he might try out his potential game, but the years marched on and except for the three servants he had inherited along with his household, his life went on in solitary fashion.

NOT that O'Day was lonely. His days passed all too quickly. He was a man of regular habits and careful routine. He dined at set hours, rested at regular intervals, attended the opera or the theatre on specific evenings, and every night, at precisely seven o'clock, descended the curving marble staircase of his mansion, immaculate in evening clothes, and accepted his gleaming cocktail from the butler, who met him at the entrance of the dining room, and then took his place at the head of the table, which gleamed with a rich array of damask, crystal and silver.

No, so far as he was able to judge, life was not a lonely business for John O'Day. He was too busy keeping it in routine.

There was one lapse in the schedule of his orderliness. Not that O'Day himself ever realized it, beyond the fact that he was making an exception to the impassibility of his schedule. Among the prim virtues that O'Day numbered, was the rather considerable one of the bent toward philanthropy. His charities were numerous. He sat on the board of directors of two philanthropic organizations and at least one large hospital depended largely upon his endowments for existence.

It was doubtless out of these ingredients in his makeup that there occurred a little personal contact which he saw fit to cultivate with an old man named Remus, who, ever since O'Day could remember, had been a "white wing" street cleaner on the sedate block of the O'Day home.

OLD Remus had seen him grow from a careful little boy in black velvet and curls to the incumbent of the O'Day millions. For probably forty years he had watched the comings and goings of the head of this house until he knew them by heart. In all that period, there had scarcely been more than the morning and evening salute, or an exchange of observations about the weather or a comment on such happenings as the lateness of spring or an eclipse of the sun.

It was after these casual exchanges had gone on between Remus and John O'Day over practically a lifetime that, quite suddenly, out of a clear sky, even to himself, John O'Day, stepping out of his automobile one evening about five o'clock, when old Remus was giving his final sweep to the urbstone, invited him into the house.

If ever there was a stunned household, it was the one which revolved bewilderedly about the master as he and the white wing sat in the austere library and discussed topics of the day. For the first time probably in the history of O'Day dinners, the roast was burned. It is probable that O'Day himself was as taken aback as his servants. He had not only had an impulse; he had obeyed it.

That was the beginning. Every so often, thereafter, Remus stepped into the house for a quaff of port and an exchange of current topics with O'Day. He was a garrulous old man, well up on the quick journalism of events and given to observations that were of an astonishingly shrewd nature. Sometimes he brought forth from his "white wing" pockets a heap of clippings from the daily tabloids, clippings that had to do with crop conditions, coal strikes and especially the rubber industry, in which business the O'Day family had been for generations.

OLD Remus was somewhat of a "character." He lived in a cottage in Staten Island, in which all his children had been born. Sometimes he brought O'Day a cutting from his garden, a bit of white geranium or one of cerise color which he was particularly proud of having cultivated. His youngest daughter's name was Geranium. He was fond of telling O'Day about her.

And then, one night, there occurred what amounted to cataclysm in the O'Day household. Remus brought Miss Geranium to dine with John O'Day. For the first time in probably thirty years, O'Day announced to his servants that he was dining informally. At seven o'clock, he descended the marble staircase in a business suit. Old Remus and Miss Geranium awaited him in the drawing room.

There were cocktails and, for the first time, Miss Geranium, who was twenty-two and had hair with a bit of geranium red in it, sipped one with her eyes screwed shut and her small nose averted from the fumes. When old Remus and his daughter dined at the O'Day table, the proportions of the dining-room seemed to dwarf them. They made Miss Geranium, whose feet at best cleared the floor by two inches, seem almost incredibly miniature, like a bisque figurine.

There was nothing any too informal about Miss Geranium. She wore a white organdie dress cut round at the neck with a ruffle of muslin around it and a gold heart on a thin chain around her throat and a turquoise ring on her finger and a blue bow at somewhat startling variance with the hair that had some of the geranium red in it.

She was loquacious in a manner that stunned O'Day, who could never have dreamed it possible that so much vernacular could flow from those tender-looking lips. Miss Geranium, who clerked in a Five- and Ten-Cent Store, knew life from an angle which amazed and fascinated and she was free with her observations. She had reverence for little and curiosity concerning everything. Sometimes her father reproved her loquaciousness, as he saw O'Day's eyes widen in wonder as he looked and listened. But invariably O'Day nodded for her to go on. She fascinated him.

AND then the romancers began to romance. As old Remus and his daughter continued from time to time to invade the sanctity of the O'Day household, the servants began to whisper among themselves and the news began to spread out among the dowagers, and the simple fact that sometimes the old street cleaner and his daughter came to dine with the eccentric millionaire bachelor took on fantasy and even suspicion.

Was O'Day about to crown a beggar maiden or was the true man beginning to assert himself? Was he at heart a knave, a procurer, a scoundrel?

It was inevitable that everything which touched O'Day's life should become routinized. After a while, Tuesday was the particular evening on which old Remus and his daughter came to dine. It was no longer necessary to inform the servants. On that evening, O'Day descended the marble staircase in a business suit and awaiting him in the French drawing room were old Remus in his patched day-clothes, and his daughter Geranium, in the white organdie dress with the muslin ruffle and the blue bow in her hair.

"WHAT a fairy tale story for the street cleaner's daughter!" said the romanticists.

As a matter of fact, the street cleaner's daughter, who was engaged to be married to an iceman as handsome as a sheik, granted these weekly evenings to O'Day grudgingly and without enthusiasm.

As a matter of fact, O'Day, who regarded the girl as vulgar and ineffably cheap, continued to have them only because, without realizing it, he was desperately lonely for the contacts of any human society.

Under the guise of philanthropy, it pleased him to play fairy godfather to the street cleaner and his daughter.

As for old Remus and Geranium, when Tuesday evening came around and they were loath to leave the informal gayety of the rough-and-tumble household in Staten Island, they told each other solemnly that it was kindness to go dine with John O'Day, who was lonely and needed them.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Thos who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia, especially prepared for stomach use.

IS OLDEST CHURCH

MIDDLETOWN, N.J., June 15.—Two hundred and sixty years ago, a few of the first white settlers gathered at the cabin of John Stout and organized a Baptist congregation. The event was celebrated the other day by members of that church. The present building has stood since 1832.

Toronto Market Quiet With Trend Downward

TORONTO June 15. — Canadian Press. — Trading was quieter on the Toronto stock exchange to-day, with prices still tending downwards. Among the listed stocks practically all were lower but firmness was shown by some of the unlisted issues. International nickel, though still the leader, was not as active as yesterday and was down a point at 92, while Brazilian also showed a falling off in activity and was down 1¼ at 54¾. Page Hersey advanced ⅜ to 95 3-4 and Massey Harris gained ½ to 38½. Hayes wheels at 28 was up a point.

The oils were firm, Imperial gaining ⅛ to 65½ and British American remaining unchanged at 36¾. International Petroleum was down ¼ at 39½.

Canada Malting at 33 3-8 was down a fraction while the rights dropped 5 to 20. Seagrams was up ¼ at 19 and Walker's at 56½ was down ¼.

Royal Bank dropped 5 to 375. The other bank stocks were unchanged.

Mine Trading Irregular With Losses in Majority

TORONTO, June 15.— (Canadian Press.)—The market on the standard stock and mining exchange was irregular, the losses outnumbering the gains. Noranda was again the feature stock of the day, although the gain of 40 at 37.00 was not as large as yesterday's. There were no spectacular gains or losses. The greatest advance was Pend Oreille's gain of 95 at 14.25. The western stocks were all unchanged or up. Sherritt Gordon was up 15 at 6.00. Sudbury Basin was a gainer by 25 at 10.00. Central Manitoba and Big Missouri were unchanged at 1.25 and 1.50. Most of the higher priced stocks were up except Lake Shore, which was down 15 at 23.00. Hollinger recorded a gain of 25 at 14.25. Heavy trading and a general drop in price characterized the transactions in the lower priced stocks. Newbec was down three at 43 and Bidgood and Barry Hollinger were also down two at 81 and 80.

Lower Prices For Wheat At Chicago and Liverpool

CHICAGO, June 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Lower prices for wheat went hand in hand early to-day with the comparative weakness of quotations at Liverpool. Auspicious crop advices from Canada and favorable weather for domestic wheat counted as an additional bearish influence. Opening at 1-8 cent. off to 7-8 cent. up, Chicago wheat later showed declines all around. Corn and oats were easy, with corn starting at 1-8 cent down to 1-8 cent up and subsequently undergoing a moderate general setback.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 139 1-8, September 141 1-8. Corn, July 100 7-8, September 99 ⅝. Oats, July 53 1-8, September 46.

Buying Of Oil Shares Checks Sharp Reaction

NEW YORK, June 15.— (Canadian Press.)— Heavy buying of the oil shares, particularly the Standard Oil group, checked a sharp reaction in to-day's stock market. Opening gains of one to seven points were wiped out by a general selling movement just before mid-day and in many cases turned into losses. The market was headed upward again in the early afternoon. Trading was light, indicating that many traders and small speculators had withdrawn from the market.

Call money was plentiful, rate shaded to 5¼ in the outside market.

Further withdrawals of Gold for shipment to france in connection with that country's stabilization sent New York Federal Reserve ratio to 67.2 per cent. No change was made to-day in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate of 4½ per cent setting at rest for at least another week fears of an increase to 5 per cent. level. Atlantitc Refining after dropping six points to 120 3-8, rallied to 127½. Standard Oils of California, New Jersey and New York moved up one to two points.

very little done until just recently to replace these useful trees with others that were as good or better than the originals. The failure to conserve our good nut trees has been the source of much regret to the writer and others who saw the possibilities of these trees for contributing to our pleasure and profit. This situation generated a desire to help save our best nut trees and extend their culture so that the boys and girls of the future might enjoy some of the pleasure of nutting time. Besides this there was a vision of the possibilities of ultimately producing in Canada a fair portion of the nuts we now import from various foreign countries.

After many years of patient waiting an opportunity presented itself to express in a practical manner the desire formed in boyhood days. In 1921 a definite plan of nut cultural studies was therefore prepared and entered upon. This work was directed along four main lines as follows: (1) a survey of Ontario to determine the distribution of the native and introduced kinds and the location of the best individual trees of each species; (2) the improvement of ordinary native species by top-working with scions of superior varieties; (3) introduction of the best varieties of hardy species from foreign countries; (4) educational work by means of lectures, press articles and exhibitions of Canadian-grown nuts.

Owing to pressure of other work and to the lack of definite appropriation to cover nut cultural investigation, there has been comparatively little time available for this work. Notwithstanding these limitations, some valauble and interestin data have been obtained, particularly with reference to the number of species adapted to our climatic conditions. A summary of these data shows that many species may be grown in Ontario or other parts of Canada and that some of these have considerable economic value.

Many Species Grow in Canada.

The number of introduced and native species found in Canada is much larger than was anticipated and includes more than 40 kinds occurring as pure species or hybrids. In the list of pure species there are seven walnuts, five hickories, four chestnuts, six hazels, two pines and one each of almond, ginkgo and beech.

Besides these pure species several hybrids have been found in Ontario or in territory having similar climatic conditions. These hybrids include six walnuts, three hickories, two chestnuts and one hazel. Not all of these hybrids are of value, but some, however, are promising either because of rapid growth, beauty of form or foliage, precocity of bearing or productiveness. In most cases these hybrids were produced by nature without any assistance from man and were made between parent types of only ordinary character .Notwithstanding these conditions some are of real value and indicate the possibility of still greater improvement, provided the best parent types were used to begin with.

HAS SMOKERS' ACADEMY

PARIS, June 14.—An academy of smokers is being organized in Paris, with women as some of the charter members. The greatest drag on the organization just now is the question of whether women should smoke pipes. Henri Duvernois, author, leads the opposition and also contends that women should not smoke cigars.

A. B. BURROWS IS PRESIDENT

Elected at Annual Meeting of Smith and Lakefield S. S. Association.

FINE ADDRESSES GIVEN

(Examiner Correspondence)

The Sunday School convention of South Smith and Lakefield was held in Selwyn Baptist Church on Tuesday last. The president, Wilbert Roseborough, was in the chair. The Rev. J. B. McCormack of Lakefield gave an address of welcome, after which the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Max Archer, read the minutes.

Rev. S. A. Kemp of Lakefield gave a very fine address on the teachers' text book, "The Bible." He said the Bible was to us the very word of God, and that we were not to be disturbed in our thinking by the German Radical criticisms as that was passing, and that theologians were coming back to the more conservative view of the Bible. He emphasized the following points: The Bible was a living book, a life-giving book, and an imperishable book.

The provincial representative, Rev. R. W. Seamore, spoke on religious education, taking the religious aspect of the subject for his afternoon talk, reserving the educational side of the subject for his evening discourse. He pointed osong service led by Mr. Will fronting the people of Canada in having to received every year thousands of immigrants from South Eastern Europe, whose religious beliefs and customs were so different from their own. This was followed by a conference, in which many of the delegates took part.

The evening session opened with a song service led by Mr. Will Paul. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. T. M. Wesley, Lakefield.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. B. Burrows, Lakefield; Vice President, Joseph Mann, Bridgenorth; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Max Archer of Smith; Superintendent of Girls' Work, Mrs. S. A. Kemp; Boys' Work, A. C. Huston, Lakehurst; Young People's Work, Serman Sweetin; Adult Department, Fred Bell; Home Department, Mrs. A. Northey; Temperance, A. B. Burrows; Teacher Training, Rev. T. M. Wesley; Missionary Department, Miss M. Swinton. It was agreed to have the next convention at Lily Lake. A temperance address was delivered by Rev. J. B. McCormack, who stressed the evils of intemperance and the benefits of temperance in a strong and stirring speech.

Fitting references were made to the impending departure of Rev. J. V. McNeely of Bridgenorth, who has accepted a call to the pastorate of Keene United Church.

The closing address of the convention was delivered by Rev. R. M. Seamore, who stressed the need for religious education in order to the growth of indviduals and nations. He said the home should be the first and most important educational agency, where the child should learn the lesson of love.

The Sunday School and the church should teach the Brotherhood of man. In any true educational system religious faith was essential. Surroundings create atmosphere, and atmosphere affects character. The installation of the new officers was in charge of Rev. J. V. McNeely, who read the scriptures and offered prayer, after which he called on the Rev. W. S. Edgar, the country president, to make the installation speech, which he did in a few well-chosen words. The right hand of fellowship was then extended to the new officers by Rev. J. V. McNeely, Rev. W. S. Edgar, and Mr. T. A. Sergeant, the county secretary-treasurer.

Special music was rendered by a choir under the leadership of Rev. McCormack, while solos were sung in fine style by Mrs. Burroughs and Mrs. Bell.

The ladies of the Selwyn churches entertained the delegates to supper at the interval.

The following resolution was submitted by Rev. Mr. Edgar and seconded by Rev. S. A. Kemp:

"Whereas, in view of the fact that the liquor control act has failed to and systematic temperance instruc-denced by the increased drunkenness in our midst, therefore, be it resolved, that this group of the Ontario Religious Education Council met in annual session in Selwyn Baptist church, call upon the leaders of the Sunday School Council to institute in all our Sunday Schools definite and systematic temparance instruction and to urge our people to demand Dominion wide prohibition of liquor as a beverage and call upon them to use every legitimate means in their power to secure same."

Whippet SIX!

Now On Our Showroom Floor!

REVOLUTIONIZING all standards of six-cylinder motor car value, the new Whippet Six is, in many respects, the most amazing car of the year.

It offers an array of mechanical features worthy of a Six costing two to three times as much.

It is powered by a high-compression motor that through many months of test has proved what great strides have been made in automotive engineering by Willys-Overland.

The new Whippet Six is smooth, silent, powerful, flexible; it is exhilaratingly lively.

Long, low-swung bodies in harmonious lacquers, and smart interiors, give an air of custom car luxury that will evoke your admiration.

See the Whippet Six—beyond any question the most valuable car in its price field.

The New Whippet Six

A motor car backed by a series of Gruelling Performance Tests in which it set up a New World's Record for Cars under $1200

MOTOR-WISE BUYERS are no longer accepting claims. They want facts, not fancies. Actual tests—not loose talk.

For that reason the new Whippet Six was put to the most rigid tests before offering it to the public. It broke all speed and endurance records for cars listed in Canada under $1200.

Chick Murray, Internationally known racing driver, made the tests with a strictly stock Whippet Six Coach at Indianapolis, March 17, 1928. Each run was officially timed and checked, and an affidavit furnished. Here are the results:

24-HOUR RUN—1375.5 miles at an average speed of 56.52 miles per hour (elapsed time). To maintain this speed it was necessary for the new Whippet Six to go at least 65.67 miles per hour—thus breaking all speed records in its price class.

HIGH SPEED RUN—50 miles in 47 minutes 37.14 seconds. An average of 63 miles per hour.

SECOND GEAR RUN—150 miles in 4 hours, at an average speed of 37.5 miles per hour.

ECONOMY RUN—123.6 miles at an average speed of 25.5 miles per hour, using only 5 carefully measured gallons of gasoline, or an average of 24.7 miles per hour.

The various models of this record-breaking car are on display at our showrooms to-day. Come in and inspect them.

LARGER SCHOOL TO GIVE PUPILS VARIED COURSES

Collegiate Will Provide Education Preparatory to Many Occupations.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING

Sound Basis to be Provided for Those Entering Any Sphere of Work.

Few parents realize just what opportunities the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School offers to their children to-day. Peterborough for years has felt the need of a vocational training school, and at last the highest hopes of those who have worked towards that end have been attained, and at the opening of the fall school season, Peterborough's new Vocational School will be opened to all who wish to attend.

The Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational Training School includes both Collegiate and Vocational Departments. It, therefore, offers to entrance candidates a broad range of subjects of study. The choice which each boy and girl makes of the course to be pursued is an extremely important undertaking, for on it may depend success or failure not only in school life but in after years. Hence it is most necessary to arrive at a correct decision at the very beginning of the high school work.

Academic Courses.

The Collegiate Department offers four courses and is essentially for those who wish to become public or high school teachers, lawyers, doctors, dentists, druggists, architects and engineers. The Teacher's courses requires four years in the Collegiate Institute for those wishing to become Second Class Public School teachers, and five years for those who wish to become First Class Public School teachers. This course leads to the Normal School.

The Matriculation course, pass and honour, requires four and five years respectively. The Teachers and Matriculation Course is a combination of two courses, and for those who desire a general high school education without any special object in view there is also a special course.

Vocational Training.

The Vocational Department which is added to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute is the answer to the growing demand that our secondary schools offer preparatory courses not only to those entering the professions, but also to that larger group who will find their way in trade, commerce and industry.

The Canadian census on occupations for 1921 states that there were 1,042,298 persons engaged in manufacturing, construction and trade; that is to say out of a total of 3,173,169 gainfully employed, about 32 per cent. were engaged in work requiring industrial training. Therefore it is safe to assume that about one-third of the children at present in school will eventually find their way into industrial employment. Either they must arrive there ignorant of what is expected or it follows that industrial education must be studied and developed in the most thorough manner in order that it may prove effective in preparing this large body of workers to render efficient service and to attain their own greatest success.

Of the 600 or more pupils attending the Collegiate Institute only a small per cent. continue to the end and graduate. Each year many drop out. Some drift into "blind alley" jobs; some have to earn money to swell the family budget; some find the collegiate course too hard or complain that the subjects have no relation to the occupations they wish to follow. Statistics show that even a large percentage of those who enter university never finish. Commerce and manufacture are making ever-increasing demands on the youth of this young country. The great need is for intelligent and industrious workers in the home, on the farm, in the shop and factory and in the store. The new school, with its wide range courses will greatly increase the standard of usefulness of all those who attend.

With the Vocational course parents now can feel satisfied and confident that the sacrifice entailed in keeping their children at school until the completion of the high school course will be fully compensated in wider opportunities that will be open to them and the greater likelihood of success and advancement.

Good Grounding Given.

The Education Department insists that the elements of a good general high school education must not be neglected in the Vocational school. During the first two years at least half the time must be spent in English, Canadian and British History, Civics, Economics, Arithmetic, Geography and Elementary Physics. The other half of the time will be devoted to draughting, applied mathematics and science and practical work in shop, laboratory, kitchen, dressmaking or millinery rooms. In the third years those aiming at particular trades will be allowed to specialize in them.

Three years are required from the time of passing the Entrance Examinations to complete a course in the Vocational Department. This department offers three courses. The Commercial course is planned to meet the needs of boys and girls looking forward to employment in commercial occupations. It also gives a general high school education.

The Household Arts course gives girls a three years' training in the science of homemaking and household economics. Women today are gradually enlarging their sphere of activity, and the importance of a good general high school training along some particular lines is admitted by everyone. The course is in two parts, a general education and a vocational or special training in cookery, dressmaking, millinery, home nursing, and home management and art.

The Industrial course for boys includes a general high school education, and a training in the fundamental operations and process of any vocation the boy may choose. The course does not aim to turn out the finished product, that is a journeyman. The Journeyman's course is based upon repetition of operation, and if boys were kept in school until such skill was developed the cost would be prohibitive. The boy who spends three or even two years in this course should develop very quickly into a very competent workman who will advance rapidly.

Night Vocational Classes for those who are engaged during the day will be held. During the past few years these classes have flourished, but they have been handicapped by lack of a central building and equipment.

COLORED SNAPS NOT MADE HERE YET

F. L. Roy Has Heard of Films To Make Colored Pictures.

Official information concerning the possibility of taking colored snapshots in the ordinary camera has not yet reached Peterborough, according to Fred L. Roy, local photographer. The idea, like perpetual motion, keeps cropping up from time to time, but nothing definite has been received about the newest scheme discovered in England. The new idea seemed to be the nearest approach to success of any and Mr. Roy, who is leaving for England in a few weeks, is going to investigate this new invention that promises to open up a wide and delightful field for the amateur photographer.

A report from London claims this has already been perfected and that snapshots can be taken with the same ease as the ordinary black and white snap, in the regular camera, by a special film at only three and a half times the cost of the usual film.

In England the amateur can buy a special film, give one exposure at 75th of a second in reasonable light, producing simultaneously three negatives approximately, blue, sensitive to be printed in red, and red sensitive to be printed in blue.

He can send the films through ordinary agencies to be developed at service stations established by the new company, and in due time he will receive as many snapshots in color as he wishes. If he likes to do his own developing and printing, he can purchase the materials and produce his own results with no more material than the average amateur printer has.

Photographs of seagulls in flight taken at an exposure of 1-75th of a second in February; street scenes; marine subjects, and a snapshot of ing Amanullah during his recent visit to the Royal Air Force display at Hendon, have turned out perfectly. They have a more pleasing result than those obtained by blockmakers and color printers using new methods but with their usual work in touching up the plates.

The simple solution for which inventors have been striving for more than fifty years seems to have been found. Notwithstanding the hundreds of patents which have been filed until now, there has been no system by which an amateur could use film or plates in his own camera, from which snapshots reproducible on paper could be made. There is, as always in a new science, a long history of invention and experiment, but the new system is the product of a small group of scientific and business men who have combined their resources for several years and had a laboratory at work for two years.

The scientific advisory committee has included H. O. Klein, a well-known authority on photo-chemistry, who did valuable work during the war in the manufacture of photographic scales for optical instruments; Thorne Baker, R.R.C.S., a specialist on photographic emulsions; D. L. C. Martin, of the Department of Optics at the Imperial College of Science, and Major Klein, color adviser to the Calico Printers' Association, who did important work on camouflage during the war.

Warsaw

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, June 15. — Mrs. Frank Patterson left Warsaw on Sunday morning. She was accompanied by eighteen relatives and friends as far as Toronto. Five motors took the party. The party included: Mrs. John Tucker, Misses Elsie and Della Tucker, Hilliard Darling, Mr. and Mrs. James Clifford.

Mrs. Patterson and children left Toronto at nine o'clock Sunday evening. The friends returned to Warsaw on Monday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bell (nee Mary Tucker), their eldest daughter, Aletta, and the youngest son, Donald, who had motored from Leamington. Mrs. Bell will visit her old friends around Warsaw for some time.

Mr. V. B. Coleman, his two sons and little daughter motored from Port Hope on Saturday afternoon and visited Mr. and Mrs. David Miller.

Mr. Jacob Henry Payne, Lakefield, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Laporte visited Mrs. Laporte's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clements on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dunford and Mr. Somers came home on Sunday evening. Mrs. Duckworth (nee Helen Dunford) and her three children accompanied them.

William Davis has bought Mrs. Chamberlain's (nee Maud Calder) house.

LIVING GERMS INJECTED

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 15 (Canadian Press). — That living disease germs were accidentally injected into children by the administration of anti-diphtheria serum, is suggested in the report of the Royal Commission which inquired into the deaths of twelve children at Bundaberg, Queensland, last January. The case created a sensation throughout Australia.

DOURO, June 15.—The play entitled "Turning the Trick" was well presented in Harmony Hall on Thursday night, June 7. There was a large crowd present.

The many friends of Mrs. Jessie Hayes are glad to learn that she has recovered from her recent illness.

Mrs. John Blackburn is visiting her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cane were in Douro on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Clancey, Miss Helen and Mr. Michael Clancey and Mr. Ray Bacon were Sunday visitors to Mrs. Elizabeth Clancey, in the village.

Mr. Patrick G. Towns and sons, William and Joseph, Michael and John Sheehan, Patrick O'Grady, Charles Towns, Daniel Kennedy, Joseph O'Connor, and Edward Sullivan attended the wake of Maurice O'Brien in Peterborough on Sunday evening.

The farmers are finishing up by sowing their corn. It is much later than other years but the season was cool.

Some of the side roads are being graded.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

GARRETT FOLSOM is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N.J.

Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and it had been bought on the boardwalk.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichaq.

Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room.

Croydon Sears' initials are discovered in a notebook of Folsom's and Pelton thinks his uncle had been doing some blackmailing. ROBIN SEARS, Croydon's son, is worried now that suspicion is resting on his father. Riggs tells him he has learned that Croydon Sears had purchased a third dagger.

ANGELICA FAIR, Robin's fiancee, questions ROSS, the dead man's former valet, who tells her he thinks Sears had visited at Folsom's home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV.

"You think! Don't you know? Don't you know whether Croydon Sears was ever at Mr. Folsom's home?" Angelica Fair insisted.

"He was once, to my knowledge," replied Ross.

"What was the occasion?"

"It was a sort of reception, Miss Fair. Mr. Folsom was having a small exhibition of his art treasures. You know, Mr. Folsom traveled a lot and collected many things such as interest Mr. Sears. I remember seeing him at that time, but I'm not sure of any other time, Miss."

"Oh, well, I don't suppose it matters. I don't believe I know much about detective work. And anyway, I don't believe Mr. Sears killed Mr. Folsom, do you?"

"I shouldn't think so, ma'am," and with that they were in sight of the Majusaca and Angel scurried off to her bathhouse.

As Robin Sears and Riggs entered the auction room, it was Robin who took the lead.

Demanding the proprietor, in a tone which brought him a warning nudge from Riggs, he asked for a private interview.

On learning who he was, this was readily granted, and Mr. Giddings, who represented the absent Mr. Barchester, took them into a private office.

"I'd like to know," Robin began, "if you'd be good enough to tell me of all the knives or daggers my father has bought here."

"I can tell you of most of them," was the reply, "but some small items are sold in bundles, as we call them, and so are not recorded individually."

"I should think an antique dagger of sufficient importance to be recorded," Robin said, and, as the fire in his eye was growing brighter under the irritation of the other's suavity, Riggs took a hand.

"Never mind the value or importance of the sale," he suggested, "just tell us what your records charge to Mr. Croydon Sears."

The list was interesting, though not long, and the net result of information was that Croydon Sears had bought, in all, six daggers of antique Oriental workmanship.

Robin was amazed, for he knew of only the two that were acknowledged at the inquest.

But he preserved a quiet sternness now; indeed, the young face grew more composed as the situation seemed to acquire seriousness.

"The police have interviewed you as to all this?" he asked of Mr. Giddings.

"Many times, especially in the last twenty-four hours."

"Why so much questioning?" put in Riggs.

"Because they want to be sure that it was Mr. Sears who bought the dagger that killed Mr. Folsom," Giddings replied, straight-forwardly. "Of course, that needn't mean that Mr. Sears used it," he added quickly as he noted Robin's face.

"No, it needn't," said that young man with quiet simplicity.

"And have the police assured themselves?" asked Riggs.

"We can't be positive," Gidding returned. "When Mr. Sears came the second time that evening he was not so much interested, for the sales were of small lots or single pieces of small value. But he did pick up two or three numbers, one of which contained an old pichaq."

"Then why isn't that positive?" broke in Robin quickly.

"Because there was another bundle or lot sold, which also contained an old pichaq, and no one can say which was the weapon later exhibited at the inquest."

"I see," said Robin, thoughtfully. "And who bought the other bundle?"

"That we can't say. It was a stranger, and his name, though given, has been found to be fictitious."

"Then he's your murderer!" cried Robin. "Of course, he'd give a fictitious name, and, on the other hand, do you suppose my father would be such a fool as to buy a dagger here where he is well known and then go out and kill somebody with it?"

Mr. Giddings only murmured polite words that sounded well but meant nothing, and the two went away and walked slowly toward home.

"You see," began Robin eagerly, but the other stopped him.

"Listen here, boy," Riggs said. "Say all you like to me, or to your father, or to your sweetheart, but don't air your views on detection in public."

"Why not?"

"Just for one reason: that they are invariably wrong. For instance, the buyer of that bundle giving a fictitious name doesn't write him down a murderer at all. He may be an antique dealer in a small way, who, if he gave his real name and had his purchases traced, could not put upon them the exorbitant prices which he no doubt plans to do. Next, granting your father bought that dagger, and subsequently chose to use it on somebody, that would not prove him a fool, because whoever did that killing depended on the sea to hide forever the weapon of his guilt, not realizing that it would almost inevitably be found."

"Then he WAS a fool."

"No, I should have thought myself that the heavy metal would have been ground into the sand forever."

"Next, Riggs, old man," Robin said, his jaws set like a fighter, "we go straight to Croydon Rochester Sears with this tale."

"We?"

"Yes, sir, we."

And so, on reaching the Hotel Majusaca, two somewhat harassed looking sleuths demanded and obtained audience with C. R. S.

"Why the length of face?" Sears asked, looking at his son.

"Be seated, my friend, and I'll tell you," returned Robin, looking back at him affectionately.

They all sat down, and now and then prompted or corrected by Tite Riggs, Robin gave his father a strict and full account of the interview with the auctioneer.

As the tale finished, Croydon Sears sat a full five minutes thinking.

Then, reaching out his hand for a yellow pad of telegram forms which was in a pigeon hole of the desk, he wrote out a message.

"Take it down to the desk, Robin boy and send it off. Leave Tite here. Read the thing as you go down."

Robin did as bidden, and was more than slightly mystified to find the message was to his father's private secretary, and said:

"Rush Fleming Stone here as soon as possible."

Implicitly confident as Robin was of his father's innocence, it was a satisfaction to note how the elder man had looked as he grasped the situation.

To be sure, he had waited a few moments to consider; to be sure, he had sent a hurry call for a great and famous detective, but his fine, clear eyes had shown no hint of fear or shame and his face, though grave, was calm and serene as he looked at his son.

"I've sent for Stone," Croydon Sears told Riggs.

"Fleming Stone!"

"Yes. Not every one could command his services so quickly, but he and I are old friends, and I happen to know he is on vacation and I'm sure he will not only be glad to come to my assistance but he will enjoy a few days down here."

"Your assistance?" and Tite Riggs looked frankly curious.

"Yes, just that. No, Tite, I didn't murder Garrett Folsom, not that. But there are reasons, strong reasons, why I want the murderer found, the mystery solved."

Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzgerald Receive Many Gifts From Friends.

Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzgerald (nee Mary Kylie) met on Monday evening, June 11 in Hiawatha Hall to congratulate them on their recent marriage and to present them with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Peter Mather read the following address:

"Dear Mary and Jim—

"We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here on this auspicious occasion to wish you happiness and prosperity in your new life.

"We have always found you ready to give a helping hand in time of need and it is a pleasure to us to know that we shall continue to have your companionship and neighbourly assistance.

"We ask you to accept these gifts as a slight token of our esteem and in using them may they remind you of your many friends.

"With them go our best wishes for many long years of marital happiness, and may heaven shower you with as many blessings as it did with raindrops on your wedding morn."

Mr. Fitzgerald in a few words acknowledged the gifts and thanked them all for their good wishes.

The Keene orchestra supplied music for dancing and dainty refreshments were served during the course of the evening.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 15. — (Canadian Press.)—Wheat scored a substantial advance in price yesterday owing largely to buying on the part of houses with eastern and foreign connections. To a considerable extent, the purchasing was based on talk that upturns were to be expected after declines of late amounting to 34 cents a bushel. Besides, export business yesterday in wheat from North America totalled 1,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm from 1½ to 2¼ cents net higher with corn the same as Wednesday's finish to 1 1-8 cent up, oats unchanged to ¼ to ⅝ cent advance and provisions varying from 7 to 10 cents decline to a rise of five cents.

Strength which developed in the wheat market came after values had undergone downturns yesterday that were an evident result of temporary acute weakness in corn. Ideal wether throughout the corn belt had brought about selling that carried all future deliveries of corn down to below $1 a bushel and had established new low price records for the season. However, reports of Hessian fly in a number of winter wheat states tended to stimulate bullish sentiment regarding wheat and rallies were given further impetus by absence of rain in the spring crop belt as well as by the fact that higher temperatures north-west were also being looked for.

Included in yesterday's wheat export business was some No. 2 hard winter at Galveston, Texas. The price paid was 4 cents over September delivery and was quoted as free on board vessel for shipment to Europe.

Earlier here the market had been bearishly aected in some degree by statements given circulation that the new crop wheat in the Southwest would have to compete with the Canadan and United States visible supply of 120,000,000 bushels against 57,000,000 bushels last year and also the world visible of 70,000,000 bushels more than the total a year ago.

Before selling fever in corn had run its course yesterday, corn prices were in some cases 2 5-8 cents a bushel lower than Wednesday's finish. Later, helped by strength of wheat, corn quickly tilted upwards. Bulls gave emphasis meanwhile to relative scarcity of old corn and said that reports about the new corn crop had become rather too glowing. Oats followed corn.

Provisions reflected an earlier trend in hog values.

Millbrook

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, June 14. — Mrs. Henry S. McCullough held her post-nuptial reception at her home, Main street, on Friday, June 8, afternoon and evening, Mr. McCullough receiving with his wife for the occasion.

The bride, whose nome was formerly in Toronto, wore a becoming dress of silver grey crepe, with collar in stole design of fine lace, and long string of pearls.

Mrs. S. E. Eakins and Mrs. W. E. Russell were the assistants in the afternoon, and in the evening Mrs. Thomas Ingram attended the door, and introduced the many callers to the bride. Mrs. Charles Thorndyke invited the guests to the tea room where Mrs. H. McLeod poured tea, and the Misses Ruth Thorndyke and Vaneta Ingram served.

Early spring flowers centred the prettily-laid table, and as the callers came and went they were tempted to linger and enjoy fully the music and pleasant opportunity for social intercourse, in the bright, cosy rooms, in the course of the reception which was not of too formal a character.

Rev. Joseph and Mrs. Wilks left for Toronto at noon on Saturday intending to take up housekeeping in apartments in the city for the next three or four weeks. Mrs. Wilks' niece has gone to her summer home at the Island, and it is her apartments that Mr. and Mrs. Wilks will remain while enjoying a holiday, with trips to Niagara and various other points, as features of their vacation. Mr. Wilks expects to take the services in the United Church here during the pastor's holidays, beginning to preach on Sunday, July 5, unless some change in present plans is made.

Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones of Warkworth were guests of Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard at the parsonage on Friday. Mr. Jones is to be the new pastor on this circuit, exchanging with Mr. Howard, the ministers to be in their new pulpits on Sunday, July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Barrie and son, Roger of Peterborough, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen motored to Toronto this week, remaining for a few days. The many friends of Rev. Canon Allen were delighted that he was able to attend Saint Thomas' church last Sunday morning and take some part in the service, after several months' absence through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deyell, and three children, have moved into the house on Main street, recently occupied by E. H. Barnes, which is the property of Mrs. Reid Lowery, Fallis Line. Mr. Deyell has been living in the frame house on the farm homestead at Deyell's Landing, Otonabee River, but vacated this dwelling to allow his brother, Fred Deyell and family, to move in following the destruction of their large red brick home by fire last Saturday, during their absence in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe and two children, Peggy and June, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattress, for the past week, Mr. Howe finding it convenient to make his business trips eastward from this point during that time.

The congregation at Trinity church (the Marsh) intends holding its annual summertime entertainment, in the form of a pie social, in the parish hall on Thursday, June 14, at 8 p.m. The main feature of the program will be an address by Rev. F. C. Howard on his missionary experiences during five years spent among the Indians and Eskimos in the far north; there will be several musical numbers.

The flowers have been planted around the cenotaph in the town hall square for this season, the Women's Institute undertaking this piece of community service each year. Mrs. Thomas Harkness, president, and Mrs. T. H. Aiken, treasurer, were the purchasing committee and were assisted by Mrs. H. J. Armstrong and Mrs. C. C. Garside in the work of putting the plants in place when they had been delivered in town.

Mr. Dawson and Miss Audrey Leach motored from Chicago and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson, and other friends during their vacation.

Rev. Dr. W. E. Smith, of West China, who is home on furlough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harrington last week, coming here to attend the funeral of his nephew, William Allan Forsyth, which took place on Friday.

Mrs. J. W. Walsh, who has spent the winter with her son, Mr. G. B. Walsh, Toronto, is visiting her niece, Miss L. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Payne, and other friends in this vicinity. Mrs. Walsh came a little earlier than had been intended, for her summertime visit, owing to the ill health of her brother, Mr. A. Payne.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institutes of the district will be held in the town hall here on Tuesday, June 12, at 2 p.m. Delegates from the eight branches are expected, and the election of officers will take place.

Mrs. W. G. Rowland, Cedar Valley, will be hostess on Wednesday of this week for the June meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church, the group of which Mrs. J. Albert Brown is convener, being in charge.

The Orono Dramatic Club will present its play, "David Garrick," in the town hall here on Friday, June 15, under the auspices of the ladies of Grace Presbyterian church.

Doctors say—
"throat easy"

Just a few medical opinions from the large number received

On Advice of a Specialist

"On advice of a friend, a nose and throat specialist of best standing, I switched from others to 'Buckingham'. Have continued for fifteen months and find them easier on throat than any other cigarette I know".

Most Perfectly Blended

"Buckingham Cigarettes are the most perfectly blended of any I have smoked. They are very pleasant to taste, have a delightful aroma and are absolutely non-irritating to the throat".

The Only Ones

"They are the only cigarettes that give me a real cool smoke and do not cause throat irritation".

A Clean Bill

"Having a particularly sensitive throat, I have had difficulty in obtaining a non-irritating cigarette. 'Buckingham' fills the bill. It is perhaps more than a coincidence that none of my 'throat cases' are Buckingham-caused."

DROPPING in on a not-long married couple a few evenings ago revealed how one bride is overcoming the difficulties of cooking for two, one of the most brain-racking tasks the housewife has. "I make the usual amount of pie crust," the hostess said, "but bake only half of it in small tarts. I put the remainder in the refrigerator, and two days later have tarts again." If readers will send us ideas on this vexing problem of cooking small meals we might plan a series of articles.

"What the world sees when you smile depends on the care you give your teeth," says an advertisement that arrived this morning. And this applies not only to the use of dentifrice, but to the just-as-important dentist care. A local dentist is authority for the statement that women are realizing not only the value in appearance of regular treatment, but the saving in money over the old system of waiting for a tooth-ache to signal trouble.

In one of Peterborough's best shops there is shown an ensemble of double utility. On removing the little long-sleeved jacket one has a lovely, sleeveless, lace evening frock for dinner or dancing. It has a harmonizing crepe de chine slip, binding of satin, and on the stitched belt a rhinestone buckle; the skirt is circular and graceful.

A bond salesman who made the rounds of city offices last week remarked on the trim appearance of Peterborough's business girls. "In other places," he said, "they go in for frills and fluffs, but here I was struck by the smart and workmanlike appearance of the girls. And it doesn't detract one bit from their attractiveness!"

A salesman of another kind has been endeavoring to sell stock to women by a house-to-house canvass. Men need the advice as well as women, but because of the ridicule apt to be heaped upon the woman who is unfortunate in her flutters in investment, she should be particularly careful to have skilled advice. One's banker is usually in position to tell the worth of an investment.

"Canned sunshine" is particularly appropriate when applied to some of the comparatively new quick drying furniture finishes which any woman can use. Many of the best houses in the city now have at least one or two pieces done in one of the two-score shades, and some sun porches are nicely and appropriately outfitted with discarded furniture renovated in this way.

Social Amenities

More About Weddings.

Bertha: (1) What is the order of the bridal procession at the church? (2) Which arm does her father offer the bride? (3) Where does the groom walk? (4) What does the maid of honor do?

(1) Ushers, two by two; bridesmaids; maid of honor; the bride and her father. (2) His left (see yesterday's paper). (3) He is not part of the procession, but comes in from the vestry (see yesterday's paper). (4) She stands beside the bride, to take her bouquet while the ring is being put on her finger.

• • •

It should be noted that the order on leaving the church is different from that on entering. The bride and groom lead, the bride taking her husband's 'right' arm; the best man and the maid of honor next, followed by the bridesmaids and ushers in couples, or the ushers two and two and bridesmaids two and two, as they entered. A house wedding should conform to the church event in outline.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?

WOMAN AUTHOR IS CELEBRITY

Constance Skinner Elected Fellow of American Geographical Society.

TORONTO, Ont., June 15 (CP).—Constance Lindsay Skinner, Canadian author and poet, has recently been elected a fellow of the American Geographical Society in recognition of her articles on polar exploration. She is a daughter of the Cariboo country, having been born at Stanley, B.C., on the old Cariboo road, the daughter of a Hudson's Bay factor.

This item in the Canadian Bookman (says a Canadian author) might have had a supplementary note to the effect that Canadian literary and scientific societies and universities seem to leave the recognition of their celebrated daughters to outside countries. It is something of an anomaly to realize that Canada so entirely neglected what other countries delight in honoring outstanding work in literature. The Quebec Provincial Government seems the only one possessed of the idea that there is no sex in literature: and while its awards are pecuniary, at least it has made a noteworthy attempt to "crown" distinguished work.

WOMAN HAS LAST WORD

Doesn't Agree With Views on Spiritism Held by Dr. Rimmer.

GETS SAFE DISTANCE

TORONTO, Ont., June 15 (CP).—A lady had the last word with Dr. Rimmer at his address on "Spiritism" in Annette Street Baptist church. She arose from her seat in indignation, marched down the aisle, and turning at the door before vanishing like a spirit into thin air, hurled the parting and Parthian retort, "liar."

In confirming the incident, Dr. Rimmer said: "I was exposing the fakes of spiritists, when I saw her walk out, but did not catch her last word, but people at the door told me it was 'liar.'"

BROTHER'S CLOTHES

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

The big ship was nosing her way slowly out of the Channel on the homeward voyage—homeward at least for Connie and her brother—who stood at the rail watching the shores of England receding into the mist hanging over the Isle.

"It sure is grand and glorious to travel and see bits of the world," said Ronald, "but it's grander and more glorious to be going home again. What do you say, Sis?"

Connie snuggled her hand deeper into the warmth of her brother's tweed-clad arm and drew a long breath, half in anticipation of the home and half in rapture over the odor of that lovely tweed.

"I say the same," she laughed. "But if we hadn't been in London and seen that little shop in Fleet Street with this tweed in the window, you never would have had your adorable coats and plus fours. I simply dote on the smell of this tweed and the wetter it gets the more pungent it is."

"I'm sort of taken with it myself," said Ronny. "I'm not so sure old Dickinson will get his when we see him—I could do with both of them nicely. But since he's had the good sense to fall for you, maybe he'll get it. How long do you intend keeping the poor boob dangling after you without giving him his answer?"

Connie blushed slightly then became serious.

"Oh, I don't know, Ronny—but you and I are such good pals that I just can't stand it to think of leaving you. I don't think I could ever have such good times with another man as I do with you."

Ronny squeezed his sister's arm against his side. "Well I feel a good deal the same, old girl, especially as I'm not just too keen on Dickinson. Perhaps it's just because I don't think any man good enough for my kid sister."

And then to change the subject Connie asked, "And have you seen your cabin companions yet. I have drawn quite a charming girl from Washington."

"No—I haven't caught sight of mine. Hope he'll be a decent sort and doesn't suffer from mal-de-mer or violent snoring." He glanced at his watch. "Oh, I say, hadn't we better be going below to unpack and dress for dinner? I'll meet you somewhere along this deck before dinner."

Connie disengaged her arm from his and wished now that she too had had a coat made of the fragrant tweed. She fancied the heather-clad hills every time she sniffed it or felt its wonderful warmth.

They went below and Connie unpacked the dainty frocks she had picked up in Paris and the lovely jumper suits from London, and while she slipped into a pretty evening frock she enjoyed chatting with her cabin mate.

Later, wrapped in a soft cloak of old blue velvet and celestial fox, Connie went up on deck in search of her dearly loved brother.

Meantime, a silver wedge of moonbeam had found its way into the evening sky and had cast so radiant a path out across the water that Connie felt her spirit snatched up into a realm where earthly troubles were left behind. A pang of sadness gripped Connie for she invariably longed for a kindred soul to share these rare moments of intense happiness. She knew that Paul Dickinson, the man whom she had practically consented to marry, would never share them.

Ronny had it. He shared every exhalted moment with her and she knew, the moment he stepped up onto the deck, that his soul would be swept away too, along that ethereal moonpath that led—no one knew where.

Yes, there he was, standing rigid and intense against the railing.

Connie could tell by the line of his back and the set of his tweed coat that he was drinking in the radiance of the night. For a second only she hesitated to startle him out of his dreaming, but knowing he would enjoy it the more if she were with him she drew nearer and slipped her arm swiftly into his. "Ronny dear, isn't it glorious and wouldn't we love to walk out forever and ever across that moonpath." She snuggled against the fragrant tweed and even brushed her cheek against his shoulder. "Just you and I."

Ronny didn't move a muscle and even Connie wondered at so intense an admiration. She stirred slightly.

"I'm not Ronny but I'd love to walk on and on—over the moonpath—just you and I. I am not your brother but I wish I were."

Connie was speechless at her error and found nothing to do but just stand and wonder.

"Your brother was so kind as to insist on my wearing his coat. I had the ill luck to lose mine just before coming on board. Left it hanging in a restaurant and some chap helped himself to it." John Vance was talking almost at random for Connie's hair was like star dust and her eyes great pools of flame. "Your brother is my cabin mate. Oh, here you are, old top," he said as Ronny arrived in the second of the tweed coats.

Ronny had never seen his sister looking so abashed and lost and simply roared with amusement when the situation was made clear to him. He then introduced the two and all three then stood looking silently out over the silver moonpath.

Later, very much later that night, when all three went below, Ronny smiled softly to himself.

"Poor old Dickinson," he thought, "he'd never get 'yes' for an answer now. Love at first sight—plunged right into it through a tweed coat—and my coat at that."

ELIAS AVENUE PLAN COMPLETE

Boulevard Scheme Adopted 15 Years Ago Reaches Fruition.

LOTS ALL BUILT UP.

Elias avenue after fifteen years has proved worthy of the suggestion made by Ald. Buller at a council meeting fifteen years ago. While commenting on City Engineer Roy H. Parsons' suggestion for street improvements and plans for the beautifying of the city by the construction of curbs and boulevards, he suggested that the city begin with Elias avenue, then a new street to be opened up between Charlotte and King streets. "It has to be opened up" he said speaking fifteen years ago, "we could make it an experiment. It could be curbed and sodded, and the boulevard filled in and the people given an idea of the scheme."

To-day the street is a reality. It is one of the prettiest in the city, with its wide boulevards and regular curbs. What the city attempted to do fifteen years ago to eliminate a lot of curbing at irregular distances from the street, giving the street a zig-zag appearance, has been performed and a regular line of curbing on each side gives the street a straight and neat appearance.

The houses are among the most attractive in the city. There are no two houses that resemble each other, the distinctiveness which lends to the appearance of the street. Varying as they do from bungalows to larger houses, all with well kept lawns and many with shrubbery, they attract attention and give just cause for favorable comment.

On the east side of the street a majestic elm tree has escaped the ruthless rush of the age. When the sidewalk was laid out the contractor had his plans fixed so that a detour around the tree resulted. Its huge form and graceful branches are a real asset to the beauty of the street.

Unfortunately at the time of the opening of the street there were few trees that could be spared. Most of them were on the building lots and had to give way to the fine residences but others were planted in their place along the boulevard on both sides of the street and now they have attained an appreciable size and the present residents of the street are reaping the benefits of the straight line of trees.

Mrs. Perrin, a resident of the street told The Examiner that every one was well satisfied with the plan. Eight years ago when they first came to the street there were many vacant lots but now there is not an available lot for building. When asked if she had heard any mention of a desire to have the street paved she answered that she had not. Another resident of the street also stated that as far as she had heard all were well satisfied. She said that she had heard of no suggestion among any of the residents of the street for pavement, but at present they needed a little oil.

The street, though not paved, is in very good condition.

Not only is the front of the street attractive, but also the back yards. Looking down the west side from Charlotte street one sees a model of back yards. The ugly board fences have been discarded and attractive wire fences have replaced them. There is a profusion of shrubbery and well kept gardens. The garages are all painted an attractive color and harmonize nicely with the rest of the surroundings.

It seems that the experiment started fifteen years ago in the city council has been a success in every way, and that the citizens of the street fully realize this is demonstrated by the pride they seem to take in the upkeep of their houses, lawns and boulevards.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, June 17th:

Sunday.

Breakfast: Coddled eggs, Melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch: Cornmeal muffins, string beans, raw celery, ripe olives.

Dinner: Roast veal, zucchini, spinach, salad of head lettuce, ice cream.

Monday.

Breakfast: French Omelet, toasted friscuit, stewed apples.

Lunch: 8-ounce glass of orange juice.

Dinner: Vegetable soup, Salisbury steak, baked egg plant, salad of tomatoes and celery, Jello, with cream.

Tuesday.

Breakfast: Wholehweat muffins, peanut butter, stewed raisins.

Lunch: Boiled new potatoes, with chopped parsley, cooked asparagus, raw carrots.

Dinner: Roast mutton, *baked ground beets, cooked celery, shredded lettuce, raspberry whip.

Wednesday.

Breakfast: Baked eggs, Melba toast, stewed figs.

Lunch: Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates.

Dinner: Baked white fish, cooked spinach and parsley, salad of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, no dessert.

Thursday.

Breakfast: Waffle browned through, crisp bacon, applesauce.

Lunch: Stewed corn, cooked lettuce, salad of raw grated beets.

Dinner: Tomato jelly served in cubes, roast pork, mashed turnips, string beans, salad of chopped raw cabbage, stewed apricots.

Friday.

Breakfast: Poached egg on Shredded Wheat biscuit, dish of berries (canned).

Lunch: 8-ounce glass of orange milk.

Dinner: Broiled filet of sole, cooked tomatoes, cooked asparagus, salad of raw celery, pineapple gelatin, no cream.

Saturday.

Breakfast: Cottage cheese, baked apple.

Lunch: Dish of fresh green peas, molded salad of celery, cucumbers, cooked beets.

Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, baked egg plant, greens, cauliflower salad, junket.

*BAKED GROUND BEETS: Cut into pieces without peeling, small tender beets and run through a food chopper. Place in a dry flat baking pan to a depth of one or two inches, and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. Brown slightly on top if desired, and season with butter and a little salt as served. An agreeable change may be made by mixing raw turnips or carrots with the beets in about half and half proportion.

Questions and Answers.

Question: Mrs. F. Z. writes: "I have been bothered with neuritis for two years. Have been to several doctors, but have not had much relief. Am very nervous and anemic. What can I do to regain my health?"

Answer: There are two principal causes of neuritis: one is a toxic condition of the blood similar to rheumatism, and the other cause is from pinched nerves somewhere between the painful part and the spinal cord. An osteopath or chiropractor can usually remove this latter cause and the toxic condition is cured by dieting, exercising, and living according to good hygienic rules.

Question: John asks: "What is your opinion of unbolted cornmeal?"

Answer: The unbolted, unrefined cornmeal is a healthful food and is placed in the starchy class the same as all grain foods. When corn-bread is used it should be taken in combination with the non-starchy vegetables, and not with meat, fish or fowl.

Question: Mrs. D. W. H. writes: "I have an upper set of false teeth. The plate cracked a few months ago and caused a slight cut on my tongue. It smarts quite a bit yet, especially at night. Do you think there is any danger of cancer?"

Answer: Any irritated spot in the body may be the seat of the growth of a cancer and therefore all such irritation should be avoided. If your saliva is normally alkaline, it furnishes an excellent antiseptic for your mouth, but at this time it might be well for you to treat the spot on your tongue with silver nitrate, mercurochrome, or some good astringent.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

For Saturday, June 16, 1928.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Benefic stars dominate to-day, according to astrology, which finds kindly planetary influences prevalent.

It is a day most favorable to intellectual activity and read as propitious for speeches, orations and addresses of every sort.

Political matters are well directed while this configuration prevails, although much criticism of personalities may be expected.

Ridicule is to be a weapon more often employed in the national campaign than is usual even in hard fought contests, it is foretold.

Again the seers call attention to the influence of Neptune and remind those less wise that this planet's influences will be strong.

Newspapers are subject to the most favorable sway and they will reap much profit this month, it is forecast.

This is held to be an unlucky rule for signing contracts or reaching agreements of any sort. Delays should be profitable.

Financiers will benefit from a world event, if the astrologers are to be believed.

All the signs appear to presage co-operation and co-ordination of big enterprises that are to benefit the west as well as the east.

Commerce is subject to stimulating and encouraging conditions that affect proportionately Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

A scandalous book or pamphlet that will arouse public feeling is foretold as an outcome of political antagonisms.

Religious prejudice will be strong in this country as well as in Mexico while this direction of the stars prevails, the seers prophesy.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a fairly happy year in which they may take a journey.

Children born on this day probably will have a gift for writing. Many journalists are born under this sign.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE ARE ALL CRANKS ON SOME THINGS.

By Mehran K. Thomson, Ph. D.
(Author, The Springs of Human Action)

Some time ago we wrote on why we are generous in some things and stingy in others. What is true regarding the pocket-book is also true of our ideas and our prejudices which often pass for ideas. We are all more or less liberal in some things and cranks on others.

We are likely to be open minded, if at all, on matters that are impersonal or that do not concern us vitally. There is an ancient proverb to the effect that lightning burns where it strikes. We stand the misfortune of other people and of our best friends tolerably well. But in matters that concern our daily bread, our religious or political convictions it is a horse of an entirely different color. The strongest prejudices of the human heart center on the things we live by.

Moreover, we all have some pet scheme or idea or reform that is especially dear to us. It may be the single tax, the prohibition amendment, anything. I know a man who admits that he is a crank and a fanatic on the subject of smoking. Fundamentalism, evolution, and psychoanalysis are subjects that furnish many cranks on both sides.

We are cranks on the subject to which we have most definitely and finally attached ourself. An attack on our pet project is an attack on us and we fight back accordingly.

The practice we get in harping on our favorite theme makes us that much more accomplished as cranks. There are habits of mind and thinking as well as habits of motor activity and of appetites. If you examine your own mind you will find a few recurring ideas that are uppermost. There is a certain mental routine that we go through comparable to the

INVENTION FAILED AT PROPER TIME

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, June 15.—George Butler, who had an eye for business, decided to go into the tow-rope market. He bought up discarded rope, cut it into lengths, treated it to make it weather-proof, and sold it to motorists.

One of the motorists who bought a Butler tow-rope tried to use it to pull his car up an embankment. The rope broke, the car smashed and the owner sued Butler for $1000.

Butler felt pretty badly about it and decided to commit suicide. How? Why, with one of the tow-ropes, of course. Next morning the janitor found Butler with a broken nose and an unbroken neck. Another tow-rope had parted, and the inventor still lives.

AUTOS FOR THIS KING'S BIG HAREM

By NEA Service.

MEDINA, June 15.—Modern civilization has made no change in the polygamous practices of the King of Arabia, but it has greatly influenced the manner in which he cares for the 24 royal wives. For many years they were taken with him on his long trips about the country by slow camel. Now they ride in $60,000 worth of motor cars.

It's no small undertaking to motor several hundred miles with 24 women and be assured that no man but their royal master will see their faces. But the king was equal to the job. He had two large automobiles built to his specifications and even if the results do look like police patrol wagons, they serve the purpose.

There are no seats in the harem cars; twelve queens sit on the floors of each one. Carpets and cushions take up some of the jolts of travelling. There are no windows, but only shuttered slots for air. Electric fans and water coolers help to keep the harem cool.

LYRICS OF LIFE

TWO ROADS

Downhill it's hard to say just when
Your feet will fare.
Your steps will go.
The uphill road has more of care,
But more you dare,
And more you know.
The down hill road has more of dream
And sunlit streams,
And starry nights.
The uphill road the harder seems,
And yet it gleams
With beacon lights.

Downhill the road may turn aside,
The road divide,
Or lead astray.
The uphill road is sanctified
With men who died
Along the way.
The downhill road's the road of ease
A road to please,
Without a goal.
The uphill road has majesties
Of peaks and trees,
And heart and soul.

Downhill the road will take you fa
From where you are
Or ought to be.
The uphill road hangs out a star,
An avatar
For men to see.
The downhill road's the danger trail
Where cowards fail
And sinners die.
The uphill road will leave the vale
And feel the gale—
But find the sky.

Keep in Line on Curves — Don't Try to Pass

CARE COURTESY COMMON SENSE

Don't risk your life on the left side of the road when you cannot see what is coming.

WHAT would you think of a railway engineer who swerved to the rails bearing traffic the opposite way? And then suppose he could not see the head-on traffic!

That is exactly what you do when you attempt to pass another vehicle on a curve, near the top of a hill, at an intersection or at any other place where the road ahead is not in full view.

If you cannot see the road ahead for a reasonable distance, or if there is not a place you can easily reach in your own traffic line ahead, DON'T TRY TO PASS. A car may come in the opposite direction before you get back to your own traffic line. Then—a SMASH—head-on or "side-swipe." In either case, you're hurt for sure, and likely others too.

Highways will be more crowded this year than ever before. There has been a big increase in Ontario-owned cars. A bigger tourist traffic is expected. At times last year there were 800,000 cars on the streets and highways of the Province.

In the face of this increased traffic, the Highway Safety Committee again urges the co-operation of all motorists and pedestrians in an effort to lessen accidents. Both must become "traffic conscious"—aware of the danger which arises from inattention or failure to exercise Care, Courtesy and Common-sense. When driving or walking on streets and highways help in this movement to make Ontario's highways more safe.

Remember these 7 Rules for Safety

1. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape—particularly Brakes, Steering Gear and Headlights.
2. Give your undivided attention to your driving. In passing traffic, be sure there is a place for you in the traffic line ahead.
3. When other motor vehicles try to pass you—let them pass.
4. In entering main streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a clear view of the track is obstructed, stop and look.
5. Don't "loaf" where traffic is heavy.
6. Always signal before you slow down, stop or change your course.
7. Never back up before ascertaining that the road behind is clear.

Kiwanis Defeat Moose 5-4 In Tight Contest

STAGE LAST INNING RALLY TO BREAK TIE

Sproats Tallies Final Marker for Kiwanis on Foley's Single.

PLAY GOOD BALL

Moose Entry Shows Much Better Form Than in Former Games.

The Kiwanis Juveniles failed to repeat the trouncing administered to the Moose crew a few days ago, but were able to nose out the Harry Dinsdale gang by a last inning rally in a 5 to 4 struggle.

The Moose lads played better ball than their last game and registered 11 hits, while the Kiwanis secured 9. Fitzgerald pitched steady ball for the losers and allowed only a couple of walks and fanned five. The Moose boys seemed to hit Braund's offerings more easily than the last game, and he was replaced by Jones in the fourth.

The losers held a batting rampage in the third and scored four runs on five hits.

The fielding of the Moose crew was better, and with a little more coaching promise to provide a real battle with Bill Carey's gang.

For the first few frames the play was rather evenly contested with the Kiwanis getting three hits in the first, but after Fitzgerald hit his stride he only allowed one in the next two innings.

In the third, Fitzgerald beat out a bunt and went to third on Guerin's double. Tuck fanned and Hall singled to short to score Fitzgerald. McCarrol singled and Guerin scored. Hall scored on Perdue's sacrifice to Sproates, and McCarrol rallied on a wild pitch. Marocco fanned.

The Kiwanis were unable to follow the Moose's example in the hitting line. Braund and Sproats fanned. Cuthbertson singled, but was caught at second on Foley's single.

In the fourth the Moose boys had two men on bases, but lacked the punch to drive in the runs.

McCullough, for the Kiwanis, singled to left. Saunders fanned and Dallin's single scored McCullough for their first run.

In the fifth, McCarrol flied to Saunders. Perdue got a free pass and went to second on Rogers' single. However, Jones fanned the next two, retiring the side.

Starr walked and stole second. Jones singled and Starr scored. Sproates doubled, scoring Jones. Foley was thrown out at first. Cuthbertson singled, scoring Sproates. McCullough walked, but the side was retired by Cuthbertson being caught off third.

The score was now tied and the Moose failed to score after two men getting on the bases. However, Fitzgerald blanked the Kiwanis and neither side scored.

In the seventh, Perdue drew a free pass. Rogers was out on an infield fly. Marocco singled, and Perdue was caught at second. Kay, a pinch hitter, slammed one to deep centre, but Marocco was caught at the plate.

Sproates doubled and went to third on an error, scoring on Foley's single to break the tie and end the game.

THISTLE WON 2 GOALS TO ONE FROM DE LAVAL

Downer Opened the Scoring—A. Beggs Equalized Three Minutes Before Half Time.

BOLTON BRILLIANT.

Second Half Was Full of Thrills—An Opportunist Goal Was the Deciding Factor.

Excellent soccer weather prevailed last evening for the local league fixture between the Thistle and the De Layal at King Edward, when the former team won by two goals to one before a fair attendance of spectators. All credit for the win goes to A. Beggs, who demonstrated the value of an opportunity in front of goal; while Bolton deserves similar praise for his excellent goal-keeping against the smart De Laval forwards.

THE GAME

De Laval won the toss and Ferguson set the ball a-rolling. Exchanges continued on an even basis with the goal-keepers being called upon to save their charges; in face, Bolton being the busiest of the two. Eventually the Jags found their bearings around the goal area to miss converting through the right wing's combination. At this point, A. Beggs completed the Thistle quota in the seventy minute battle for league points.

Downer Opens the Scoring

Aided by a strong wind, the De Laval dominated the play that was confined to the Thistle territory. They worked inside the defense to finish very poorly when in an excellent position to score and for the next fifteen minutes paid repeated visits to Bolton's goal, in which he was the prominent artist. A break-away by Hanson's terminated in success to his team when he evaded the defence to land the ball to Newt. Downer's foot, who landed a rocket-drive in below the cross-bar. A few minutes later the Thistle raised a seige that went a-begging through keenness of tactics.

A. Beggs Equalized

Success came on the next visit to the De Laval goal when A. Beggs caught them unawares, in front of goal ,to place a low shot along the ground that found the net to equalize the account. Half time: De Laval 1, Thistle 1.

Half Time

After a short respite the teams opened up at a fast pace, with interesting visits to each goal, where close dribbling was the main code of attack. On one occasion Ferguson missed an open goal when he kicked the ground. Downer relieved, to send Hanson away on the left wing, who went right down the field with the ball at his foot. After successfully getting into the proximity of the Thistle area, he missed a chance to put his team ahead by putting the ball across the goal, where Watkins' parting shot hit the upright. Free-kicks were given freely in the ensuing play. From one of these resulting kicks Mayette transferred the ball to the other end.

A. Beggs' Nice Goal

The outside right centred into goal, Cross headed out of danger, but Beggs returned to make no mistake with his timely touch that beat Fowler for the winning goal. The De Laval replied with long, swinging passes that kept the Thistle full backs in a quandry, in fact, Browley conceded two fruitless flag-kicks that finally found Bolton the master of the situation. Then Ward broke through on his own between the full backs to witness the custodian beat him when in the act of scoring, by throwing himself on the ball and putting it a corner. The flag kick went for nought.

Battle Until Last Minute

Raid after raid on each goal was the cause of great excitement when the forwards would break away to visit the goal-keeper's charge. Two minutes from the finish the De Laval centre-forward initiated a desperate effort to gain the equalizer, but Bolton again displayed coolness when hard pressed and held his charge safe until the final whistle: Thistle 2, De Laval 1.

Goal scorers—A. Beggs (2) for Thistle, and N. Downer for De Laval.

The teams:

De Laval.—Fowler, goal; Cross and Downer, full backs; Michell, Ward and Pulley, halves; Watkins, Dyer, N. Downer, Gravelle, and Hanson, forwards.

Thistle—Bolton, goal; J. Beggs and Bromley, full backs; Crofton, Armstrong and Waddell, full backs; Mayette, House, A. Beggs, Ferguson and McPhate, forwards.

Referee—Alex McKinley. Linesmen—W. Campbell and T. Stewart.

Quakers Vs. C. G. E. Saturday Afternoon

Replay Phelan Cup Game at King Edward Park—Kick-off at 3 O'clock.

Another soccer treat is in store for the local fans on Saturday afternoon when the Canadian General meets the Quaker Oats in the replay cup game for the Father Phelan Charity Trophy on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park. Kick-off at three o'clock promptly. Alex. McKinley will officiate as referee.

After the previous game a week ago, many enthusiasts complimented the players of both teams for the splendid display of the soccer code in a hectic cup tie that was full of excitement and thrills galore around the goal area. The fans are reminded of the fact that the collections go to charity after all the expenses are paid.

In all probability the same players will battle again on Saturday, and they are requested to be at the pavilion no later than 2.45 prompt.

VIEWS ON SPORT

The scheduled fixture in the City Softball League slated for to-night in Confederation Square has been postponed.

Owing to several of the players on the K. of C. and the C. G. E. line-ups having to play with the Cogs and the Crescents in a postponed game of the E.P.L. at the Exhibition grounds, the Teco and DeLaval may play in place of these two teams.

• • • • • • •

Both teams in last night's softball fixture played good ball for the amount of practice they have had and judging from the games played in the league so far competition for the group honors can be expected when the different teams strike their stride.

• • • • • • •

Harrison's North-Enders made the only double killing of the game, while Haskill, a last year's Belmont player, did good work behind the home plate for the Lockworks, slicing of many foul tips.

• • • • • • •

The Moose entry in the juvenile group showed better form than in former years and gave the Kiwanis a stiff argument in last night's fixture although losing out in the final by a 5-4 count.

• • • • • • •

Fitzgerald pitched steady ball for the losers allowing nine hits, walking two, and having five strike outs. The team was greatly improved in every position with most of the players having gained their eye. The boys pounded Braund from the box in the third, and took a steady toll from Jones who handled the hurling for the Kiwanis in the remaining frames.

• • • • • • •

Keene invade Lakefield this evening for a game in the county series of the E. P. L., and to-morrow afternoon Lockworks travel to Curve Lake. Here at Exhibition Park, this evening, Cognawagas and Crescents will meet in a replay of their tie game. The new screen was erected last night, and in a few days a score board will be added to the equipment at the grounds.

• • • • • • •

A new ruling on fly balls back of the screen at Exhibition Park provides that the catcher is not permitted to make a play. Any other player may try for a play. This ruling is made in order to guard against possible injury to the catcher, and to give the third baseman and first baseman the opportunity to go after foul flies as under the usual playing conditions.

• • • • • • •

A player advances at his own risk on a passed ball inside the screen. Should the ball pass through or under the screen, the runner is entitled to advance a base.

• • • • • • •

No more than seven innings will be played in any twilight game. Umpire-in-chief LeBarr did the correct thing in sending the teams into an extra innings when Cogs and Raybestso were tied, and the League officials feel he used good judgment in calling the Clubs and umpires now have a definite rule to work on.

NORTH-ENDERS WIN 19-14 TILT

Score Five Runs in Overtime Frame to Defeat Lockworks.

SOFTBALL FIXTURE

Ten innings were required to solve the outcome of the softball game in Central Park last night when Harrison's North-Enders came through with five runs in the overtime frame to cinch the game, 19—14. Montgomery started the fireworks which finished the game. The Lock Works led the scoring in the first half and at the end of the fourth were on the heavy end of a fourteen to seven score. But a rally in the lucky seventh started by Ecobichon's homer followed by Dundas' circuit put new pep into the North lads and each had a turn at the plate, scoring six runs. Ecobichon came through in the eighth to tie the scoring run.

Maudsley and Dundas worked nice on a double play, and Maudsley made a nice running catch over first. Westbrook on third for the Key men did some good work in the field, making some good catches and assists. Both teams were not getting the support they should, and after some practice a real game should follow when these two teams meet again. The play in the last half of the tenth was thrilling as any ball game, only by a fall Murray, who was attempting to go to second on a passed ball, dimmed the Lock Work hope of scoring the tieing runs, and Westbrook failing to make first made the game complete for the Harrison boys. The real punch of the play was in the tenth when, Northerners, after two were down, made five runs to win.

Westbrook and Green score home runs for the Lock Works, while Dundas and Ecobichon did the circuit run for Harrison.

The line-ups:

Lock Works. — Westbrook, 3b; Nicholls, ss; Haskell, c; Green, p; Jobbitt, 2b; Black, 1b; Guerin, cf; Hunt, cf; Murray, lf; Murphy, lf; Chambers, rf.

Harrison's North Enders.—Dundas, p; Montgomery, rf; Baird, 3b; Maudsley, 1b; Dorrington, 2b; H. Vinette, ss; B. Frasher, cf; Ed. Vinette, lf; Ecobichon, c.

Score by innings:

Lock Works.. .. .. ..1336010000—14
North Enders. .. .. ..0340006105—19

Green struck out 4, Dundas, 3.

W. Ranger was at the plate, and L. LeBarr at the bases.

SPORT CHATTER

(By F. D. C.)

"Red" Legon arrived home from Varsity on Wednesday night and immediately reported to the Petes. He will make his first appearance in the Peterborough outfield at Kingston to-night.

Owing to casualties and inability of several players to get off work the Petes' squad for Kingston to-day was considerably smaller than usual. But the team hopes to grab off a win nevertheless.

Hap Harrison was having a field day at Deloro Wednesday until he was hurt. They couldn't keep him off the bases and defensively he did some grand work around first. Harrison collided with Art Quinn at second base and his leg was painfully bruised.

Deloro play in Oshawa tomorroy and a win for the Smelters will tighten up the race considerably. The Hemphill-Elliott gang can be counted on to put up a real argument against the Motorists.

This bird Ada with the Kingston Ponies is doing some great clouting. He was with Kitchener last year and had a reputation as a fence buster in the Inter-county loop.

Hap Wilgar was slated to do the catching at Kingston this evening in the absence of Max Swanston.

PETES HOPE TO LINE UP STRONG TEAM TOMORROW

Will Battle All the Way to Take Verdict From Ponies.

A REAL ARGUMENT

Cherry or Buck Called to Twirl for the Kingston Outfit.

The Petes hope to have Hap Harrison back in action against the Ponies here tomorrow and to tot out a strong team against Joe Daley's hard-hitting crew in the game that will decide for a few days at least which team is to take third place in the race.

Reports from Kingston were to the effect that the Ponies would use Jamieson against the Petes this evening in Kingston while Cherry or Buck would get the call Saturday. The Petes on the other hand figured on sending Heckman in at the Daleymen in Kingston and calling upon Hardill to pitch the home fixture. However pitching selection, like railway time tables, are liable to take sudden changes.

Tomorrow's game should be one of the most interesting of the season. The rivalry between the two teams guarantees excitement all the way.

George Sullivan of Kingston and Edgar Lebarr of Peterborough will be the umpires in charge, the former working behind the bat.

LAZZERI'S HIT HELPS PENNOCK

Yankee Star Pitches Out-of-Turn to Beat St. Louis—Athletics Win 9-8.

DETROIT LOSES AGAIN.

NEW YORK, June 15. — Herb Pennock pitched out of turn yesterday to meet the Browns' star Sammy Gray, and the Hugmen won the first game of the St. Louis series 4 to 3.

It was Pennock's tenth victory of the season against two defeats. Lazzeri gave the Yankees their winning margin by hitting a home run in the fourth with two on base.

A three-run rally in the eighth inning gave Philadelphia a 9 to 8 victory over the Indians in the opening game of the Cleveland series. Neither Rube Walberg nor Willis Hudlin, the starting pitchers, were able to puzzle the opposition. Both retired in the fourth with six runs chalked up on each side.

The Tribe added two more at the expense of Eddie Rommell, but Ossie Orwall then held them in check. The Athletics made Bayne the victim of their 8-inning attack.

Cochrane, the Macks' catcher, was the hitting star of the game. In five trips to the plate he collected two triples, a double and a single.

Detroit suffered its fourth consecutive defeat at home as the Washington Senators took the opening game of the series 8 to 3. Earl White hill the Tiger southpaw, was driven from the box after a succession of five base hits in the fourth inning, when the Senators scored four runs.

Alex Metzler's double with the bases filled in the fifth inning, which scored three runs, was the punch that enabled the White Sox to take the home opener from Boston 5 to 4 yesterday. Metzler also scored a run.

Red Faber of the White Sox and Ruffing of Boston, were hit freely, Ruffing leaving the mound at the end of the sixth for Russell.

LEAFS ARE IDLE; BEARS WIN TWO

Toronto Rained Out at Baltimore—Montreal Beaten in Newark.

JERSEY CITY LOSES.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 15.—Four games in two days is the program outlined for the Toronto Leafs. Rain an hour before game time washed out yesterday's contest, and there was a steady downpour all afternoon. Yesterday evening there were indications of clearing weather, and two games are carded for to-day, with another twin bill on Saturday.

It will be a hard assignment for the somewhat demoralized Leaf pitching staff, and Manager Bill O'Hara is hoping for the best, but making very few predictions.

Royals Lose Two.

NEWARK, June 15. — The Bears won a double-header here yesterday afternoon from the Montreal Royals, taking the first game 9 to 5 and the second 3 to 2. Jack Bentley, who pitched the second game, which went 9 innings, drove in the winning run with a single to left. In the first game the Bears won by timely hitting against Falk. Jocky Conlan's perfect throw from centre field in the eighth inning of the second game beat Fowler to the plate and saved the day for the Bruins. It was the first time this season Newark has won two games in a single day.

Rochester Win.

JERSEY CITY, June 15. — The Rochester Red Wings made it three in a row here yesterday, conquering Jersey City by a score of 7 to 2. Henderson pitched nice ball for Jersey City, but errors behind him nullified his efforts. In the very first frame three Jersey City errors presented the Wings with four runs, and they were never headed. Bell weakened in the fifth, and Hal Smith, who had pitched a three-hit game yesterday, stepped in and held the Black Cats in check the rest of the way.

ENTRIES CLOSE ON JUNE 15TH

Program Announced for Canada Olympic Track and Field Trials.

TWO SPECIAL EVENTS

HAMILTON, Ont., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Entries for the Canada Olympic track and field trials close Wednesday, June 20, with M. M. Robinson, The Spectator, Hamilton, Ont. The program for the games to be held on June 30 and July 2 has been completed. It has been decided to add two walking races to the program at the request of the Ontario Walkers' Association. These two races will rank as special events, and not as trials, as there are no walking events on the Olympic program this year. The events for the Canadian trials have been arranged as follows:

Saturday, June 30

100 metre run, heats and final.
400 metre run, heats and final.
110 metre hurdle race, heats and final.
10,000 metre run.
1,500 metre run.
Running broad jump.
Discus throw.
Shot put.
Running, hop step and jump.
10,000 metre walk.
400 metre relay race.

Monday, July 2

200 metre run, heats and final.
800 metre run.
400 metre hurdle race.
5,000 metre run.
5,000 metre walk.
3,000 metre steeplechase.
Javelin throw.
Pole vault.
Hammer throw.
Running high jump.
1,600 metre relay.

The standards set by the Canadian Olympic committee for the various events are as follows:

100 metre run, 10.4 seconds; 200 metre run, 22.1 seconds; 400 metre run, 49 seconds; 800 metre run, 1 minute 55 2-5 seconds; 1,500 metre run, 4 minutes 8 seconds; 5,000 metre run, 15 minutes 20 seconds; 10,000 metre run, 33 minutes; running high jump, 6 feet 2 inches; running broad jump, 23 feet 3 inches; throwing discus, 140 feet; 16 pound shot put, 46 feet; hammer throw, 150 feet; javelin throw, 185 feet; 110 metre hurdle race, 15.1 seconds; 400 metre hurdle race, 55 seconds; pole vault, 12 feet 6 inches; running hop, step and jump, 46 feet 6 inches. No standard has been set for the 3,000 metre steeplechase.

Winners of the various events will not necessarily be accepted by the selection committee, which consists of M. M. Robinson, Hamilton, chairman; F. H. Marples, Winnipeg; E. H. Bourdon, Montreal; Robert Kerr, Hamilton; J. H. Crocker, Toronto.

Past performances will be considered when the selections are made. The athletics selected will train in Hamilton until July 10, when they will leave for Montreal, embarking on the S.S. Albertic for Amsterdam, Holland, on July 11.

GIANTS LOSE IN ELEVENTH

Pirates Nose Them Out, 4-3—Cards Come From Behind To Win.

HORNSBY, EJECTED.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The Giants lost their second extra-inning game in succession yesterday when the Pirates nosed them out in the eleventh, 4 to 3, in the first clash of the series. Adams' triple and Paul Waner's sacrifice fly accounted for the winning run.

Fred Fitzsimmons pitched well for the Giants but weakened in the eighth when Pittsburgh bunched four of its ten hits for two runs to tie. Paul Waner also figured in this rally, driving in the tying run with a single. Fred Fuzzell, the Pirate southpaw, was good in the pinches early in the game, and John Miljus held New York in check in the last four runds.

Cardinals Win in Ninth.

Bottomley's triple in the ninth, followed by Hafey's home run into the centre field bleachers, enabled St. Louis to come from behind and win their fourth straight game from the Braves at Boston, 3 to 2. Up to the ninth Genewich had held the Cardinals to three hits. The home-run orgy which had run to 48 circuit clouts in 15 Braves' home games, was stemmed yesterday by ground rules which allowed two bases on a ball driven into the new left-field stands. One Cardinal and three Braves knocked balls into these stands, which are in process of demolition.

Umpire Pfirman was bombarded with pop bottles by irate Boston fans in the fourth when he ordered Manager Rogers Hornsby from the game for protesting the umpire's calling him out on strikes. None of the missiles found their target.

Cubs Even Series With Robins.

Jess Petty weakened in the eighth yesterday, and Cnicago won the final game of the Brooklyn series, 7 to 3, to even the count at two victories each. Petty's successor, Jim Elliit, also had a trying time in the eighth, and succumbed in the ninth, when Rube Ehrhardt was called to retire the side.

Art Nehf pitched well for the Cubs for seven innings, and received credit for the victory. Bush finished up for Chicago after Nehf gave way to a pinch batsman. Rube Bressler's home run in the fourth represented one of the only two runs Brooklyn was able to score off Nehf.

COURSE CHANGED FOR 'FRIENDSHIP'

Big Plane Will Go To England By Way of Azores and Lisbon.

TREPASSEY, Nfld., June 14 (Canadian Press). — Jubilant at the successful outcome of their first test flight early to-day, the crew of the monoplane Friendship definitely set one o'clock (eastern standard time) to-morrow morning as the hour of their take-off for Europe by way of the Azores Islands. From the Azores the fliers hope to continue to Lisbon, Portugal, and from there to Southampton, England.

The change in the original plan to go by way of the Great Circle course was caused apparently by the continued bad weather over the northern route and the repeated failure of the plane to rise from the water with the heavier fuel load necessitated by that route.

COLUMBIA HELD UP.

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., June 15 (Canadian Press). — Unfavorable weather conditions here and over the Atlantic to the north-east this morning halted the preparations of the crew of the Columbia to take off on their contemplated flight to Europe. Indications were that no attempt to fly would be made to-day.

40,000 MILES WITH LINDBERGH

Tom Mix and TONY the wonder horse in Horseman of the Plains

MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY
BILLIE DOVE In "THE LOVE MART"

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

LINDBERGH AND TOM MIX.

With exploits that are based on a very real adventure and with daring feats which are real also, but never had their existence until a bright movie director thought them out, the Capitol Theatre entertains its patrons this week, in a double bill offering a film dramatization of Lindbergh's flight of 40,000 miles through the air and the redoubtable and always interesting Tom Mix, with his wonder horse, Tony, in "Horseman of the Plains." Both pictures are very entertaining.

With Lindbergh, the camera traces his career from the time in 1922, when he was a stunt aviator in a circus, on through the marvellous flight of the Spirit of St. Louis and the magnificent receptions accorded the flyer in London and New York, and his subsequent air adventures in Mexico and Central America. The pictures are inspiring and thrilling.

The Tom Mix production is one of the best of the series by this always likeable actor, whose pictures are clean, wholesome and entertaining. In this feature he is Tom Swift, sheriff of Coyote County, who assists the neighboring sheriff of Trigger County to round up the usual gang of desperadoes.

Sally Blaine has the part of the heroine, Dawn O'Day, who is betting on her horse to win the $10,000 obstacle race at the Trigger County Fair, the money to be used to save her ranch from foreclosure. This race is one of the thrilling, whirlwind affairs which features Mix's pictures, in which his superb horsemanship is demonstrated in wonderful style. Tom escapes from the gang, after capture by them, just in time to win the race and, incidentally, the girl.

A good deal of comedy is afforded by a pair of ranch hands, Esmeralda and Bonehead.

AT THE REGENT.

MONTE BLUE SCORES IN FLYING ROMANCE
NOW PLAYING

Age comes when our enthusiasms begin to abate, when the things which seemed so worth while, become of little moment, when we ease our laziness with a cynical "What of it" or "All the same a hundred years from now." But even when we allow our own enthusiasms to fade, we love to see the verve for life in others. That is why Monte Blue never palls. His coming is a chance to enter again into the land of romance, of daring and adventure. For Monte Blue seems to have carried with him into the world of the movies those red-blooded ardors which made him win when he swung the axe with the woodsmen or the pick with the miners.

In "Across the Atlantic" Monte gives vent to his exuberant life in another avenue. He plays the part of a flyer, not only plays the part but lives it, for before essaying the role on the screen he studied aviation with the absorption of a man who means to make it his life work. The sensational stunts shown in the picture are not done by "doubles" but by Blue himself, and sensational stunts they are.

As Hugh Clayton, shell-shocked war ace, the hero spends years in a hospital while his father, brother and sweetheart believe him to be dead. These three have gone to France to visit the village from which he wrote last, and the girl has reluctantly consented to the brother's plea, and promised to marry him.

This is a bare outline of a thrilling and human drama, splendidly staged, directed and acted. Don't fail to see Monte Blue in his greatest part—Hugh Clayton in "Across the Atlantic."

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1927, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 22

Every once in a while you come across a hand that illustrates many a good point and the following is one of the best:

	Hearts — A, K, 7, 2 Clubs — Q, J, 10, 7 Diamonds — Q, 10, 4 Spades — K, Q
Hearts — Q, J, 10 Clubs — A, 6 Diamonds — A, 9, 8, 6, 2 Spades — J, 10, 9	Y A B Z	Hearts — 9, 6, 4 Clubs — 5, 4, 2 Diamonds — J, 5, 3 Spades — 7, 6, 4, 2
	Hearts — 8, 5, 3 Clubs — K, 9, 8, 3 Diamonds — K, 7 Spades — A, 8, 5, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump and A made an informatory double. A's double is rather doubtful but he has a fair all around hand and help in every suit. Y redoubled. This redouble by Y should be carefully noted. He also has a big no-trump, so that when his partner bids one no-trump and A doubles, Y knows that B must have a very weak hand and that Y-Z probably can defeat any bid B may make.

B's only four-card suit is spades, so he is forced to bid two spades. A redouble does not release a player from bidding when his partner has made an informatory double. Please note that. Z now doubled two spades and all passed. A might have bid three diamonds but probably felt that this bid also would be doubled and be just one more trick to make.

Z had the opening lead and decided to lead the king of diamonds. His partner's redouble indicated high cards, so that the lead of the king was a bold try to set up a trick in Y's hand and also to give Z a chance to trump the third round of diamonds. B won the trick in A's hand with the ace, and then led the ace and a small club, hoping to be able to trump a small club in A's hand. Y, however, who won the second club trick, was too smart. He led the king and queen of spades and all followed. He then led first the queen of diamonds and then his last diamond, which Z trumped. Z then led the ace of spades. This lead exhausted A's spades so that Y-Z now made the king of clubs and the ace king of hearts, setting A-B four hundred points. It is a very pretty hand, both in bidding and play; and should be closely studied. Don't make doubtful informatory doubles and don't hesitate to redouble if you hold a big no-trump and your partner's one bid has been doubled. It is on hands such as these that the big penalties are made, so be on the lookout for similar chances.

Answer to Problem No. 23

	Y
	A B
	Z

Hearts — K, Q, 7
Clubs — K, J, 8, 4
Diamonds — J, 7, 6, 2
Spades — K, J

No score, first game. What should Z as dealer bid with the foregoing hand? Z should pass. He has a fine all around hand that will support most any bid his partner may make. To bid no-trump with this hand will give partner the wrong impression and perhaps induce him to overbid if the opponents start bidding. If they don't bid, he may pass the no-trump and not bid a suit that may score game. Don't bid no-trump on hands that are as weak as this, for to do so generally causes trouble. If partner has a strong hand he will bid anyhow.

Answer to Problem No. 24

Hearts — K, Q, 10, 4
Clubs — 9
Diamonds — 6
Spades — K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 6

	A B
	Z

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one club, Y bid four spades and B bid five clubs. Z doubled, A passed, Y bid five spades and B bid six clubs. Z doubled. If all passed what should Y lead? Y should lead his king of hearts. Any other lead is very risky. The lead of the singleton diamond is too dangerous, for if A-B hold the ace they may be able to run off trumps and discard their losing spades or hearts. The spade lead is bad for the same reason. Either A or B probably is void of spades and will probably trump the first lead. The best chance for making a quick trick is to lead the king of hearts.

Answer to Problem No. 25

	Y
	A B
	Z

Hearts — Q, J, 9, 8, 5, 2
Clubs — 8, 3
Diamonds — A, K, J, 9, 7
Spades — none

No score; A-B a game in. What should Z as dealer bid with the foregoing hand? Z should bid one heart and then, if overbid, show the diamonds. With a freak hand of this type, a player should bid his longer suit first and thus give his partner a correct picture of his hand. To bid diamonds first and then hearts makes one's partner guess, and guessing usually is wrong. To prevent mistakes and make it easy for one's partner, bid the longer suit first and thus tell him the facts early in the bidding. He is then in a much better position to arrive at the best bid of the combined hands of himself and his partner.

LAWN BOWLING

Last evening a large number of bowlers assembled on the green and five schedule games were played and one postponed game from June 6 was played between Fallon and Wise. Three of the games were very close and excitement ran high until the last bowl was thrown.

A few friendly games were indulged in. Several ladies being out last evening to try their luck on the Aylmer street greens. A larger attendance is looked for on Monday evening next when the ladies have planned for a grand rally for evening bowling.

At an executive meeting held by the men's club last evening, plans were perfected for the mixed tournament on the afternoon of July 20, and a very enjoyable time is anticipated. They also decided to hold a local tournament for the men on July 2.

The usual Friday night tournament will be held again this evening. Be on hand at 7.30 sharp for the draw.

The following is the score for last night's games:

Donaldson, 16; Gimblett, 13.
Seymour, 21; Bacon, 17.
Martin, 24; Freeman, 12.
Oke, 21; Bennet, 5.
Fox, 13; Allen, 10.
Fallon, 19; Wise, 12.

GOLF.

Peterborough vs. Lindsay.

The first out of town game of the men of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, will take place at Lindsay, on Wednesday, June 20. Peterborough players will make arrangements to arrive in Lindsay in order to tee off at two o'clock in the afternoon. All players desiring to take part in this match are particularly requested to notify A. J. Reynolds of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, captain, before Monday morning June 18. A good representation is expected at the Lindsay game in order to start the season well.

SOFTBALL.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 15. — By their victory over the Legionaires last night, the Clerks remain at the top of the list and the Legionaires are tied with the Mill for the bottom. The next scheduled game is between these two teams on Monday night. The game last night was seven innings, and ended with the score 25-9 in favor of the Clerks.

HORNSBY SUSPENDED.

Boston Manager Out of Game For Five Days For Trouble Yesterday.

NEW YORK, June 15. Canadian Press. — Charged with responsibility for the bottle throwing that marked yesterday's game between the Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals at Boston, Rogers Hornsby, the manager of the Braves, to-day was ordered suspended for five days.

The disturbance occurred when Hornsby was banished from the game after disuting the umpire's decisions on strikes.

TRAP SHOOTING

GUNMEN TAKE $12,000 IN CASH

Hold Up Office Staff of Buffalo Cheese Company To-day.

BUFFALO, June 15 (Canadian Press).—Three masked gunmen held up the office force of the Hasselbeck Cheese Company here to-day and escaped with more than $1200 in cash and more than $10,000 worth of cheques.

Covering fifteen of the office clerks with revolvers, the men forced Clarence Neureuter, assistant manager of the plant, to turn over the keys to the strong box in the safe, from which they took the money and cheques. They then fled and nobody saw the getaway.

LEAGUE TENNIS HERE SATURDAY

Belleville Players Here For Central Ontario League Match.

AT PETERBOROUGH COURTS.

The tennis season will get away to a good start locally to-morrow when the Belleville players will be here to test their rackets against the Peterborough representatives. This will be Belleville's first appearance in Peterborough as they have just joined this league and they will be anxious to show Peterborough how tennis is played in the Quinte town. Peterborough is also on their toes to make good the defeat they received in Campbellford last Saturday. With a week of rest and practice they have polished up their game considerably and a real first class battle is expected with an exhibition of tennis that will prove fast and furious.

This event will take place at the Peterborough Tennis Courts at Monaghan Road at three o'clock sharp to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon. There will be no charge of admission and all tennis fans will be given a real treat if they turn out to see the first game of the season here this year. The club itself is bigger and better than ever and there is a great deal of enthusiasm shown among the members and the players hope this spirit will spread to those interested in the court game.

There will be seven events on the card for the afternoon, each promising a real and interesting battle.

Two Men's Singles.
Two Men's Doubles.
One Ladies Doubles.
One Ladies' Doubles.
One Mixed Doubles.

LIGHTNING KILLS ONE

NEW YORK, June 15 (Canadian Press).—The one-day heat wave in the Central Atlantic Seaboard States had been broken to-day as a result of severe electrical storms that caused the death of one person and the injury of seven. Lightning was the cause in each case.

Fraserville

(Examiner Correspondence)

FRASERVILLE, June 15.—Mrs. W. A. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. William Moffat, Clark and Kenneth Moffatt, all of Toronto were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wood on Sunday.

Donald Bothwell of Hastings spent the week-end with his parents here.

Miss Edna Snelgrove of Bailleboro spent the past week at her home here.

Mr. Frank Foley left on Monday morning for work in the Dominion Geological Survey.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, the Rev. H. W. and Mrs. Foley and Miss Laura Foley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark on Monday.

THE power of Canada's rushing waters is applied in so many ways that it is difficult to conceive of any industrial and social life in Canada without it.

From the rock drill to the curling iron, from the tram car to the electric toaster, from the silk mill to the electric range, there are endless gradations of power needed, and the flexibility of this service is perhaps its most valuable feature.

The home without electricity today is the home of fifty years ago. The wires in the house mean the ability to use the latest inventions for time-saving and efficient methods of keeping house, and also those more aesthetic and refining influences, which are represented by the electric piano, the electric phonograph and beautifully shaded lamps.

All of these combine to make the homes of today what they are—attractive, convenient, charming.

The Northern Electric Company, in manufacturing wires, cables, and other paraphernalia, which help make possible the application of the electric current, feels happy at being able to contribute to Canada's social progress.

TIME WELL SPENT

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 15.—Leaving the Kansas penitentiary on parole after he had served five years for grand larceny, Atwell Austin took with him the patent rights to an invention which he has been working on while a convict. The device is an electrically operated railroad crossing gate. Another convict advanced the $100 necessary to secure the patent.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TICK BUG

Baby Bunty crept close to Uncle Wiggily while the Skillery Scallery Alligator was sitting on his double-jointed tail, looking at the puzzle marks which the rabbit gentleman had drawn in the mud with a pointed stick.

"You want me to tell you what animals made those marks; is that it?" bellowed the 'Gator who had a voice like a bull.

"Well, they weren't all made by animals," said Uncle Wiggily, who always told the truth, even in puzzles. "I didn't say animals."

"But I say these marks were made by animals!" roared the chap with the double-jointed tail. "Those three dot marks were made by the Bob Cat, standing on his hind legs and sticking his silly little tail in the mud, and the four dot marks were made by the Fox—"

"Wrong! Wrong!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "You guessed two marks wrong and, even if you guessed the other two right, I wouldn't let you nibble my ears nor Bunty's, either! Quick! Run home to your den if you would be in time for lunch!"

As Uncle Wiggily shouted this he pretended to tell time by the dumb watch. And he fooled the 'Gator into thinking he would be late for lunch, so that the Bad Chap waddled away and Bunty and Uncle Wiggily were safe. Then the little rabbit girl looked at the puzzle marks and said:

"Tell me the answers, Unkie Wig."

"I will, but no baby talk!" said Mr. Longears. "The three dot marks are those of a three-legged stool, the four dot marks are the four legs of a chair. A man pushing a wheelbarrow made some of the tracks and a boy learning to ride on a bicycle the marks that looked like a snake.

"Oh, how cute!" said Bunty.

Then she and Uncle Wiggily hopped on some more and Bunty looked up at the sun, for she knew when it was straight over head it would be noon and time to eat. Mr. Longears, seeing how anxious the little rabbit girl was, asked her:

"Are you hungry?"

"I don't know if I am or not," she answered. "If only your dumb watch would go we might know when it is lunch time. Listen to it again, Uncle Wiggily, and see if it isn't ticking."

The rabbit took the dumb watch out of his pocket and held it to his ear. Then he let Bunty listen. But there was no ticking sound.

"I think it's silly to have a watch that doesn't even tick," said Bunty. "Suppose you met some friend of yours, Uncle Wiggily, and he asked you the time, you couldn't even pretend to tell him; could you?"

"Not with a dumb watch that doesn't tick," said Mr. Longears.

But just then, all of a sudden, down in the grass both rabbits heard a ticking tocking sound.

"Oh," cried Bunty, "maybe that's your real watch!"

"Maybe," agreed Uncle Wiggily. But when he looked down in the grass he saw only a little bug crawling along. "Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"I am the bug called Tick," was the answer, and away he ticked and tocked like a little clock, clicking his legs and wings.

"Why, you're just what we need!" cried Bunty. "You can be a tick for Uncle Wiggily's watch! Put this tick bug inside the dumb watch and everybody will think it's going," said Bunty.

"A good idea if the tick will get in my dumb watch," agreed Mr. Longears. And when the tick bug said he didn't mind, inside the dumb watch he was put and then it sounded just as if it kept time. "Tick tock!"

"Now we'll hop along and get something to eat," said Bunty.

Pretty soon she and Uncle Wiggily came to a rail fence to which were fastened letters making queer words.

"Oh!" cried Bunty. "I can't read that. Can you?"

"It must be a puzzle," said Mr. Longears. "Let's try to do it."

So he and Bunty and the tick bug in the dumb watch sat down near the fence.

Are You Nervous? Sleepless?

St. Catharines, Ont.—"I was in such a nervous and rundown state of health that I could hardly get around to do my work. I could not sleep and the least noise or excitement would completely upset me and throw me into a nervous spell. I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I was soon well and strong and have never had another spell of nervousness since.

CAR DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Truck Driven By Vincent Eastwood Backs Down Hill Suddenly.

HITS O. M. STEER'S CAR.

Vincent Eastwood, Jr., local car dealer, was demonstrating a used truck on Murray street hill about three-thirty yesterday afternoon. While climbing the hill he lost control when about to change gears, and the car backed down the hill, striking a parked car belonging to O. M. Steer, vice-principal of Central School. The impact drove Mr. Steer's car down the hill and through a fence on to a lawn in front of a house on Murray street. Mr. Steer's car was badly damaged about the rear, the tire carrier and spare tire wrecked. The whole body was shifted by the impact so that the doors would not close. A hole was driven through the rear of the car. Mr. Eastwood's cars are insured and the company is looking after the damage.

MEXICAN AVIATORS PLAN LONG FLIGHT

Hope To Make Non-Stop Trip Home From Walkerville To-morrow.

HAVE BOUGHT PLANE.

DETROIT, June 15 (Canadian Press).—Fritiz Vieler and Joaquin Pacheco, Mexico City aviators, announced here to-day that they plan to take off from Walker Field, Walkerville, Ontario, at 6 a.m. tomorrow on a non-stop flight of approximately 2,200 miles to Mexico City.

They plan to make the trip in a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, which they purchased here yesterday and with which they were making test flights to-day from Selfridge Field.

The fliers plan to make the trip by way of Washington, then turning westward over the Appalachian mountains and then to Galveston, Texas, from where they will follow the coast line to their own country.

W. A. CLOSES SEASON.

St. Luke's Ladies Enjoy Supper Served on Church Lawn.

The closing meeting for this season of the Auxiliary of St. Luke's Anglican church, was held on the church grounds on Tuesday afternoon, taking the form of an al fresco gathering and supper, and attended by a large number of the members.

The president, Mrs. J. J. Turner, took the chair for the business session, which was followed by the service of a bountiful repast. Mrs. J. M. Gemmell gave the report of the recent annual W. A. Convention in Toronto; the report for the Junior was given by Mrs. G. J. Bousfield; Mrs. W. Hepburn reported for the Girl Branch, and Mrs. J. Mackin for the Little Helpers.

LIGHTNING KILLS MAN IN NORTH

Terrific Storm Stuns Twenty-two Others Along T. and N. O. Line.

TO HORSES KILLED.

NORTH BAY, June 15. Canadian Press. — O. Olsen, a Norwegian, was killed, and twenty-two others were stunned Wednesday during a terrific lightning storm which prevailed over the district surrounding mileage 76 on the James Bay extension of the T and N. O. Railway. Olsen was killed while standing under a tree and the others were distributed throughout the settlement. Two horses also were killed.

RAOUL LAFLAMME IS UNDER ARREST

Six Day Search Begun When Brother Was Shot Ends To-day.

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., June 15. — (Canadian Press).—Raoul Laflamme, sought by the police in connection with the shooting to death of Albert Laflamme, his brother, on Sunday, was arrested to-day. The arrest was the culmination of a six-day search through the St. Raphael district.

A coroner's jury yesterday found Albert came to his death by being murdered by persons unknown and recommended that the police continue the search for Raoul.

Laflamme was arrested on a farm near St. Raphael, after the farmer had notified the police of seeing him behind his barn. He is believed to have been forced to return from the woods by hunger.

PICTURE ON STAMPS

BUCHAREST, June 15.—It always has been the custom of the Roumanian government to use the picture of the reigning sovereign on postage stamps. In accordance with this, 6-year-old King Michael's likeness is to appear on a forthcoming issue, even though he is not an active ruler. The portrait shows the boy in a simple white shirt of American design.

DEIGHTON GOES TO INSTITUTION

TORONTO, June 15 (Canadian Press)—George Deighton, who was recently found not guilty of the murder of his four-year-old son on the ground of insanity, will be removed to a mental institution in the near future, it was stated to-day by the Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General. It has not yet been decided to what institution Deighton will be taken. Some difficulty arose owing to the fact that Dr. W. T. Parry, jail surgeon at Toronto Jail, where Deighton was confined, has expressed the opinion that Deighton is now sane.

VOL. LXI., No. 141 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1928 PRICE THREE CENTS

Norwood Resident Fatally Injured in Train Crash

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN SUIT AGAINST CITY FOR DAMAGES; ALL EVIDENCE IN CASE TAKEN

William Henry Claims $5,000 For Injuries Received in Fall.

CHARGES NEGLIGENCE.

Many Witnesses Tell of Conditions at Time and of City's Methods.

Though all the evidence was in, argument heard and court adjourned, the outcome of the $5,000 damage suit brought by William Henry of 143 London street, against the City of Peterborough, in the June session of the county court, on Friday, still hangs in the balance, His Honor Judge Huycke having reserved judgment. The case, which opened at 10.30 in the morning was adjourned at 12.30 and continued after 2.30 p.m., but the afternoon was well advanced before the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., counsel for Henry, and F. J. Hughes, K.C., of Toronto, counsel for the City of Peterborough, had exhausted a fairly large supply of witnesses and had concluded their argument.

The claim of William Henry, a man of seventy years, was brought about by his having fallen upon the sidewalk near Dunsford's livery, 167 Brock street, on February 20, 1927, as a result of which he suffered a broken hip and other injuries. Through his counsel he accused the city of negligence in that the street, according to the claim, was icy and dangerous.

The argument of the rival counsellors, at the conclusion of the evidence summed up, briefly, the entire case, and it was left with His Honor to decide from the evidence, whether or not the city was negligent.

Harold Dunsford.

Harold Dunsford, sworn, stated that he had carried on a garage and taxi service at 167 Brock street, for a number of years, his building being just across the laneway from the Brock street skating rink. He explained how water from the roofs of the rink and other buildings fell in this laneway and flowed out over the sidewalk in time of wet weather or thaws; told of having asked the city on one occasion, that a trap for the storm drain be opened and stated that the trouble had been there for a number of years.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hughes, witness described new buildings which he had erected within the past year and the way in which water from the rink roof fell in the laneway. Of the weather, or of conditions of the sidewalk at the time of the accident, Mr. Dunsford could say but little, he having been confined to his bed through illness when plaintiff was hurt.

Mrs. H. Dunsford

Mrs. H. Dunford, the second witness called, told of Mr. Henry being brought into her home on the day of the accident; described the day as being cold and stormy and stated that the sidewalk had been kept clean generally by employees of her husband. She explained how the water ran from the laneway over the sidewalk; how, on occasions, the drain had been opened by the employees, but could not swear that there had or had not been sand placed on the icy part about the time of Mr. Henry's fall.

S. R. Armstrong

S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk for the past thirty-four years, was the third witness, he identifying a copy of the snow by-law in force at the time. (It was passed on December 3, 1900). Mr. Armstrong had been notified of the accident four days after it had taken place. A copy of the notice was filed. Witness could not give accurate information regarding regulation of snow ploughs.

Bertha Eagleson

Bertha Irene Eagleson gave valuable evidence, she having been the first to come to Mr. Henry's assistance after he had fallen. She described the day as being cold and stormy. "I could hardly stand up myself," said she, "and at the spot where he fell there was slippery ice beneath the snow extending over some eighteen feet of sidewalk. I did not notice anything on his clothing save snow. I couldn't get him up myself. I wanted to go for a doctor but he said, 'No.' I went to Dunford's and said I would have to have help. I did not notice any sand or ashes on his clothes after the fall."

Cross-examined, witness said that she had been at church and first noticed Mr. Henry's predicament when crossing the corner of George and Brock streets. She had walked to church and had found the walking slippery at times.

The Plaintiff

William Henry said that he was 69 years of age when the accident took place. He had been employed as janitor at the Y.W.C.A. and enjoyed good health. He recalled the day of the accident and went on to describe injuries including a broken hip, and an injured elbow which had affected his hand. In all, he had been in hospital for thirty-nine days, three

Premiers Exchange Wireless Greetings

OTTAWA, Ont., June 16 (Canadian Press). — Messages of greeting were exchanged yesterday between Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and the Premiers of the Five States of the Australian Commonwealth and the Island of Tasmania. The occasion was the inauguration of the beam wireless between Canada and Australia. In all of his messages the Prime Minister conveyed congratulations to the executives of the various states, and expressed the hope that the new means of transmission would "still further promote mutual understanding and helpful co-operation between the Canadian and Australian peoples."

Replies voicing like sentiments were received from Premier McCormack of Queensland, Premier E. J. Hogan of Victoria, Premier T. R. Bavin of New South Wales, Premier P. Collier of West Australia, Premier J. A. Lyons of Tasmania, and Premier Mitler of South Australia.

250 DELEGATES FROM DISTRICT

Kiwanians of Eastern Canada To Be Well Represented at International.

TO BE HELD IN SEATTLE.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 16 (Canadian Press).—Two hundred and fifty Mrs. H. Dunford

tario-Quebec-Maritime districts, representing the 3,000 Kiwanians of the 30 clubs in the district, are en route to-day for Seattle to attend the 12th annual convention of Kiwanis International. William Y. Mills, of Kingston, Governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district, is in charge of the delegation.

"Every Kiwanian in the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district will meet with his club on next Monday night at the exact hour with the opening of the convention session in Seattle," remarked Mr. Mills to-day. "Also every club in the United States and Canada will meet at this same hour for a united expression of tribute to the unselfish service of members on the North American continent."

A message for the membership from Henry C. Heinz, of Atlanta, president of Kiwanis International, says: "Ontario - Quebec - Maritime Kiwanians may well pause this week and consider the achievements of the past thirteen years and the responsibilities of the future."

FIRE DESTROYS MARMORA HOME

Fred Vincent Loses House and Furniture—Blaze Spreads Rapidly.

SOME INSURANCE.

MARMORA June 16. — The home of Fred Vincent was destroyed by fire last night. Mr. Vincent is working in Lakefield and his wife was in Stirling for the day leaving Mr. Vincent's mother and the two children at home.

Ray, one of the children, discovered the fire in the woodshed and gave the alarm. The chemical engine was used to prevent the fire from spreading to the adoining houses but nothing could be saved from the Vincent house except two pieces of furniture.

Some insurance is carried.

Around the City

The fire brigade answered two calls on Friday, one of them being of a serious nature. The destination of the brigade in the first run, which took place at 12.04 p.m., was 311 Rubidge street.

The second alarm, which came from 309 Park street, at 10.55 last night, was due to an electric heater which had been put in use, and which had caused a fire resulting in about $100 damage.

Three chimney fires occured today, the first coming in from 459 McDonnell street at 10.30; the second from 543 Parnell street, at 11.05, and the third from 629 Union street, at 12.00 p.m. Chemicals were sufficient in all three cases.

Dog Rides On Top Of Creamery Truck

Peterborough citizens waiting for busses last night on the corner of Charlotte and George streets at six o'clock were given an advance treat of circus exhibition and trick riding by trained animals.

A police dog was seen by The Examiner riding on top of the high cab of a Lakefield creamery truck, wagging his tail and barking at passersby. He seemed quite content on his perilous perch and appeared to be enjoyhimself immensely.

DR. McNULTY IS PRESIDENT

Peterborough Medical Society Wants Laboratory Maintained.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Dr. F. P. McNulty was elected president of the Peterborough Medical Society at the annual meeting held on Thursday evening in the board room of the Public Library, with a large attendance of the members. Other officers elected for the coming year were Dr. C. B. Waite, first vice-president, Dr. W. D. Scott, second vice-president, Dr. J. A. Morgan, treasurer, and Dr. Murray Fraser, secretary.

After considerable discussion had taken place regarding the possibility of the Provincial Government withdrawing its support from the Provincial Branch Laboratory here, a motion, voiced by Dr. A. Moir and seconded by Dr. H. M. Yelland, was adopted, in which the society strongly recommended that the Laboratory facilities be kept up to the present or even a higher standard and that these facilities be available for the surrounding country districts, as well as the city. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Provincial and local Boards of Health and to the City Council.

COUNTY FINANCES TO BE DISCUSSED

Council Will Hold June Session Next Week at Court House.

Finances will be the chief topic at the coming session of the County Council which commences on Tuesday afternoon in the council chambers of the court house. Many grants were asked for by different organizations in the city and county and these will have to be discussed. The county rate for 1928 has to be struck and the council has to decide how it will pay the $50000 provincial highway bill and its share of the addition to the Court House which was completed last summer. The War Memorial committee will ask the members for further consideration of its plea for a grant and the Exhibition Board will ask for its usual grant.

MARK STREET W.M.S.

Ladies Hold Regular Meeting and Hear Various Reports.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Mark Street Church was held Thursday, June 14, in the church, with a fair attendance. The president, Mrs. Wand, was in the chair. Mrs. Speer gave the scripture reading, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Millage. The secretary and treasurer read their reports, which were received and adopted. Mrs. Ellis contributed to the program with a piano selection.

Owing to the death of Mrs. Taylor, the greatly esteemed treasurer, a new treasurer had to be appointed. Mrs. Matchett was the unanimous choice of the members present. Mrs. Speer and the three group presidents were appointed to arrange for the special missionary Sunday in the fall. Mrs. Thornley gave a partial report on the Bay of Quinte Conference. The secretary was asked to have a notice read from the pulpit on Sunday of the sectional rally to be held in Mark street church, June 21.

A paper was read by Mrs. Payne on "Our Temperance Leaders." A most appreciated solo was rendered by Mrs. Thornley. Mrs. Troope gave a talk on Temperance, which was both interesting and instructive. She spoke of the temperance movement as a Christian movement and of the progress of prohibition in other countries—Japan, Italy, Egypt, England and the United States. Two of the greatest topics holding the attention of the world are world peace and world prohibition. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY FLOODED AS TWO LEVEES BREAK TO-DAY

Hundreds of Families Driven From Home By Rising Waters.

LABORERS IN DANGER.

Men Working On Barriers Forced To Flee For Their Lives When Break Comes.

KENNETT, Mo., June 16 (Canadian Press).—A thousand families were endangered today as a levee on the St. Francis River, six miles north of here, gave way. It is believed 20,000 acres of land will be inundated. The break followed a strenuous day's work by 3,000 men in an effort to hold the twenty-five mile river front against the surging waters.

60,000 Acres Flooded

NEW YORK, Arkansas, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Nearly 60,000 acres in the White River valley were flooded to-day and thousands more are being inundated by water released when the Steven levee near here broke. More than 700 families are homeless, many being cared for by the Red Cross.

Three hundred men were working on the levee when it collapsed. It gave way suddenly and the laborers fled, leaving tools and narrowly escaping death. The families whose homes were flooded were prepared and had moved to higher ground.

MANY BROILERS ON SALE TO-DAY

Prices Fall to 40 Cents a Pound After Opening at 55.

BUTTER 38 TO 42.

Little broilers, the toothsome expensive small morsels of chicken flesh which represent sorrowful small birds caught off in their prime to gratify epicurean taste, were present in fairly large numbers on the farmers' market this morning. The opening price was 55 cents a pound, but later quotations descended as low as 40 cents, while birds that saw the light of day last Fall, and came dressed to market this morning were 35 cents a pound. Hens were 30 cents a pound.

Butter was 38 to 42 cents a pound and eggs, small and large, were 30 and 35 cents a dozen.

On the open market, plants and seedlings still have the major portion of the sales. One vendor had two new names—bacconia, described as similar to the larkspur, with a high growth and blossoms of creamisn white,; and baronica, were the two novelties in floral nomenclature. They, with gaillardia, sold at 3 roots for 25 cents, while perennial gypsophila was 15 cents a root, and asters were 10 cents a dozen.

Asparagus sold at two bunches for a quarter, and spinach was 15 cents by the half peck. Potatoes were 30 cents a peck, or $1.40 to $1.65 by the bag.

Little pigs were $7 a piece.

MILITIA UNITS ATTEND SERVICE

Local Garrison Will Parade to St. John's Church To-morrow Morning.

Captain the Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., Chaplain, 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C., will address the members of the local militia units when the first garrison church parade since before the war, is held to St. John's church to-morrow morning. The units taking part are Headquarters and C Squadron, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, Major C. H. Stuart in command: 4th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, Major J. W. Stevenson; Peterborough Rangers, Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V.D.; and No. 3 Company, 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C., Major H. Dodds.

Col. Hall will be in charge of the parade, which will be led by the Rangers band, while Lieut. R. E. Sheehy will command the Roman Catholic soldiers, who will parade to St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Cathedral party will fall in at 10 o'clock, while the others will assemble at 10.30 in the Armories.

BRITAIN WINS.

Defeats United States 4-3 in Wightman Cup Tennis Series.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Great Britain today captured the Wightman Cup, signifying the women's tennis team supremacy, by winning four out of the seven matches from the United States.

'Sea-Fleas' Compete In 265-Mile Race

BOSTON June 16.—(Canadian Press)—Thirty-four racers, driving tiny boats equipped with outboard motors, started from here at daybreak to-day in the 265 mile Boston to New York ocean marathon, the most dangerous contest in the history of the sport.

The racers hope to reach Flushing Bridge, Long Island, before nine o'clock to-night and the first driver to cross the finish line will be awarded the $1,000 prize offered by New England Outboard Motor Boat Association sponsor of the event. The racers will put up for night and continue Sunday morning at 7.30.

The race was the longest ever attempted by such small boats and among the drivers were many who hold records for outboard speed racing.

THREE FLIGHTS ARE POSTPONED

Two Ocean Hops and Mexico Journey Delayed By Bad Weather.

WELCOME FOR FLIERS.

TREPASSEY, Newfoundland, June 16 (Canadian Press).—A delay of several days in the departure of the monoplane Friendship for Europe appeared probable to-day in the light of weather reports.

Weather Prevents Start

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, June 16 (Canadian Press).—All hope of making a take-off for Europe today was abandoned by the crew of the Columbia, owing to unfavorable weather conditions. Oliver LeBoutellier, who is to fly the plane with Mabel Boll and Arthur Argles, announced plans were being made for a take-off tomorrow.

Flight Postponed

WINDSOR, Ont., June 16 (Canadian Press).—Bad weather to-day forced the postponement of the nonstop flight of Joaquim Pascheco, Mexican, and Fritz Vieler, former German war flier, from Windsor to Mexico City.

Welcome for Fliers

BREMEN, Germany, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Three score airplanes concentrating here to fly to Bremen Haven to welcome Captain Herman Koehl and Baron von Huenfeldt, trans-Atlantic fliers, on their return from the United States.

LOCAL FIRMS HELP EQUIP BREWERY

Fitzgeralds Build Truck Body and Goodfellow and Welch Do Plumbing.

The new Reo truck recently purchased by the Peterborough Brewing Company was put into commission this morning, with Babe Anthony acting as chauffeur. The truck is a 3-ton Reo, purchased from the Brewer Motor Sales, of the very latest design, and is equipped with a body built by the Fitzgerald Company.

The body is white of cab style with doors in the sides and at the rear. The chassis is 24 feet long. Goodfelelow and Welch, local tinsmithing and plumbing firm, have practically finished all the copper work such as pipes and sheet metal, used to connect up the various parts of the equipment. Most of the material used was bought in this city, the pump being made at the DeLaval.

INJURED PLAYERS ARE DOING NICELY

Jack LeBarr Out of Game For Season With Broken Ankle.

Al. Rooke, of the Cognawagas, and Jack LeBarr, of the Crescents, who were injured in last night's ball game, are doing nicely to-day. The former is at his home with back injuries, which, while painful, are not thought to be serious, no bones having been broken or the spine injured, the latter is at St. Joseph's Hospital with a fracture of the right ankle. Rooke will be out of the game for several weeks and LeBarr for the season

Chemong Detour Ready For Traffic

Chemong residents and patronizers of the pavilion will not be very much inconvenienced by the construction about to take place on the Chemong road. On the proposed detour the culverts have all been protected by railings and the narrow parts of the road and bridges have been marked. The road is in fair condition and a little discretion in driving will be great aid. The floating bridge through the long swamp has been repaired and turnouts provided at each end. This is the detour past Jackson Park, into the Lindsay Road, then to the Chemong Road above the area to be under construction.

NORMAL PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

Traditional Rainfall Does Not Arrive To Mar Teachers' Outing.

TO STONEY LAKE.

The old adage, "that it always rains the day of the Normal picnic" seems to have been shattered as the teachers were greeted with a beautiful sunshiny day for their annual outing up the lakes yesterday, and the only shower was the tears that filled the eyes of the students when the day was over and they bid their teachers and fellow-students farewell.

The boat was due to leave at 8 a.m., but it was 8.30 before it slowly steamed out from the George Street Wharf with its animated crowd of care-free students and teachers. All thoughts of examinations and papers were put out of mind for the day, and everyone was in a merry mood, determined to enjoy to the fullest the last day of their pleasant associations.

Many were the expressions of admiration from the student teachers as some of them viewed for the first time the beauties of the Otonabee River, Clear and Stoney Lakes, and the operation of the Lift Lock.

Meals were served on the boat through the generosity of Miss McVannell and the other lady teachers, who spent a great deal of time and energy in preparing the excellent meals. So quickly did the sandwiches and salads disappear, that some were accused of coming without their breakfast. A stop was made of one hour at Burleigh Falls before starting on their return trip, and its beautiful scenery was fully explored.

During the journey home community singing and dancing were indulged in, and a jolly time enjoyed.

Before reaching Peterborough Miss Vera Wagar, president of the Literary Society of the Normal School, on behalf of the students, made a short speech, speaking of the pleasant year's work and memories that the students would carry through life of their association together. She thanked the teachers and said they would not say good-bye but au revoir.

D. Walker, principal, replied, wishing all students success in their chosen profession and the best of good luck in life.

R. F. Downey made a few remarks, speaking of his pleasant associations, while a critic teacher, with Dr. Park, and wishing him a well-merited rest from his strenuous duties.

Besides the staff, teachers and students there were present the teachers' wives, also Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Todd, Rev. and Mrs. Wren, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. D. Loomis, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. McTavish, Mr. and Mrs. McCamus and Mrs. Munroe.

NOMINATION DAY IN THREE RIDINGS

Contests Expected in By-Elections For Ontario House.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press).—This is nomination day for the Ontario Legislature by-elections in South Bruce, East Hamilton, and North Renfrew. The elections will take place on Wednesday, June 27.

South Bruce, made vacant by the unseating of M. A. McCallum, Progressive; East Hamilton, by the resignation of Hon. Leeming Carr, Conservative, on his acceptance of the post of Sheriff of Wentworth County, and North Renfrew, by the death of Alexander Stuart, Conservative.

In East Hamilton, Controller William Morrison will be nominated by the Conservatives and it is probable that Alderman John Hodgson will run as an Independent Conservative. The Liberals are expected to nominate Currie Gardner, while the Canadian Labor Party has announced it will name A. Avery as candidate.

In North Renfrew, E. A. Dunlop will be nominated by the Conservatives and Paul Martin by the Liberals.

Foster Moffatt will be nominated by the Conservatives in South Bruce and M. A. McCallum by the Progressives.

CHARLES VANDERBURG DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED IN NORWOOD CROSSING WRECK

Crashes Into Moving C. P. R. Freight Train at Norwood Crossing.

COMPANION INJURED.

William Ferguson Receives Cuts About Head and Legs.

Charles Vanderburg was injured in a crossing crash near Norwood railway station yesterday afternoon, while his son-in-law, who was his companion in the car, received cuts about the head and legs, but was not seriously injured.

While proceeding south towards the village they failed to see a freight train approaching from the east at the crossing just east of the Norwood station.

When Vanderburg, the owner of the car, attempted to apply the brakes, they failed to take hold, and his car hit the front of the engine, turning completely around with the force of the impact.

Rushed to Peterborough.

Vanderburg was attended to by Dr. Sutton, who immediately rushed him to Peterborough, where he was met by Comstock's ambulance, and Dr. Howson. He was alive at the time the train arrived but died on the way to the hospital.

Mr. Vanderburg lived a mile and a half north of the village, near Killarney, and Mr. Ferguson lived on the next farm.

The side-curtains were on the car, and it is believed this interfered with Mr. Vanderburg's view along the track.

Marooned Explorers Drifting Eastward

(Copyrighted 1928 by The Associated Press — By O. Arnesen, Correspondent of the Associated Press).

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 6 (A.P.).—Instead of drifting to the westward, as at first supposed, General Umberto Nobile and his five companions of the dirigible Italia, marooned on an ice floe, are drifting to the east.

It had been supposed that owing to the east wind prevailing at King's Bay, the Nobile party had been blown westward, but it is learned now that a west wind prevailed in the northern regions, and the position of this group of castaways at midnight Thursday night was reported as 80.38 north latitude, 27.49 east longitude, or about ten miles east of their original location.

The watchers at this place are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Major Maddalena, the Italian aviator flying the Savoia-55. He is due here to-day, and as soon as possible after that the base ship Citta Di Milano will get into communication with General Nobile.

PAVING WORK PROGRESSING

Constant Shifting of Barriers Proves Confusing to Campbellford Motorists.

SURFACING BEGINS.

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16. — As each day passes, the streets of the town are becoming more and more impassable in some sections, while in others they are being opened to traffic, although only the base of the pavement has been laid. It is a case of worse and more of it for the next few days at least. A few yards along a comparatively smooth pavement and the motorist drops off the end with a bump that he is not soon to forget. Just when he thinks he has all the bumps mentally charted, he find there is another of which he has neglected to make a mental note. At night, he is sure to run up against a red lantern before he has ventured many blocks through the centre of the town. Such a condition is necessary in order that the citizens may enjoy smooth streets and less dust in the very near future.

At the present time, the streets are neither rough nor smooth in most places. Although the greater part of the concrete base has been laid, there is still much more to be put down, and the sewer system is somewhat of a problem for the official concerned. Grand road has been opened to traffic for some time, Sebastapol is also open, and yesterday Tice street had its barriers removed. George street is partially blocked off and this makes it necessary for people wishing to go out the Havelock road to make a detour around the back streets which up to the present were rarely used except for local traffic. The main problem on Frank and Queen streets seems to be the sewer excavation. Although the digging is good for the first few feet, there is considerable rock to be blasted out of the bottom. This delays the excavation considerably.

The Front street sewers are another problem. These begin at the corner of Front and Bridge and go north along Front. At the corner, the excavation is approximately thirteen feet deep. Work has been going on all week, and not till yesterday was the first tile laid and cemented. The work of excation is not yet completed past the business section.

Yesterday, the excavator has been busy on the Bridge street hill, making a more finished job of the ditch on either side of the pavement. The earth removed is being placed along the newly-tiled ditch on Ranney street. The intersection at the top of the hill, where Booth, Centre and Bridge streets interesect is also to be paved. While the work was going on there, it was only considered wise to put the twenty-foot strip around the corner. The council has since decided to pave the entire intersection. The two main intersections downtown have yet to be paved. If these are done all at one time, it will make it necessary for vehicular traffic to detour south around by the canal bridge at No. 10 Hydro power house in order to cross the river. The distance will be about two miles, and all that the driver will have accomplished will be about one town block. It is expected that this part of the work will be done with a minimum of delay so as not to inconvenience traffic more than is absolutely necessary.

With the arrival of the surfacing crew and equipment, the townspeople will feel that the end of all the disturbance and inconvenience is in sight. The material used for surfacing does not require more than a few hours to harden and may be driven on a few hours after it has been put down. The one consolation with which motorists are comforting themselves is that there will be more than two miles of streets in town that will be free from bumps and mud puddles, and a pleasure to drive over.

ROADS ARE GOOD NEAR BAILIEBORO

Highway Is Now In Excellent Shape For Motor Traffic.

BAILIEBORO, June 16. — The roads of this district are now in excellent condition for motoring. The greater portion of the statute labor has been completed for this season, and considering the wet backward spring that has only recently passed the road conditions are excellent.

This district is very proud of its wonderful scenery and good farming community.

Rice Lake, with its many beauty spots, is only a short distance from the village and thousands of tourists annually travel to the lake to enjoy an outing on one of the finest fishing grounds in this part of the country, as well as to breathe the pure invigorating air, and gaze upon scenery that is very difficult to equal.

The roads leading from the provincial highway to the lake, east of the village, are in good condition for country roads, and it makes a wonderfully fine drive for motorists, to drive along a good road, with prosperous farms and fine buildings, both to the right and left.

The 'Scriver Memorial' may also be seen while motoring to the lake, where it stands stately in the small Pengelly burying grounds quite close to the lake shore.

Free Camping Ground.

W. D. Hibbard operates a free camping ground two miles east of the highway. He also has a very large boat livery and each year adds several new skiffs to his fleet. Many stay at his large summer house, where they obtain their rooms and board, as there are always some tourists who do not care for camp life.

There are several cozy summer cottages which are always available for those who desire cottages, quite near the lake, and these are ideal for those who desire a quiet outing, where they will not be disturbed by other tourists.

The residents of this district are very courteous to all tourists travelling in this district and are always willing to assist in making their visit as pleasant as possible.

Each year tourists from across the line declare that the view of the lake with the surrounding country is the finest they can find anywhere in their travels.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES OF NORTH HASTINGS DISTRICT HOLD ANUAL CONVENTION

Visiting Members of Branches Are Entertained By Madoc Society.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Agricultural Representative Addresses Members on School Fairs.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, June 16.—Tuesday, June 12th was the "big" day in Madoc for the Women's Institutes of the District of North Hastings, the district annual convention being held in the village of Madoc this year.

The members of Madoc branch had the matter of entertainment in the hands of competent committees under the capable leadership of Mrs. C. N. Whytock, chairman, and Mrs. E. M. Tumelty, president, and early in the day all roads led to the place of meeting, the Orange Hall, kindly granted for the purpose by the Orange Order.

The hall was decorated by flowers and the decorations of the 'Star' Order, and the tables arranged in the lower hall.

Shortly after 10.30 the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Geo. Bailey and opened by community singing, followed by the Ode and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved, and the financial report given. A list of 22 places was given where branches have been organized during the years 1908 and 1926, but of these only eight are now organized. With these 8 branches, 86 meetings have been held during the past year with a total attendance of 1703. The papers and addresses given number 65, and the Institute has 301 members in the district of North Hastings. The receipts for the district were $182.46, the expenditure was $107.40, leaving a cash balance of $75.06. This statement was audited on June 11th, by Mrs. W. Whytock and Mrs. D. Moorcroft and found to be correct, and was adopted on motion of Mesdames Nickle and Tumelty.

Addresses Members.

Mr. Wilson, agricultural representative at Stirling, was then introduced and spoke briefly of school fairs and judging competitions, also of the health competition to be put on in Thurlow township, then of school nurses, and the benefit from their services. Then outlined the plan for the judging competition which will be held for this district on July 10th, in Belleville.

Adjournment was then made for dinner which was served by the

SHOWER HELD.

Many Useful Gifts Received in Honor of Miss Eveline Murney.

SPRINGVILLE, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Weatherup were host and hostess on Wednesday evening, July 13th, at a miscellaneous shower given at their home, 161 Adeline street, in honor of Miss Eveline Murney of Springville, whose marriage takes place on Saturday.

A dozen or more girl friends were present and Miss Murney was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

The evening was spent in games and a social time, at the close of which a dainty lunch was served.

FAIRMOUNT W.M.S. HOLDS MEETING

Representatives of Cavan and Springville Societies Present at Gathering.

SPRINGVILLE, June 16.—On Wednesday afternoon the Fairmount W. M.S. held a very interesting meeting.

The president, Mrs. Hanbidge, conducted the meeting which opened with the singing of "There Shall Be Showers of Blessings," after which Mrs. R. Hooton led in prayer.

Mrs. R. S. Staples, president of Cavan W.M.S., read the scripture lesson Romans 8:13-38, responsively.

After singing another hymn, Mrs. Hanbidge introduced Mrs. Moore who then gave her report of the Presbytery W.M.S. held in Lindsay. It was a splendid report of the missionary activities of the church and of the business put through at that missionary gathering.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Moore's address, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Hanbidge sang the duet, "He Walks With Me, and He Talks With Me" Mrs. Murray McBain presided at the piano.

The meeting closed with the singing of the hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign, etc."

The Fairmount ladies served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

Mrs. R. S. Staples, on behalf of Cavan W.M.S., moved a vote of thanks to the Fairmount ladies for their hospitality and to Mrs. Moore for her very helpful address

Mrs. S. S. Staples, on behalf of Springville W.M.S., seconded this motion, after which the gathering dispersed.

Cavan W.M.S. and Springville W.M.S., had representatives present, by invitation.

AID GIVES PRESENT.

Fraserville Ladies Note Departure of Mrs. H. W. Foley From Community.

FRASERVILLE, June 15. — The Fraserville Ladies' Aid took the occasion at theier regular monthly meeting held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday afternoon to present to Mrs. H. W. Foley a lovely reed fern stand and fern, prior to her departure from this community. Mrs. Fred Clark read the address and Mrs. Wm. McElroy made the presentation.

Mrs. Foley, though taken completely by surprise, responded very suitably, after which all joined in singing one verse of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Mrs. Foley has been a faithful member of the Ladies Aid during the past three years.

Mrs. R. Waterman presided for the Formal meeting of the Aid, which opened by singing, followed by Mrs. Jos. Lackey reading the scriptural lesson.

After the business part of the meeting was over, the remainder of the afternoon was spent socially, followed by a dainty repast. There were twenty-four present. It was decided at this meeting to hold the annual strawberry festival on July 10th, to be held on the church grounds.

Personals.

DUMMER SCHOOLS HOLD CONVENTION

Sunday School Workers of Township Have Profitable Meetings.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, June 16. — The seven Sunday Schools of Dummer held their annual convention in Cottesloe Church on Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 7. The delegates numbered: Ninth Line School, 3; Cottesloe, 23; Carmel, 5; Bethel, 2; Warsaw United, 16; Presbyterian, 2; and Baptist, 1.

Rev. Mr. Moyer, minister of Cottesloe congregation, conducted the opening exercises. The Scripture reading was from Psalm 119, verses 9 to 16. Robert Somers, the township superintendent, spoke briefly. In the reports of the Sunday Schools, the classes are generally curtained or screened, especially among the little ones. All use graded lessons, either the department graded or the International, with the lessons graded for different classes. All use either the picture roll or blackboard, one using both, for the beginners. In two Sunday Schools the first three classes were in one. All have an adult Bible class, but none separate men and women. Ninth Line Sunday School has more young men than any other class of pupils. Cottesloe junior class has ten boys. Their teacher, E. N. MacDonald, asked about organizing the lads in a Tuxis square, and Mr. Seymour explained that while the boys were really young, the regulations were elastic, and so long as the boys were fit and of an age that could work together, it would be well. He explained the use of regularly organized classes was not to interefere with regular Sunday School work, but to develop leaders. Where numbers are few, organized classes are more difficult. The most essential thing is to get the attendance.

There is only one teacher training class, and that is in Cottesloe. A number from Dummer attended the standard training class in October last in Lakefield, and obtained their certificates. This year there is likely to be a standard training class at Bridgenorth, and another at Warsaw. A large number of those present promised to attend.

Mr. Seymour warned people not to send their children to the Sunday School, but to bring them. He urged the Home Department for those unable to attend the Sunday School, even if only one half-hour a week was spent on the lesson.

Afternoon Session.

In Mr. Seymour's afternoon address, he said he had not come to give advice, but perhaps to bring new thoughts or inspire old ones. In speaking of the Religious Education Council of Canada, he said: "Religion has to do with the heart, and education with the mind, and until we come to the place where the two meet we cannot work for Christ efficiently. Religious education makes up life. We love to belong to big things. He spoke of the large numbers of pupils in Sunday Schools throughout

SPECIAL SPEAKER ADDRESSES LAKEFIELD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Yates of Athens Sent From Department For June Meeting.

WORK DESCRIBED.

LAKEFIELD, June 16.—Mrs. Yates of Athens, Ontario, was the speaker sent from the Department to the Women's Institute for the June meeting held on Wednesday, June 13th. About fifty of the Women's Institute members were present, and about twenty members of the Junior Institute.

Mrs. J. H. Payne, the president was in the chair. An excellent report of the district meeting in Warsaw was given by Mrs. Cameron, who outlined the two sessions in a report which was both brief and full.

Mrs. Leslie Harrison, the secretary of the society, read the branch report, showing a creditable record of achievement in the eleven months since organization.

Miss Margaret Sanderson made a suggestion which met with instant favor and that was to mark the entrances of the village with attractive signs for tourists. It was decided that the Institute should do this and a committee was appointed.

It was decided to hold a strawberry festival in the near future to pay for these signs and to increase also the balance in the treasury.

Strangers' Day.

Mrs. Kingdon made a valuable suggestion also in wishing to have a strangers' day, when newcomers to the village might be welcomed and given a chance to meet some of the women in a social way. This was regarded also as being worth carrying out at a meeting in the near future.

Mrs. Yates told of the vast proportions to which the Women's Institute movement has given. There are 2,200 branches in Canada, 4,000 in England, 1,313 in Germany, 500 in Scotland, 21 district organizations in Ireland, 900 in Poland, and 399 in Finland. Australia and New Zealand have branches also Natal and Rhodesia in South Africa. The seed planted 31 years ago in Ontario has grown enormously, and has been a tremendous factor in nation building.

In Belgium, after the war, when all the Government appropriations were cut down, that of the Women's Institute was doubled. Thousands of pounds are spent annually in Institute work. The growth is real and not spurious, although so very rapid. The first president of a Women's Institute was Mrs. Hoodless of Stoney Creek, who regarded the organization as of infinite value in training homemakers. This branch at Stoney Creek which began the great movement thirty-one years ago with a membership of 101, is still flourishing.

The object of the Women's Institute is to promote knowledge of house hold science, household architecture, sanitation, care of children and food. This statement is recorded in the first minute book of the first branch.

School For Adults.

The Women's Institute is really a school for adults, and among the subjects studied are all the branches of household science, historical research, relief work, immigration, agriculture, legislation, Canadian industry, and everything embodied in the motto, "For Home and Country."

The women were urged to beautify the school grounds with flowers and shrubs, and to combine with the teachers in encouraging the children to love them and care for them. The supervision of the noon hour was urged even if it meant an increase of the salary of the teacher. This applied most particularly to rural schools. Then home economies should be regarded as one of the most important items in the program for homes are the foundation of nation building. It is not the

JOINT MEETING OF SOCIETIES

Ladies' Aid and W. M. S. of Cavan United Church Meet.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED.

CAVAN, June 16. — On Thursday afternoon a joint meeting of the Ladies' Aid and W. M. S. of Cavan United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Syer.

The president of the Aid, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, conducted the meeting which opened with the usual devotional session, the singing of a hymn, repeating the Lord's Prayer, and a Scripture lesson.

The reading of the minutes of the last meeting caused a great deal of discussion. The committee who had been named to see about purchasing blinds for the windows of the basement of the church reported. Mrs J. Douglas Mrs. W Douglas and Miss Tinney were appointed to purchase the window shades and put them up.

The carpet committee also reported and it was decided to leave the purchasing of new carpet until a later date. After all old and new business had been disposed of the meeting adjourned and Mrs. R. S. Staples, president of the W.M.S. took the chair.

This was supposed to be a Temperance program, but as the time for the meeting was so limited the regular program could not be followed.

"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" was sung followed by prayer by Mrs. Swain for Temperance and Missions.

Mrs. R. Matchett read the minutes of the last meeting, and they were adopted. She reported that the Watch Tower Committee are Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, Mrs. M. Matchett, Miss F. Hunter, Mrs. D. J. Hunter and Mrs. J. C. Swain.

Mrs. Staples told the meeting that that she had been asked if a sectional missionary rally of the Bensfort, Bailieboro, Fairmount, Bethany and Cavan Women's Missionary Societies might be held at Cavan on Wednesday June 20. After discussion it was decided to have the rally on are building up Speed Wagon Fleets in numbers never known before

YOU can't fool the fleet owner on motor trucks. He can check every claim with cold, hard, dollars-and-cents facts dug out of his own experience. So you seldom find fleet owners changing from one make of truck to another, except on the basis of proved facts. That's why other trucks so rarely make inroads into Speed Wagon fleets. And it's why Speed Wagons have always been favorites with fleet owners. They proved their fitness for all kinds of operating conditions by millions of miles of use.

And now fleet owner after fleet owner in all lines of business—men who know motor trucks—are buying the new Speed Wagons in even greater volume than they ever did before.

The fleet owner knows that with the thirteen new models he can standardize on Speed Wagons—with all the economies which can come only through such standardization.

And the fleet owner knows he can get more miles per day from six cylinders than he can from four. He knows that loads are safer on trucks equipped with 4-wheel internal hydraulic brakes. He knows that maintenance is lowered by automatic chassis lubrication. He knows that drivers are more contented and more efficient if given a truck that's easy to handle and comfortable to ride in, regardless of the weather.

And he knows that he can get all these features only in the new Speed Wagon.

Try one yourself. The Speed Wagon itself will show you what faster, surer, easier, cheaper transportation means today.

TO ME, JOHN PLANE IS ALWAYS INTERESTING. His smile is like a bit of sunshine. He always makes me think of a June day, honeysuckle, and the humming of bees. When feeling blue or out of sorts a visit to his workshop never fails to brighten and brace me up. And, while his speech may be plain, it is also stimulating. He uses his two eyes to the best possible ends, and can tell how many toes are on a hen's foot and whether a cow's ears are before or behind its horns. His is a mind that remembers and reflects—a mind that the average philosopher would be proud to possess. I don't know that he has read much, if any, of the philosophy of the schools, but I do know that he is a philosopher of the very best type. As I have listened to his words and meditated upon the thoughts transmitted from his mind to my own, I have felt that some school or college lost what would have been a brilliant scholar when the carpenter's bench instead of a college bench claimed John Plane.

The Place and Power of Colors.

When I saw him last he said to me, "Has it ever occurred to you that one of the great influences upon our lives is the color of our surroundings? There are colors which please us and are good with which to surround ourselves. Others neither please nor displease; they are not so good. Some colors are actively displeasing and should be avoided if possible.

Now, I have an idea that the reason for our feelings about certain colors is to be found in nature!

"Green, the color of all foliage and herbage, is naturally the most restful of all."

With a twinkle in his eye, he said, "And, Mr. Preacher, when you run up against some fellow who is unusually green, feel compensated in the knowledge that his color is restful, and take a good look at him, even if you feel like kicking him!

Sky and Sea.

"You know, of course, that blue is the color of the sky and of the sea—but, do you know that it is conducive to a serious mood, and often gives the impression of coldness?

"Yellow is the color of sunlight and of almost all fires. From these associations it takes on a cheerful aspect. It gives the impression of warmth. It is a good color with which to surround ourselves in a cold climate. A friend of mine once went to work in an office that was finished all in yellow. Shortly after he came it was refinished in slate blue. And the funny thing was that almost right away the stenographers began to complain about being cold. It was found that the office had to be kept three to five degrees warmer or nobody felt comfortable. Therefore, if you want to save on the coal bill and at the same time make everybody happy and comfortable, finish your office in yellow!

On Seeing Red.

"Perhaps you are aware of the effect of a red rag upon a bull, but do you know the reason why? Red, the color of blood, is exciting and stimulating. To be surrounded by it tends to make one hasty and excitable.

"No doubt there are some people you know who might be the better of having this experiment tried upon them. They are so slow and dull that it almost sends you to sleep to look at them for any length of time. Let us house them in a red house and keep them there for a while. Have no other color, within or without, but a flaming red. And if that does not change them let us banish them to some desert island or make arrangements for their funeral. All dead things should be buried!

Poor Eyes.

"I have noticed that many who live in cities have poor eyes. That may be due in part to the amount of close work they have to do in artificial and poor light, but the lack of green in the surroundings probably has a lot to do with it. The city dweller seldom sees enough green. Usually he is surrounded by browns and greys. We have a feeling of rest when we look at green, for the reason that green is good for the eyes. Oculists prescribe green tinted glasses in many cases of eye weakness or sensitiveness.

"I have heard of a church which is decorated in dark green. And I am assured that it is a pleasure to go to that church, it is so restful."

As I went on my way to attend to the duties of the day, I felt more deeply grateful than ever to the giver of every good and perfect gift for making me acquainted with my carpenter friend. The chips and shavings which I have gathered from time to time in his workshop have caused my meditative fires to burn. Then spake I! And I have reason to know that my words have not been without some value to readers of this page. —Allan Fairbairn.

Above one is carved a beautiful wreath of roses, and underneath is the legend, "All that which pleases is only for a moment." Over the other is a sculptured cross, and the words, "All that which troubles is but for a moment." Beneath the great central entrance in the main aisle is the inscription, "That only is which is eternal."

What The First Advent Did!

THE coming of Jesus Christ to the world had the single object of effecting a complete restoration of amicable relations between man who has sinned and God who is holy. The coming of Christ was definitely an act of God, and prompted wholly through love. The incarnation is a necessary perrequisite to a Redeemer. In order to accomplish redemption, Christ was God-man. He partook of our nature, and at the same time was in very truth of. In Himself God and man perfectly met.—"Jesus Christ at the Crossroads." —A. Z. Conrad.

Laugh and See Who will Laugh with You

THE United States is a large body of laughter-loving people completely surrounded by Trusts.

It is the richest country in the world, nowhere is food so plentiful, nowhere are the Cows so friendly, the Hens so industrious.

When the Hens die they go to join their unhatched children in a cold storage Heaven, where they live forever. So too the Cows, so too the Fish, if there is room for them; if not, they are turned into fertilizer to keep them from scaling down the market price.

The United States is a large dry country bounded on the north by Canadian Club whiskey, on the south by Mexican pulque, and on the east and west by salt water. The population consists of 100,000,000 thirsty souls, some of whom are Americans.

A race of strap-hangers is developing. At certain hours of the day they may be seen seeking their habitations in great flocks, swinging from strap to strap.

The original inhabitants were Red Indians; these were supplanted by Pale Pilgrims, who first settled the country and then settled the Indians.

The Indian practice of painting and wearing feathers shocked the Pilgrim Fathers and Mothers, but the Pilgrim Daughters made a note of these fashions for future use.

The capital of the United States is Washington—named after a famous Britisher who won American Independence from George the Third, the corpulent German King of unsound mind, then holding down the English throne.

Somebody has said that New York is the tallest and noisest city in the world, speaking a babel of twenty different languages besides English.

The only resident of the United States who may not possibly be able to appreciate this skit will be a certain notorious mayor whose fame, such as it is, has gone to the ends of the earth.

Such as it is I subscribe to it, although to subscribe to anything is supposed to be against the traditions of the race to which I have the honor to belong. I should like to meet the chap who first of all suggested it so that we could both laugh in each other's company.

I do not love the British Empire any the less because of the great admiration that I have for the United States.

A Pen Picture

SOMETHING hidden in the ground! The man was able to do it quickly, for the soil was not hard, and he had to do it with the greatest speed imaginable, as it would never do for anyone to find what he had stowed away. Yet this is no thief or plunderer, if one may judge by his appearance, for he is a noble-looking man, and seems to be an officer of rank. There is something about his face that one can trust, and yet is expresses very clearly at this moment the greatest indignation, as well as considerable alarm.

* * *

Several hours have passed by. We see the same man again, but this time not alone. If one may judge by his gestures he is reproving some persons, and clearly he is right in doing so, yet if he be in the right why does he suddenly change color? Did someone see him when he was digging? A chill of fear strikes to his very heart as the words which fall upon his ear reveal to him that his secret is discovered!

He hurries from the spot, and of this I am sure that neither to-morrow nor the day after will you see him near the place where he concealed in the earth that which never belonged to him.

The key to the previous Pen Picture of Bible History is to be found in Isa. 36:2 and 37:33.

That man only is great who utilizes the blessings that God provides and of these blessings no gift equals the gentle, trusting companionship of a good woman.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

IT has been well said that industry is of little avail unless it be seconded by punctuality—a habit which may be acquired with but slight perseverance by every one. Perhaps these combined qualities were never so well exemplified in the career of a public man as in that of the Duke of Wellington. It is said that when on one occasion he was making an appointment to meet a famous engineer early on the morning of the following day, the latter remarked, "I will take care to be punctual at five." To this Wellington replied, with a quiet smile, "Say a quarter to five. I owe all I have achieved to being ready a quarter of an hour before it seemed necessary to be so; and I learned that lesson when I was a boy."

A Cluster of Pearls

IT is hard to tire the man whom Christ has rested.

A stingy Christian is a living dishonor to Christ, and a stingy soul has to be pitied for its littleness.

It is reasonable to suppose that the man who never speaks of his religion in public is not getting much enjoyment out of it in private.

The smallest cottage has room for two lovers, and they will not love each other any the less when a baby comes to claim its share.

If some folks would growl less they might grow more in grace and popularity.

It doesn't do you any good to hold the key to the situation if you are too lazy to turn it.

Sparks From a Methodist Anvil

WHEN a man does not like a doctrine he calls it a dogma, and so creates a prejudice against it.

It still remains that it is dogmatice Christianity which wins men, and renews them, and affords them power to serve their generation, and fiushes them with peace, and joy, and radiant hope.

And it is the dogmatice churches which succeed numerically and in every way.

EMASCULATE your theology and you sooner or later emaculate your whole church life and service.

There are spiritual facts to surrender which is to surrender evangelical Christianity.

I observe with solicitude that some "new" theologies involve also a "new" morality. They demand to remain in the pay—I will use the ugly but fitting word—of the communities whose doctrinal standards they have disavowed. I am incapable of understanding such ethics. Such a resultant immorality is a strong refutation of the theology with which it is associated.

The prime function of the pulpit is to answer the question, "What must I do to be saved?" It is the tragedy of the modern pulpit that, by this touchstone tried, it so often fails.

SABBATHISM

LIVE so that when the final summons comes you will leave something more behind you than an epitaph on a tombstone or an obituary in a newspaper.

You can find anything in the average church to-day, from a humming bird to a turkey buzzard.

Death-bed repentance is burning the candle of life in the service of the devil, and then blowing the smoke into the face of God.

Which Was the Painter

"Apart from me ye can do nothing."

I am going to paint the house," said a big can of paint waiting, all ready mixed in the wood-shed. "No, I am going to paint it," the paint brush asserted, bristling with impatience. "You are, are you?" sneered the ladder, lying against the wall. "How far would either of you do without me?" "Or without me to pay the bill?" said the cheque-book of the owner of the house, in a voice muffled by the pocket of the coat hanging on a nail. Just then the painter who had overheard these proud remarks ventured to put in a word. "Perhaps I better take a holiday," said he quietly. "I wonder if the house would be painted by the time I get back." Even the most efficient of us is only a tool in the hands of the infinite worker. —Selected.

WHO PAYS THE BILLS HERE?

The question raised by the Ottawa Journal as to where the money spent in Communist propaganda in Canada comes from seems to be pertinent.

The British Home Secretary is responsible for the statement that gunmen arrested in England were found to be in the possession of money that had been traced to Communist organizations in Britain after passing through Russian bank houses.

The same authority speaking to the Imperial Parliament, quoted a Communist report to the effect that in its first two years after its organization in England, the Communist party obtained $307,000 from outside sources, and only $3,500 in subscriptions from residents of Britain.

Is that the case in Canada?

Is the Communist campaign that is being carried on in various sections of this country also financed to a great extent from outside sources—Russia, in short?

The failure of English Communists to make any substantial contribution to the cause would suggest that Canadian believers in the Red doctrine may not be any more liberal.

There is undoubtedly considerable money devoted to such work here; where does it come from?

THE GRAND JURY.

Public opinion, The Examiner feels sure, will agree with Judge Huycke's valuation of Grand Juries rather than with the views of his brother judge who declared that such juries were a useless bill of expense and were of no real service.

The Grand Jury is a venerable institution it is true, but there is no reason to believe that it has outlived its usefulness.

As a matter of fact it is as much a protection for the public as it ever was inasmuch as it serves to prevent the expense of useless trials, and its inspection of public institutions is surely of benefit and value.

His Honor Judge Huycke in his address to the Grand Jury at the local assizes called attention to this feature of their work, pointing out that a previous Grand Jury had revealed conditions in the House of Refuge that demanded attention and it is notable that the jury on this occasion has stressed the need of better bathing facilities and hot water supply to the local jail.

Such recommendations are necessary but if the Grand Jury were to be abolished it is feared that in some cases the conditions that call for attention might not be revealed.

THE INCOME TAX.

It has not yet been recorded that the Canadian Council of Agriculture has passed a resolution commending Premier Taschereau of Quebec upon his declaration that: "The day you abolish the income tax you will go a long way to support industry."

Despite the well-known fondness of the Council of Agriculture and others farmers' organizatios for this form of levy there will be many Canadians who will agree with Quebec's Premier that the income tax handicaps industry inasmuch as it absorbs capital that otherwise would be employed in developing Canadian resources and opening new opportunities of employment for Canadian workers.

The admiration of the Progressive group for the income tax is not likely, however, to prevent further reductions when Mr. Robb brings down his next budget.

There are various objections to the tax, all of which are logical and the Finance Minister is too good a business man to continue a levy that he realizes affects industry and blocks development.

Many people will be very much disappointed if he does not do some more pruning in 1929.

THE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT.

Most of the changes that have occurred during the past month have been of a constructive character, and, therefore, there has been a further rise in business activity, says the Monthly Commercial Letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Notwithstanding the late start in spring work on the land, the reports from the several hundred branches of this bank situated in agricultural districts are among the most favorable ever received. Conditions affecting agriculture and the building trades, two industries of major importance at this season, are fully discussed in another part of the Letter, but the situation in respect of the former may be summarized by stating that the farmers' income is at a high level; that there are prospects of a continued strong market for most agricultural products, and that planting on an excellent soil bed in the West has been conducted on a larger scale than in any previous year except, possibly, 1921.

Speculation on the mining stock exchanges has eased somewhat during the last few months, but this should not be taken as an indication of the outlook for mining.

The feverish activity on the exchanges last autumn could only be called "mob speculation," and fortunately it was checked. At present there is no lack of capital for sound mining enterprise, and the productive capacity of the mining industry continues to be enlarged. A year ago the market for most metals was weak and prices were declining, while at this date the demand is stronger and the operations of producers of silver, copper, lead and zinc are on a more profitable basis.

Lumbering continues to be conducted under slightly more favorable conditions than prevailed a few months ago, and for the time being at least this industry is in a sounder position.

Competition becomes keener in the pulp and paper markets as the capacity for production increases faster than consumption, but the output of Canadian mills is being promptly disposed of, though the business available is unevenly distributed, some plants operating on full production schedules, while others are working only part time.

Taking the industry as a whole, however, it is contributing more to the national income than ever before.

The spring trips of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets have resulted in larger quantities of the principal kinds of fish being landed than in the corresponding period of 1927, and the markets for these products, which were depressed, have recently strengthened.

Industrial conditions continue at a higher level than in any year since the war period, and wholesale and retail trade which, as stated in the May issue of this Letter, was of greater volume than in the first four months of last year, has been further stimulated by more seasonable weather.

The banks are experiencing a stronger demand for money, interest rates are higher, both in the United States and Canada, and there is the prospect of a firm money market for some time.

WITH THE MOUNTEBANK PROPHETS.

Several European novelists and essayists have ventured recently to forecast the future of the United States and the rest of the world in articles or interviews suggested by short visits to this country. Prophecy, it has been said, is a gratuitous form of folly. Still, it amuses some persons and it does little harm.

Bertrand Russell told London rationalists the other day that in thirty or forty years the Pope of Rome would rule the United States and dictate its domestic and foreign policies. Now Paul Morand, a clever French story-teller and globe trotter, predicts American overlordship of the seas and of the world by 1958. Note the exact year!

What will be the chief social and moral results of American supremacy? M. Morand knows and files a bill of particulars. Love will have vanished from the earth; marriages will be contracted but with no sense of responsibility, and divorces will be the rule, not the exception. Women will wear trousers, and men will wear skirts. Despite the decay and disappearance of love, beauty will be worshipped and cultivated as never before, and the States will enforce strict eugenics laws.

That the world is facing a period of retrogression and decline—the downfall of the present civilization—Morand agrees with Keyserling and Spengler, the gloomy prophets who confound personal prejudice with objective philosophy.

Meanwhile the pessimistic forecasters are enjoying themselves and entertaining their readers. The world of work, thought, construction and progress heeds them not. Humanity is advancing and attacking with considerable success the various ills that afflict it. Naturally, therefore, it treats the literary alarmists with good-natured contempt. Probably the alarmists do not take themselves seriously. For they well know that forecasts of the sort indulged in by them are moonshine.—Chicago Daily News.

THE PERSONAL FACTOR.

Toward the close of the session, Premier King promised consideration to a proposition that before estimates are submitted to the House they should be examined by a standing committee upon which all parties should have representation. The promise was given in consequence of a complaint by a Progressive member that Ministers come to the House with important estimates in the dying hours of the session, and that when the House seeks enlightenment regarding the purpose and need of such votes the Ministers themselves have to ask their deputies why they are required.

In the case of some of the Ministers, the complaint is true. There are Ministers who come to the House to ask for millions of dollars for the departments for which they are responsible who do not appear to have the foggiest notion of how or why the money is to be spent. They sit in their seats perplexed, tongue-tied and terrified, and their only response to demands for information is to make a pitiable appeal to their deputies, or to read a reply from some typewritten sheet that somebody has placed in their hands. It is impossible, in such circumstances, to get much of light.

There are notable exceptions. The Prime Minister, Mr. Lapointe, Mr. Malcolm, Mr. Robb, Mr. Ralston and Mr. Dunning—these men know their estimates and explain them. Mr. Dunning, for example, is able to produce his estimates without the aid of an official. He has his facts completely mastered and marshalled, knows his department and all its ramifications from A to Z, is able to inform the House upon every possible aspect of its activities.

The moral is clear. It is that what Parliament needs is not another committee, which would probably result in a lot of log-rolling on the part of members interested in votes in their constituencies, but rather able, intelligent Ministers who can tell the House why money is required. That, supplemented by an active treasury board with economy really at heart, would fill the bill. In other words, the whole thing gets back to the truism that it is the personal factor that counts. No political system can ever be much stronger than the men who compose it.—Ottawa Journal.

The Question Box

An Interlopes.

C. O'B. The argument you detail is one that has exercised many minds far from Peterborough. From good authority it appears evident that St. John 7:53 to 8:11 inclusive has no part in that Gospel. Not only is it passed over in silence in every Greek commentary of which we have any knowledge, down to that of Theophylact inclusive (XI-XII Century); but with the exception of a reference in the Apostolic Constitutions (?IV Century), and a statement by an obscure Nicon (X or later Century) that it was expunged by the Armenians, not the slightest allusion to the story of the woman taken in adultery has yet been discovered in the whole of Greek theology before the twelfth century. If you read on from St. John 7:52 then 8:12, you will see that this contested narrative fatally interrupts an argument.

GOD'S MINUTE

"And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ." —Romans 8:17.

Our Heavenly Father, we gratefully acknowledge Thy, providential love and care. We thank Thee for the joys of the morning, the fresh outlook, the new opportunity, the unspent strength, the hunger for conquest. For life and health and work we praise Thee. May we live and move and have our being consciously in Thee. May every hour bring thoughts of Thee, and a sweet sense of Thy favor resting upon us. Give us to go cheerfully on our business, and to do our duty in our appointed place, not as hirelings, but as sons and heirs in their Father's house. Mercifully defend us from all harm. Teach us to take our joys as they come, and to make friends with our trials; to know that life is good, whatever skies it may please Thee to bring over us.

Give us the ready work of cheer and comfort for those who may cross our path this day. We ask not for lighter burdens, but for greater strength; not for easier discipline, but for more grace. Bless our homes, bless our country. Hasten the day when Thy Spirit shall pervade all the affairs of men, and all governments and rulerships shall acknowledge Thy most gracious sovereignty.

And now, dear Father, we go forth unto our work and to our labor until evening. At the end of the day, may we enter into the peace and rest of those who have walked and worked with God, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

BENEVOLENCE SPREADING

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: It is very interesting to those who watch the procession of human life varying here and there to suit the laws of human needs, to note the unfolding of the reason or necessity of such societies as the Kiwanis, Rotary, etc. Benevolence, or the voluntary management of help, where help is needed, is the great revelation of today. They form the intellectual power which impels and directs the social well-being of those in need. The day of doing this work by means of paid organizations is drawing to a close. Contributing to organizations which make their living out of it no longer appeals to people of common-sense. Heretofore, however, there was no substitute. Many dear little societies that out of the unpaid goodness of their hearts weathered many a storm in order to go out into the desert wastes of life and help the weak and weary will always continue, like the flowers of May, to show what loveliness humanity is capable of, but something had to be done to rescue the work itself from those who made a living out of it, and these masterful organizations have arisen for that purpose no doubt.

ABOUT GAS RATES

To the Editor of The Evening Examiner:

Sir.—Will you please be kind enough to publish this for the sake of the small consumer of gas.

In case of the consumption of 500 feet at the old rate, the cost, less discount, was 95c. The new rate calls for $1.15, a difference of 20c on 500 feet. In case of 700 feet consumed, the old rate called for $1.33, the new rate $1.45, a difference of 12c on 700 feet. When you go to 1000 feet the old rate was $1.90, the new rate $1.89, a gain of 1c on a thousand feet. If to gain any thing at all you have to burn several thousands.

Instead of being less it is more to the small consumer. I am writing this for the benefit of the small consumer. I hope I am not asking too much to have this published.

Yours truly,
Harriet Hall.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 16. — Market continues strong and active for the best types of choice butcher cattle. This is true in face of the fact that for a certain type of heavy steer with a tendency to coarseness, there is not quite the same active demand. While the finer quality, well finished steer and heifer is strong with a slant to higher prices, the coarser steer, heavy or light, is more difficult to hold at steady prices, and at the close this week a goodly number of heavies, held over from the earlier markets and become stale, were subject to close price shaving, and in many cases sold at about a quarter lower than last week's average for the same type of beef cattle.

There was, in fact, rather an over supply of heavy steers, while the handy weight butcher type was correspondingly scarce. Anything in the latter class of fair killing quality was always in good demand, and if at times trade appeared to be slow, it was because buyers were making a fight to hold prices from going any higher, rather than beating them down. Good steady prices were generally forthcoming for the right type of animal.

Choice fat butcher cows are especially strong and in active demand at high prices. Good butcher bulls, not too heavy, also in good market at steady prices.

Stocker trade extremely quiet for the reason perhaps that anything in this class, if only of fair killing possibilities, is taken for the abattoirs.

General run of quotations at the end of the week in all classes.

Heavy steers, best selection, $11.00 to $12.00. Choice handy weight butchers, $10.50 to $11.75. Heifers, steady to firm, at 10.50 to $11.25. Baby beeves, choice, $12.00 to $13.00; good medium, $11.00 to $11.50.

Good choice fat cows in demand at $8.50 to $9.50.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 16 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Manitoba wheat was again of a disappointing character here yesterday, there being only sales of a few odd loads overnight. There was no improvement in the demand for cash grain in the local market and the volume of business was small. Prices for oats on spot were again weak at a further decline of one to two cents per bushel.

Owing to the further weakness in the Winnipeg cash wheat situation a weaker feeling developed in the local market for spring wheat flour and values were reduced ten cents per barrel. The demand continued quiet. There was no change in prices for winter wheat flour and the market was dull.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for standard grades of rolled oats and prices were reduced ten cents per bag.

A fair volume of business was done in eggs Thursday in a jobbing way owing to the increased demand from grocers for supplies to meet their week-end requirements, and in consequence the market was rather more active with a firm undertone. The receipts were 2,112 cases as compared with 2,679 for the same day last week, and 2,000 for the corresponding day a year ago.

Owing to the improved demand for potatoes from both local and outside buyers of late and the smaller supplies available on spot the undertone to the market was firmed Thursday and prices advanced 5c per bag with sales of car lots of New Brunswick Green Mountains at 80c per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, and Quebec varieties at 70c per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, ex-track.

There was no actual change in prices for imported beans, but the condition of the market was strong owing to the somewhat limited offerings and the small arrivals, and the indications were that values would be marked up in the near future. There was a steady demand, and sales of car lots of choice hand-picked grades were made at $3.80 per bushel, ex-track, to arrive, and broken lots at $4.10 per bushel, ex-store.

The undertone to the butter market was again strong and prices scored a further advance of ¼c per lb. with every indication of them going still higher in the near future. There was a steady demand for supplies and a fair volume of business was done. The receipts were 4,122 packages.

The volume of business transacted in cheese over the cable and on spot was small and the market was quiet, but according to the prices paid at the country boards there has been little change in the sentiment and evidently buyers have still confidence in the future course of prices. The receipts were 7,222 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 16 (Canadian Press).—With big shipments from Argentina reported, ideal growth conditions in Canada and Liverpool quotations lower than due, wheat values here tended mostly downward yesterday. Selling in Chicago received momentum also from weakness of Winnipeg July delivery, which is at a discount under Chicago July.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous ¾c to 1¼c net lower. Corn finished at ½c decline to ¾c advance; oats unchanged to ⅛ to ¼c higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Argentine wheat shipments for the week were announced yesterday as totalling 5,739,000 bushels, against 2,139,000 bushels a year ago.

Meanwhile Liverpool despatches said Argentine wheat was selling at prices considerably under the level at which new wheat is offered from the United States. Word was also at hand that Canadian country markets of wheat Thursday were 885,000 bushels compared with 257,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year; that early sown Canadian wheat is now eight inches above ground and that late sown wheat is making rapid progress. Favorable weather conditions in domestic Spring crop territory was likewise a bearish factor.

Under such circumstances, export demand for wheat from North America dwindled and price bulges which developed on account of rain and hail in parts of Oklahoma and Kansas turned out to be only transient.

Despite some good sized buying that sprang up on declines, rallies failed to hold, and with Winnipeg quotations weak, the market here closed at nearly the day's bottom figures.

In the corn market, July delivery was in demand, but later months lacked snap. Cash interests were credited with buying July corn against cash sales and it was current talk that but little corn is being bought in the country. Oats followed corn.

Provisions sympathized with an upturn in the value of hogs. After the provision market closed, stocks of lard here were reported as the largest ever known at this time of year.

THE THRILL OF FINE CAR OWNERSHIP

IT is more than mere pride of possession that suffuses the owner of the New Oldsmobile Six . . it is the thrill of achievement, of the realization of a long-cherished ambition.

This new Oldsmobile is in every sense a fine car . . a car of vivacious and sophisticated beauty . . a car of sound, uncompromising quality.

Into its development have gone the skill and resources of General Motors engineers, millions of miles of testing on the General Motors Proving Ground, the artistry and craftsmanship of Fisher body builders.

Evidences of this inherent quality greet the Oldsmobile owner the moment he steps into his car . . and become increasingly apparent as months and miles slip smoothly past.

The new Oldsmobile high-compression engine delivers its 55 horse-power without the use of special fuels. The insulated chassis and silenced interiors add to Oldsmobile's unmistakable atmosphere of luxury. Such special refinements as Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock-absorbers, radiator shutters, richly etched instrument panel and restful pad-type accelerator still further increase the pleasures of owning and driving.

Not without reason has Oldsmobile been termed "The Fine Car of Low Price." Not without justification have critics said, "You can buy a bigger car but not a better one."

It is scarcely surprising, then, that in Oldsmobile Six thousands are now experiencing for the first time the exquisite thrill of fine-car ownership. O-16-6-28B

General Motors' own deferred payment plan . . GMAC . . affords you the simplest and most economical way of buying your Oldsmobile car, too.

PERCY TOWNSHIP TEACHERS DISCUSS SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Association Meets in Annual Session at United Church, Dartford.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Gordon McCubbin Heads Organization, With O. F. Laver as Vice-President.

WARKWORTH, June 16.—The annual convention of the Percy Township Sunday School Association was held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the United Church at Dartford.

The afternoon session was called at two thirty with Rev. W. W. Jones in charge of the devotional service. Gordon McCubbin, first vice-president, took charge of the remainder of the meeting. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved, also reports from the department superintendents were given. These covered the year's work and were interesting.

Rev. W. W. Jones gave an interesting talk on standardizing our Sunday schools which ended in a round table discussion. It was clearly pointed out that the success of the Sunday school rests greatly with the superintendents. This standard is not artificial or superficial but it it vital toward the success of the schools.

Miss N. M. Lewis of Toronto, representative of the C.R.E.C. gave an interesting and instructive address. In teaching it was stated, the Sunday school teacher must know the child and parents then weave in lesson material as opportunity permits.

Christianity is a thing to be lived joyous and happy now not fifty years from now. Religious instruction is most important. Unseen fibres of a child's life must be nutured if he is to grow up in an honcest sympathetic and religious way. Build up a true concept of God. Teachers, prayer life, Sunday school conduct, church attendance and attention, punctuality, obedience and thoughtfulness go a long way in the teaching of children and it is vital to them. Teachers must not forget that they are really taking the place of God in the teaching of His Word. The children are depending on the teachers God is depending on parents, teachers, ministers and superintendents in the building up of the child life as He would want it.

A vocal duet by Margaret Atkinson and Dorothy Wilson was thoroughly enjoyed.

The nominating committee was appoined consisting of ministers, superintendents and one from each school.

Evening Session.

The evening session was opened at seven thirty with L. H. Fowler, student minister of St. Andrew's church, in charge of the devotional service.

Report of the nominating committee and the installation of the officers was taken charge of by P. S. Ewing. For the coming year the officers are:

President—Gordon McCubbin.
First Vice-President—O. F. Laver.
Secon Vice-President—Nelson Handy.
Secretary-Treasurer—O. E. Kelly.
Superintendent Children's Department—Mrs. G. F. Bowen.
Superintendent Boys't Departmen—Ivan Duncan.
Superintendent Girls' Department—Dorcas Atkinson.
Superintendent Adult Department—Mrs. Fred Laver.
Superintendent Home Department—Mrs. (Rev.) D. R. Clare.
Superintendent Teachers' Training Department—Mrs. Lorne Evans.
Superintendent Missionary Department—Mrs. W. J. Harper.
Superintendent Temperance Department—Robert Walker.
Superintendent Young Peoples' Department—Clare Gregory.

A recitation "Cattle Thief" was given by Miss Edith Richards after which followed an excellent address was given by Rev. D. R. Clare, Norham, on Evangelism in the Sunday school, what it is not and what it is. It is not putting a division among our people. It is not separation in any sense or form, is not teaching young people to use terms that have no meaning to them.

Such terms as accepting Christ Bringing people to Jesus Christ and many others all mean something to the person who uses the terms and means little or nohing to those who hear them.

Evangelism and religious education must march hand in hand. Evangelism is a surrender of ourselves to a merciful Providence and the acceptance of Christ as pattern and inspiration. The task of a teacher is to get children to accept and then to maintain that acceptance. The task lasts as long as there is life and begins as soon as there is life. As a child grows older he sees things differently and as he grows Christ is revealed differently.

Childhood has many impossibilities and a little encouragement can accomplish much. Interest, prayer and love are of great importance to those we are seeking to help. Acceptance is effected by decisions and teachers should be thorough in their teachings to the children that when time for decisions come they may always decide for right.

Teachers' Privileges.

Privileges of a Sunday school teacher was the subject of Miss Lewis' address and as in the afternoon showed careful thought and preparation. In this the speaker pointed out the privileges as an interpreter, an artist, a leader, a builder and a representative of God. Suggestions along the lines of how to be all these things in teaching the children from the primary class, to classes higher was instructive as well as interesting.

Before the closing number a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss Lewis for the two excellent addresses and the messages which they contained.

SPECIAL SPEAKER

house but the love inside which counts and the best and happiest homes are those where God is reverenced, and this rests largely with the women as both a privilege and an obligation.

In regard to historical research, Mrs. Yates suggested a grandmother's day as a means of getting interesting items of the earlier days in the country.

As Canadian industry depends largely on a market for Canadian-made goods, we should insist on buying Canadian products and where impossible to procure we should give the preference to the British goods.

Canadian immigration is one of the greatest problems of the day and on that depends the future of the nation. We have a big and compelling work to do in Canadianizing the foreigner.

Then there is agriculture, the basic industry of Canada. There are many side lines in this department open to women, such as bees, poultry, raising of rabbits. Many women are taking these up as a means of adding to their income or as pin money.

Then there is relief work and the time is fast coming when it will be a disgrace to have unnecessary suffering where the Woman's Institute exists.

Some branches find difficulty in program planning, and the speaker advisel making a survey of local talent and using it and getting everyone interested in the meetings grandmothers and young girls, there is work for every woman.

Exhibits and demonstrations of hand work, salads, cool drinks are interesting, naturally the latter should be introduced at the suitable season.

Search for hidden talent and write to the department for Miss Guest's paper on program planning. Successful institutes have a good program and stick by it to the letter.

An exhibit on demonstration by members of what can be made of a cotton our sack is interesting; one branch had a contest for the best article made from a cotton flour sack and ten cents. Another branch had a splendid afternoon on the study of growing and marketing cotton flour sack is interesting; one and had the plant with the tuft to show. There are many things which can be done to make an interesting program.

A discussion followed led by Mrs. Cameron, who enquired how to buy Canadian goods where the merchants won't keep them. She referred specially to fruit jars which she purchased in the village, made in the U.S.A., although they are made in Canada in Montreal and Hamilton. Then ther are fruits; we are offered American grown fruits, while our own home products are left rotting on the ground, and in British Columbia this is a serious condition.

This led to considerable discussion some pointing out that the supply is regulated by the demand and some people, a large number unfortunately, find considerable eclat in buying foreign goods thinking it better in the principal of "far away fields are bonnie." As to the fruit the amount of American fruit sold here is a very small per cent. of the amount of the home grown product.

Mrs. Porter spoke also on this subject saying that some people will go miles to save a cent and the merchants supply depends largely on the demand and in practically every case if the customer asks for Canadian made goods she will get them.

Value of Difficulties

Mrs. Yates then gave a short talk on the value of difficulties, trials, hard tasks and sorrow have a great value in working out a successful life, leading to real happiness and true service. Mother Nature teaches us the lesson, seeds falls to the ground and in time grow and later become great trees; the storm, the sun and wind test their strength and the weakest perish, but the survivors root deeper and grow stronger. Then there are the rills which trickle down the mountain side, undaunted by obstables, later join other streams and eventually become the mighty rivers which carry our commerce. The stream which does not fight its way over obstacles becomes a stagnant pool which, having failed to work itself into a living force, becomes a breeding ground of disease.

Let us make difficulties a spur to increased usefulness, develop possibilities and unite all in service to the community. The successful woman is one who makes difficulties serve her; in the forest it is the sheltered trees which are dying out while the ones exposed to the buffeting of the storm survives.

Character in its highest form, is found in those disciplined by difficulties. Experiences, often bitter, may be wholesome and invigorating and difficulties often bring out the best in men and women. Bunyan was twelve years in prison when he wrote the greatest allegory of all time, "The Pilgrims' Progress." Schiller, Dante, and Mozart, and hosts of others made their deathless contributions to the literature and music of the world when suffering pain or poverty.

It is a mistake to spoonfeed children too long and suppress their difficulties; in schools, boys and girls do best who are fighting their way against great odds.

There are difficulties, too, which are imaginary, and others self imposed. Those who meet the difficulties and overcome them get the greatest results. Robert Louis Stevenson walked on the edge of the grave all his life, and he has made one of the greatest contributions to literature in the language.

Henry Fawcett, after having both eyes shot out, remarked bravely ten minutes after the accident, "I will stick by the main purpose of my life." He became a professor of political economy and later Postmaster-General of England, and there are many others.

If we always face the sunshine the shadows fall behind and we should become reconciled to difficulties which are after all, in many cases, stepping stones to life's success, happiness and service.

During the afternoon an excellent program was given which added variety and was appreciated by all the ladies. The orchestra played several selections and consisted of Mrs. John Northey, pianist; Mrs. Joseph Roseborough, violinist, and Miss Viola Roseborough with the Hawaiian guitar.

Miss Winnie Payne and Mrs. Herbert Kemp contributed vocal solos and Mrs. John Murphy gave an amusing dialect reading and responded to an encore.

The Misses Mabel and Pearl Miller played a piano duet. Following the afternoon's program, Mrs. Yates gave a demonstration of basketry, and at the close refreshments were served.

DUMMER SCHOOLS HOLD CONVENTION

Canada, and the problem deals not only with the Canadian boy and the Canadian girl. People in Ontario do not realize what the work in other provinces is. Canada has opened her doors to 4,000,000 people, few of whom speak English. Religious education is necessary. If we do not worry about our next door neighbors, they will worry us. This number means that throughout Canada practically every alternate family is not Canadian. In Ontario and Quebec and other older provinces, the population is largely Canadian, and these newcomers are planted in the West, whole colonies of strangers, not just every other one. It is the work of the Religious Education Council to assimilate these people."

He here described some Mennonite customs. "These people need our help. We must have schools. We must teach them more than technical knowledge. We must educate them in lines of right living," he said.

He was very strong on the temperance question. He said the liquor traffic is here, and asked if his hearers were going to say it is all right. "The great problem is not in the hands of the British people. Unless we are careful we will lose this whole country into the hands of this four millions," he said. "The work must be organized. No man is complete who does not combine religion and education, and work through a life a Christian religion and Christian fanth."

In speaking of the modern Bible class he said: 'We do not know what to do with it and we can not do without it. In dealing with the lesson the title means nothing. What that lesson means to each one and no two get the same idea, is what the lesson is about.'

There was some discussion about missionary programs being used and Mr. Seymour seemed to approve using the program simply as a guide.

There was some discussion about having union services of church and Sunday school. Mr. Seymour said they could not be separated.

The question of giving sacrament to very young children was brought up.

Mrs. Herrington sang "Winning Souls."

Between the sessions the nominating committee decided upon the officers and the Cottlesloe ladies served supper.

Officers Installed

Rev. Eikenaar conducted the evening session opening exercises. Taking the scripture lesson from Eph. vi. Rev. Mr. Moyer installed the new officers, who are: President, E. N. MacDonald; Vice President, Dr. Munro; Secretary Treasurer, David Forsythe; Superintendent Children's department, Percy Moore; Superintendent Young People's Department, Mrs. T. H. Crowe; Superintendent Adult Department, Dr. Munro; Superintendent Home Department, Mrs. Russel Puffer; Superintendent Teacher Training, Rev. H. B. Herrington; Superintendent Missionary Department, Miss Isobel McMillan; and of Temperance Department, E. M. MacDonald. Dr. Munro addressed his coworkers, and said there was some reason why they were appointed. "All we get for work, is more work; but it gives us great opportunities for service. It is for us to go back and do the very best possible under the circumstances," he said. Mr. Herrington, in his address to the audience, quoted: "There are some truth which cannot even be seen until we are able to take ourselves from our feet, knowing that the place whereon we tread is holy ground. We see only that to which we pay attention. The attitudes of teacher and pupil in their approach to the lesson affects what is gotten from that lesson. The result aimed at is to turn each one to Christ, and it is so very easy for spiritual things to slip away. He spoke of the harm done by people coming late. During the worship period it detracts from the reverence, and the late comers have no chance."

Mr. Herrington and Miss Blakeley sang "Out of the Ivory Palaces."

Evening Address

Mr. Seymour, in his evening address, spoke of the educational part of the council.

The funds are obtained from Sunday Schools by people paying life membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

He urged attending a camp, if only for one day, also attending a standard training class, if for only one session, and said that what people put into life determines what they get out of it. It takes more than food to develop a man. There are all the wonderful mental and spiritual ideas to be developed. He described the Tuxis boys and their work. He dwelt on missionary work and showed that the great hinderance is commercialism. He stressed strongly the power of prayer, and showed the great influence of mothers' training and prayer, and of family worship

One thing noticeable in this convention was that there was not so much attention paid to fixed rules. All rules seemed to be more elastic. The main thing seemed to be to get people, old and young, to attend Sunday School, to take an interest in Christian ideals and bring the rising generation to a full knowledge of the Saviour, and to accept Him as their guide. Certain methods were considered good, but it wasfully recognized that all are not cast in the same mould.

There is a prayer meeting in Warsaw Baptist Church every Wednesday evening. Mr. Eikenaar is taking up a study of the life of St. Paul. Last Sunday morning he started the Baptist Sunday School for the Summer.

Mrs. John Sargent and Mrs. R. W. Payne motored to Tweed on Saturday and spent the week-end with friends there.

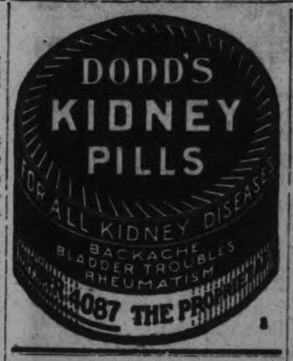
Mrs. William Wasson, Peterborough came to Warsaw on Tuesday evening.

Rev. Mr. Wesley and Rev. Mr. Seymour were at the United Church Parsonage on Wednesday, and went from these to the Sunday School conference in the afternoon, at Cottesloe.

L.O.L. Meets

At the regular meeting of the L.O.L., No. 284, held on June 7, Deputy Master Brother H. McMillan of Hastings was present. He was accompanied by several members of his own lodge, also by W.M. Bro. Adams of Norwood, and several members from South Dummer.

Arrangements for the coming celebration on July 12 are well in hand.



Havelock

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, June 16.—Mrs. (Rev.) Hugh Brown entertained the members of the St. John's Women's Auxiliary on Tuesday afternoon on the occasion of their regular meeting. A very interesting report of the annual meeting of the Toronto Diocesan Women's Auxiliary held in Toronto recently was given by Mrs. Edward Williams, the delegate from the local branch.

A very pleasant social afternoon was spent followed by the service of dainty refreshments.

Miss Jean Anderson, A.T.C.M., was a charming hostess on Friday evening last when she entertained a number of her pianoforte pupils at her home on Concession street. A jumbled word guessing contest was entered into with enthusiasm and won by Miss E. Long and Mr. A. Wilde. Games were enjoyed by all and the hostess rendered a number of musical selections by request of her guests. A dainty luncheon was served at midnight.

Among those present were: Misses Adelaide Paige, Aileen Butters, Annie Buchanan, Cordie McColl, Katherine Scully, Evelyn Long, Ethel Longmuir, Mabel Brinkman, Margaret Voyer, Mildred Wilde, Gladys Anderson, Mabel Breckenbridge, Mary Anderson, Marjorie Weymark, Elfreida Pincombe, Edna Haig, Carmel Kirkham, Mrs. H. Weese, Messrs. Leonard Barnett, Blake Haig, Austin Wilde, J. R. Bedford, Harold Wilde, Harry Anderson, Maynard Bullied, Burrell Peters and Gordon Buchanan.

Mr. James McCracken of Peterborough was the recent guest of his daughter, Mrs. Jesse Weymark.

Rev. A. P. Kennedy of Beeton conducted the services in St. John's Anglican church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoar, Miss Maud Hoar and Mr. Roy Hoar of Edville were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrison.

Mrs. F. Butters, Mrs. G. Rigley and Mrs. P. Johnson attended the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star in Toronto last week.

Misses Olive and Ennie McCracken and Mr. J. Brown of Peterborough were the recent guests of Mrs. Jesse Weymark.

Cavan

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAVAN, June 16.—Mrs. B. F. Carley of Toronto visited friends here last week.

Miss Addie Jackson of Bracebridge was the guest of Mrs. Robert Howden last week.

Mrs. Harry Tinney and Miss Winona Cathcart spent Monday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hill and son, Jack, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mrs. Hill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Swain.

Mrs. Frost and Miss Frost of Norwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas, Mrs. Margaret Staples, Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. William Tinney spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooton, Fairmount, and attended the anniversary services there.

Mr. A. Hunter, Vernon, and Miss Ileen were visitors to Toronto last week.

Rev. J. O. Totten spent Monday in Toronto.

Mrs. Sydney Hutchinson of Norwood visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elliott, last week.

Commencing on Monday Cavan chop mill will operate only three days in the week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, until the first of September.

Mrs. Albert Elliott and little granddaughter, Mary Richards, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Sydney Hutchinson of Norwood.

Osborne Staples of Toronto spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Staples.

Messrs. John Mitchell, Sydney McLaren, James Foster, Edgar Martell and John S. Cathcart motored to Deloro and attended the ball game between Peterborough and Deloro on Wednesday.

WEDDING BELLS

(Examiner Correspondence)

ADAMSON—CROWE.

WARSAW, June 16. — A pretty wedding took place at six o'clock on Tuesday evening at Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Crowe's home, when their only daughter, Cressa Isobel, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Elmore Adamson, son of Mr. R. J. Adamson, of Otonabee. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Harton, of Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, in the presence of about sixty guests, mostly relatives of the bride or groom. They were unattended, and little Cressa Crowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Payne, was flower girl.

The ceremony was performed on the lawn, and the wedding party stood under an arch of evergreen trimmed with pink and white flowers and large baskets of pink flowers at either end. Mrs. Thomas Gannon, aunt of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bride wore a simple but dainty frock of peach crepe romaine, with stockings to match and black satin slippers, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The flower girl wore a pretty little dress of maize colored crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. Crowe wore a handsome gown of black satin-faced crepe. The groom's gift to his bride was a cheque, to the pianist a tar pin, and to the flower girl a necklace.

The decorations throughout were pink and white. The bride was the recipient of many useful and handsome gifts, including a handsome cheque from her father, a breakfast set of irridescent ware, a mantle clock and many other beautiful and useful things.

After supper, which was served on the lawn, Mr. and Mrs. Adamson left for a motor trip to Hamilton and other places. The bride's going away dress was of biege crepe with hat, shoes, stockings, and gloves to match. With it she wore a navy blue coat.

After about a week they will reside in Otonabee.

Mrs. Adamson is the first young lady from this neighborhood to be married and go out of the community. She will be missed, for she was a worker in her church and the community, and often if anyone in the neighborhood was ill she would quietly come and help.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

President Expects to Visit Mount Pleasant and Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, June 16.—Mrs. T. A. Skitch, president of the East Durham Women's Institute, will visit the Mount Pleasant and Millbrook branches in July at their regular meetings. The invitation to the President to attend these meetings was extended at the annual meeting of the East Durham Institute held here on Tuesday, and attended by delegates from each of the eight branches of the district with the exception of Garden Hill.

By virtue of her office the president is expected to visit all the branches during her term of office each year, but if the individual branches will specially invite her for any particular session it will make the visit of greater pleasure, benefit, and convenience from every viewpoint.

New Handbook.

A new Women's Institute Handbook has been published and will be mailed to any officer or member desiring same providing request is sent in, according to announcement made by the district secretary, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, at the annual district meeting this week.

The new book is an enlarged and improved edition compared with the one previously in use, and will doubtless be of decided benefit to the officers in fulfilling the duties of their various positions.

Bulletin Available.

There are many bulletins issued by the Department, containing useful information on a variety of subjects of interest to farm women, and to those in the towns as well, along the line of poultry raising, horticulture, the proper feeding of the family, the doing up of fruit and vegetables, public speaking and the correct use of English, etc., which may be secured by dropping a card to Mr. Putnam, or writing directly to the Department of Agriculture, Toronto. Several of these bulletins were on display at the district annual meeting, and a number of the delegates took note of titles in order to secure copies of those which specially interested them.

Branches Meet Together.

The plan followed this year of having a number of branches unite in one large gathering for the meeting addressed by the Government lecturer proved successful, and will probably be more widely arranged for another season. Cavan branch took the initiative this year, inviting the Millbrook, Mount Pleasant, and Bethany branches to gather in the Cavan Community Hall when Mrs. Macoun, of Campbellford, was making her round of the district. The attendance was large, the enthusiasm more marked, and the meeting altogether much more interesting and inspiring than if the four branches had been separately visited. The Cavan Institute served a delicious tea to the visiting workers on that occasion, thus adding a social element that was not the least enjoyable feature of the afternoon's proceedings. Mrs. R. M. Howden is president of the Cavan branch; Mrs. Garnet Shields of the Mount Pleasant branch; Mrs. T. H. Harkness of Millbrook, and Mrs. Reynolds at Bethany.

Women's Institutes in this vicinity evidently prefer holding the monthly meetings in the members' homes, judging by the reports presented at the district convention. While in some cases a public hall is used, occasionally a church basement when the community is small and other facilities are lacking, the branches generally seem to favor the homes for the gatherings.

Coming Hostesses.

Mrs. Ray Syer will be hostess for the June meeting of the Cavan Institute, and Mrs. Garnet Shields for the July Meeting of the Mount Pleasant organization, which will be held on the first Wednesday in July.

To Tell About Husbands.

Charlecote branch will have an interesting feature at its next meeting when the roll is called; instead of replying to the names with a recipe, a hint on spring cleaning, or other household help, the members will tell "Why I Like My Husband;" the unmarried members' response will be to the question: "What I Would Like in a Husband." Mrs. H. McComb gave this novel suggestion at the District Institute meeting.

Good Work Done in Past; Bethany Women Don't Rest.

BETHANY, June 16.—The Women's Institute of Bethany, with its 25 members is a real live organization. It came into being just previous to the war in 1914, through the Farmer's Institute, it being realized that women, especially farm women, had a great deal to do with that work. During the war years the Institute was a blessing owing to the active part the members took in sewing, knitting, preparing bandages and sending boxes to the soldiers. In fact it was a bee-hive of industry and the members did all that was possible for them to do, at that time of stress and turmoil. At the conclusion of the war, while the strain lessened, they did not give up their activities but continued in a different line, this time directing their energy toward making the village a better place to live in. Through the weekly selling of ice cream during the summer months they were enabled to start a nice bank account and with money to back them. They decided one of their outstanding needs was lighted streets. With electricity an impossible thing at the time, the ladies, under the leadership of Mrs. S. Jemison, Mrs. W. H. McCartney, Mrs. A. Flack, and others, decided to purchase gasoline arc lamps. They bought a dozen lamps, poles, rope and equipment and paid men to plant the poles on which the lamps were hung, one at each dangerous corner, at the railroad crossings, and one before each church. Then they hired and paid a caretaker to care for the lamps to see what they were filled, hung up, and taken down again.

WHAT IS THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE?

The Women's Institute of Canada comprises two branches (1) The Regular or Senior Branch and (2) The Junior or younger branch. Both have a very similar activity, but the senior is usually composed of married women while the Junior is usually the younger and unmarried women. In the latter they are more active in the social activities.

The Women's Instututes are women's clubs of some community that meet usually once a week. At these meetings one member gives a paper that is of some special interest to the club or in the line of special study that the club may be following.

In the summer months a series of meetings is carried on through the country in the interests of the organization and these meetings are addressed by speakers from the department.

Usually once or twice a year, the local Institutes hold a two weeks' course in some special line of training. The choice is usually made from one of the following—(1) Cooking; (2) Millinery; (3) Dressmaking; (4) Home Nursing. An instructor from the department is sent to carry on these meetings and to teach the women of the organization in the line they have chosen for the full two weeks.

It is usually after these courses that the Junior Institute comes into being. Many of the younger women become interested in the organization, and a resultant Junior Organization follows.

The general work of the Women's Institute is Community Welfare. The distribution of Christmas Cheer, the upkeep of a community hall or something equally worthy for the benefit of the locality in general.

Fenced the Town Hall.

When this was safely off their minds they looked about for something else to do, so they bought some good fence wire and paid men to build a neat fence around the town hall. Then they resurrected the old fire bell which had lain unused from the fire of 1912, purchased a pole and paid a man to put the bell up on the corner of the town hall lawn where it could be quickly and readily got at in the case of fire.

A lovely piano was purchased and placed in the town hall for the convenience of those using the hall for concerts, entertainments and dances.

These are only a few of the many activities the Institute members are engaged in. Bales of clothing for the needy, and fruit for the sick children's hospital, are among the things done on the outside. The Bethany Institute has been often referred to as an Institute with a bank book by its sister Institutes. Just at present the members see in the very near future where it may be possible through their energies to have the Hydro power brought to the village and thus do away with gas and coal oil lamps.

The officers for the year 1928 are: President, Mrs. H. Reynolds; Secretary, Mrs. W. L. Rowan; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Driver. The membership fee is 25c, and every woman of any creed and nationality is eligible for membership.

One new move on the part of the Institute, used for the first time last year, was the giving of three cash prizes to the boys or girls who took the highest number of prizes at the annual school fair in connection with the village school. This was to encourage a greater activity among the village children in the showing of exhibits.

Marmora Branch of Institute Does Its Good Work Quietly.

MARMORA, June 16.—Inaugurated in the year 1910, Marmora's Women's Institute with modesty of purpose has thrived, it may be said, through "all the changes and chances of this mortal life" and boasts today a membership of forty-seven; thirty-five of which are on the active list. Fifteen of this number went as delegates on Tuesday to the annual convention of North Hastings' Women's Institutes, which was held in Madoc. The report of the Marmora branch at this convention compared most favourably with the other eight branches of the District.

Mrs. F. R. Wells, secretary, who presented it, told of the support given to the Marmora Public Library. A grant of seventy-five dollars was made to this worthy cause from the year's income of one hundred and ninety dollars. Besides other disbursements to charitable objects, the local Women's Institute packed five boxes at Christmas time for needy persons of the village. Marmora will be the meeting place of the 1929 North Hastings Convention.

The local branch meets at the homes of members on the second Wednesday of every month. Mrs. W. F. Bowen is this year's president and Mrs. F. R. Wells, the very able Secretary.

Branch Opened at Omemee Has Service Opportunities.

Mrs. Macoun, of Campbellford, Secretary of the Federated Women's Institute, led in organizing a branch at Omemee a week ago. She delivered a splendid address on the work possible when women are so banded together.

Judging by the benefit derived from W.I. work in other places, Omemee women will not regret the forward move they have made in aligning themselves with so great an army of their fellow-countrywomen.

The only requirement for membership is that one be a woman. At the meetings, which are full of good fellowship, topics of interest to women are discussed, and out of these talks arise many movements for the betterment of home and community. The pioneers of the movement in Omemee should not lack support.

Annual Meeting at Millbrook Shows Great Good Accomplished.

With Mrs. T. A. Skitch in the Chair, the East Durham Women's Instutute held its annual meeting on Tuesday, when splendid reports were presented.

In the reports presented to the Millbrook meeting, all details were not given alike (a hint might be dropped to the secretaries!) and valuable information cannot be obtained. In five

PETERBOROUGH GIRL REQUIRES ONLY $150.00 A YEAR FOR DRESS

Shopping Around City Stores Shows That All Items in Summer and Winter Wardrobe Can be Obtained for $130, Leaving $20 for Incidentals.

WIDE CHOICE IN ALL GARMENTS OFFERED

Everything From Hats to Shoes, Slicker to Handbag, Figured in Total—Six Frocks, Two Hats, Two Pair Shoes And Six Pairs Hose.

What should a working girl spend a year on clothes? The average working girl earning $15 a week, will, according to budget, spend about $150 a year on clothes. Some might suppose it to be unreasonable to think that a girl could dress on that amount, but some who do not earn even $15 a week must dress on less. Then, of course, others earning more will naturally spend more on clothes.

However, let us see what we may purchase for that amount. Let us remember that simplicity rules, always. Shall we start with a coat? It shall be one which will stand some wear, for girls who buy a spring coat this season expect it to wear two seasons, so that they may get a winter one next time. Some, of course, have to make them do even longer than two seasons.

There is one style of coat which is worn a great deal in Peterborough, namely, "The Prince of Wales." This is a type of coat which may be worn either by a slim person or a stouter figure, and, of course, the dark navy ones are favored, which come in tricotine, poiret twill, or a very fine serge, and may be purchased from $12 to $15 in any of the various stores in the city. This season there are a great many Kasha cloth coats worn, but this is a goods which will not stand as much wear as the other cloth mentioned in the tailor-style coat. These come in black or white and various colors, and may be bought from $15 to $20.

And then what about our dresses? What a wonderful array of color and style to choose from. When we go down George street, if we were to turn our heads quickly enough, the colors might be converted into a rainbow. First of all we might choose a dark frock, for wear on more formal occasions. For this we may decide on georgette or crepe de chine which are made up in a great many different styles, so that we may get one which will best suit our figure. There is also the figured gown, some of which are all figured, while others are made in combinations of a figured and plain goods. These also may be bought very reasonably this season, even more so than for a number of years. In addition to these, one needs three or four sport frocks. These are so numerous in color and style that it is difficult to choose the most suitable. One of our sport dresses must be of a heavier goods, for this Kasha is very popular, and comes in natural shade of a very light sand, with a combination of a figured blouse, and a separate coat, which may be worn with any other of our sleeveless frocks. The particular costume I have in mind is of natural Kasha; the skirt has two in-set pleats, for pleats are everywhere these days, while the blouse is of a deeper shade of sand crepe de chine and is piped with a powder blue around the neckline and tips of the pockets. This, of course, is sleeveless, and has a separate little coat, untrimmed, which may be worn with any of our other frocks. After searching for the tag on this, it proves to be only $12.50. Then, too, we have the beloved fugi, whichis greatly worn and a big favorite among Peterborough girls.

Last, but by no means least, especially in the winter time when we attend a great many parties, is our evening gown. This is one item in our wardrobe which is not worn to any great extent in the summer months, because in the evening our little sleeveless frocks suffice for this and almost any sport, including dancing, at pavilions and house parties. But we must be thinking of the long winter months ahead and the glorious time we will be having at house parties and dances. All the frocks are a great deal more fussy and feminine than we have been accustomed to for a long time, but we must choose one which will look just as fresh after it has been worn several times, as when new. One which I saw not long ago, being purchased by a friend, was of a Princess Mary blue georgette, having a tight bodice, with a full skirt and irregular hemline, which was scalloped rather largely. Three rows of a darker shade of velvet ribbon put the finishing touches to this little gown, around the scallops and neckline.

Among the great array of color, we must not forget one white gown. Don't you think that a lovely white frock worn on an extremely hot day presents a wonderfully cool appearance?

Hats, another part of our wardrobe which most of our girls forget almost entirely in summer, must be thought of for cooler days. One to match our darker frock for formal wear may be either large or small, according to our special taste, but for sports wear, the little crushable one is very handy, and should, of course, be one which will match all our various sport costumes.

For street or business wear, we have the most comfortable oxfords, also the much-worn pumps which have low or medium heels, which are much worn this year. We notice some of our girls wearing extremely high heels, which makes us almost shiver, for fear they will go over on their ankles. The oxford or pump may be purchased for about $5.00, while the more dressy shoes for more formal or evening wear, come about the same price, or possibly a little higher, according to the quality.

Hose and gloves to match are a wonderful asset to our costume. Our hose, of course, must match our frock or trimmings and we must remember when purchasing hose that the cheapest ones are not always the best buying. It pays in the end to pay just a little more. For sport wear, the lisle hose is correct, but this is one rule of etiquette which almost everyone breaks in favor of wearing silk. Silk hose vary greatly in price and quality; we find them ranging anywhere from 29 cents up. Those sold from $1.00 to $1.50 are usually quite good buying for the average girl. Light hose, of course, have the preference just now, although some prefer the darker shades of gunmetal or even black. Our gloves must match our hose, and will be preferably kid. The slim person may choose those which are quite fussy, while the stouter girls should choose the plaines they can get. Kid gloves range in price from $1.50 up. Silk gloves are sometimes preferred to kid, but they do not last nearly as long, and the "tips" soon begin to go when they are worn continually.

"Undies" are such a problem these days that any new make-ups are always very interesting. There is the combination of bloomers, vest and slip all in one. Then ther are bloomers and vest combined. These may be purchased very reasonably in almost any color one desires, to go with a color scheme, and in almost any material.

We mustn't forget our costume for those rainy days which no longer bring out the old duds, but new shiny slickers, and hats and sometimes one sees the new slicker boot being worn with the outfit. The slickers vary greatly in price from about $5 up until the very heavy ones are sold for $15. Then, of course, one sometimes sees the need for an umbrella even if we are all togged out in a rainy-day costume. Very pretty umbrellas in almost any color one desires may be purchased very reasonably, according to the quality of the goods. The handles on these catch the eye almost before one thinks of looking at the quality of the cloth.

One never thinks of going out now without a buttoniere. Such bright and glowing colors may be seen, which will brighten our dark coat very much, as would a lovely scarf, either handkerchief or long. Our purse is supposed to match our shoes, but one can't have a purse for every color of shoe, so we will be contented with a shade that will correspond with all of our frocks. Countless handkerchiefs should be our supply, either those which will be ornamental or useful.

The list that is given here totals about $130, at prices obtained in shopping around Peterborough stores, which leaves $20 of the $150 for incidentals and the possibly better quality which the individual may desire in whatever particular item of dress happens to be her fad.

Just a Joke

DANGEROUS AGE

"If I were your father, I would not let you smoke."

"Why? It doesn't do any harm."

"I know, but you're too young to play with matches."—Le Rire, Paris.

See-Saw Up and Down George Street

Whether the weather says so or not, summer has come to Peterborough's Broadway. Not only do the stores display summery wear, but masculine and feminine alike persist in flouting the chilliness of the evening in summer finery. . . . Two or three men were seen wearing spats, and apparently the cane is coming back for those who wish to appear well-dressed. . . . Their feminine counterparts promenade in smart tailleurs, ensembles in everything from crepe to tweed, and coats of kashmire cloth. . . . One smart-looking little lady looked her best in a tailored costume of gray covert cloth, double-breasted and four-buttoned. . . . Another, whose, escort was one of the men running to spats and a cane, looked chic in an ensemble of tan tweed, set off by a cross-fox scarf. . . . A very smart cape coat in moire also had the separate fox scarf as adornment. . . . In a store window, printed dresses with graceful fullness in puffs and bunches. . . . Fluttering panels that signal the return to femininity from the recent adventure into masculine preserves. . . . A snug skull cap of curled and lacquered feathers. . . . Dainty little flower-covered toques. . . . Worn by a young lady behind the counter of an up-town store, a stunning tailored blouse of white satin, with surplice lines of fagotting and a buttoned side closing. . . . At the Capitol, a velveteen coat, lined with the same print which formed the dress. . . . An unusual bathing suit in white jersey, belted and banded in blue leather. . . . A graceful negligee of crepe Elizabeth, subtly draped in the centre. . . . A man and a maid nonchalantly strolling hand-in-hand. . . . Two girls at an upstairs window, feet on sill, displaying generous expanses of silk hosiery. . . . In the rotunda of the Empress, a youthful summery frock developed in lace bands combined with georgette. . . . A dainty little six-year-old miss in a sleeveless frock of French voile, with narrow ruffles outlining the deep hem, the neck, yoke and sleeves. . . . Everybody ready for summer, except the weather!

MARION'S MAIL

Helene writes asking what is the origin of the phrase, "Who's your skinny friend?"

It is just an advertising phrase used in certain advertisements, probably suggested as the reverse of "Who is your fat friend?" This last is effectively used in the play, "Beau Brummell," but is now known to belong to a genuine incident related by George Bryan ("Beau") Brummell himself when he was living in poverty to a friend who gave it to the public. The Prince of Wales was regent of England during the mental incapacity of his father, George III, and Beau Brummell, the extquisite, the best dressed man in England, was one of the regent's favorites. The two had a falling out which ruptured their friendly relations and which the prince regent, although he was "fat," was not big enough to forget Afterward a ball was given by Lord Avanley in honor of the prince regent, and when the latter arrived his host and a number of others went to the door to greet him. His Royal Highness shook hands with every other man in the room save Beau Brummell, whom he coldly ignored. Then the snubbed one tapped Lord Avanley on the shoulder and asked in a loud voice that all might hear, "I say, Avanley, who's your fat friend?"

J. M. writes: "I have been going with a young man for some time, and his birthday is drawing near. Can you advise me what to give him?"

There are so many ordinary things, J. M., such as books and ties, which must have occurred to you that I suppose you desire something different. How about a billfold with his initials stamped into the leather in gold? They say billfolds are coming in again. Or do you "Love a man who smokes a pipe?" Perhaps he might be willing to learn if you present the pipe. It is not expected that a girl will buy an expensive gift, but it should be appropriate.

L. G. writes: "Do you reprint poetry people ask for? If so, will you please publish the words of a poem beginning, "She was so small a short, short time ago"?

Yes, L. G., we shall be glad to print verses requested by readers, if at all possible. If we cannot obtain some that are asked for, perhaps someone will supply the information. The poem you ask for, by Claire McClure, is entitled:

TRINITY

She was so small so short a time ago.
She lay against my heart, a Baby-thing.
And now I watch the lovely flush and glow
Illumine her that only love can bring.

They told me I should feel hot, jealous pain
When first she turned to other arms from mine—
I have not found it so. Not loss, but gain
It is for me, she's found a thing so fine.

I love him with a strange and tender love—
This tall, sweet boy, whose laughing, clear, young eyes
Saw dreams come true in her, and sought to prove
Her not a child, but woman, woman wise.

They lived absorbed. I see her wholly his,
As he is hers until the end of time.
And yet—and yet, I know that each one is
In some way wholly, deeply, sweetly mine.

MOTHERHOODS' TOLL WORRIES BRITAIN

Minister of Health Inaugurates Movement to Reduce Rate of Mortality.

LONDON, June 16 (by the Canadian Press).—"My own mother died in childbirth, and I know how great is the injury to a family when the mother is taken away," said Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health, brother of Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Minister, when he was the guest at a luncheon in Leeds Town Hall in furtherance of the work of the Leeds Maternity Hospital. Mr. Chamberlain's mother was Joseph Chamberlain's second wife, a daughter of Timothy Kenrick, of Birmingham. She died 53 years ago.

After referring to the "unhappy and regrettable fact" that the maternal mortality rate had remained almost stationary for 20 years, Mr. Chamberlain said that he was setting up a Committee which was going to draw up a list of the points to which special notice should be drawn. The ministry hoped to get an answer to the questions and the results of investigation would be sent back to the local authorities for their consideration. He had also appointed a strong committee to investigate the training of midwives to obtain the right class of women for maternity work, he said.

"We shall require the pressure and support of public opinion if we are to carry our recommendations into effect, Mr. Chamberlain added.

LITTLE SONGS OF LOVE.

MY DEAR

"Dear" is such a dainty
Blue-pink word.
"Dear" is like the morning,
Sweet and fresh, and very gay.
But "My Dear"
Said in that wrapped-up sort of way
Plunges one
Into melted gold,
And one's heart
Burns down to sunset ashes
Of rose. . . and gray . . .

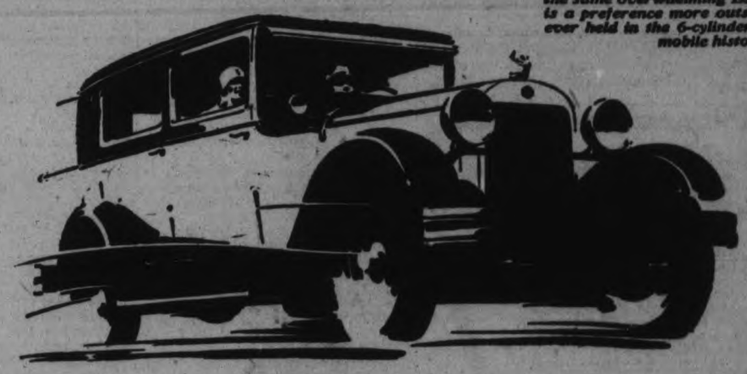
Essex Mirrors public choice

No matter where you hold your mirror to the cities, it will show, with slight variations, the same overwhelming Essex preference. It is a preference more outstanding than was ever held in the 6-cylinder field, in all automobile history.



World's Greatest Value altogether or part by part

To know the overpowering conviction of greatest value held by Essex owners is merely to see Essex beauty, to examine Essex quality, to sit inside and feel Essex comfort—to ride and know Essex performance.

Here is the simple and sovereign answer to the question of automobile satisfaction.

The ideal transportation achieved in the Greatest Essex Super-Six was long foreshadowed in the series of individual superiorities by which Essex towered above the field. Its vivid brilliance of performance reveals in a single ride a smoothness and quiet, a road-skimming ease and soaring exhilaration that is actually like flying.

Greater in power, more versatile in all performance, larger, roomier and more beautifully appointed, the New Essex Super-Six gloriously earns its richer reward in the greatest popularity of Essex history.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

For rainy days in summer, navy blue waterproof crepe de chine coat frock worn over blue and white dotted crepe de chine sleeveless frock.

The thoroughly up-to-date woman never lets rain interfere with her business or pleasure, and she doesn't get the blues when the sky is overcast with gray clouds or when the wind is blowing from the direction that it blows when a shower may come up. She doesn't defer making plans for the day until after she has consulted the weather predictions in the morning paper. She just goes right along as if weather made no difference. And it needn't make any difference if she has provided herself with rainy weather clothes that are really attractive.

The sketch shows a navy blue waterproof crepe de chine coat frock that really is rainproof. It may be worn over another frock that will be more appropriate if the skies clear and the sun comes out. The hat is made of cire straw braid that cannot be harmed with a little moisture. A smart new umbrella and a pair of small rubber sandals or one of the new rubber overshoes that are light weight and shapely may be added to complete the rainy-day ensemble.

Some sort of light-weight attractive waterproof wrap ought to be part of every young woman's summer wardrobe. One coat that I saw the other day was made of beige waterproof crepe de chine with a collar that might be turned up and fastened under the chin to give perfect protection. The advantage of these waterproof crepe de chine wraps is that they take up very little room and may be carried in the small week-end bag. It is possible, you know, to buy this waterproof crepe de chine by the yard.

ORANGE LAYER CAKE

One-half cup butter, two-thirds cup sugar, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, two eggs, three-fourths cup orange juice and water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, grated rhind of one and one-half oranges.

Cream the butter and sugar together, add well-beaten egg yolks. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture, alternately with milk. Cut and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and grated orange rhind. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in a hot oven for about twenty-five minutes. Serves ten; or may be made into layers.

The people who prepare these pictures are experts, and I can't do better than follow them."

Man in 1789 Takes Third of Column to Tell Opinion of Wife.

MONTREAL, Que., June 16 (CP).—Quotation from the Gazette for 1789: John Gustus Diehil, in an advertisement extending to a third of a column, recounts his difficulties with his wife, who owing to his poverty had left him and was living with her brother. He implores her to appear before a notary and obtain a legal separation, as "such an act would remove the suspicion of a mercenary disposition which the world will be apt to entertain of her, in seeing a wife leave her husband because of his present inability to maintain her in the former affluent manner he used to do, and to come upon him again when his friends and his own industry might raise him again in the world," an intention which, he intimates, was already attributed to her. Another advertisement sets forth the price of bread as fixed by His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the City and District of Montreal.

BEAUTY PARLORS ARE KEPT BUSY

Peterborough Women Divide Favor Between Marcelling and Finger Waving.

Marcelling and finger-waving run side by side in favor this summer. A great deal of marcelling is done, but the more fortunate people who have wavy hair, turn to finger-waving. Local beauty parlors report an average of eight permanent waves a week.

The dressing of one's hair varies almost as much as one's costume these days; one may have it fitting tightly to the head, or as bushy as one pleases, in curling. Cutting also varies from the straight line to a natural line, while some prefer it shingled and some pointed. For the stouter figure, the pointed is very becoming, but the tall slender figure would look more natural with a natural line or shingled.

With the summer months and vacation just ahead, some Peterborough girls are looking forward to the hot days with a boyish bob, while others prefer to have a permanent wave, so that they will not have to be bothered with having it curled during the vacation term.

Wonderfully equipped beauty parlors are to be found in the city, and all are apparently well patronized.

PARENTS' GOLDEN WEDDING; SON ORDAINED AS PRIEST; DAUGHTER 25 YEARS A NUN

TORONTO, Ont., June 16 (CP).—While his father and mother sat in the congregation celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, Rev. Leo Smyth, who was the day before ordained a priest, on Sunday last sang his first Mass. In the church beside his parents was his sister, a nun, who was celebrating the silver jubilee of her entry into religious life. The preacher, Rev. Dr. Louis Marke of St. Augustine's seminary, referred to the coincidence as "altogether unique in a world where life is bounded by three score years and ten."

PICNIC COOK

By LENORE GRAY

It began the night Annie Smith introduced Roger to Lucile Barton, the new milliner, who had had a birthday party in her rooms and invited all the girls in the shop and their men friends.

'She's pretty, isn't she?" asked Annie as they went home at midnight.

'Pretty?" repeated Roger Gray dreamily. 'More than pretty — she's beautiful—like a picture."

Annie's married sister found her crying herself to sleep that night, and that is the way she learned that Roger had almost, "not quite," asked Annie to be his wife. And here was beautiful golden-haired Lucile come just in time to stretch out her long white arms and bar the door to happiness against quiet little Annie, whose arms were not white, just plump and pinkish, with little capable tanned hands, whose eyes were hazel and whose hair was soft and misty black.

'I haven't a chance beside her, she is so clever and so handsome; but she wouldn't make a good wife for Roger; she paints and powders and doesn't seem real," sobbed Annie.

'You should worry," comforted Louise. 'I'll fix that near-vamp lady, honey. I've got to think it up."

'Can you, Louise?" asked doubting Annie.

'Can I?" Louise smiled mysteriously. 'You know what a homely kid I was?" Annie nodded.

'Well, didn't I walk in and marry Gene Fraser, the superintendent of the whole place, when every other girl was fishing for him and each one a Venus compared to poor me? I did. You got a bigger chance than fair Lucile, the milliner's model! Sleep on that, honey."

Annie slept on it and felt cheerful the next day, but the next night her spirits sank again when she saw Roger walking down the street with Lucile.

'My idea has sprouted," announced Louise that night. 'We're going on a picnic Saturday afternoon over to Shingly Beach—everybody invited, including Lucile and Roger. Don't cry till it's all over—I just had to tear Gene away from a frizzy blonde who didn't know a teakettle from a can opener."

A hearty laugh came from behind Mr. Fraser's evening paper. 'Some organizer, Louise, you are," he chuckled.

Saturday was a pleasant day and the picnic started off in good shape, everybody laden down with baskets and boxes of lunch. The shore was quite deserted, now that September was nearing its end, and Louise volunteered to watch the lunch baskets while the others went for a stroll along the beach.

Two hours later the strolling couples came back, to find a frantic Louise and no picnic baskets. 'They disappeared," she wailed. 'I just closed my eyes from the sunshine, it is so bright, and when I opened them [illegible] basket was gone!"

"Asleep at the [illegible]," murmured one hungry male.

'We're five miles from the trolley line and the bus won't return for us until 7," mused Roger Gray. "Perhaps some of us could find a house where we could get something to eat."

'Yeh—maybe the moon's made of green cheese, and we could eat that," sneered Jim Murray.

Lucile smiled, but there was a mean look about her lips. 'I had the grandest coffee cakes and some bananas," she murmured.

'Shall we sit here and starve?" demanded Roger.

Louise suddenly clapped her hands. 'Saved! I've thought of a plan. The Halls have a cottage along here somewhere. We'll break in and make a fire, and if there are any eats——"

They all trailed after her with hungry, expectant faces, Annie, pale and quiet and not understanding where her chance came in. Strange to relate, a key on Louise's key ring fitted the cottage door.

In ten minutes they were all working like beavers under Louise's direction. The men dug clams and picked up firewood on the beach. Louise set the table in the pretty dining-room, and Annie, plain little Annie, flew around the kitchen in her element, for Annie was a born cook, and in an hour they sat down to a wonderful clam chowder, a dried-apple pie, hot biscuits and honey and delicious coffee, for the larder had been strangely well stocked.

Annie was the queen of the occasion. More than one man looked enviously at Roger Gray, and nobody thought it was clever when Lucile daintily flung up her perfumed and powdered hands and boasted that she knew nothing about cooking or housework and that the delicatessen shop was good enough for her. She nearly swooned at the idea of peeling an onion. It was at that particular moment that Jim Murray thought of a lifetime of meals he had planned to eat with Lucile, and looked vacantly out of the window, and it was then that Roger caught up Annie's little brown hand, with a burn on one thumb, and kissed it boldly.

'Congratulate me, everybody," he smiled around the table.

* * * * * *

'It came off fine," telephoned Louise to her friend, Mrs. Hall. "Annie and Roger are engaged, and they want to spend the honeymoon in your cottage."

'I wonder," mused the fair Lucile. 'I wonder what became of those elegant coffee cakes I bought?"

WOMAN'S DREAM HELPS COMPANY

Sends Shares Up 150 Per Cent. —Object is Under-Channel Tunnel.

LONDON, June 16 (by the Canadian Press).—How a woman's dream sent the shares of the Channel Tunnel Company upward by 150 per cent was told at the annual meeting of the company held here the other day.

Baron Emile D'Erlanger, the chairman, said a woman had a dream of the marvellous success of the company and next day instructed her brokers to buy heavily. The day after this became known the shares (which are of a 4s denomination) went up from sixpence to 1s 3d.

The company for building a Tunnel from Dover to France has been in existence for over 30 years. It has a capital of 92,000 pounds, but practically nothing has ever been done towards making the tunnel. The Committee of Imperial Defence has always pronounced unfavorably against the scheme, consequently governmental sanction has never been obtained.

BUDGETING FOR PLEASURE

Did you pay more than $10.87 a week for food last month? If you did, and you have an average family of five, you paid too much, according to figures in the Labor Gazette, just issued.

And this may be blamed more upon your method of buying than upon Peterborough merchants having higher prices than in other parts of the country. It is true that seven meats were higher here than the average for Ontario, but five were lower; that six kinds of fish were higher, but three were lower; while eggs, milk and butter were all cheaper here than the average for Ontario, and all lower in price than the average for the Dominion. Rice and tapioca cost more here, but cheese, bread, soda biscuits, flour, rolled oats, canned vegetables, onions, potatoes, apples, prunes, raisins, currants and corn syrup were all cheaper than the Ontario average.

Do you know that the average home of the average family in sixty cities in Canada is run on $21.11 a week for food, light, fuel, rent and all other household etcetras?

Perhaps the lack of a budget, or some system of buying, is responsible for your failure to come somewhere near this average, and it will be the object of this series to give, every Saturday, some hints on the keeping of a budget and on buying with an eye to economy and real value. It will be demonstrated that not only is the budget profitable, but pleasurable. There are as many systems as there are people using them, and new plans are brought out every month by the popular magazines. Many, alas, are so complicated they require the services of a trained bookkeeper, and most are not applicable to the average Peterborough family. One noticed recently was planned for a family having an income of $250 a month; another had 23 columns across the page!

Many Peterborough families work on the budget system, and it will be the effort of this series to tell of the best of these plans. No names will be given, of course, but it may be taken for granted that all plans outlined here are in working order, successfully, by some neighbor.

The Simplest Kind.

Undoubtedly the simplest budget system is that briefly mentioned in the column a few days ago; a system particularly applicable to the home where accounts are paid by cash and not by cheque. It is necessary only to keep an account of the expenditures for food, milk, laundry, rent, light, gas, fuel, etc. for one average month, multiply each by twelve and divide by 52. The result will give the amount that must be placed aside for that commodity every week. If wages are received every fortnight, of course, the product should be divided by twenty-six, as the amounts will be set aside only every two weeks.

Cards are inserted in a suitable-sized box, with the name of the commodity marked at the top of each card for easy reference, and on the card is marked the weekly amount needed for that purpose. Behind the cards are envelopes. Then, on pay day, sufficient change is obtained to go around, and each envelope is given the amount marked on the appropriate card. When the milkman, or breadman, or insurance agent calls, it is only necessary to go to the envelope, and the proper amount will be found there.

For instance: suppose the monthly gas account is $6, multiply that by 12, which gives the cost for a year, and divide by 52, which gives the cost for a week, $0.93. Mark this on the envelope or card, and deposit it every week (if pay is every two weeks, then deposit $1.86 every pay-day). Or, if insurance costs $30 a quarter, deposit $2.31 in the insurance envelope every week and when the account comes in you will have the $30 plus a few cents.

Envelopes should also be provided for recreation and savings, and any surplus over the cost of living can be divided between these on any plan decided. When sufficient has made its way into the savings envelope, the total should be deposited in a bank savings account, and this should not be postponed too long, as "savings" money has a way of taking unto itself wings.

Having a budget will obviate the necessity of writing a letter such as said to have been received by a local landlord. He wrote to a tenant, "I regret to inform you that my rent is much overdue. Will you kindly forward me a check?"

To which the smart tenant replied: "I see no reason on earth why I should pay your rent. I can't even pay my own."

(Next Saturday: Budgeting on a salary of $80 in Peterborough.)

Jane: Are men as polite to girls in offices as they used to be?

Probably not, Jane. Are girls in offices as punctilious in their relations with men employees as they once were? There's nothing to worry about, though, if men and women thrown into constant daily touch in business are becoming more comradely and less formal. After years of considering women as mental inferiors, it is refreshing to find men admitting them as equals in business relations.

CLOTHES LINE

Before using a new clothesline, soak it over night in cold water and boil it for half an hour. This prevents its tangling.

Lamp wicks that are soft and loosely woven will burn far better than the heavier variety.

MALARIA

It has been definietly proven that malaria is a blood parasite which is introduced into the human being only through the bite of the female mosquito of the genus anopheles.

It is one of the most serious diseases encountered in the warm damp climates, as no other infection compares with it as a killing and disabling disease, with the exception of tuberculosis.

In the United States malaria has decreased within the last fifty years. This is entirely due to the improved sanitary measures which have been discovered by the Government investigators.

In all probability, within a few years, malaria will be entirely stamped out in civilized districts. The best measures for its prevention are the draining of swampy lands and the spreading of a surface of crude oil upon any pools of stagnant water which cannot be removed. It is also necessary to protect infected persons from the bite of this mosquito because in no other way is the disease transmitted from one person to another.

There are several types of malaria which are distinguished from each other by the frequency of the paroxysmal fever. I shall not go into detail as to this difference, since the cause and the treatment are alike in either of the forms.

This disease is characterized by three stages. The first stage is a period of internal congestion, when the blood leaves the skin, producing a pallor and the feeling of intense chill. This feeling of coldness is only an illusion, however, since the fever usually reaches its maximum toward the end of this stage. The patient then feels flushes of warmth over his body which mark the beginning of the hot state and during which the face becomes reddened, and the skin, over the entire body, hot. The third stage begins with small beads of sweat upon the face. This sweating gradually spreads until the entire body is covered with a copious perspiration. Much toxic material is discharged through the skin by this process, and within an hour or two all discomfort disappears and the patient usually sinks into a refreshing sleep. The total duration of this paroxysm averages from ten to twelve hours, but may be much shorter.

The disease is frequently intermittent. As a result, the patient may be considered cured, but have a recurrence of the disease from several months or years apart even without any possibility of further contact with the mosquito.

Occasionally the fever undergoes pernicious changes. The patient may sink into forms of brain disturbance such as acute delirium or rapidly developing coma; or, the disease may attack the digestive system, producing vomiting, intense prostration and diarrhea. There is another type of a serious nature known as a black water fever.

Quinine is generally regarded as a specific for malaria, but I have come to the conclusion that in some individual it acts as a poison, and it is in these cases that the dangerous forms occur which were mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

One of the oddities of this disease is the fact that it has a tendency to cure certain other diseases. This fact is now being experimented with to some extent in the treatment of some severe chronic diseases such as tuberculosis, insanity and syphilis. This benefit is probably caused by the fever and sweating of the malarial patient, producing oxidation and elimination of some of the toxins of the other disease. This is easily understood to a person who is familiar with the fasting cure.

Questions and Answers.

Question: K. L. writes: "Have been reading your health column and have read some very interesting things. Will you kindly tell me what causes one's stomach to get sore—right in the pit of it—and to swell immediately upon eating anything?"

Answer: Your trouble may be gastritis which means inflammation of the stomach; or, a gastric or duodenal ulcer may be forming. Give your stomach a rest for a few days, then use good food combinations and if your distress does not disappear, go to a good diagnostician or x-ray specialist and have a thorough examination. An insipient ulcer discovered in time can be easily cured, and through an early examination you may save yourself needless pain and expense, and avoid a serious operation.

Question: Ruth J. asks: "Are cereals with sliced fresh fruit a good combination?"

Answer: Cereals should never be combined with acid fruits. However, a glass of orange juice taken about an hour before a cereal breakfast is all right, as this fruit juice leaves the stomach almost entirely within that time.

Question: V. C. W. writes: "I have been suffering with my back for four months. Either strained it or it is lumbago, don't know which. As long as I am standing straight there is no pain but when I stoop continually it seems to hurt worse than even heavy lifting. My work is very heavy. Have taken treatment from a chiropractor but got no relief. Seems to be very low in my back, sometimes going into my hips."

Answer: If you received no relief from chiropractic treatments it may be because you have a form of lumbago or rheumatism. In that case it will be necessary for you to eliminate the rheumatic poisons before you will be free from your suffering. Send large, self-addressed, stamped envelope for article on rheumatism.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 17, 1928.

Benefic stars rule today, according to astrology, which reads fair promises in the planetary sway.

Women should find this a most auspicious direction of the stars for whatever affects their emotions. Domestic conditions should be harmonious today.

Under this government of the planets reform movements are likely to germinate and women will become powerful in them.

This should be a favorable day for the clergy, provided they preach of peace and dwell on the better attributes of human nature.

Men and especially women are likely to be exceedingly sensitive to criticism at this time when there is an accented sense of personal pride.

Music and art are subject to influences today that are most beneficial. The lowly and those who have few advantages are to become leaders in culture within a few years, the seers prophesy.

In the changing world reversals of every sort are to be even more noticeable than in previous decades.

New millionaires will rise and many persons who have enjoyed financial prominence will become less conspicuous than formerly, it is foretold.

Women are to benefit from a certain sort of reactionary influences which bring them an access of power through their own feminine traits, astrologers announce.

This is read as an auspicious day for lovers who will behold virtues and glories invisible to ordinary eyes.

Many marriages of widowers and older women will mark this month, it is foretold.

The partial eclipse of the Sun today is read as menacing to peace and indicating trouble between Russia and other nations.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be cautious regarding their personal affairs all through the coming year, lest the eclipse be a symbol of experience.

Children born on this day may meet strange destinies. The subjects of this sign usually lead eventful lives.

FOR MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1928.

Astrologers read this as a day unfavorable in planetary direction, but there is a strong benefic influence.

The mind may be easily swayed to pessimistic and dissatisfied points of view and should be safe-guarded against destructive thoughts.

Under this rule the spell-binder is likely to flourish and to have the power to utter sophistries in a convincing manner.

Intrigue and deception are believed to flourish under this sway which encourages double-dealing and even dishonesty.

The stars seem to presage many troubles between friends and business partners. Mischief-makers will be numerous while this rule of the planets prevails.

There is a promising sign for those who enter into partnerships or agreements. While many old ties will be severed in business and politics, new ones will be strongly forged.

Saturn is in an aspect believed to affect Russia. Astrologers foretell great troubles which will be fomented by Russia.

Severe thunderstorms may be expected in various parts of the west not usually visited by electrical disturbances.

All through the summer earthquakes will be reported from various parts of the world, it is again foretold.

Japan may be afflicted with new disasters, but the nation will profit in certain commercial lines.

Tremendous international coalitions of money powers are prognosticated and bankers are to enjoy marvelous prosperity, the stars indicate.

Unexpected news, sudden journeys and unusual benefits may be expected by all whose birthdate comes on this date.

Children born today may be endowed with remarkable minds, but difficult temperaments. The subjects of this sign make successful educators.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE ARE SENTIMENTAL.

There is a difference between sentiment and sentimentality. Sentiment means an emotional attachment to some person or object such as the attachments we have for the old homestead, our fathers and mothers, our sweethearts, an engagement ring, the flag, an old hat, a favorite golf club and other things, places and people that stir up an emotion in us.

Sentimentality, on the other hand, is something none of us care to be accused of. It is regarded as a sign of softness in the head. Sentimentality is sentiment gone to seed, an exaggeration of the real thing. We call a person sentimental when he carries his emotional attachments beyond the bounds of reason. In one of Thackeray's descriptions this sentence appears, "Mr. Sterne becomes sentimental over a cab, and weeps generous tears over a donkey." Anyone who "weeps generous tears over a donkey" is beyond mere sentiment. He is a sentimentalist. This sort of emotional reaction is in excess of true sentiment, overdone, ridiculous.

The element of insincerity also helps to give sentimentality a black eye. It is sometimes done for effect or for the purpose of enjoying the emotion for its own sake. The sentimentalist is often "affectedly tender, mawkishly emotional." We have no more confidence in this sort of thing than in the man who tries to sell us gold bricks at a dollar a brick. We smell a rat right away.

We are sentimental in fun for the purpose of drawing a laugh, or more cunningly serious in producing a desired effect, and not infequently we are sentimental quite unconsciously in exaggerating a favored emotional situation such as burying a pet dog with all the formality of funeral rites befitting a human being.

SMITH COUNCIL BUYS CULVERTS

Will Build Sidewalk On Wolseley Street As Local Improvement.

WILL COST $800.

The Municipal Council of the Township of Smith, met at the farm of Mr. Prophet at 1.30 p.m., June 13th, to inspect the working of the new stone-crusher recently purchased from the Sawyer-Massey Co. of Hamilton. At 3 p.m. Council met in session at the home of Reeve Middleton for general business. All the members of Council were present.

Mr. Dann was present in the interests of The Metallic Roofing Co., Limited, to demonstrate steel culverts manufactured by the above company.

Moved by Reeve Middleton and seconded by Councillor Mann that Council order from The Metallic Roofing Co. culverts as follows: Two corrugated steel culverts, diameter 30 inches, gauge 14, length 20 feet. Two corrugated steel culverts, diameter 15 inches, gauge 16, length 16 feet. One corrugated steel culvert, diameter 36 inches, gauge 12, length 18 feet.—Carried.

Moved by Councillor Mullen and seconded by Councillor Mann that the clerk advertise Council's intention of undertaking as a local improvement, the building of a concrete sidewalk, four feet wide on the north side of Wolsley street between Benson Avenue and the western limit of Lot No. 61, plan 24, E.C.R. of the Township of Smith; and of specially assessing the cost of such undertaking upon the land abutting directly on the work. Included in the above work shall be the necessary concrete street crossings. Estimated cost per foot frontage is 80c and total estimated cost is $800.00.

A By-law for undertaking the work will be considered by the Council at a meeting thereof to be held on the 6th day of July, 1928, or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

Moved by Coun. Fitzgerald and seconded by Dep. Reeve Coons that the clerk advertise for tenders for the above work, such tenders to be received by the clerk not later than 6 p.m., July 3rd, 1928; and to be considered at a Council meeting on July 6th, 1928, and the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Fitzgerald and seconded by Dep. Reeve Coons that Council employ Messrs. James Middleton and G. D. Mann to visit the various summer resorts in Smith Township to ascertain the ownership and assessment value of the various summer cottages therein, and that they report their findings at the next meeting of Council.

LYRICS OF LIFE

SCREEN DOORS

At last the screen doors all are hung;
I wish that we could hang
The other people, old and young,
Who let a screen door bang.
When all is quiet, all is calm,
We hear a sudden shot.
It sounds exactly like a bomb—
Unhappily it's not.

When someone slams a door of ours
I wish we had the right
To say it, say it not with flow'rs
But bricks and dynamite.
It wouldn't be an awful sin
To scatter him about,
So he who slams it coming in
Can't slam it going out.

The world thus frequently employs
The most heroic means.
The bomb would make a lot of noise,
But not as much as screens.
I never was a fighting man,
I was too old for wars;
But I'm a shell-shocked veteran
From people slamming doors.

Chick Murray

MOTOR-WISE BUYERS are no longer accepting claims. They want facts, not fancies. Actual tests—not loose talk.

For that reason the new Whippet Six was put to the most rigid tests before offering it to the public. It broke all speed and endurance records for cars listed in Canada under $1200.

Chick Murray, Internationally known racing driver, made the tests with a strictly stock Whippet Six Coach at Indianapolis on March 17th, 1928. Each run was officially timed and checked, and an affidavit furnished. Here are the records:

1 24-HOUR RUN—1357.5 miles at an average speed of 56.52 miles per hour (elapsed time). To maintain this speed it was necessary for the new Whippet Six to go at least 65.67 miles per hour—thus breaking all speed records in its price class. The former record of 54.103 miles per hour was held by a six-cylinder car selling for a price far in excess of the New Whippet Six.

2 HIGH-SPEED RUN—50 miles in 47 minutes 37.14 seconds. An average of 63 miles per hour. No stops were made during the run. At the finish one's finger could be held in the water of the radiator without experiencing any discomfort—thus proving the efficiency of the cooling system.

3 SECOND-GEAR RUN—150 miles in 4 hours, at an average speed of 37.5 miles per hour. To maintain this average speed it was necessary to go 41.25 miles per hour.

4 ECONOMY RUN—123.6 miles at an average speed of 25.5 miles per hour, using only 5 carefully measured gallons of gasoline, or an average (per American gallon) of 24.7 miles per gallon.

The New Whippet Six has not only a performance ability never before obtainable in any car of its size and price but it has a

7-BEARING CRANKSHAFT

GIVES SILKY SMOOTHNESS

The heavy, rigid, drilled crankshaft is perfectly balanced and supported on seven bronze-backed, babbitt main bearings—giving the utmost smoothness of power delivery.

The New Whippet Six offers, too, an array of other mechanical features worthy of a car costing twice its price, for instance: a high-compression engine... full force-feed lubrication... thermosta... air-cleaner... silent timing chain... four-wheel brakes... a staunch, dependable chassis... smooth-shifting transmission... finger-tip steering—all resulting from its new principles of design.

The World's Lowest-Priced Six

With 7-Bearing Crankshaft

The New Whippet Six is in many respects the most amazing car of the year. Excelling not only in performance and flexibility (accelerating from 5 to 25 miles in 7.2 seconds) but in appearance as well. It is a car of most modern design. Long, low-swung bodies in harmonious lacquers, cadet-type visors, remote door controls and smart, extra-roomy interiors give a distinction and an air of luxury that will evoke your admiration.

We will place a new Whippet Six at your disposal. Drive and test it yourself. What you'll find will be a revelation. Buy no car until you drive this remarkable new automobile. Immediate delivery.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

GARRETT FOLSOM is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N.J.

Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and it had been bought on the boardwalk in an auction room.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichaq.

Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folsom's room.

Croydon Sears' initials are discovered in a notebook of Folsom's and Pelton thinks his uncle had been doing some blackmailing. ROBIN SEARS, Croydon's son, is worried now that suspicion is resting on his father. Riggs tells him he ha learned that Croydon Sears had purchased a third dagger.

The elder Sears sends for the famous detective, FLEMING STONE. He tells this to Riggs, who seems surprised.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

"Then," said Riggs, "you know the police are interested in your—"

"My activities in the auction room Yes, I know it," replied Sears. "And I can't wonder at it. I prowl around buying antique weapons and first thing you know a chap is killed with one of them, or a similar one. Why wouldn't the average detective link up the two facts?"

"But l ts of other people bought those old stickers. Meeker, for instance."

"But Meeker had no reason to kill Folsom."

"Had you?"

"Depends on what constitutes a reason. How do you differentiate between reason and motive? But that's splitting hairs. I'll tell you what, Riggs, if you'll leave yo r question to be answered until after my friend Stone gets here, I'll give you some sort of answer then. How'd you like to sit in on our conferences and see what we can do, all working together, about the Folsom affair?"

"I'd like it first-rate, of course reminding you that I'm working for Miss Folsom. At least, she says I am, but I've not done much yet, except to stir up things."

"Good to have things stirred up. Easier, maybe, for Fleming Stone to settle."

Robin, meantime, having handed in his telegram, went out on the deck in search of his fiancee, Angelica Fair.

She was there, with the Barrons in their favorite corner, and he joined the group.

Near by, Miss Anastasia Folsom was talking with Mrs. Barnaby and Carmelita Valdon.

"You see, Duchess," the spinster was saying, for she had become rather fond of these two women, "things are not moving fast enough to suit me. I have faith in that nice Mr. Riggs, and I know he's doing all he can, but I don't like the way he's heading."

"What way is that?" asked Carmelita.

"I won't exactly mention names, but he has Garry's notebook, and just because it's full of a lot of mysterious names and initials, Mr. Riggs proposes to run down all those people and see if any of them are implicated."

"Just because they are in his notebook?" cried the Duchess. "Why, my goodness, they might be the merest business matters, or—"

"Of course they might," agreed Anastasia. "Dan wants to drop the whole question; says it can't help Garry to have somebody swing for him, but I don't look at it like that. A Folsom has been murdered, and if the man who killed him doesn't pay the penalty it won't be my fault. One-third of Garry's money is mine now, and I'll spend every cent of it before I'll stop chasing the wretch who killed him!"

"Don't they say," the Duchess asked, "one must always suspect those who are benefited?"

"Oh, yes. But that amounts to nothing. Of course, the minor beneficiaries might be thought of, but they're only servants and a few old friends. No, the motive for this crime was a deep one, and the method was planned and carefully carried out. It was no sudden impulse; it was premeditated, and so we must look for a motive of big import and a murderer of cunning. And I'm going to get him! I say he—but do you know I sometimes think it may have been a woman. The cleverness of that stab under the water somehow suggests a woman's ingenuity. What do you think?"

"No," Carmelita said, emphatically. "The idea may have been a woman's, but the criminal was a man. A woman, even if she had strength enough to drive that blow, couldn't have managed it in that tossing sea. It was awfully rough, you know. We were knocked about by the waves—"

"Pooh," said Miss Folsom, "the woman of today is as lithe and muscular as a man. And that's what it required, that and cleverness in taking the exact moment for the rush of the wave—"

"What it required," the Duchess declared, "was determination. Either a man or a woman could have struck that blow, had it been inspired by a hate or revenge strong enough. There wasn't such a lot of physical force needed. It was a question of aim and of choosing just the right moment. I shouldn't wonder if more than one attempt had to be made."

"Oh, do stop talking about it!" cried Carmelita, her face drawn with emotion and her long slender fingers twining tightly about themselves.

"I shan't stop talking about it," Miss Folsom announced. "If you don't like it, you needn't listen. Oh, there's Mrs. Barron—good morning, my dear."

Anastasia had taken a fancy to Madeline from the first, perhaps because they were so different in type. While the liking was not fully returned, Madeline was faintly amused by the spinster's odd ways and was fascinated for some inexplicable reason by her society.

"All right this morning?" she asked, breezily, and she came toward Madeline. "Going in?"

"No," Madeline returned, "the sun is too hot."

"Seem to've lost your taste for bathing," Miss Folsom nodded sympathetically. "And Lord knows I don't wonder! Why, you stood next to Garry when he was killed, didn't you?"

Miss Anastasia was not one for euphemisms. If her friends died she never said they passed away. And of her brother's death she never said "when he fell" or "when he went under," as many others did.

Madeline shuddered.

"I wish you wouldn't talk about it," she said, almost petulantly. "No, I wasn't next to him."

"What ails all the women?" exclaimed Miss Folsom, grimly. "Can't bear to hear about anything unpleasant! I just guess if any one you loved had been stabbed you'd—"

"I wouldn't talk about it to strangers!" said Madeline, losing her temper at last, and, rising, she went into the hotel.

Ned Barron at once threw himself into the breach.

"Please pardon my wife's abruptness," he said to Miss Folsom, with his big, pleasant smile. "She is not feeling any too well."

"What's the matter with her?" demanded Anastasia, with a fine abruptness of her own.

"Nothing especially. But I think she is tired of the seashore and she is nervously sensitive about—about your brother's death. You must see, Miss Folsom, that though to you the subject is naturally of the deepest interest, it is nerve-wracking for a woman to have a strange man killed—almost at her very side——"

"Was he an utter stranger?"

Anastasia Folsom gave Barron a long, keen glance from under her heavy eyebrows.

"Surely!" he exclaimed. "You didn't think they were acquainted, did you? Why, we never saw or heard of Mr. Folsom until that morning."

"No," said the lady. "I'm glad you appreciate, Mr. Barron, my own deep interest and anxiety, and I do see how it is a very unpleasant memory for your wife to have in mind. Enough to spoil anybody's summer vacation."

With one of her sudden, abrupt gestures, she turned and walked away.

Angelica rose, and without a word, even to Robin, disappeared into the hotel.

Straight to the Barrons' apartment she went, and, not entirely to her surprise, found Madeline, with her face down on the bed, sobbing.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

branches which reported membership, however, there are 272 members, a splendid indication of the interest taken in W.I. work in the East Durham district. The eight branches represented raised a total of $2,256.72 during the year reported on, to be expended in the good work for which the Institute stands.

One of the activities of these branches is the providing of prizes for school fairs, and many have sponsored better village lighting in the centres where they operate.

Healthy Branch at Lakefield Is Only Eleven Months Old.

LAKEFIELD, June 16.—The Women's Institute in Lakefield is eleven months old and has already made an excellent start in its work for the community. The numerical growth has been phenomenal and most of the difficulties which have been encountered are really "growing pains" from too rapid a growth. Nevertheless it would be unfair not to mention the achievements of the Institute. Christmas cheer was taken to the County House of Refuge and an hour's musical programme was given to the old folks who thoroughly enjoyed the visit. Mrs. John Northey, at the piano, was a host in herself and kept the entertainment going strong. She played for several of the old men to sing and also for two of them to dance. Several parcels were distributed also in the village.

Several parcels were distributed also in the village. In the winter a nursing class was held during the early part of March with more than ninety women and girls registered. A layette was provided for a needy mother, and a shower was given for a family who were burned out, providing many useful articles to assist in the re-establishment of their home.

Mrs. J. H. Payne is president, Mrs. Leslie Harrison, Secretary and Mrs. John Northey, district Director.

Lakefield is in the unique position of having the daughter Institute older than the mother. The Junior Institute is five months older than the Women's branch and is a live organization of energetic young women who are taking their responsibility seriously and are working for home and country just as zealously as the mother branch.

Miss Lulu Darling is president, Miss Edna Frankish, secretary and Miss Ora Dunford, district Director.

Ennismore

Ennismore, June 16. — Miss Mamie Twomey of Detroit, is visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan and family of Peterborough, visited friends here on Sunday.

REPORTS READ OF CONVENTION

St. John's W. A. at Lakefield Hear Reports of Toronto Meeting.

WORK DISCUSSED.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, June 16.—At a special meeting of St. John's W.A., held on Tuesday afternoon, June 12, Mrs. E. Cameron gave a report of the annual W.A. meeting of the Diocese of Toronto, held the last week in May in Toronto. Mrs. Cameron's report was full of interest and inspiration. Reports of the Diocesan officers, the president's address, and the Pageant program were all in printed form and will be passed around among the members, as they would occupy too much time in the reading all the addresses given. Mrs. Cameron brought back full reports, and the echoes of the enthusiasm of that vast crowd of women who were gathered as representatives of the W.A. in the Diocese of Toronto.

The first meeting held on Saturday, May 26th, was for the Juniors and Little Helpers, and hundreds of children thronged the lecture hall of the Central Technical School for what was to them, the most important meeting of all.

The importance of the children's work was demonstrated by their enthusiasm, their intelligent interest and the splendid offering made for the extension of Christ's Kingdom. The pledge fund alone amounted to $950.60 and was fully met, also they gave $325.00 to the Senior pledge fund; $260.00 to the Dicesan Missions and out of the undesignated funds they gave gifts of church furniture and equipment to missions in Japan, Western Canada, and the needy parishes in our own diocese.

The Little Helpers' report was inspiring and encouraging, there are 3,300 of them in 98 branches and their offerings amounted to $1,547.12. The Little Helpers pass into the Juniors, who in turn pass into the Girls' branches, and later into the ranks of the Seniors. The Bishop was present for a little while in the afternoon to give his encouraging word to these young Chirstians beginning their lives in service for those less fortunate than themselves.

Addresses Seniors

On Monday evening, May 28th, Canon H. J. Cody addressed the meeting of the Senior Evening branches, taking his text from part of the second verse of the 54th chapter of Isaiah: "Lenthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes." There was a note of warning in the address, for the church is lengthening its chords in response to the demands of the world, but we are not proportionately strengthening our stakes. Self-determination among smaller nations and people has brought new problems; the time has passed when the white races can dominate over their colored brethren as hertofore and our part is to make them Chritsian, so they will know how to govern for themselves under the banner of Christ. There is the need of the new Canadians, many British and many from other lands who are coming into our country, to make their homes. We, as church people, have a tremendous responsibility in regard to them, and should not neglect our opportunities.

An address was given also by Canon Riley on the Idea of the Church, whose work lies in our hands.

On Tuesday morning, at the opening session, the sum of $1,000.00, given by the W.A. to the Synod, to form the basis of a fund for Church extension, on the occasion of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Synod was acknowledged.

A discussion took place about using W. A. funds for anything but pledges, thank-offerings and Dorcas work. There was also a discussion regarding flowers for departed members; some branches spend more on this item than on pledges. This was universally agreed to be a poor policy to follow, and the idea suggested of sending a rose or two with a card attached and use the remainder of the money usually spent on flowers for some missionary object as a memorial.

On Thursday morning there were two celebrations of Holy Communion, one at 7 o'clock and one at 10 o'clock; over twelve hundred women received Communion.

In the afternoon there were addresses given by three outstanding men of the Canadian Church, all men who stand out, each in his own sphere as precious jewels in the diadem of their Church and nation. The first to speak was Canon Gould, who told of the International Missionary Conference held at Jerusalem last year. There were two hundred and forty men representing one hundred and twenty of the younger churches. There were Bishops from China, Japan, Korea, and Central Africa and six British Bishops. Unfortunately the Bishop of Lahore was unable to be present. They met for two weeks before Easter and day by day through Holy Week they followed in the pathway of Our Blessed Lord, there in His own land, realizing anew the wonders of it all and its sacred significance.

Rev. (Captain) John Autle was the second speaker and his work, very different from Canon Gould's, has its one great appeal. His work among the logging camps, canneries, fisheries and Indians; he has a vessel, the "Columbia," where he used for relief work and as a means of getting about his vast coast parish, the work is hard and conditions rough, but the cheery padre keeps a brave heart. He imitated the wireless signal which has many times called his boat and himself to the rescue of some one in dire need. He said he hoped to hear some day the call: "Hello, Columbia; Toronto calling, the Anglican Church is behind you; Go ahead." More than one million dollars has already been spent on the mission, and more than one-third of that sum nas been raised in the district itself.

The third speaker was Bishop White of Honan, China. There is no work in China equal to the work of Honan, and he thanked the W.A. for their part in this great work.

China to-day is in a turmoil, but the Chinese Church is going on in spite of the difficulties; women are elected to the Synod and have a big part in missionary work; there are nine clergy and 120 helpers, catechists, etc., native Chritsians who are training leaders for the Chinese church. The future usefulness of China depends on its being made a Christian nation, for it is menaced by Communism and Atheism, and if either or both of these gained predominance in that vast country, it would mean a world menace. The Church has trained the Chinese to carry on as leaders of their own church, whereas some movements failed in this crisis because the white missionaries wanted to do everything themselves.

The Church in Honan sent a beautifully-worked banner to Toronto diocese, which was accepted with enthusiasm.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Cameron for her comprehensive report. Tea was served and a social hour spent.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM LEWIS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, June 16.—A message was received on Wednesday by relatives, of the death of Mrs. William Lewis, at Oyen Hospital, Alberta; after an illness of about two months. The news is particularly sad as her husband passed away about ten days previous. His wife so ill at the time, no hope was held for her recovery. For the past few days her condition had slightly improved, but she passed away early Wednesday morning, June 13th. The funeral takes place Friday at her late resident, Oyen, Alberta. Mr. Lewis was buried the day previous to his wife's death. Mrs. Lewis, before her marriage was Miss Blance Smith of St. Thomas. Six children are left, five girls and a boy, the eldest about twelve years of age. Miss Blance Lewis, R.N., a sister of the late Mr. Lewis, has been in attendance on both patients since May 12th, and is expected to return east, accompanied by the children.

PATRICIA TURNER.

STIRLING, June 16.—Sincere regret is expressed by a large circle of friends and relatives at the death of Patricia Turner at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bailey at Mount Pleasant. At Easter the deceased had an operation at the Belleville General Hospital, for appendicitis and recovered sufficiently to return to her home. Shorty afterwards she had an attack of mumps and later on was taken to Kingston Hospital but nothing could be done for her as tubercular meningitis had developed and she passed away Tuesday morning at the early age of thirteen years. A young sister Isobel, is mourning her sister's death. During a 'flu epidemic a few years ago in Regina the parents of these children died within a few days of each other and since that they have made their home with their grandparents. The funeral was held Thursday at Mount Pleasant and was very largely attended.

JOINT MEETING OF SOCIETIES

that afternoon, the Cavan W. M. S. serving lunch.

At this rally the district officer will be present, and Mrs. Rose, a returned missionary from Korea will speak.

The Ladies' Aid will be withdrawn for the months of July and August.

Mrs. Staples told the meeting W.M.S. to meet at her home on the first Sunday afternoon in July, when the Temperance program will be used; also Mrs. J. C. Swain will give a synopsis of a chapter of the study book.

All members are requested to answer to the roll call by naming their favorite Old Testament character and stating the reason for their choice.

The meeting closed with singing and prayer after which the lunch committee served a lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs N. Lock and two children spent Saturday night with the formers sister Mrs. J. W. Perrin and Mr. Perrin.

The Rev. R. and Mrs. Hunter, of Cordlee, Idaho, are visiting friends in Cavan. They will start on their return journey the beginning of next week, visiting friends in Ridgetown en route.

Mrs. Darling, Peterborough, visited her grandmother, Mrs. Staples, on Wednesday.

Mr. Totton of Texas, is the guest of his brother, the Rev. J. O. Totton, at the parsonage, Cavan.

Miss Josie Sutton, R. N., New York, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Sutton, Millbrook, called on Cavan friends on Wednesday. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Day, R.N., and Miss Janet Herr, R.N., of New York. They will return to that city on Sunday.

W. I. GATHER FOR CONVENTION

members of the Madoc branch, and which won much praise from all the visitors.

Officers Elected.

Election of officers followed after a short period for community singing after re-assembling. Mrs. Bleecker of Marmora was asked to take charge of this, and the officers elected were as follows:

President— Mrs. G. A. Bailey, of Harold, re-elected

1st Vice-President — Mrs. C. N. Whytock, of Madoc, re-elected.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. R. Reid, Ivanhoe, re-elected.

Secretary-Treasurer— Mrs. T. L. Nockle, Madoc, re-elected.

District Delegate—Mrs. J. Gawley, Bannockburn.

Federation Delegate — Mrs. C. N. Whytock, Madoc.

The election of the District Directors named by the branches was confirmed: Mesdames W. E. Connor, Madoc, Thompson, Marmora, Clements, Ivanhoe, Haslett, Springbrook, Simpson, Rylestone, S. McEwen, Bannockburn, C. W. Clancy, Wellman's, H. Harryett, Fort Stewart.

Mrs. J. Clement was then called on for a report of the convention in Belleville which she attended as delegate of the district. This was given fluently and in a very interesting manner, though briefly.

Miss Marion Robertson varied the proceedings by a pleasing piano solo.

Mrs. Chas. Macoun of Campbellford, then gave a most interesting and inspiring address on district work, and its value to the community. She dwelt on the value of competitions, and the training of leaders, and the need of proper recreation.

A resolution was presented by the Rhylestone branch regarding the compulsory teaching of music in the Public schools. This was laid over to be brought before the Belleville convention in the fall.

A piano duet by Misses McRory and Robertson, was followed by a question drawer which was very capably handled by Mrs. Macoun.

An invitation to hold the next district meeting at Marmora was accepted.

Miss Lamoine West was then called on for a piano solo, after which on motion of Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson of Marmora, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the hostesses and to the musicians, and the Institute anthem closed the convention of 1928.

Regret was expressed that the expected speaker, Mrs. McDonough, was called away by the sudden death of two of her dearest friends.

Campbellford

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16.—Mrs. J. Ross MacLaren is visiting in Toronto for a few days this week.

Miss Margaret Dickson, Peterborough, is spending the week-end at her home here.

A sudden attack of appendicitis necessitated the removal of Howard Wood, Front street, to hospital. He was removed to Toronto in Bennett's invalid coach shortly after nine o'clock last night. It is thought that an immediate operation will be necessary.

Chief Light yesterday investigated a "red hot" clue as to the whereabouts of the young man who escaped the law here recently after being sentenced to four months in jail on a charge of housebreaking. The description of the missing man has been broadcast, but as yet he has not been re-arrested. Deloro advised the chief that a man answering to the fugitive's description had applied for work there and had been told when to come on the job. But he had never shown up nor had he been seen in the vicinity since asking for the employment.

One reason why so few recognize opportunity is because it is disguised as hard work.

There was always a lust in the eyes of Shaster—a lust for talent. He had an ear always cocked for the chance voice of some Greenwich Village Trilby.

And one night he found her, trilling softly to a group of long-legged Bohemian-looking men lolling at a table with her in a small restaurant. He could scarcely hear her soft, low voice, but he heard enough of it to know it was the voice of genius.

BY instinct, Shaster was a builder of destinies. Not his own. That particular destiny seemed to interest him very little, except insofar as its influence was to help mould the life of others. He was a peculiarly impersonal man. Big, shaggy, careless of dress and appearance. It was said by those who professed to know, that actually he knew very little about music.

An apprenticeship in his youth as secretary to one of the most famous tenors of the world was said to have supplied him with his knowledge of voice-training. Be that as it may, Shaster, had he the inclination or the aggressiveness, could easily have become one of the foremost vocal teachers of his time. As a matter of fact, he had neither. His wants were few and simple; his scale of living modest to a degree that was frugal, and by nature, Shaster, whose mother had been a Russian, his father Polish, was indolent, even insolent of fame.

His studio consisted of an attic room with slanting walls and a skylight set into the ceiling. He ate there, slept there, talked there, lived there, dreamed there. The wherewithal to carry on this vagabond existence he picked up easily enough.

His fame as a man of astute vocal knowledge had spread and prima donnas and tenors already in the operatic world were glad to come to him and pay him well for coaching. Shaster accepted sufficient of these pupils to solve his budget and for the rest, contented himself with training such pupils as he picked up in his rambles, whose voices, in his opinion, seemed sufficiently promising to warrant future success.

THERE was always a certain lust in the eyes of Shaster; a lust for talent. He was forever exploring, sitting back in the mean cabarets and music-halls of his neighborhood, with an ear cocked for the chance voice of some Greenwich Village Trilby.

He loved these exploring expeditions. He liked to sit quietly, unobserved, at an obscure table, listening intently to every sound of melody that came his way. Forever hoping to discover some Village Trilby.

He found her one night, sitting at a table in a small restaurant called the Blue Egg. She was trilling softly to a group of long-legged Bohemian-looking fellows who were lolling at the table with her. Her voice scarcely rose beyond the table itself, but enough of it came over to Shaster to convince him of its potential qualities.

Two days later, she began her training with him in the attic studio. In a way, the conditions were ideal.

Her name was Paula Pertensen. She was as poor as a church-mouse, unencumbered and ambitious. She had been born in Chautauqua and looked like a de Medici. She was American two generations back, and had Spanish eyes and hair.

Paula was ambitious. Hoped with high hope that her voice would lead to a future. At first surprised at the interest of the ardent, eager lover of music, she soon grew to accept his ambition for her as she accepted her ambition for herself. It was something bigger, greater than they were. Something that pushed them on.

FOR three years Shaster and the girl Paula worked together. She was as frugal in her desires and needs as he was. She bore the punishment of his stern routine, flagellating methods, long relentless hours, vicious criticism lightly, and seemed to cry out for more. She appeared at his studio at nine o'clock in the morning and remained there until ten o'clock at night. When other people came in for lessons, Paula retired behind a screen and waited. Then sometimes, when one of the pupils failed to appear, there she was waiting and eager and greedy for the additional time that Shaster had to divert to her.

They lived music, they talked it over the frugal meals they shared in the studio. Those who later claimed to have knowledge of the situation, said that Paula was a little parasite. That she had fastened herself to the musical erudition of Shaster, greedily and relentlessly. She kept after him for facts, facts, facts about things musical.

At the end of the third year, it was virtually true of Shaster that he had one interest in life, one dream, one hope—Paula. Some people said he was in love with her. He knew better. He was in love with her voice, as under his stern tutelage it took on florid and beautiful proportions. He was in love with her voice and Paula was in love with him.

At first Paula had been too astounded at his interest in her voice to think or wonder much at his interest in her—if he was interested in her. She did not know. But gradually she had grown to love him.

Every word that he spoke, whether of praise or admonition, was doubly worthy because he spoke it. She treasured his praise as she would never treasure the praise of the multitude. She loved his shabbiness, his pure, keen passion for the best that was in her voice, his sternness, his adoration of the growing, increasingly beautiful voice that her body held captive.

INEVITABLY, there came the striking of Paula's hour. She was granted her audition. She was engaged on the spot. She was given a coveted role in Opera her very first season. Her initial appearence in it was an ovation. She was made overnight. And not in a minor or ephemeral way. She was a first-rank success. She was important. She had magnificently arrived.

Overnight, as it were, she was swept out of the world of the attic studio into all the paraphernalia, the flare and the glare, the pyrotechnics of the life of a diva. And with her, of course, Shaster. As the creator of this song-bird, he became the mecca and shrine of thousands of aspirants for operatic success. He was invited to head the vocal departments of important music schools. Prima donnas came begging his criticism of their accomplishment. He became, over the same night that had swept Paula into the maelstrom of success, the most important figure in his particular profession.

THERE followed two years of the elaborate, bewildering pandemonium of acclaim. It was impossible to withstand the importunings of Paula. She needed him there those two years at her elbow to coach her in the exacting roles of the Opera and to keep the beautiful instrument of her voice in shape. And Shaster stood by.

Stood by when she needed him. Ready with criticism as honest and biting now that she had a world at her feet as ever it had been in the old days back in their attic. Ready with generous praise. With loyal friendship. Ready with everything that Paula wanted—except the one thing she wanted more than all else.

There came a time when Paula, emboldened with success, dared to admit to Shaster her love for him. Throughout all the years of the kind of intimate relationship that poverty enforces, there had never been between these two, a word of love.

It was a revelation that embarrassed the bewildered and pained Shaster beyond anything that had ever happened to him. The spectacle of the beautiful, powerful and successful Paula sobbing out, on her knees before him, the confession of her love. And it came at a time, too, that made the situation all the more heart-breaking because, the very day that it happened, Shaster had been making up his mind that Paula must know of his impending return to the attic studio.

He longed for the poverty, the meanness, the barrenness of his attic studio. He longer for the things that attic meant. Struggle and trial and labor, with no sure goal in sight, but with hope and ambition and the urge to vindicate his artist's judgment to prod him on in his long, hard fight.

Longed for them as another man might long for ease and riches. Longed for them as one longs for home or a beloved friend. As one longs for something not perfect, but still dearer than all the world beside.

IT was while she was on her knees in the elaborate apartment that fitted her role as diva, sobbing out to him the pitiful little story of her love, that Shaster somehow mustered up the courage to tell her.

He was a maker of destinies. To participate in them after they were made was not for him. The elaborate spectacle bored him. The finished product palled upon him. Shaster was a creator.

He is back in the attic studio now. There is a young boy named Maurois, a bootblack, in whom Shaster sees great promise. They work sometimes eleven hours a day in the little attic room. The gleam is out again in Shaster's eye. In his opinion, Maurois, under his tutelage, will some day be the greatest tenor in the world.

SENIORS LOSE 15-5 DECISION TO KINGSTON

PATCHED UP PETERBORO' TEAM IS BADLY BEATEN BY PONIES IN EVENING GAME AT KINGSTON

Regulars Fail to Make the Trip and Daley Men Have Easy Win.

ROSE ON RUBBER.

Is Hit Hard in Spots and Gets Poor Support From Team.

With Ray Rose making his first appearance as a pitcher and a patched up line up the Petes were badly beaten in Kingston last evening by 15 runs to 5.

Rose had trouble in controlling his curve and when he got his fast one in too well the Ponies swung lustily and to good purpose while the Petes defensive work was decidedly inexpert.

Because of injuries and the inability of several players to get away yesterday the Petes had only ten men in uniform and the regulars were missed especially Heckman who had been counted upon to pitch but missed connections and failed to make the trip.

Rose stepped into the breach and gave the best he had in order to give Hardill a rest but he was hit hard in spots and suffered from the slips of his teammates. His arm finally tired and Hardill pitched the last two and two-third frames with the brakes on.

The Petes had "Red" Legon, without any practice, in left field, while the infield consisted of Eric Moore, the Lakefield boy at first, Hardill at second, Holyman at short and Bert Hall at third, Wilgar did the receiving in the absence of Max Swanston.

Joe Daley's team even in victory looked far from steady. They are with two exceptions a young outfit and while they won handily last evening they should be a different crew against first string opposition. Jamieson, the little right-hander who worked the full game for the Ponies, was far from being a mystery, yielding eleven hits and four bases on balls but he got good support in the pinches and in addition the Petes ran themselves out of four or five counters by ill-judged work on the bases.

It was a mediocre game, only made meritable by four double plays, three of them by the Ponies. Ada probably had the feature play in the eighth when he made a long run for Holyman's high fly to make a one-handed catch and double Wilgar off first. Ash, in centre field for the Petes, and Buck in left for the Ponies made some fine catches that gave the fans a little chance to enthuse.

The game was not without its comedy features. In the second frame Hardill went after a roller from Buck's bat he lost both the ball and his cap, and he chased the headgear while a couple of runners galloped merrily plateward.

The Ponies started right off in the first inning. Arniel singled to left but was forced on a grounder to Hardill. Burton, however, singled past third. Cherry was hit and Ada doubled over Legon's head to send two runs in. Cherry trotted home on a wild pitch after which Elliott fouled to Hall and McPherson popped to Hardill.

They came back with three more in the second on Jamieson's single to right, Arniel's one baser past third, a pass to Britton and errors by Hardill, Rose and Hall.

The Petes did not score until the third when Moore was safe on a fumble, went to second when Arniel dropped the third strike on Hall and scored on Roses's fast double past third.

In the fourth Hardill led off with a double and scored when Elliott lost Wilgar's roller. Ada also making a fumble on the play. Wilgar stole third and Holyman second on the next ball. Legon bunted to McPherson who threw him out at first and Stone got the ball back to Arniel to win the decision over Wilgar. Holyman was out at the plate on an attempted double steal.

Joe Daley's men kicked in with five in the fourth. Arniel walked and Buck singled to right, both scoring on Britton's long triple to left centre. Cherry singled past third to score Britton. Ada's sacrifice, a steal by Cherry, a wild pitch and an error by Hall sent in two more runs before the side was finaly retired.

In the fifth after Arniel was safe on Holyman's error, Buck bunted to Hall for an out at first and Arniel was doubled at third when he tried to go two bases on the play.

The Petes only got one run out of three hits in the sixth. Ash singled to left and Hardill also hit safely over second. Ash being caught trying to go to third on the play. After Wilgar had flied to Cherry, Holyman doubled to left to score Hardill.

Hardill relieved Rose with one out in Kingston's sixth and retired the side without any more runs developing.

Hits by Moore, Hall and Turner scored another for the Petes in the seventh and in the eighth they got their last on Legon's hit and steal and a single by Moore.

In their half with one down the Ponies scored two on hits by Elliott and McPherson and a couple of errors by Moore.

VIEWS ON SPORTS

The Kiwanis Juniors will practice on Monday night at 6 p.m., in the Exhibition Park. A full line-up is requested by the management.

Next week's schedule for the Softball League has been announced, and provides for the opening clash between the C. G. E. and the Teco on Monday night; Harrison's North-Enders and K. of C. on Thursday, with the DeLaval and the Lockworks mixing it on Friday night.

Grafton's defeated the East City Beavers last night to make it a three-cornered tie for the leading place in the first half of the bantam group. The youngsters have been playing smart ball, and are proving themselves a real credit to the City League.

• • • • • •

Again numerous strike-outs was the feature of the bantam game, Dineen for the Beavers having 18 chalked up to his credit. The same youngster has also set a record for fanning 30 players in two seven innings games.

There are two teams in the East Peterborough League unable to stand prosperity. Last night's contest was a fizzle with both teams at fault. The game drew the largest crowd of the season, and the majority of the spectators expressed their displeasure by leaving the grounds, probably the most emphatic way of teaching the ball players a badly needed lesson. In addition, the League executive took a hand and expressed displeasure at the conduct of the clubs, by confiscating the receipts of the game, and fining the clubs. It was a bad break, and it is to be hoped, the last of its kind.

RALLY IN 5TH TO WIN 5-4

Browns Nose Out Yankees in the Second Game of Series.

RUTH GETS 24TH.

NEW YORK, June 16 (Canadian Press).—A four -run rally in the fifth inning enabled the Browns to nose out the Yankees, 5 to 4, at St. Louis yesterday in the second game of the series. Babe Ruth got his twenty-fourth home run, and went seven days and seven games ahead of last year's record. Brannon and Kress also hit homers.

The Washington Senators made it two straight over the Tigers by taking the second game of the Detroit series, 5 to 4, in ten innings. It was Detroit's fifth consecutive defeat. After Detroit had tied the score in the ninth, Sam Rice's double, followed by Hayes' sacrifice and Barnes' single, gave Washington the winning run in the tenth.

Danny MacFayden, youthful Red Sox pitcher, almost realized his ambition of hurling a no-hit game yesterday as Boston took the second game of the Chicago series from the White Sox, 3 to 1.

MacFayden held the White Sox hitless until the start of the eighth inning when McCurdy drove out a fast bounder, which went for a single. Three other hits, one a double, followed in the ninth inning, giving Chicago its only run. Regan's home run into the left field stands with two on base in the fourth gave Boston the needed margin for victory.

Alphonse Thomas pitched for the White Sox and yielded seven hits. The defeat kept Chicago in the American League cellar.

The Philadelphia Athletics pounded three Cleveland pitchers for a total of 14 hits and won the second game of the Cleveland series, 12 to 5. Lefty Grove held the Indians to nine scattered hits and was never in trouble, despite some wobbly support.

Sammy Hale, the Macks' third baseman, led the pace with a pair of three-baggers. The contest was featured by five double plays, executed by the Tribesmen.

GRAFTON'S WIN FROM BEAVERS

Victory Makes Three-Cornered Tie in the Bantam League.

BY SCORE 7 TO 2.

Grafton's Bantam crew made it a three-corner tie in the first half of the League schedule by defeating the East City Beavers 7-2 at the Sacred Heart Grounds last night.

Dinesen, for the Beavers, was the star of the game, having 18 strike-outs to his credit. His team-mates gave poor support, but the youngster held his own on the mound. He has also set a record in the Bantam League by fanning 30 in two seven-inning games.

Riley and Hickey, Grafton's and the Canucks are now tied in first place, and the play-off games promise to provide more action than previously seen in their contests. The youngsters are putting up a good brand of ball and deserve the support of the fans as much as the older teams.

Grafton's registered nine hits, while the Beavers only secured six. The losers were weak in their fielding and inclined to throw the ball all over the lot, but with a little more coaching they will rank with the League leaders.

Stanger, on the rubber for the Grafton crew, struck out ten, and was well supported by a snappy infield.

Score by innings:
Beavers ....0110000—2

Genewich Is Traded To New York Giants

BOSTON, Mass., June 16 (Canadian Press).—Joe Genewich, of the pitching staff of the Boston Braves, has been traded to the New York Giants in a trade which will bring to the Boston Club three right-handed pitchers and a catcher, it was announced last night.

The New York players who will join the Braves are Virgil Barnes, Big Bon Cantwell, and W. H. Claxton, pitchers, and Alfred Sphorer, catcher.

The trade was completed yesterday by President Emil E. Fuchs, of the Braves, who is in New York. Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Braves said the newly acquired players, who are expected to report here to-day, will fit into his plans in building up the Braves. With the exception of Barnes, all are youngsters.

Genewich has been with the Braves several seasons, but since his first year in Boston has not been a winning pitcher.

PLANTERS SALTED PEANUTS

COGS LOSE BY 24-13 SCORE

Both Teams Give Poor Exhibition of Baseball in E.P.L. Fixture.

PLAYERS INJURED.

Getting away to a bad start in which both teams seemed to be off their stride, and running into a serious accident in the third innings when Rightfielder LeBarr suffered a fracture of the right ankle and First baseman Rooke sustained injury to his back, the Crescents and Cognawagas went through a weird exhibition of baseball at Exhibition Park last evening, the Crescents winning by the score of 24 to 13.

The regrettable injuries to the players was accidental. LeBarr had batted a hard grounder to Shorstop Wilson, who in his hurry to throw out the runner at first, threw low to Rooke, the latter getting the ball as the runner went into the bag. Both players went down, and it was seen the were badly hurt. Motor cars speeded for doctors and in a short time the injured players were hurried away for medical attention.

After some considerable delay, the game was resumed, with Corbett at first base, Cripps at third base, and Cuffe in middlefield for the Cogs, and Ranger at rightfield for Crescents. The changes in the Cogs line-up did not work well, and Crescents who were behind at the time, the score being 8 to 5, took advantage of infield misplays and soon had the score tied. The teams scored eleven runs and finished the innings eight runs in the lead.

The teams settled down in the Cogs' half of the third and the fourth was underway when players on both teams combined to make a farce of the contest. Not all the players are to be censured for the failure of the teams to play the game. One side, evidently wanted to hurry along the contest, while the other side made an effort to delay. One wanted to get through four innings to a victory; the other to prevent the required number of innings being played and stave off defeat. Batsmen went through the motions at the plate, and fielders deliberately threw the ball far over the heads of the basemen. This sort of thing continued in the sixth when after the completion of the innings the game was called on account of darkness.

As a result of the tactics employed by the teams the collection, which was slightly over $30.00, and which would have been divided evenly, was held up by the League Executive, and a fine of $10.00 was tacked on the clubs. The money will be turned over to the injured players.

The box score tells its own story:

Inside Sportin' Dope—By a Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, I gotta report that for 1 day anyway the Petes has found their batting eye. Wed. they went down to help Deloro open their league season, and while Mister Elliott's boys got the financial benefit from a big crowd of customers, the rest of the affair was a washout from a Deloro viewpoint. And that goes 2 ways, Mac, for when the clouds opened up along about supper time a lotta of this year's smartest styles for young men and the latest in summer airiness for the flapper got a real soaking. And I don't mean likely. But it's baseball I want to talk about, so let's get back to that 1st game when the boys suddenly discovered that them bats they had been carrying around with them was intended to bust the old Spalding on the nose, which same they did with so much success that the Deloro management staged a "march of the wooden pitchers," to the great enjoyment of all and sundry from Peterborough, but not making much of a hit, if any, with the folks of the Deloro-Marmora section.

The Petes won that ball game with plenty to spare, and although they didn't swing their clubs quite so successful in the 2nd engagement, they had young Mister Shea badly worried and looked good to pull out another win when the rain made everybody and everything all wet. By the way, Mac, the Petes got away with a hoary old gag at the expense of Mister Shea when he tossed the ball over to Hap Wilgar, coaching at 3rd. Mister Shea needn't feel so bad about it, however, for Mister Jake Solomon once pulled the same juicy one at the expense of the Hillcrests when the old Toronto gang was cocks of the walk and thought themselves the smartest ball club in the game. But Deloro didn't know about that Wed., and they was mad enough for a few minutes to fight.

Last Sat., Mac, was another colored horse, the Petes making a present of a perfectly good ball game to the Oshawa crew, which honestly didn't look strong enough to win one by themselves. I may be crazy, Mac, but that club from the Motor City don't appear to have no real right to be in the driver's seat in this Central race, and if they ain't pulled down outa there before long I ain't never seen a ball game. They gotta double-header in Belleville next Wed., and they're going to have a whale of a time to break even in that melee if I can dope it out right at this time. Right now this Belleville gang look like the team to beat for the pennant, and if the Petes get in there and fight like they can it looks like the old rivals to go down the stretch together. Of course, they ain't nothing as uncertain as a ball league, but then it don't cost nothing to make a guess. Anyhow that's mine.

Next week will seem like a holiday to the Petes, Mac. They only got 1 game, here with Belleville. Well, the team ain't going to kick none about that.

Well, old timer, you'll have to excuse me now.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

ALDRIDGE WINS FOR GIANTS 9-1

Former Pirate Pitcher Holds Pittsburgh To Six Scattered Hits.

PHILLIES WIN 9-7.

NEW YORK, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Vic Aldridge, former Pirate pitcher, made his first appearance against his former team here yesterday and won an easy victory for the Giants, 9 to 1.

Aldridge not only held the Pirates to six well-scattered hits, but himself got three safe blows, one of them a homer in the second inning. He also scored three runs.

Carmen Hill, Pittsburgh star, was roughly handled in the first when the Giants drove in five runs in one-third of an inning, forcing Hill to the showers. Jackson capped this rally with a home run. Bartholomew, following Hill, was only mildly effective, but Tauscher escaped with a clean score in the one round he pitched.

McGraw shook up the Giant batting order yesterday.

The Phillies beat Cincinnati at Philadelphia, 8 to 7. They gained a lead to 6 to 0 going into the fifth inning, but with one out Thompson made an error which later enabled the Reds to score six runs. Don Hurst swatted his fourth homers in the last five games with one on base.

Chicago defeated Boston in the opening game of the Boston series yesterday, 5 to 4. It was Boston's seventh consecutive defeat. Grimm drove in two of the Cubs' runs. He and Wilson drove out home runs in the second inning, the ball going into the centre field bleachers. Farrels' fielding at short was brilliant. In the absence of Rogers Hornsby, who clashed with Umpire Pfirman Thursday, James Cooney played second base.

Jim Bottomley's thirteenth home run of the season broke up a fourteen inning game and enabled the Cardinals to rush into first place at Brooklyn yesterday. Bottomley inserted his wallop behind Holm's single and a pass to Frisch, giving the Cards their margin in a 5 to 2 victory.

For eight innings the game was a pitchers' duel, between Doug. McWeeny and the veteran Clarence Mitchell. Watson Clark succeeded McKeeny and continued the battle against Mitchell and later against Sylvester Johnson, who took the mound when the veteran southpaw faltered a bit in the twelfth.

Hafey's single in the fourth drove in two runs to overcome a lead of one established in Brooklyn in the second on Bisonnette's double and Bancroft's single. The Robins tied it in the eighth.

Bottomley's homer sent him into a tie with Rogers Hornsby for the National League lead.

Prices Steady To-day In Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press). — Prices were steady in today's short session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, trade being slow in all issues with the exception of International Nickel, transactions in which totalled more than 2,000 shares. Opening at 90¾, Nickel reached 92¼ during the morning, reacting at the close to 91¾, where it showed an advance of ¾ over last night's close. Hamilton Dairies gained a point at 46, but elsewhere among the industrials advances were limited to fractions. Canada Dry suffered the greatest decline, losing 1¾ to 75¼.

Royal Bank was up five points to 380 in light trading.

Mine Market Firm With Sudbury Leading

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press).—General firmness prevailed during the morning's trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchanges. Strength was characteristic of the higher-priced issues. Sudbury Basin was the outstanding gainer, taking 45 points at 10.50. Noranda was weak at first, but jumped to 37.30, recording a gain of 1.30. Pend Oreille was down to-day, losing 40 at 14.10. Other Western stocks down were Central Manitoba, down two at 1.24, Hudson Bay five at 17.20, and Sherritt Gordon five at 5.95. Other prices fluctuated within a narrow range.

Favorable Weather Causes Wheat To Fall

CHICAGO, June 16 (Canadian Press). — Influenced by favorable weather in the Spring wheat belt, both north and south of the Canadian line, wheat values took an early swing downward. Reports of unwanted rain southwest, however, were of considerable effect in halting the setbacks in price. Opening ⅝ to 1¼ cent off, wheat subsequently held near to the initial range. Corn, oats, and provisions were also easier, with corn starting at ⅛ to ¾ cent decline and afterward sagging a little more.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 136⅞, September 139. Corn, July 101¼, September 99. Oats, July 53¼, September 45¾.

A sudden turn in the market puts some store in a position to offer you goods of the highest repute and quality at a bargain price. Read the advertisements and save money.

Noted War Ace to Lecture at Dominion Redpath Chautauqua

"The Luckiest Man Alive," a famous war correspondent said of Capt. J. H. Hedley, noted war ace who will give his thrillingly interesting lecture "Rambling Through the Air," at the coming Dominion Redpath Chautauqua here this season.

Captain Hedley joined the British Army on the 4th of August, 1914. After serving many months with the infantry he transferred to the British Air Force. As a member of the 20th Squadron, R. F. C., he took part in some of the most spectacular air fights of the War, having to his credit fifty-three aerial combats.

His unusual run of luck in escaping from seemingly hopeless situations made him a marked man. One of his most startling adventures occurred when he was thrown out of his plane into the air three miles above the earth, fell two or three hundred feet and landed safely on the tail of the same machine.

He fought the famous Richthofen's Circus three times, and on the third occasion his machine was shot down in flames by Baron von Richthofen, the Red Knight of Germany, and Captain Hedley was made a prisoner of war.

Captain Hedley is a vastly entertaining speaker and holds his audiences in rapt attention as he tells his unusual personal experiences of the Great War.

Will appear in the Chautauqua Course of Entertainment, which is in Peterborough, July 13, 14, and 15.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT.

LEW CODY APPEARS IN ROLE STRANGE TO HIM IN "TEA FOR THREE"

SCORES A COMPLETE HIT

Aileen Pringle Opposite Him as the Flirtatious Wife; Owen Moore the Villain

If "Tea for Three" had been filmed a few years ago it is safe to say that not one of the players would have had the role assumed in the new Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer production coming Monday to the Regent Theatre.

It is doubtful whether a clairvoyant would ever have dreamed of seeing Lew Cody, film villain de luxe, in the role of a seemingly outraged husband. Those were the days when Lew appeared only in roles of roues, home wreckers, dispoiler of women and practically always the third angle of a triangle.

Lew was graduated from such roles about two years ago when it was suddenly discovered he had even more talent as a sophisticated comedian. Now it has been learned that Lew is still better as a delineator of roles depicting him as the virtuous husband with a suspicious nature and a jealous disposition, as far as his wife is concerned.

Owen Moore, who plays the role of the man coming between husband and wife, has long been looked upon as a screen hero with impeccable morals.

Then there is Aileen Pringle, who has always appeared in sophisticated society dramas, such as "Three Weeks," "His Hour," "Soul Mates" and "Adam and Evil."

AT THE CAPITOL.

IN "THE ENEMY" WHICH COMES TO THE CAPITOL ON MONDAY, LILLIAN GISH PLAYS HER FIRST BIG MODERN ROLE—PLAYS HEROINE IN POLLOCK'S STAGE HIT WITH SENSATIONAL POWER.

Lillian Gish comes Monday to the Capitol Theatre in her first modern role on the screen.

Heretofore the famous star has always lived in the past, so far as her plays were concened; in fact, it was often held that her type of wistful appeal could only be brought out in period plays and stories harking back to the days of long ago.

But in "The Enemy", Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of Channing Pollock's great stage success, she throws all precedent to the wind, to dress in the clothes of today. And—she is even more effectively dramatic as a modern woman than even as a Romola or Mimi or Hester Prynne.

The nearest she ever came to a modern role before was in "Hearts of the World", played during the war as a war propaganda picture. But in "The Enemy" the chief dramatic action occurs after the war and comes down to to-day's basis.

"The Enemy" is a vivid story of Austria, hinging on the danger of war hatreds and war hysteria. On the stage it was held one of the drama's greatest contributions to the cause of peace and international understanding. On the screen it is a vivid human interest story that lays bare a woman's soul in a series of heart-gripping episodes.

Miss Gish plays the role of the tragic Pauli whose family is rent assunder by war hatred and who becomes the victim of the bitterest of tragedies through artificial hatreds between people of different nations. Ralph Forbes appears in the leading male role as her lover, Carl, torn from her on their wedding day by war, and Ralph Emerson, George Fawcett, Frank Currier, Fritzi Ridgeway, Karl Dane, Billy Kent Schaefer, John Peters and others of note are in the cast.

Fred Niblo, who directed "Ben-Hur" and "The Temptress" directed the new production, which was filmed on an elaborate scale. Replicas of old time Austrian cities as well as the Austria of after the war are seen in the vivid portrayal. The play was adapted to the screen by Willis Goldbeck, famous for his work on "The Garden of Allah", and scenarized by Agnes Christine Johnston.

REGATTA SHOULD BE GREAT SUCCESS

Diving Tower To Be Erected—Boat Builders Helping Matters.

PRACTICES ARRANGED.

Peterborough's first regatta has all the signs of being a great success. Claude Rogers and Tom Dutton were successful in obtaining $100 from Mayor Denne for a diving tower to be erected on the corner of George street wharf. The chamber of commerce also granted $25 for the work to be done in the interest of promoting aquatic sports in the city.

The Peterborough Canoe Club and J. B. O'Dette are co-operating, and showing great interest. They are giving much aid in trying to put this first regatta over with flying colors. They are supplying the boats for the aquaplaning and racing and they have gone a step farther and will have their boats on the water any night after June 18th for those who wish to practice. This means a great deal to those intending to enter and if people will become interested there is no reason why this cannot be a whale of a success from the standpoint of the spectator and the entrant.

The men and boys who desire to enter should get in touch with G. H. Roper of the Y.M.C.A., who is handling these entries. Miss Littlefield of the Y.W.C.A. is looking after the entries for the girls and they should communicate immediately with her.

Rae Copping and Bat O'Dette are to be the Judges in the motor boat races while Red Eastwood and Carl McLean will be the official starters.

The following schedule has been drawn up:—

4.00 p.m.—Diving, Boys and Girls.
4.30—Swimming Races—
Boys under 16—50 yards.
Girls under 16—50 yards.
Boys, 16 and over—100 yards.
Girls, 16 and over—100 yards.
4.45—Aquaplaning and Log Rolling.
5.00—Aquaplaning and Tilting.
5.15—Water Polo.
5.30—Greasy Pole.
5.30—Out-board Motor Boat racing—classes A, B and C.

No motor boat not equipped with a muffler will be allowed to enter the races. This will add much to the interest from the spectators' standpoint. As was previously stated there will be absolutely no fees of any sort and also the spectators will be entertained free.

GREAT PRAISE FOR BABY'S OWN TABLETS

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co. have received the following letter from Mrs. Griffith, of 21 Merchison Ave., East Hamilton, Ont., concerning her experience with Baby's Own Tablets:

"Dear Sirs—I wish to thank you for the handy little booklet you sent me on the Care of Children. My baby boy was six weeks old when I first used Baby's Own Tablets, being new to Canada, but since the first proof of their many uses in bringing up a family, I have never been without them, for they are worth their weight in gold. There is no trouble in getting the little ones to take them and they often prevent an illness if taken in time. My first baby is now, at the age of four and a half years, a picture of health, and my nine-months-old baby is also well and happy. They are both a real good sample of what Baby's Own Tablets can do, for I have never yet needed a doctor for either of them."

The booklet to which Mrs. Griffith refers is entitled "Care of the Baby", and treats with what a mother ought to know for baby's sake. A copy of the booklet will be sent free to anyone requesting same from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HYDRO CABLES BEING STRUNG

Tractor Used To Stretch Heavy Strands Taut Between Towers.

WORKING IN CAVAN.

MILLBROOK, June 16. — The work of stretching the cables on the power line which runs between Ottawa and Toronto, from the Carlton Falls on the Gatineau River, has reach this vicinity, seevral from the village motoring to the Seventh Line on Friday afternoon to see this work proceeding.

The steel towers, three hundred feet apart, which are to carry the cabes, have been erected on a number of farms in Cavan and adjoining townships, Thomas Douglas' and L. J. Hutchison's forms being the point reached by Friday.

Aluminum cables with steel cores inside are strung for a distance of nine miles between the towers, and then by means of a tractor with ropes attached to the cables, the latter are drawn as taut as possible for the whole nine miles. A fresh "stringing" for a similar distance then begins, followed by the tightening process.

There are three separate cables between the towers, and each has to be tightened separately. Necessarily the work proceeds comparatively slowly, but the line is expected to be in use by October or November of this year.

Last year Louisiana produced 1,000,000 pounds of dressed frogs, valued at $500,000 on the wholesale market.

Let us figure on your new furnace

The Findlay furnace built on scientific B.T.U principles

The Findlay Warm Air Heating System leaves no room for faulty heating. It begins with a flawless furnace—one of the very first to be built on scientific B.T.U. principles—the only absolutely correct method of measuring furnace heat and heat losses.

The Findlay Furnace has leak-proof joints, a big oversize water pan that assures moist, healthful air at all times—in all rooms . . . a dozen features of merit . . . from ash pit to radiator dome.

Installed by Experts

The Findlay Warm Air Heating System is installed under the guidance of heating and engineering experts. Heating difficulties are therefore met and overcome at the outset—not in the dead of winter. When the installation is made, simply fuel up, light up—and every room in your house is heated properly.

Guaranteed

Findlay Installations are guaranteed. Two things make this guarantee possible: the Findlay Furnace itself; and scientific installation. They are the only real bonded systems offered today.

Write for our book, "Heat and Health with WARM AIR." Ask also for the Findlay Service Chart, which makes it easy for you to draw up an exact plan of your house. From this we will give you—without charge or obligation—an estimate of cost for installing the Findlay.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Today's Bedtime Story

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PRICKLE FLOWER

Uncle Wiggily, with Baby Bunty and the tick bug, inside the rabbit gentleman's dumb watch, sat on the grass in front of the fence on the rails of which were six queer puzzle words.

"I wonder what it says on that fence?" said Bunty.

"If the Bob Cat or Fox were here we'd make them read the puzzle for us," chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

"Well," said Bunty after a while, during which she had stood on her head trying to read the words, though even that didn't make them come straight. "Well, I know what I'm going to do."

"What are you going to do?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I'm going to crawl under the fence," said the little orphan rabbit, "and see if I can read the puzzle from the other side."

Before Uncle Wiggily could stop her, Bunty started to crawl beneath the fence. But when she was half way under, all of a sudden the fence rails toppled out of the holes in the posts and fell. Poor Bunty would have been caught had not Uncle Wiggily jumped and pulled her out.

"Dear me! That was queer!" said Bunty. "Seems to me there ought to be a warning about a fence that's going to fall on you."

"Look! Look!" suddenly ticked the bug in the dumb watch. And, looking, Uncle Wiggily saw that when the rails fell the letters on them had been changed about, so they made words reading:

PLEASE DON'T CRAWL UNDER THIS FENCE.

"Oh, that's what it said all the while!" cried Bunty. "It was a warning but we weren't clever enough to read it."

"True enough," said Uncle Wiggily. "The warning must have been plainly printed at one time."

"Yes," agreed Bunty. "And then maybe one of the Bad Chaps knowing the fence might fall on you, Unkie Wig—one of the Bad Chaps mixed the letters so you wouldn't know that it was dangerous to crawl under. I'm glad I did it first, for if you had been caught I couldn't have pulled you out."

"It was lucky," said Mr. Longears. "Well, we'll leave the warning as it is and hop along to see what more adventures will happen."

He and Bunty had not gone very far over the fields and through the woods, with the tick bug tocking away when, all at once, near an old stump, Bunty saw a lovely purple flower.

"Oh, I'm going to pick that blossom and take it to Nurse Jane," said the little orphan rabbit.

"No! You had better not pick that," warned Uncle Wiggily, and when Bunty wanted to know why, the old rabbit said: "That is a prickle flower, or thistle. You would get your paw full of splinters if you touched it. We will find other pretty blossoms that are not prickly."

Uncle Wiggily and Bunty were about to hop along when they saw some Lady Bugs playing a game. The Lady Bugs had marked a chalk square on the ground, such as you often make on the sidewalk to play Hop Scotch. Another Lady Bug had eight small, round stones near the square.

"What are you going to do with them?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"This is a puzzle game," answered the largest Lady Bug. "You see there are only four corners to the marked out square. But the trick is to use all these eight stones and put one on each corner."

"You can't do that," said Bunty. "To use up eight stones you must have eight corners, and there are only four corners to a square."

"Still the trick can be done by doing something to the square," said the smallest Lady Bug. And she was just going to show Uncle Wiggily how to do the puzzle, when along came Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, running to see which one would be first to pick the prickle-flower. The little puppies didn't know about the stickers.

"Oh, be careful!" cried Bunty.

JUDGMENT IS HELD IN DAMAGE SUIT

months on crutches, and at present must use a walking stick. Incidental bills amounted to $114.00 and he has been unable to work since.

Mr. Henry stated that the walking was fairly good except in this one spot. He could not recall having noticed any drain or means of escape for the water which had formed into the ice.

Cross-examined, plaintiff said his home was at 143 London street and that he had occasion to walk back and forth to his work several times daily. Though he generally walked on the south side of the streets running east and west, he had no preference for any of the various streets upon which he might walk upon en route. On the day of the accident he was not wearing rubbers, but was trying out new rubber heels on his shoes.

Dr. Young

Dr. Young stated he had been a practicing physician for between thirty and forty years and the chief coroner. He was a graduate of Toronto University and of Edinburgh and Glasgow and is at present the president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in the Province of Ontario. Dr. Young, who had examined the plaintiff, stated that Mr. Henry's injured leg is now one inch shorter than the other; that the trouble with his hand was due to an injury to the elbow and that though the muscles might improve, there would be considerable permanent disability. Medical terms and details were used in a more complete description.

Mrs. Edith Metherall.

Mrs. Edith Metherell, who resides at the corner of Murray and Aylmer streets, said that she had been notified of the accident through a phone call, but that on going to see Mr. Henry, had found that he had been removed to hospital. Witness is a niece of Mr. Henry. She described generally, conditions on Brock street at the time, but could not give a detailed description as she had not been over the spot within a day or so preceding the accident.

Mr. Gordon submitted meteorological readings obtained from Walter Peters of The Peterborough Examiner, showing weather conditins at that time. He suggested that when the court adjourned, the scene be visited so that a better conception of it might be gained by all. This suggestion was acted upon when court adjourned at 12.30.

City Engineer Parsons.

City Engineer R. H. Parsons was the first witness called when court was resumed at 2.30 p.m. He stated that Brock street, being in the central part of the city, was among those upon which sand was placed when necessary during the winters He told of the storage of sand and of its distribution either by hand or with horses. During the first part of the month of February, 1927, there had been considerable sanding done but conditions had improved and there had been little sanding done during the week preceding the accident. Mr. Parsons described the lay-out of the sidewalks and curbings as well as other features of the section where the accident took place. He had been notified of the accident four days after it had taken place.

Cross-examined by G. N. Gordon, K.C., witness said that the water from the slope would naturally go toward the sidewalk and that the water from the roof of the rink for at least one hundred feet south, would flow north on to the street. The only way to remedy this would be to build an underground passage for the water to the north side.

Mr. Gordon suggested that the snow on the east side of the roof, which is at a 45 degree angle, would be struck by the direct rays of the sun and would therefore melt more quickly on the black surfaced roof than in the street.

Witness disagreed. He pointed out that the large ice surface within the rink would balance this, while the rays of the sun would not fall directly upon the snow on the roof. Mr. Gordon replied that the atmospheric conditions, rather than being influenced by the presence of the ice, would effect the ice.

Mr. Parsons admitted that his recommendation for greater expenditure for making the streets safer to walk upon had been frowned upon by the council. The streets could be made safer by a greater expenditure on sand, etc. He was not in a position to say whether or not Brock street had been sanded during the week previous to the accident. He agreed that the water from the laneway might run down the sidewalk between the snow furrows created by the plough and thought that the storm drains were not likely opened so early in the year.

Charles Barton.

Charles Barton, who has been in the employ of the city for over twenty years, gave evidence to the sanding of the streets in the city. Cross-examined the stated that the section where the accident took place was sanded three or four times in the week previous. He could not say that a channel had been cut or a drain opened to carry away the water. He had noticed that it ran out of the laneway over the sidewalk.

Witness said that salt is not used with the sand. He could not recall how many days before the accident the streets had been sanded.

This concluded the evidence and the argument of the rival counsellors began. It was brief, Mr. Gordon pointing out that this spot had been particularly dangerous, while Mr. Hughes insisted that the evidence had been only of a general character and could not be applied sufficiently to justify the charge of negligence. Both the men cited various cases to be referred to which would bear out their respective contentions.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT GOODFELLOW

On Wednesday, June 13, 1928, at 149 Garden avenue, Toronto, Ont., the death occurred of Sara Ann Wilson, widow of Robert Goodfellow, late of Peterborough and beloved mother of R. Harvey Goodfellow, 1186 Jane street, Mount Dennis, Ont. Interment took place at Little Lake Cemetery from the C.P.R. noon train to-day, the Rev. William McDonald of Knox United Church officiating at the graveside.

Bowling

The Friday night tournament brought out a large crowd of bowlers and many spectators last evening. Fourteen rinks, including one from Lindsay, were present, and some keenly contested games were played. Nelson Routley's rink and Gordon Fallen's rink did some excellent bowling, both having three wins and a very close plus. Routley's rink won by one point.

The mixed ttournament on Wednesday afternoon, July 20, was enthusiastically boosted, and anticipation runs high for a splendid afternoon's sport. The draw will be made at 1.30. Play will be on the plus system, with men playing as skips and seconds and ladies as vices and leads. Visitors are cordially invited.

The following are the scores for the four leading rinks in last night's tournament:

Nelson Routley's rink—3 wins plus 13. Gordon Fallen's rink, 3 wins plus 12. Jack Fitzpatrick5s rink, 2 wins plus 8. Jack Bacon's rink, 1 win plus 7.

The ladies' lawn bowlers had some excellent schedule games yesterday afternoon and some really good bowling was witnessed by a number of spectators. The ladies are asking all who wish to join the club for evening bowling to meet on the Aylmer Street Green at eight o'clock on Monday evening, so that schedule games may be arranged. The fee for these members has been fixed at $3.00.

The following are the scores for Friday afternoon's schedule games:

Mrs. Greenslade 14, Mrs. Gimblett 7.
Mrs. French 14, Miss Allen 12.
Mrs. Coleman 12, Mrs. Graham 9.
Mrs. Wright 17, Mrs. Miller 8.

I.O.D.E. PRESIDENT.

Mrs. John A. Stewart of Perth, Ont., was elected national president of the I.O.D.E. at the annual meeting in Toronto recently. She succeeds Miss R. M. Church, of Toronto and sister of T. L. Church, M.P., who is retiring from that office after three years of work in the order.

OTTAWA 1928 BRIDES

An Ottawa marriage of wide interest was that Alleyn, daughter of Major-General Sir Eugene Fiset, K.C.M.G., M.P., and Lady Fiset of Ottawa and Rimouski, Que., who appears on the left. She is now Mrs. John W. H. Burstall of Riverbend, Que. On the right is Miss Helen Low, daughter of Mrs. Robert S. Low of Ottawa and the late Col. Low, whose engagement to Flight Lieut. C. Mackay McEwan of Camp Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. McEwen of Saskatoon, has been announced. The marriage takes place this month. —Photographs by John Powis, Ottawa.

BACK FROM EUROPE.

Sir John Aird, the president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is back home with his daughter and Lady Aird from a three months' extensive tour of Europe. Among the countries he visited were Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, Austria, and Czecho-Slovakia. He found conditions in Europe slowly improving, he said. This picture was taken on his home-coming.

STEEL WORKERS SETTLE STRIKE

Reach Agreement With Two of Three Firms Involved in Toronto Dispute.

T. T. C. STILL UNSETTLED.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Toronto steel workers will resume work on Monday for the first time in almost five weeks on construction jobs operated by two companies other than the Dominion Bridge Co., it was announced to-day by representatives of the men's union.

Following the breaking down of negotiations with the Dominion Bridge Company, union representatives went into conference with the officials of the two companies and reached a tacit understanding that the wages will be stabilized for a one-year period at 90 cents an hour. There is no agreement that the union be recognized.

Refuse Mayor's Nominee.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press). — Employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission will not accept Mayor McBride's nominee for chairman of the board of arbitration to settle the wage dispute, a union official stated to-day. NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACHS

Indigestion Disappears When the Blood is Enriched.

The most urgent need of all who suffer from any form of indigestion is a tonic to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food it takes. New strength is given to weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because they purify and enrich the blood. This accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follows the use of this medicine. The value of this medicine in cases of indigestion is shown by the case of Mrs. George W. Johnson, Lequille, N.S., who says:—"I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was greatly distressed with indigestion. Always after eating I suffered from pains in the stomach and other distressing symptoms. I tried different remedies, but without getting relief. I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I readily did, and I am feeling very grateful ever since to the person who gave me the advice. The very first box helped me and before I had taken a half dozen boxes I was restored to my former good health and all traces of this distressing trouble disappeared. It is now about a year since I took the pills, and I have not been troubled with indigestion since. I have taken every occasion to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those in need of a medicine and shall continue to do so."

A little booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat", will be sent free to anyone asking for it. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HEALTH

Your degree of Health depends largely upon the condition of your Nervous System. The delicate nerve trunks that emit through openings between the spinal segments are subject to pressure either by contracted muscles or deranged vertebrae. This may result from some jar, twist, strain, or exposure to cold.

CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL MANIPULATION

relieves pressure from nerves, and ensures a normal supply of energy to all parts of the body. The result is Health, Strength, and a keen appreciation of the joys of life.
